Folks who have used HYDROSAL for itching, burning outbreaks could hardly believe such quick relief was possible! Doctors have prescribed HYDROSAL for 23 years. Even in stubborn, torturing eczema, Athlete's Foot (or "Itchy Toes"), rashes and pimples, the burning and itching fade away the minute HYDROSAL touches the skin. HYDROSAL penetrates the skin and acts to check growth of the germ causing local disorder. Gives Nature real help to quick healing. Approved by Good Housekeeping Bureau. Money back if it does not satisfy you. At all druggists in two forms, liquid and ointment—30c and 60c sizes.

FARMERS KEEPING MORE FARM RECORDS

Auburn, Ala.—More and better farm records are being kept by farmers and farm boys than ever before in the history of farming.

Records show that in 1934 4-H club members throughout the country completed a total of 1,170,307 projects and kept records which showed the financial success of the projects, as well as the methods used in completing them. Over 10,000 club members also completed farm management records either of one enterprise on the farm or of the whole farm business.

County agents report more than a million farmers kept records of their farm business last year. Much of this record keeping has been brought about by AAA program.

Mr. Robert Holley was a visitor in Clanton the past few days. For two years Mr. Holley has been employed by the Tennessee Valley Authority, in Tennessee.

*BALD? Give Your Scalp a Chance

Japanese Oil is the name of the remarkably successful preparation that thousands are using to get rid of loose dandruff, stop scalp itch and grow strong, healthy hair on thin and partially bald spots where hair roots are not dead. This famous antiseptic counter-irritant stimulates circulation in the scalp, brings an abundant supply of blood to nourish and feed starved hair roots—one of the chief causes of baldness. Get a bottle today at any druggist. The cost is trifling, 60c (Economy size, $1). You have little to lose and much to gain. STATE FARMERS RECEIVE $8,594,693 FROM A A A

Auburn, Ala.—Alabama farmers received $8,594,693.91 in rental and benefit payments from July 1, 1934, through May 31, 1935, reports Dr. L. N. Duncan, director of the state extension service. Cotton farmers were paid $8,145,224.97 and corn-hog farmers $447,525.15. The payments were made by the Agricultural Adjustment Administration.

ALL-NIGHT LIGHTS MAY HELP OLD HENS

Auburn, Ala.—When the egg production of old hens drops to a point where they are not self-supporting all-night lights may be used to advantage, reports the poultry division of the Alabama extension service, which says that "it must be understood that only good producing, vigorous hens which are free from disease and parasites are profitable when all night lights are used."

"The lights should be turned on before dark and allowed to burn until morning," says the department. "If electricity is available use one 10-watt light for each 100 hens. Where electricity is not available, barn or kerosene lanterns may be used with equally good results. Suspend the lights two or three feet above the mash hopper and water wheel, being sure that they shine on the roosts. This schedule should be continued until about April 1.

FARMERS WANT FEDERAL CONSTITUTION AMENDED IF NECESSARY TO SAVE AAA

Auburn, Ala.—Over 5,500 North Alabama farmers endorsed the present farm program during the past week and urged that the United States Constitution be amended is necessary to continue the Agricultural Adjustment Act and the Bankhead Cotton Control Act.

Three thousand farmers representing 17 counties met at Belle Mina Tuesday and urged immediate steps be taken by the State's Congressmen and Senators for continuation of the AAA and the Bankhead Cotton Control Act. Similar action was taken by more than 2,500 farmers of 12 other counties when visiting the Sand Moutain sub-experiment station at Crossville, Wednesday and Thursday.

The resolutions, passed at each of the meetings set forth the benefits accruing to farmers through the AAA and said that the act had pulled the farmers out of the depression.

CLANTON METHODIST CHURCH

Dr. A. E. Middlebrooks, pastor.

There will be no preaching services at the Methodist church Sunday. The pastor is in Lake Junaluska, North Carolina. We urge all our people to attend the revival services at the Baptist church and also to attend and cooperate in every way they can throughout the meeting. We appreciate the fine cooperation of the various churches in the community during our revival.

Dr. Middlebrooks is a member of the conference staff of the Alabama Conference Board of Education and this Board is sending him to the church-wide leadership school in Lake Junaluska, where he will be for two weeks. Recently he has been appointed Director of Adult Work for the conference in which capacity he will serve without compensation in directing the adult program over the conference.

The entire community appreciates the untiring service of Rev. J. Fred Sparks in directing the evangelistic campaign at this church. Much good has been accomplished.

SHOOTING AT CAR CLAIMS ARE FAKE

The five crusading writers, representing the National League for the Defense of Political Prisoners, who came to Alabama to protest the anti-sedition bill, and who Tuesday reported they had been fired upon near Clanton, "shot their own car as a cheap publicity stunt," Governor Graves declared last night.

The Governor announced an end to the investigation of the whole affair, declaring that a record of separate statements by the crusaders in the presence of their counsel gave indisputable proof that "it was a frame-up from start to finish."

The Governor's statement was issued after he had received a report from Winston Huddleston, circuit solicitor and one of the smartest investigators in Alabama. Solicitor Huddleston advised the representatives themselves, upon authority of the Governor, that they had framed the story, and the writers left Clanton, where investigation was held, for Birmingham and Tennessee.

Their request for a police escort to the Tennessee line was denied upon the ground that it was unjustified and that the State of Alabama did not propose to be a party to the hoax.

Advised that the entire affair had been proven a hoax by glaring discrepancies in their own stories, by the physical facts of the evidence, and by impartial witnesses near the scene of the "shooting," only one representative protested.

He was Writer Alfred Hirsch, of New York, who, according to the record, couldn't designate the color of the car, the type of the car, whether sedan or coach or coupe, or whether the man alleged to have fired the shot wore a coat, or a hat. But the shooting, he declared, did not occur until the car had passed 30 feet beyond the car in which he was riding.

Three of his four comrades, the Solicitor said, stated that the shooting occurred as the passing car drew alongside and opposite the committee's machine, but none of them could describe the car other than to say it was of a "dark color" and a large car.

They told of a man, seated on the right of the passing car, stretching out an arm to fire on the car, but could not say whether the arm was in a shirt or coat sleeve or whether it was sleeveless, the Solicitor said.

The scene of the "shooting" was about 13½ miles South of Clanton on the Montgomery highway, and about 200 yards north of the overpass over the Louisville and Nashville Railroad at Mountain Creek.

HOLT GETS WORD TO SHUT COUNTY RELIEF AGENCIES

Following through with an announced determination to demobilize the Federal relief system in Alabama, Thad Holt, director of the Alabama Relief Administration announced yesterday, that effectice August 1, Federal relief would be removed from the front door of citizens in all except 12 counties in the State.

Effective on that date, he said, county rlief offices would be closed and instead about eight or ten district offices in the more populous centers would remain open for a short period.

It is probable, Mr. Holt indicated, that the district relief offices would be located in Mobile, Montgomery, Jefferson, Calhoun, Tuscaloosa and three other counties. Each district will in turn administer the relief needs for the entire district.

The effect of the order will be to make relief offices less accessable to applicants. Persons in need of relief in counties where relief offices have been closed, however, will still have access to the representative of the State Child Welfare Department in the county, and the Welfare representative in turn may take the matter up with the district office.

LEVERNE LITTLEFIELD HURT IN AUTOMOBILE WRECK MONDAY

Leverne Littlefield, 20-year-old son of Mr. Fate Littlefield, sustained a broken arm Monday night when an automobile he was driving turned over at the Jack Davis cross roads near the Littlefield home.

Leverne and his little brother were the only occupants of the car, a Model T Ford. The child sustained only a few very minor cuts and bruises.

The injured young man was brought to Clanton, and was carried from here to Thorsby, where he was treated by a doctor.

ALL DAY SINGING AT ENTERPRISE SCHOOLHOUSE

There will be an all day singing at Enterprise schoolhouse, next Sunday, August 4th, in the new books. Everybody invited to come and bring your books, also a well filled basket.

Temporary Measure

Mr. Holt emphasized, however that the District offices would be only temporary and that within a month's time it was expected they would be closed and Alabama would be definitely "off of Federal relief."

Group Formed To Keep Constitution

Announced By Tex. Democrat With Large Representation From Alabama

John Henry Kirby, of Houston, veteran Texas Democrat, announced yesterday the formation of a new organization, "The Southern Committee to Uphold the Constitution."

Members from Alabama include: Borden Burr, attorney; William Logan Martin, attorney; Charles F. DeBardeleben, corporation executive; Milton H. Fies, coal operator; and R. I. Ingalls, manufacturer, Birmingham; Judge B. P. Crum, attorney; Lee H. Well, attorney, Montgomery; David R. Dunlap, ship builder, Mobile; J. S. Brown, farmer, Hollins; Oliver D. Street, attorney, Guntersville; and H. D. Warner, manufacturer, Tuscaloosa.

The declared object of the organization is to resist "raids upon the Constitution" and an effort will be made to enlist "every loyal State Rights Democrat, in order that they may fight as a unit to sustain the dual form of government established by the fathers."

The following declaration of principles accompanies the press announcement:

"We stand for Constitutional Government, recognizing the Sovereign rights of the States and the private rights of the citizens.

"We stand for that wise arrangement in the Constitution by which the powers of Government are divided into three branches, each independent of the other, the Legislative, the Executive and the Judicial.

"We are for holding the Congress to its Constitutional responsibilities of making the laws.

"We are opposed to usurpation of power by public officials not specifically granted them under the Constitution.

"We are for the levy and collection of such taxes only as are necessary to the purpose of Government, economically administered.

"We stand for a Government of Laws under a written Constitution as against a Government of Boards, Bureaus, Commissions and Administrations, under which it is difficult to safeguard the public welfare.

"We oppose the use of public funds for the establishment of industrial enterprises to compete with private business.

"We stand for the Representative form of Government established in the Constitution.

"We oppose the exercise of any power by either of the three coordinate branches of Government not expressly granted in the Constitution itself or reasonably to be inferred therefrom.

"We are opposed to the substitution of any form of Government for the form provided for in the Constitution unless such change is made through amendments to the Constitution in the manner provided for in that instrument."

House Bucks Roosevelt After Bitter Debate On Holding Firms

Washington, Aug. 1.—The House on a direct roll call vote today again rejected President Roosevelt's demand for a "death sentence" on unessential utility holding companies.

Bitter debate, charges and countercharges marked the vote in a crowded chamber echoing to cowboy whoops, cheers, jeers and boos.

The vote threw the utilities bill back into conference with the Senate where it is likely to become deadlocked indefinitely.

Rep. Samuel Rayburn, stocky Texas Democrat, who battled vainly for the death sentence, predicted the result might prevent enactment of any utility bill this session.

The roll call came on a resolution by Rayburn to instruct House conferees to acept the Senate "death sentence" provisions instead of the House approved bill for discretionary control by the Securities Commission. It put House members officially on record on the issue for the first time.

A month ago to the day, the House on a teller vote gave a majority of 70 against the death sentence. The vote then was 216 to 146. Today's vote was 209 to 155.

SINGING AT THE COURTHOUSE ON NEXT SUNDAY AFTERNOON

There will be singing at the courthouse in Clanton next Sunday afternoon, beginning at 1:30 o'clock. All singers of the county have a cordial invitation to attend and help out in the services.

The Happy Four quartet from Montgomery has promised to be with us, and they are plenty good.

This will be the second monthly singing at the courthouse. The one last month was fine, but hopes are that this one will be better. Everybody bring your new song books.

Plans To Pave The Highway To Selma

Action Will Be Faced Through Proposed Bill In The Legislature

Representative Charley Cox announces that he has a legislative plan in the making, whereby Chilton County can and will provide its part of the three-way fund for paving its section of the Selma Highway from Clanton to the Dallas County line at Plantersville.

The plan of Mr. Cox is to enact a local bill for Chilton County in the legislature, which will provide for and require that a certain portion of the gasoline fund be devoted to use as the county's part in financing the deal. This, he points out, will avoid the necessity of borrowing money by the county.

The Cox plan raises the question of what will become of the county's present road working system if a portion of the gasoline tax is taken away from it. He has a plan to provide for this, whereby he says he will enact a law setting up a county road working system that will be more efficient with half the revenue than that which is in operation now.

Mr. Cox mentions another road matter of interest to Chilton County. He plans to pull for establishment of a convict camp in the neighborhood of the steel bridge on Waxahatchie, to provide workmen and machinery for completing a state road from Clanton to Columbiana, by way of Lay Dam. He hopes ultimately to get that road paved from here to Lay Dam.

Mr. Cox's plans for the rearrangement of county road working and maintenance system provides for the employment of a county road engineer or supervisor, who will have complete direction of all road work. In this manner he believes he can bring more efficiency into our road business.

Residence Streets Paving Is Nearer

City Council Considers Submitting Projects to WPA Board

Another step nearer the realization of the dream of paving most of the streets in Clanton was taken Tuesday night, when members of the City Council passed a resolution authorizing Mayor C. Fenn Jones to take whatever steps are necessary in the legal procedure of making application for P. W. A. funds for this purpose.

After a lengthy discussion of the proposition, it was voted unanimously to endorse the paving of eleven streets with a total mileage of approximately three miles. Only streets on which petitions containing the names of a majority of the property owners had been filed with the Mayor were considered.

Several other streets that will likely be included in the program later were not voted on Tuesday night because of various points that must be clarified.

Streets approved are:

Second Avenue, from courthouse to cemtery; First Avenue, from Polk Motor Company to the high school; Second Avenue, South, from W. M. Polk's residence to the high school; Third Avenue, North, from Clanton Motors place to Fourth Street; Sixth Street, from John Page's residence to W. M. Polk's home; Fifth Avenue, from Ellis Tourist Home to W. D. Spiener's.

Fifth Street, from Frank Callen's home to First Avenue; Second Avenue, West, from Wilson Hotel to Kincheon Road; Eighth Street, from Second Avenue to Seventh Avenue; Third Avenue West, from Eighth Street to Tenth Street.

On Second Avenue West of the Kincheon road intersection, if the property owners want this street paved, it will be necessary for them to donate necessary footage to make this thoroughfare suffficiently wide for paving, Mayor Jones stated.

If there are other streets that should be included in this program, Mayor Jones urges the property owners to sign petitions and present them to him in order that he may get the action of the council in time to include these in his application to the P. W. A.

Democrat Loses Out In Rhode Island Vote

A Republican Wins Congress Seat Giving Democrats Set-Back

A sharp Democratic set-back in Rhode Island's special congressional election appeared certain early today as vehement anti-New Dealer maintained an unshaken lead over a pro-Roosevelt Democrat.

With the Administration's policies a campaign issue, former Judge Charles F. Risk, Republican, ran steadily ahead of State Treasurer Antonio Prince, Democrat, with only a handful of precincts still to be counted. The race for Rhode Island's vacant house seat was the first ballot box test of New Deal activities since last November.

At midnight, Risk, led Prince by 30,645 to 23,355 with 80 of the state's 112 precincts counted.

The fashionable resort of Newport, R. I., installed a Republican mayor, Henry S. Wheeler, by more than 1,000 votes.

Mrs. Frank Scott visited friends in Pensacola this week.

WYATT DRUG COMPANY HAVING GOOD RETURNS FROM ADVERTISING

Dr. Varney E. Wyatt, proprietor of Wyatt Drug Company at Thorsby, reports that his business for the past few weeks has been exceptionally good, much of which he attributes to consistent and persistent newspaper advertising.

Dr. Wyatt is a progressive young man with progressive ideas about doin business. He has studied the needs and wishes of his clientile. He keeps articles and service at his store that people want, and he lets them know it through the medium of newspaper advertising. These are the essentials of success in business.

Wyatt Drug Company, a few weeks ago, opened up his business in his new and modern store next to Franklin's Garage. This new place is really a thing of beauty, and it is a pleasure to go there to trade. Read his advertisement in this week's Union-Banner, and see what special items of attraction he offers.

CITY HALL JAIL CELL READY FOR ASSIGNMENT

About the middle of last week the jail department of the new city hall was completed and finally equipped. The question now is who will be first to occupy these new quarters. The city officials are frequently getting somebody for this, that and the other, but most of them are on county charges and therefore do not go to the city's jail. But somebody will get in —who will it be?

MY FIRST AIRPLANE FLIGHT

Have you ever tried to figure out why people who fly in modern airplanes are so enthusiastic about the business, or, perhaps you might more properly say, the pleasure?

Doubtless you have thought about it, or tried to figure it out. If you would find the answer to the riddle, just take a ride in one of the things and you will understand. You may not be able to tell the story in words, but you will understand.

I had my first trip in an airplane Monday afternoon. With my two boys in the forward pit of Dr. Gragg's Bird, I made the trip from Clanton to Montevallo and return with pilot-instructor J. W. Allen doing the steering.

We took off from the Clanton Airport about five o'clock, and in seventeen minutes we were on the ground at Montevallo Airport cool as a cucumber and talking with friends about the wonderful adventure.

Returning we came down by Wilton to the vicinity of Maplesville, and then across the beautiful country back to Clanton.

There is no use in trying to describe the experience. Anyone who has had that first experience in the air knows how helpless words are in attempting to describe the wonderful thrills and beauties that attend one on such a trip.

There were some surprises that should be recorded, I think. First, I was surprised that we did not seem to be going fast, although we were making about ninety. There was a noticable absence of traffic dangers! Only one other plane was even in sight. Leo Thompson was our escort or body guard, or maybe curious observer. But his plane was perhaps miles away from us.

One can never know what a beautiful world we have until he looks at it from an airplane. The people who have laid out our fields, trimmed our forests, built our roads and highways, will never perceive what a beautiful landscape they have made until they go up high enough to see it as it really is.

The setting sun was behind us as we turned toward Clanton from Maplesville. The plane was headed directly into a rain cloud of small consequence. A perfect rainbow danced in front of us. Aviation, I thought, is just another of the efforts of man to reach the end of the rainbow.

We know the story of the rainbow's end is only a myth. Yet, men have ever sought to reach it, and will continue the effort. If it were not so, what a dull, lifeless and uninteresting world this would be.

Upon the field from which we started on this trip, in that very soil was germinated all my youthful dreams and ambitions. As I chopped cotton in the spring-time, toted watermelons from the patch in the summer, picked the fleecy staple in the fall, I gazed at the rainbow.

I am glad I saw the rainbow Monday afternoon as we soared high in the mist of the clouds. I am glad Pat and Jim saw it. After I am gone, they will, I hope, have many long years to seek the end of the rainbow of promise.

I am satisfied they will make their conquest in an airplane, and I wish I might be permitted to be with them to enjoy the beauties, the thrills, the splendors of a world that will continue to grow more beautiful with every passing year.—W. M. Wyatt.

COHEN STAPP HERE TUESDAY ATTENDING COUNTY-WIDE PICNIC

Mr. C. E. Stapp, of Selma, former County Agent of Chilton County, was in Clanton Tuesday attending the county picnic. His many friends were delighted with an opportunity to see him again.

Mr. Stapp is the founder of the county picnic. He managed two of the gatherings at Popwell Woods while he was County Agent. His great interest in the movement and his warm friendship for Chilton County people brings him back to attend every annual gathering.

Dollar Day Is Next Saturday

A group of the enterprising and progressive stores of Clanton are co-operating in a special Dollar Day event, in which a number of very special values will be offered to the trade in Clanton next Saturday, August 10.

We call your attention to special advertising of these firms in this issue of The Union-Banner, conveying to you the message concerning their offerings for Dollar Day.

The following named stores are enlisted in the Dollar Day offerings:

Tiffin-Klinner Furniture Co.
Goodman Beauty Parlor
Upchurch Drug Co.
Taylor Dry Goods Co.
Big Four Hardware Co.
Wade Grocery and Market
The Leader
The Dollar Store.

When you come to Clanton next Saturday, be sure to visit these stores and ask to be shown their Dollar Day special values.

Edward O'Neal Says Farmers Will Keep Process Taxes

Judging by the attendance and enthusiasm at the county picnic Tuesday, one would conclude that the people of Chilton County are keeping up their interest in this annual affair, which has now recorded its fourth successful session.

While not actually counted, a reasonable estimate indicated an attendance of 3,500 to 4,000 people Tuesday, a figure about the same as was recorded last year. Representative citizens in large groups were here from every section of the county. They came by every means of conveyance. Particularily notice a bl e was the many large community delegations that came on trucks.

The high point of the program was an address by Hon. Edward A. O'Neal, president of the American Farm Bureau Federation. His remarks were sounded as a call to the farmers to enlist in the nation-wide battle, with the ballot as the weapon, to retain the processing taxes on farm products.

"The farmers are going to keep their tariff, the processing tax," said Mr. O'Neal. "They are going to keep it through organization and constantly being on the alert to see that the men they elect to Congress and the United States Senate take an active interest in their welfare.

"We are not seeking to break down the tariff that protects American industry. But we are not going to stand by and see American industry and American manufacturers break down our own tariff, the only one we have for our protection, the processing tax. Let them pay our processing tax and we will not kick against the tariff that protects industry. The farmer only wants a square deal."

Following the address of Mr. O'Neal the vast gathering of farm citizens unanimously adopted resolutions pledging interest in and fealty to the AAA and to the Bankhead Cotton Control Bill, and calling on legislators from Alabama to stand by the farm leaders who are directing the fight of the farmers in Washington.

J. W. Fant, County Agent, presided over the meeting. R. J. Goode, state commissioner of agriculture and industries, spoke to the farmers. Other prominent agricultural leaders who took part on the program were Dean Funchess, of Auburn, Emmett Sizemore, district agent of the Extension Service, and C. E. Stapp, former county agent of Chilton County.

It is estimated that the women turned out a larger attendance at the picnic than did the men. This was taken as proof of the fine work done by Miss Ruth Pardue, county home agent, in organizing the home demonstration clubs and unifying the women of the county in support of better homes and better farm conditions.

Community Center Gets Endorsement

Resolution Adopted At County Wide Picnic Here Tuesday

During the course of developments at the Chilton County Airport at Clanton, constant and persistent emphasis has been made upon the desirability of including in the program a scheme for a community center and public meeting place available to all the people of Chilton County.

Dr. Gragg advanced the idea last year when the general airport program in the State of Alabama was being approached by CWA. His idea was accepted by higher authorities, and designated as the Alabama plan, gained wide recognition throughout the country.

Efforts have been made to determine the sentiment and reaction of the rural citizenship of the county toward the proposal. It was determined to have the question presented to the group of four thousand assembled at the county-wide picnic Tuesday.

County Agent J. W. Fant introduced the subject with a resolution and requested Dr. V. J. Gragg to speak in explanation of the proposition. After a brief discussion by Dr. Gragg, the body voted their approfal of the resolution as follows:

We, citizens of Chilton County, assembled in a body at the annual county-wide picnic, this, the 6th day of August, 1935, hereby express our approval and endorsement of the proposal to establish a county community center and public meeting place at the airport property near Clanton.

We believe the establishment of such a meeting place, properly equipped and made accessible to the public interests and organizations of the county would prove a convenience to our people, conducive to a more universal acquaintance and a better understanding between all groups of our citizenship.

As rural citizens, we especially feel that such facilities provided by the county at a convenient place, such as the airport, would prove useful and advantageous on many occasions when gatherings of farm groups are to be held.

Further, we wish to express our satisfaction and approval of the action of our county officials in acquiring the airport property, and request them to continue their co-operation and participation with federal agencies in enlarging and developing the property and providing adequate buildings and facilities to make it useful to the people of the entire county as a community center and public meeting place.

We hereby authorize the adoption and approval of this resolution, and request the recorder of the proceedings to furnish a copy hereof to the Board of County Commissioners of Chilton County, and also a copy to each of our county papers with the request that they give publicity to the same.

Plans Being Made For Permanent Addition To The Building

Work was started this week on erection of a temporary four-room structure at the Clanton Grammar School to take care of the classes that have heretofore been placed in the old brick building.

At the close of the last session of school it was definitely determined that children should not be placed in the old building any more. It was hoped that suitable additions could be made to the new building this summer. However, this possibility failed to develop, and it became necessary to install temporary facilities for use until the additions can be built.

The temporary wooden building will be erected on the campus at the east side of the new building. It will be constructed of material that can be used in making additions to the new building when that work gets under way.

Mr. Knight, of the firm Warren, Knight & Davis, architects, of Birmingham, was here Monday and made sketches of the new building, and will draft plans for making addition of six class rooms, and converting the old brick building into an auditorium, to connect with the new building.

Superintendent Luther Little, has hopes that some plan may be worked out in the next few months whereby construction of the additions may be made to the present building, thereby making for Clanton a Grammar School building that will be adequate for a long time, and safe and comfortable for the children.

HEAVY PINE SEED YIELD ARE RIPENING IN WOODS

Montgomery.—Many reports are being received by the Alabama Commission of Forestry to the effect that 1935 will comprise a phenomenal pine seed year. This is particularly true of the longleaf pine.

The establishment of new stands of young seedlings is approximately proportional to the amount of seed shed by the trees, according to the Commission of Forestry. Rouhly speaking, double the quantity of seed means double the number of seedlings. There usually is a large mortality among the young trees in their early stages of growth. Nature must be correspondingly prodigal in its seed crop in order to make certain that a sufficient number of seedlings survive to fully stock the open places in the woods. A thousand seedlings per acre ordinarily is enough for any species of tree to start out with. However, sometimes the number of young seedlings runs over a million per acre.

The longleaf pine produces a heavy seed yield about once in seven years. Lumbermen and other forest land owners should take special care that the young seedlings are not swept by fires after they sprout, since seven years is a long time to wait for another substantial seed fall.

FARM BUREAU FAVORS CONSTITUTION CHANGE IF IT IS NECESSARY

Auburn, Ala. — Alabama farmers want the United States Constitution amended if such an amendment is necessary for continuation of the Agricultural Adjustment Act, the Bankhead Cotton Control Act, and the processing tax, says a resolution passed at the fourteenth meeting of the Alabama Farm Bureau Federation held here the past week.

The farm bureau is also on record favoring a "12-cent government loan on cotton for the 1935-36 season. "It has also authorized its oficials to join in ' any movement to bring a test case to the courts on the constitutionality of the protective tariff'."

"The farmers of Alabama pledge their whole-hearted support and cooperation to the Governor and the Legislature in working out a reasonable and fair revenue program for the operation of the necessary and vital functions of the State, including education," said another resolution.

The farm bureau members also pledged "to do our part in promoting continued cooperation between agriculture and industry, and expressed their appreciation to Dr. L. N. Duncan, president, Alabama Polytechnic Institute and director of the State Extension Service, and Ashton B. Collins, manager of the Alabama Associated Industries, on the work they have done and are doing in bringing closer cooperation between agriculture and industry.

RURAL EXPANSION OF ELECTRIC POWER FOR ALABAMA

Birmingham, Ala., Aug. 2.—By taking advantage of new construction standards which have been perfected for single phasse (2 wire) lines, Alabama Power Company announces that it now believes it possible to expand the extension of electric service to rural customers. While the company has for eleven years been active in the extension of rural electric service and now operates 2,159 miles of rural line, 40 of which were built this year, and serves 28,000 rural customers at city rates and only 8,700 at rural rates, it recently petitioned the Alabama Public Service Commission to liberalize the rural rates and rural line contract requirements so as to make possible a wider use of electric service among existing rural customers and to enable it to consider the construction of additional rural lines.

The commission acted favorably on the petition August 1. Under the adjusted rate schedule, 5,500 or about 60 per cent of the rural customers being served at rural rates will enjoy immedate reductions amounting to $28,500 annually. Customers in Group B of the old classification E-1 have had their minimum bills reduced from $2.00 to $1.25. Customers served under the E-4 classification may now use 15 kilowatt hours for the minimum bill. The rate adjustment results in either a reduction or more electricity for less money for all customers served at rural rates.

A 25 per cent reduction in the capacity required to be contracted for per mile of line is also included in the revision. Alabama Power Company officials state that all requests for extension of rural service are considered in as liberal a light as possible, but that each case must, of course, be determined on its individual merits.

FAVORABLE OUTLOOK FOR POULTRY FARMERS

Auburn, Ala.—A "favorable outlook" for poultry producers the remainder of this year is seen by the Bureau of Agricultural Economics in its summer poultry and egg outlook report recently released.

Egg and poultry prices are likely to continue at higher levels than last year, says the bureau. The supply of fresh eggs is expeced to be a little larger than last year, but the supply of shell eggs in storage is much smaller than a year ago and will offer less competition to the fresh-egg supply.

Increased production per hen and a small increase in number of layers are expected to result in increased production of eggs during the early months of 1936 as compared with the small output in the corresponding months of 1935. Supplies of poultry next fall and wnter are expected to be slightly smaller than last fall and winter.

COLTS NEED GRAIN AS SUPPLEMENT FEED

Auburn, Ala.—Colts need grain as a supplement to the mare's milk to make them grow into strong muscular animals with good heavy bone development, states J. C. Grimes, head of the animal husbandry department of the Alabama Polytechnic Institute.

The daily gains of the colt before weanng are the largest of any period in its life and these gains gradually decrease as the colt reaches maturity, he says. If the feed box of the mare is placed low the colt, when from three to four weeks of age, will begin to nose about and finally locate it. Eventually, the colt will learn the taste of grain and nibble in its mother's feed box at feeding time.

The earlier the colt can be taught to eat the more independent it it will become; therefore, the freater the possibility of being able to secure more mork from the dam.

CARD OF THANKS

We wish to express our thanks to the many good people that were so kind to us during the illness and death of our loving mother and wife, Mrs. Lonnie Cleckler, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Newt Connell, and the wife of Mr. Robert Cleckler.

She is sleeping, sweetly sleeping. Dear mother led the way. Dear husband and children just prepare to meet mother again some day. God bless all of us and you.—A reader.

PLEASANT HILL

Health of our community is good at this writing except Mrs. Fannie Plyer, who has been on the sick list for several days, but we hope for her a speedy recovery.

We are glad to say we are still going on with our Sunday school and B. T. U. However we have had to call off our B. T. U. for the last two Sunday nights, but we are expecting to have a good night next Sunday night. We would say too, that our Sunday school last Sunday was well attended and each one seemed to be so much interested. Oh, how it makes our hearts rejoice to know we have had a goodly number of new names put on our Sunday school roll for the last two weeks. Come on folks and put something into our church and we will surely get something out of it. And let's each one try to be on time next Sunday morning and carry someone with us and make our Sunday school one of the best.

Mr. and Mrs. Rufus Twilley and Children of Dallas, Ga., are spending several days with Mr. and Mrs. S. J. Twilley.

Mrs. P. M. Cleckler and little son, Virgil and Mrs. Pate Aldridge spent several days last week with relatives in Coosa County.

Mr. and Mrs. Cleve Varden and children of Gadsden, Ala., were the guests of his mother, Mrs. Mary Varden, Sunday.

Don't forget our Sunday school next Sunday and be on time.—Reporter.

BOB JONES COMMENTS ON HERE AND HEREAFTER.

The writer is dictating in the City Rescue Misson at Evansville, Ind. Rev. Earnest I. Rovoal is the superintendent. He has been in charge of this wonderfud work for about twenty years. Only Gods knows the good work which he has done here. The mission is well equipped. There is a lovely auditorium, clean rooms, and every comfort the heart could wish. A wealthy, influential citizen gave the money for the building and equipment. Three months after the generous gift was made the prominent citizen died. While I did not know the donor, I am confident that he was a Christian. It is my opinion that satan would not permit any of his servants to contribute money to this type of work. This mission stands for the gospel which is the only hope for lost men. "It pleased God by the foolishness of preaching to save people."

"Up until six years ago I was a great sinner. I was mad with everybody. I went through life frowning. Six years ago I found Jesus Christ as a personal Savior here in this mission. I am happy now and I love everybody." That was the testimony of a man sixty-three years of age during the preliminary service in the mission last evening. The superintendent whispered in my ear the story of the old man's life. "He cost the county thousands of dollars. He killed a man. He had been in every kind of trouble. He was a drunkard and a drug addict. He is now one of the sweetest, finest men I know," were the words of the superintendent. Money invested in the propagation of the gospel is never wasted. You pay a doctor to keep your daughter from dying when she is ill. The soul winner keeps the daughter from the death that is eternal. You will pay a lawyer a thousand dollars to keep your son off the "chain gang" when he deserves the "chain gang". The soul winner keeps him out of trouble which makes him deserve the "chain gang". The greatest benefactor on earth is the man or woman who is engaged in the busines of winning people to Jesus Christ.

"I don't believe in the old time religion, Bob. I have changed my mind. No bloody gospel for me." Those were the words of an old school mate of mine with whom the writer had lunch at a New York hotel a few years ago. "What would you do if a thief or a drunkard or a woman of the underworld should come to you and ask for spiritual help?" I inquired of my old schoolmate. "I would have to send a case like that to one of you evangelists or to a rescue mission," was my friend's reply. I am glad I preach a gospel which has no limitations. The thief can be made honest, the fallen woman pure, the liar truthful. "The gospel is the power of God unto salvation to every one that believeth". You will note that it says "TO EVERY ONE that believeth". This means the moral and the immoral, the rich and the poor, the good and the bad, the wise and the ignorant, the educated and the illiterate.

FRIENDSHIP MEETING CLOSED

The summer revival at Friendship closed last Friday night after having run since the Saturday before. The pastor, Rev. Wm. E. Robinson, did the preaching, and there were 18 additions. The ten new converts were baptized at Mims Pond Sunday morning.

Rev. Robinson reports 22 additions to the membership of the church in the past two months, making the total membership now 115. When Rev. Robinson became pastor in October, 1933, the church membership was 56.

CONCERT AT MACEDONIA

As the closing exercises of his singing school, Prof. Dick Martin will put on a concert at Macedonia, out toward Randolph, Friday night of this week.

Mr. Martin says that he has had a mighty fine little school, and hopes to put on a concert that will be a credit to the school, to himself and the community. An invitation is extended to all to attend, and make it a howling success.

MINERAL SPRINGS

Just a few words about our church. Saturday night and Sunday were our regular preachings days. Bro. Robinson delivered some great messages which were enjoyed by everyone present. His scripture reading Sunday was the First Psalms, from which, he did his best to explain the way of the rightous and the way of the wicked.

Our Sunday school seems to be climbing up again, but has plenty of room for improvement. Let's get together, church, and be of one mind and one accord. We will never have a Sunday school or B. Y. P. U. until we do. Just humble yourself before God and ask Him to direct us in a way that would be pleasing in His sight.

There will be prayer meeting at this place Wednesday night of this week and Sunday night. Come on people, let's do our best by putting our shoulder to the wheel and push forward. Everybody invited to come with a prayerful heart.

We regret to learn of the illness of Miss Syble Vinzant. Hope for her a speedy recovery.

Don't forget our revival begins the third Sunday in August. Bro. W. E. Robinson, pastor, and Bro. Green, helper. Everybody invited. We need your help.

I want to say the all day singing at Mineral Springs was called off the third Sunday on account of the beginning of the revival.

FROM FAIRVIEW

Crops around here are fairly good, but have suffered some on account of not having sufficient rain; but we should be thankful for what we have gotten, which has been more than some nearby communities.

The big meeting is going on at Shiloh this week. We hope they have a wonderful meeting.

A DOUBLE CANTELOUPE

Mr. Newt Wyatt of Providence sent The Union-Banner a rather funny canteloupe last week. It was two normal canteloupes growing from one stem, and they were securely grown together with a small portion of tissue.

MEETING AT CHESTNUT CREEK

The summer meeting at Chestnut Creek, Cooper, begins next Sunday, August 11. Rev. J. L. Hand of Climax, Ga., will do the preaching. Services will be twice daily, at 10:30 and 7:30. The public is invited.—J. W. Jones, Pastor.

IN MEMORY OF RUBY McCALL

Ruby McCall, wife of Ed McCall, died at her home in Clanton Tuesday, July 31st. Funeral services were conducted Sunday, August 4th, at Union Baptist church, by Rev. R. C. Mixon, assisted by Rev. J. S. Prentice. Interment was made in Salem cemtery.

The deceased had been living in Clanton for the past twenty-seven years. She is survived by her husband, two sons, Homer McCall of Columbus, Ohio, and Edward McCall of Montgomery; a sister, Carrie Bedsoole, of Montgomery; a daughter-in-law, Bertha McCall; step-father, Tony Goodgame, of Chicago, Ill.; brother-in-law, Sam McCall, of Akron, Ohio.

Relatives and friends attended the funeral from Birmingham, Montgomery, Anniston, Columbiana, Selma, Shelby and Calera. Numerous floral designs showed the high esteem in which the deceased was held by both white and colored friends. Ella M. Draper acted as mistress of ceremonies.

CARD OF THANKS

The family of Ed McCall wish to thank their friends, both white and colored, for the beautiful flowers and expressions of sympathy in their recent bereavement.—The Family.

HOME COMING AT CANE CREEK

On the second Sunday in August we are going to have a home-coming at Cane Creek, (Aug. 11). We want all our older members who have moved away to come back home and all enjoy being together once more, as we once have been. If you have joined some other church we want you to come. The program will be announced later.

Get Rid of Malaria!

Banish Chills and Fever!

To conquer Malaria, you must do two things. (1) Destroy the infection in the blood. (2) Build up the blood to overcome the effects and to fortify against further attack. There is one medicine that does these two things and that is Grove's Tasteless Chill Tonic! The tasteless quinine in Grove's Tasteless Chill Tonic destroys the malarial infection in the blood while the iron builds up the blood. Thousands of people have conquered Malaria with the aid of Grove's Tasteless Chill Tonic. In addition to being a noted remedy for Malaria, it is also an excellent tonic of general use. Grove's Tasteless Chill Tonic is pleasant to take and contains nothing harmful. Even children like it and they can take it safely. For sale by all drug stores. Now two sizes—50c and $1. The $1 size contains 2½ times as much as the 50c size and gives you 25% more for your money.

ROBINSON SPRINGS

I wish to announce that we, the people of Robinson Springs are having an all day singing Sunday, August 11, in the Christian Harmony books. We invite each and every one to come and bring a well filled basket.

Don't forget our Sunday school and prayer meeting. You will be welcomed.

BIRTHDAY DINNER

Mrs. C. N. Baker entertained her mother, Mrs. E. N. Minor with a birthday dinner. She celebrated her 77th birthday with many of her friends.

At the noon hour a bountiful dinner was spread, which was enjoyed by a large crowd. Those present were:

Mr and Mrs. E. N. Minor, Mr. and Mrs. C. N. Baker and family, Mr. and Mrs. M. T. Smith, Mr. and Mrs. Austin Baker, Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Headley, Mr. and Mrs. Johnnie Franklin, Mr. and Mrs. Lonzie Baker and family, Mr. Jim Mims and daughter, Ruby.

After this many presents were received, given by all.

DEATH OF MRS. LONIE CLECKLEY

It was last Friday, the saddest day that ever was, the death angel visited the home of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Cleckley and bore away our loving wife and mother. She was taken seriously sick last Monday, July 22, and lasted until 15 minutes till three o'clock Friday.

She had been in ill health for the past year. Dear mother wore a sweet smile and said she was ready to go.

She was laid to rest at Mt. Springs cemetery last Saturday at 3 o'clock with Martin in charge and Bro. Jimmie Dubose in charge of the funeral.

She leaves to mourn her loss, her husband, Robert Cleckley; two sons, Milton and Bud; one daughter, Ruth Kate; mother and father, Mr. and Mrs. Newt Connell; one sister, Mrs. Berline Thompson.

She died from stomach trouble. All was done for her that loving hands could do, but God saw fit to call her home to die no more. Weep not, dear ones, for mother is at rest. God bless each and everyone of you.—A Cousin.

THE MACEDONIA REUNION

Mr. Virgil G. Smith reports that they had a fine day at Macedonia last Sunday, when they held a home-coming, reunion and singing jointly. The people of that community wish to thank all visitors for their help in making the day a success. Rev. Paul Oden preached at 11 o'clock, and his sermon was thoroughly enjoyed by all present.

Mr. Smith says that a man's hat was left in the church, and the owner may get same at his home near Jackson Chapel.

Rev. Paul Oden wll preach at that church the third Sunday in August, and will run a meeting on into that week. The people of the community are urged to bear this in mind.

CEMETERY CLEANING — SAMARIA

All who are interested in the cemetery at Samaria are requested to meet there on Tuesday, August 13, for the purpose of cleaning off the cemetery. Bring tools to work with.

Lesson for August 11

DANIEL

LESSON TEXT—Daniel 1:8-20.
GOLDEN TEXT—Know ye not that your body is the temple of the Holy Ghost which is in you, which ye have of God?—I Corinthians 6:19.
PRIMARY TOPIC—How Daniel Grew Strong.
JUNIOR TOPIC—Ten Times Strong.
INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOPIC—Obeying the Laws of Health.
YOUNG PEOPLE AND ADULT TOPIC—Motives for Total Abstinence.

The lesson committee has designated this lesson, "Temperance and Health." In the use of this as a temperance lesson it must be borne in mind that it is temperance in the sense of self-mastery, rather than having to do with indulgence in intoxicating liquors. Daniel's self-mastery was due to his right relation and loyalty to his God. It is utterly futile to hope to enforce a program of temperance upon those who are in rebellion against God.

I. Daniel in Captivity in Babylon (vv. 1-4).

Daniel with his companions were carried away to Babylon in the first seige of Jerusalem by Nebuchadnezzar. At the command of the king, certain choice young men were carried away because they were "skillful in wisdom, and cunning in knowledge, and understanding science," that they might be trained to stand in the king's palace.

II. Daniel's Trials (vv. 5-7).

1. Conscience tested (v. 5). By the appointment of the king, a daily provision was arranged of the king's meat and wine for Daniel and his companions. This was contrary to the custom among the godly Jews. Being contrary to the Jewish customs they could not conscientiously partake of them.

2. The change of name (vv. 6, 7). Among the Hebrews names were given to children which were most significant. Daniel means "God is my Judge." The significance of this name is that all the problems of life were submitted to God for a decision. God was made the arbitrator of his life. His name was changed to Belteshazzar, which means "Bel's prince." It meant, therefore, one whom the chief god of the Babylonians favors. Hananiah means "gift or beloved of Jehovah." His name was changed to Shadrach, which signified "illumined by the sun god, Rach." Mishael means "who is as God?" His name was changed to Meshach, which means "who is like the goddess, Sheshach, the gentle one?" Azariah means "Jehovah is our help." This was changed to Abednego, which means "the servant of Nego." Back of the change of names was the attempt of Satan to wipe out the name of the true God.

III. Daniel's Courtesy (vv. 8-13).

Daniel seems to have been the spokesman for the company. Although his heart was fixed, he did not forget to be a gentleman. He requested to be excused from this meat and drink in order that he be not defiled. We should learn from this that in times even of great trials we should be courteous. When Daniel asked that a test be made as to the effect of the food upon the countenance of himself and companions, gracious consideration was given to them.

IV. Daniel's Triumph (vv. 14-21).

1. As to physical health (vv. 14-16). A test was made for ten days, and it was shown that Daniel and his companions were fairer in countenance and fatter in flesh than those who indulged in the eating of the king's meat. This meat and wine would have been pleasant to the palate, but would have meant a compromise of the conscience. It is obligatory upon God's children today to abstain from that which is contrary to his law.

2. Spiritual insight (v. 17). Because of Daniel's loyalty to God, Nebuchadnezzar's dream was revealed to him (2:31-45), and he was given visions sketching the whole history of the world.

3. Mental growth (vv. 17-20). Daniel and his companions were found to be ten times superior in matters of wisdom and understanding to their comrades. Those who abstain from indulgence in the use of strong drinks have clearer minds and are thus better equipped mentally for their work than those who indulge therein.

4. Their social and political preference (v. 19). They stood before the king. No higher position of influence and honor could have been given them.

5. Their temporal influence (v. 21). They were all advanced to positions of influence, and Daniel became president of the college of wise men, and the prime minister of the nation. This position he continued to hold during several dynasties.

Good Actions

Do you act as if you had ten thousand years to throw away. Death stands at your elbow. Be good for something, while you live and it is in your power. What remains but to live easy and cheerful, and crowd one good action so close to another that there may be the least empty space between them.

Habit

Habit is the magistrate of our lives; and, therefore, we should see that we have good habits.—Lord Bacon.

Miss Sadie Solomon, Miss Agnes Leary and Mrs. Phalin of Thorsby spent the week-end in Montgomery.

CHESTNUT GROVE

We are glad to state that the health is very good at present.

Mrs. Sallie Nicks, and family, of Siluria, spent the week-end here with her sister, Mrs. Grace Lucas.

Mr. Lee Nabors and his wife spent Thursday and Friday of last week with his father and mother, Mr. and Mrs. G. G. Nabors here.

Mr. and Mrs. T. C. Jones were guests of Mr. and Mrs. H. R. Hall Sunday.

Mrs. Addie Head and Mrs. Burnice Little were guests of Mrs. Mamie C. Moore Sunday p.m..

Miss Udine Hughes and Miss Mamie George Hall visited Miss Betty Vinson Sunday p.m.

Mr. G. W. Haywood, and family, of Ensley visited Mr .and Mrs. G. G. Nabors Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Nabors, of Spring Creek, were dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. G. G. Nabors Sunday.

Brother Horace Nabors will fill his regular appointment here next Sunday, so let's all come out and hear a good sermon.

PROVIDENCE — BEAT 13

There will be singing at this place Sunday afternoon. This has been discontinued for some time. But as most of the all day singings are over we hope to have a good singing. We are expecting the Macedonia class to be with us. Bring along your new books, and if you haven't got your book, come over and get you one.—O. B. Martin.

HIGHLAND NEWS

We have just closed a wonderful revival at this place. Everyone seemed to enjoy it very much. We surely do thank the visitors for your splendid cooperation. We were glad to have you.

There were seventeen additions to our church, fifteen for Baptism and two by letter. We feel that Bro. Oden, Bro. Lockhart and others did some wonderful work during this revival.

We wish to thank the people, vissitors and all for your good behavior and good attention.

Don't forget the all day singing at this place on the third Sunday in August, August 18th. We want your cooperatioon.

Everyone come back to Sunday school next Sunday and bring some one with you.

CARD OF THANKS

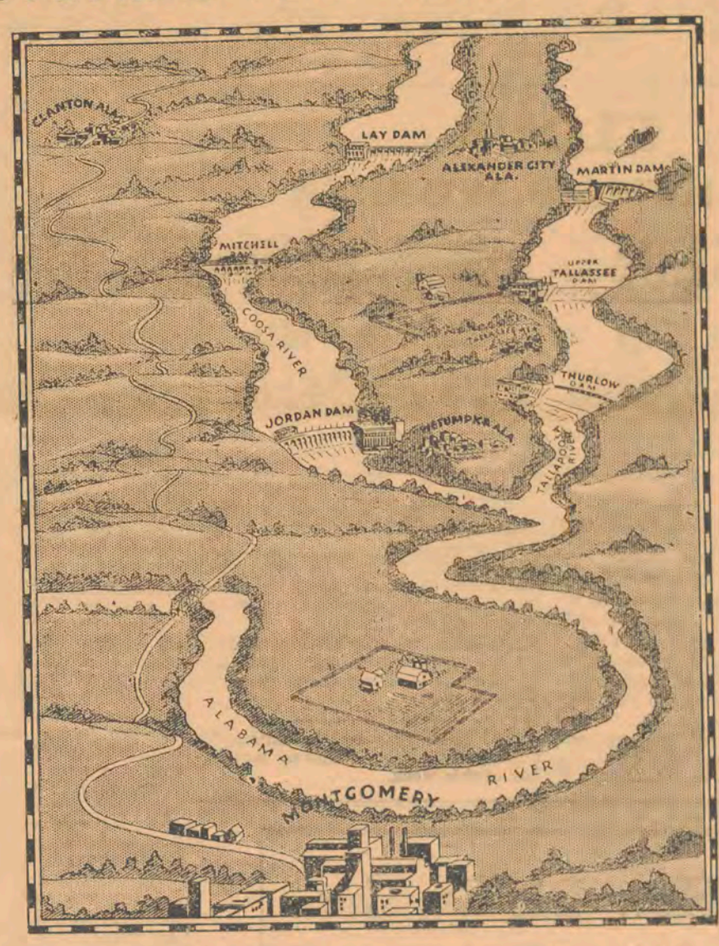
OPEN HOUSE MONTH
FOR ALABAMA POWER COMPANY CUSTOMERS AND THEIR FAMILIES



Pack Up A Picnic Lunch, Bring the Family and Neighbors With You and Enjoy Yourself

ALTHOUGH visitors are welcome to our power plants at any time, we have set the month of August aside as "Open House Month", and especially invite you and your friends to spend an enjoyable day at one of our many electric power generating plants. Plenty of refreshing drinking water is available and the shade of many trees makes a pleasant place to eat a picnic lunch.

FOREMOST IN POWER DEVELOPMENT

The power plants of this Company are among the outstanding ones of the Country. Mitchell Dam near Verbena, Ala., is the only one of its kind in existence. Martin Dam at Cherokee Bluffs on the Tallapoosa River backs up one of the largest artificial bodies of water in the United States, making a lake with a shore line of approximately 700 miles. The Gorgas Steam Plant, in the heart of the Alabama coal fields, was built to augment the hydro plants in seasons of drought, so that electric service could always be dependable. Lay Dam is the original large power development in Alabama and one of the first in the South. Jordan Dam, Thurlow Dam and Upper Tallassee all have features of great interest.

VISIT ONE OR MORE OF THESE POWER PLANTS

Your visit will be not only instructive, but you will be impressed with the manner in which electricity is made and will have a better idea of the great part this Company has played in the development of the natural resources of Alabama and the care it takes to keep your electric service dependable.

Any of our stores will give you directions to help you find the dam sites easily. See one or all of them. You will receive a cordial welcome.

Other Points of Interest

Altho not as spectacular as the hydro-electric plants, but fully as interesting, are the substations from which electricity is "directed" to the various towns and communities over the State. On your way to or from the dams, you may want to stop at one of the following substations, to which any filling station in the towns where they are located can direct you.

ANNISTON — GADSDEN
SELMA — FLOMATON

Ala. State Fair

Birmingham, Ala.—The Alabama State Fair to be held for six days and six nights from September 23rd to September 29th, at the State Fair Grounds at Birmingham promises to be even bigger, better and more interesting than our big successful State Fair of last year.

For the past year, Manager P. T. Strieder and his staff of assistants have been kept busy planning new features and making improvements on the Fair Grounds.

This year will bring more agriculture, commercial and industrial exhibits representing the various counties and cities throughout the state.

Included in the improvements made at the fair grounds is a new steel building 112 feet by 104 feet to be used for commercial exhibits. The new premium books giving the lists of prizes and rules governing the distribution of premiums together with entry blanks will be mailed to anyone interested if they will address their request to Manager Strieder at the Alabama State Fair Grounds, Birmingham.

The Grand Stand attrations booked for this year are among the finest to be obtained anwhere and no expense has been spared in providing for an unusual display of fire works.

The Royal American shows will again furnish the attractions for the midway. Auto races and three day of harness horse racing will also be features of this year's fair.

Included in the commercial exhibits will be exhibits by Birmingham Electric Co., Perffection Mattress Co., Birmingham Gas Co., Ensley-Fairfield Mattress Co., Penzoll Co., who will present motion pictures of their operations; Kerr Glass Co., Tennessee Coal, Iron and R. R. Co., Gulf States Steel Co., Allis-Chalmers, who will hold a series of tractor races in connection with their exhibit; Zac Smith Stationary Co., Roberts and Son Co., Moore-Handey Co., W. M. Smith and Co., Neon Light Adv. Co., Burger-Phiips Co., and Odum Bowers and White.

So, all in all, it will be six big days and nights of excitement, thrills and absorbing interest for all.

MAYNARD'S CHAPEL NEWS

Our new church has gotten to where we can have Sunday school, preaching and B. Y. P. U. in it. Our men put the windows in about two weeks ago and the floor last week.

Our place is where the church is looking like a church now and we want to make our church a church of God. Who is willing to help in every thing? We feel that God in his wisdom has been with us, building our church for His people to worship in. He felt the need of a church in this community. So, let's all be very much in prayer for our new church and our pastor, Bro. Dewey Robinson. He is a wonderfud pastor.

There will be Sunday school next Sunday at 10:00 o'clock; preaching at 11:00, and Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock there will be a baptizing of three: Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Horton, coming from another church, and Miss Olys Pate. B. Y. P. U. at 7; and preaching at 8:00 by Rev. Robinson.

This new church was organized Sunday afternoon was a week ago and we appointed Bro. Robinson for our pastor. So, for him to be our pastor, the church called on him to be ordained. The services took place Sunday afternoon at 3:00 o'clock at the Thorsby Baptist church. Now he is in full fellowship to go into the ministerial work.

We want to thank every one who has taken a part in any kind of our work towward our church, may God's richest blessings abide upon you all is our prayer.

Our Sunday school and B. Y. P. U. are still increasing. We had six new members in Senior B. Y. P. U. Sunday night. We want more than six next Sunday night, and if you con't join our work come and be a visitor. All visitors are invited back.

The Rev. Robinson was the dinner guest of Miss Marie Burnett Sunday.

Mr. Lonnie Pate is visiting in Sylacauga for a week.

Little Miss Helen Horton is at home now, after staying in Birmingham for about two weeks.

Mr. and Mrs. Glenn White of Birmingham was the guest of Mrs. White's parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Horton.

Miss Jewell is at home after staying a few days with her uncle and aunt out West of Clanton.

Mr. and Mrs. Charlie Barnett and daughter, Jewell, Mr. Fred Barnett and Mrs. Harvie Barnett spent Tuesday in Birmingham.

Mr. J. C. Williams is at home after spending a week at Mt. Creek.

Mr. Charles Barrett returned home last Monday where he has been visiting his cousin, Junior Blankenship, of Clanton. He made a nice trip to Montgomery Thursday.

We are very sorry to know that Mr. Windell Hays has a broken shoulder caused by diving into a creek. We wish him a speedy recovery.

Miss Marie Barrett was the guest of Miss Mildred Adams Tuesday.

Misses Lera and Thomisene Martin spent Sunday with Merle and Pearl Gibson.

Miss Mamie Robinson and Miss Loyce Daniel have returned home after spending their vacation in Birmingham.

Mr. and Mrs. Steven Pate had as their week end guest their daughter of Sylacauga.

Mr. and Mrs. Ethridge Williams spent Saturday night at Mineral Springs with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ashcraft.

We are sorry to know Mrs. Delbert Collins is ill. We hope her a speedy recovery.

Mrs. Jim Robinson and son, Billy, are in Birmingham visiting relatives this week.

Mrs. Dollie Barrett and Mrs. Martha Gibson spent Monday afternoon visiting Mrs. Wilson Robinson, who is very ill. Our prayer is for her to get better if the Lord is willing.

Let's all remember these announcements and come and help our attendance.

PROSPERITY THROUGH THE CITIZENS
(EDITORIAL)

Some people, for the past few years, have little by little drifted into the idea that the government can do anything and everything—that of its own power and influence it can get the country out of the hold of an economic depression the like of which not many people now living have ever witnessed. It would be fine if the government could do this for us, but this process is very much like taking dirt from one place in a dam to mend another place where it is leaking. If care and moderation are not observed the whole structure may be so weakened that it will all become hazardous and liable to collapse. If possible new dirt should be brought in and the weak places mended, and the strong portions of the dam left to remain strong.

No government has been able to accomplish these utopian ends for its people in the past, although it has been tried many times. Even a strong and well-balanced republic like ours cannot do these things for its people without ultimate injury to itself and consequent undesirable effects upon the people as a whole all over the land. The present administration has been playing Santa Claus upon its people for the past few years, but this is done at the expense of the people, and we will all ultimately realize it. No man can lift himself by his own bootstraps. To get higher he must employ outside means.

The more we deviate from those plans established by experience, the more uncertainty among industry will be created and a consequent lack of needed expansion in private industry.

The taxes raised in the country, as high as they are, represent only a small percentage of the wealth of the land, therefore by simple comparison, one can see that tax money applied to supplying employment to our 120,000,000 people will not go very far.

What we need to realize in America is that Uncle Sam cannot do our work for us. We as a people must hustle for ourselves, and be willing to put up with a few inconveniences until such time as we can work ourselves out of an economic stagnation. We must have individual effort, and the greatest service our government can render its people is to create within us the determination to press forward and not look to someone else to do things for us. Santa Claus is a fine old fellow and we all love him, but let's not transform him into a proverbial goose with a golden egg.

TEACH YOUTH AMERICANISM

Much attention is being given young Americans. Indirectly they are being ignored by those in charge of borowing, debt-making and extravagant spending, however, at the nation's capitol. We are wishing upon our younger people the greatest burden of taxation the world has any record of; in fact it staggers the imagination to even figure the interest on the indebtedness the present administration is piling upon the nation. It will take excessive tax-levying to pay the interest before the principal is even touched. The State governments, too are going their limit in borrowing and appropriating, as well as most of the smaller units of government. It all put together will be burdensome indeed.

The extravagance in money is not all that the administration is putting up against the young people of the country—in fact that is small in comparison with the anti-American ideas that are being instilled in the minds of the people. Disregard for the fundamental and constitutional principles of Americanism are going to bear down harder on coming generations than heavy taxation, unless a halt is put to this practice on the part of government heads at Washington.

Again The Union-Banner appeals to the younger voters of Chilton County and any others who chance to read this, to study the conditions and trends of things seriously. You expect to live in America for several decades to come, and we should look forward more than just for the present. Ponder the things that will bear upon conditions in the future, and be governed in your actions accordingly. Remember, you are a part of our great nation.

Legion Meeting

A special meeting of Chilton County Post No. 6 will be held on Friday night, August 16, for the purpose of installing new officers for the coming year. A visiting speaker from the Alabama Department will be present and deliver an address.

At the meeting Monday night Dr. J. M. Kimmey, County Health Officer, presented to the Post his plan to provide tubercular cabins for sufferers with tuberculosis. The Post agreed to sponsor the erection of one of these cabins, and place it on exhibition.

Dr. Kimmey is very much interested in working out a plan to provide such cabins for every one of the 35 tubercular cases in the county. An appeal will be made to different organiations to sponsor building one cabin. The material in a cabin costs $32, and the work can be done by relief labor, it is stated.

KIWANIS CLUB WILL MEET AT MATT'S CAFE THURSDAY

By special arrangement the Kiwanis Club of Clanton will hold its meeting this week at Matt's Cafe at 6:45 p.m. Thursday. The hour of the meeting is early in order to give all an opportunity to attend the Baptist Church services after the Kiwanis program.

STATE TRAFFIC OFFICERS DOING GOOD ON HIGHWAY

Much satisfaction is being publicly expressed at the effect the state traffic officers are having in curbing reckless and fast driving on the Birmingham-Montgomery Highway.

For the past few weeks the officers have been patroling this important and much used artery of traffic. There is a noticeable difference already.

Before the officers came here there was speeding and recklessness unlimited. Now it is not nearly so common.

APOLOGIES OR NO THORSBY SECTION FOR THIS WEEK

The Union-Banner is sorry and extends apologies that we have no Thorsby Section this week. Our correspondent sent in the news but it was so late that we could not use it. Sometimes we can use copy that arrives up in the day Wednesday and sometimes we can't. This was one instance where we couldn't.

BOOSTING OF FOREIGN GOODS BY FARM CLUBS IS POTESTED

Hopewell, Virginia.—Stating that contests sponsored by the 4-H and Future Farmer organizations are often "detrimental to Southern products," when they advertise foreign-made goods, the Hopewell Chamber of Commerce is asking Southern leaders to express their views on the subject.

The contests among farm boys and girls require the time of federal and States of America. It is pointed out well Chamber of Commerce, these contests should be exclusively in behalf of goods made in the United States off America. It is pointed out that Relief funds and money borrowed from the R. F. C. must be spent for American goods.

Hopewell is one of the South's leading industrial centres, and is widely known as the home of American Nitrate of Soda.

Mr. J. E. Varner, of Enterprise community was in Clanton wednerday of this week.

Just How Big Is The Telephone Company

THE Southern Bell Company is only as big as the people of Alabama and the South have required it to be.

The two and a half million people of this great State would not be satisfied with or be properly served by a company of less size, incapable of furnishing the high type of dependable, nation-wide service now required.

The telephone service needs of the people of Alabama are large and it necessarily requires a large institution to do this big job. More than 22,000,000 local and long distance calls are made monthly in Alabama, and the responsibility for the continuous operation of a service of such importance is large.

To operate, maintain and expand this intricate system requires a small army of more than 1,500 workers, whose annual payroll is nearly $1,700,000.

Because of its size the telephone industry is also one of the largest contributors to the support of the State and its subdivisions by the payment of taxes. Its tax bill in Alabama for 1934 amounted to $448,000, not including federal taxes.

The telephone company of necessity is also a large user of raw materials, and spends large sums of money in Alabama for the products of the State.

Alabama is a big, important State, requiring a telephone company large enough to insure continuous, adequate and dependable telephone service—a service not limited by State lines, but world-wide in its scope.

A telephone company, smaller in size and resources could not render such a service and would not be capable of serving the people of Alabama satisfactorily.

BOOST THE BOYS!

VIDA 16 — OAK GROVE 1

Vida Walked rough-shod over Oak Grove 16 to 1 on July 31. Those Vida boys are getting hot. Oak Grove can't hold a light to them. Old Man Bennie Wyatt wouldn't let Oak Grove even smell of the ball.

The Vida boys lambasted their pitcher all over the field until they felt sorry for them.

BUCK CREEK 25 — CLANTON 5

The Clanton team lost to Buck Creek at Silura last Sunday by the lop-sided count of 25 to 5. So far a box score of this game has not been turned in, but it will be secured and published next week.

POLITICS, COTTON, THE AAA, ETC.

[AN EDITORIAL]

The editor of The Union-Banner takes pardonable pride in announcing that we are here of late receiving lots of recognition because of the stand we have taken against most of the New Deal measures as we see that they affect our people both now and in the future. Some comments are very interesting.

Even our neighboring newspapers, some dailies and some weeklies, are reading our paper and are considering our attitudes on various questions. They scarcely ever agree with us, or if they do they don't dare say so, because our neighboring papers are all Democratic; but they are reading The Banner, and don't fail to take a rip at our hide once in a while.

In the course of a well prepared editorial The Chilton County News last week attempted to place The Union-Banner in a position at odds with the interest of the cotton farmers of the South and Chilton County because we do not agree in toto with the present control methods of the Agricultural Adjustment Administration. Saturday morning The Montgomery Advertiser chimed in and helped The News finish the Job. In part these papers are right in so placing us, but in part they are dead wrong. We are not at odds with the cotton farmers of the South and Chilton County. The editor of The Union-Banner was born between two cotton rows and has gone all the way down the line as a cotton farmer. Nearly all of his kinsfolk are now cotton farmers in Chilton County, and it is not natural that he should be more interested in New England industrialists than in the farmers of Chilton County, and such is certainly not the case, notwithstanding the attempts of these papers to make it appear as such.

The farmers of the South have never gotten too much for their labors, and 12 cents a pound for cotton is not too much now, in fact they are due infinitely more. They ought to be getting 20 cents a pound and would if the price of cotton were in proportion to meat, flour, lard and lots of other things we have to buy. If the salaries of a few of those $10,000 a year administrators, bureaus, etc., who are paid to tell the farmers what they can do and cannot do, were swapped around and used directly to pay the farmers for their labors, you would see things pick up considerably in the South as well as all other parts of the country.

But this question is debatable. While the farmers are temporarily getting "a break" from the New Deal, we believe that it should be of some concern to us all when in the course of only twelve months, just ended, cotton shipments from the United States dropped off 3,000,000 bales. This means a money loss of $150,000,000. This is a fact and is so grim that the cotton farmers cannot afford to overlook it. We may get by with such annual decreases for a year or so, provided Uncle Sam continues to foot the deficit. The shrewd politicians at Washington may hold it together until after the elections next year and thus keep a strong political following among the farmers; but anybody with any common sense knows that we cannot stand such losses in foreign trade without disastrous reults to the cotton business of the country. We cannot use all of our cotton ourselves, but we must sell a great portion of it to foreign countries.

While shipments from this country decreased other cotton-raising countries exported 2,500,000 more bales than the previous year. Our policies with regard to cotton are making it profitable for foreign markets to buy from other cotton raisers. Limitation of production and artificial boosting of prices make our cotton too expensive, hence our enormous decline in foreign trade and this $150,000,000 going to other countries.

If the triple A could control all the cotton in the world, then the scheme would work, but that is too big a job even for the brain trusters at Washington. We must sell cotton abroad, and in order to do it we must meet world prices.

During last February, the shortest month of the year, this country imported from foreign countries 13,000,000 pounds of cottonseed oil, which we could have produced ourselves. And while the government hires our farmers to let their land lie idle we are importing a million bushels of corn every week from South America. Imports in wheat and hogs, which we could be raising much more of if the government did not pay us not to, is increasing in leaps and bounds.

Now, while the AAA lays claim to giving us 12 cents for our cotton, it also must lay claim to the above conditions, which if they are not checked will soon bring us unsurmountable difficulties and you needn't doubt it.

The government now has on its hands approximately 5,100,000 bales of cotton on which it loaned 12 cents a pound, or which in other words has cost the government—or the taxpayers—$306,000,000. The government is going to have to sell this cotton not at 12 cents a pound but at the prevailing world market which is considerably less, and the taxpayers will have to pay the difference. You will probably be led to believe that the big millionaires will be taxed to pay this and the other numerous deficits of the government, but the small laborers will have to pay it in the end, just as he has always had to do.

As far as the protective tariff is concerned, it is not such an issue between the two parties that it used to be. The Republicans have always contended that the protective tariff was best for the whole country. The North and East have usually agreed. The South used to kick on it, but much of this opposition has subsided. The present Democratic administration, since it went into power two and a half years ago, has made no attempt to alter the tariff laws enacted by the previous Republican administration. Lots of the Democrats of the South are now agreed that the protective tariff is good for the Southern farmers, notwithstanding the fact there is now in Louisiana a movement on to test the constitutionality of the collection of this revenue.

No, The Union-Banner is not biting the hand that feeds us by trying to hinder a good cause for the farmers of the South; neither do we place New England industries ahead of Southern cotton raisers as The News and Advertiser would have you believe. Our readers know us too well for that. But we do think that we have foresight enough to sense danger down the road to which the AAA is leading, and we cannot refrain from warning the cotton growers about it.

MASSACHUSETTS SETS AN EXAMPLE

At a time when both the executive and legislative branches of the Federal Government seem to have forgotten their oaths to uphold and defend the Constitution, Massachusetts sets an inspiring example of loyalty to American ideas and ideals.

The Legislature has passed, and the Governor has signed, a bill requiring the teachers in all its public and private schools to pledge allegiance both to the Constitution of the nation and to that of the state.

The stand taken by Masachusetts is a victory for patriotic Americans everywhere—an answer to the propagandists of sedition and a stinging rebuke to those officeholders at Washington who have REPUDIATED the fundamental law of the land by their actions if not by their words.

"WE" KILLED A BEAR, SAYS WE

Here of late some over-zealous advocates of the New Deal have been inclined to pile up at the feet of said New Deal considerable credit for accomplishments here and there in the way of buildings and other improvements. In connection with write-ups about said credits to the New Deal some of these advocates even include some private homes near Clanton, one in particular that was built ten or twelve years ago.

Individual effort on the part of the citizens who have been interested in these interprises, and who will eventually pay for these improvements in full, are altogether discounted, and the New Deal at Washington credited with laying these fine things at our door.

The reason is clear. Votes are what these advocates represent. An election is coming next year—a very important one—and these parties are laying up capital for this election by telling the people of Chilton county what has been GIVEN them by the Democrats at Washington, but nothing is said of the "please remit" for these things which will be presented to the people in the way of outrageous taxes just after the next election.

It is amusing how Democrats harp about what "we" are doing, and try to make the citizens feel like something is being given them, in return for which they ask the vote and indorsement from the people.

Every single thing that is being done by the government is being done with the money belonging to the people of America—or at least with money that is borrowed and which we will all have a part in paying back. No one class or no one party has a right to claim credit for anything that we all will have to pay for alike.

The Union-Banner is proud of the improvements that have been made in Clanton and Chilton county with government money, and we think those officials who procured these things for us have done a great deed. The swamp drainage was a god-send to Clanton and vicinity; the road surfacing is fine; the airport and city hall are a credit to our little city, and so is the post office. The Union-Banner agrees with those who advocate that we should latch on to everything we can from the government while the getting is good, for the Lord knows we are going to catch it in the neck when pay day does come; and we will have to pay just the same whether we have gotten our part or not. For this reason we say let's get it while we can.

Maybe we will be so fortunate as to stay here a few years and enjoy these fine things, then when we "cash in" and launch out acress the river to call on St. Peter we can just turn over the notes, mortgages, bonds and deferred payments to our grand children and let them take care of the worrying about payments.

But what makes us sick is those good-will advocates who try to make us believe we are being GIVEN something for NOTHING, and asking for our votes to help continue this giving business which we all know cannot last much longer without the destruction and annihilation of national credit, money value and civic honor. Such tommy-rot is nauseating indeed and should be spurned by our people who are intelligent enough to see that these Democrats are merely putting a roach in our ear and expect us to think it is raining. The people of Chilton County know Democratic tricks, even when they bear some other kind of label.

SCARCITY IN PROMOTING ABUNDANCE

This Roosevelt policy of promoting a more abundant life by scarcity is not confined to foodstuffs. It ramifies.

It involves scarcity in buying power because of high prices and it involves scarcity of jobs because business hesitates to venture mid the uncertainties of scarcity of credit, except for the government, and of threatened restrictions on honest commercial operations. It nvolves scarcity of a foreign market for cotton.

The latest proposal is to promote scarcity in wealth and thus scarcity in working capital for the employment of labor and for the production of goods. Producers and consumers alike get scarcity. That's the policy of the more abundant life.

Where, then, does the abundant life come into the picture? Mainly, apparently, in an abundance of money in the banks, an abundance of federal jobs, an abundance of new national debts and an abundance of taxes.—a constitution."

NATIONAL AFFAIRS

(By Frank P. Litschert

One of the interesting economic developments of the summer comes from various parts of the country where, according to press dispatches, farmers and fruit growers are having some trouble to get adequate help because men refuse to go off federal relief, or what is sometimes known as the government "dole," for a private job. A few weeks ago it was the berry men of New Jersey who were complaining that they could not get pickers and that the crop would spoil. The claim set up by some of those who refused to go was that the wages were not high enough, the assumption being therefore that it paid better to remain on government relief.

But there have been more recent developments. Out in South Dakota, according to the press dicpatches, the State Director stopped all relief because of the many complaints which had come to Governor Berry and the Relief Department, that men were refusing to go into the harvest fields and help bring in the crops, because they preferred to remain on government relief. Work on relief projects was therefore stopped and the relief office closed. It was announced that the offices would not be opened until all farmers needing help to get in their crops had been supplied with harvest hands. Some of those on relief had, of course, accepted jobs in the harvest fields but many others were refusing to go because they wanted pay equal to or above the relief wage.

South Dakota was not the only agricultural state, however, from which the cessation of relief was reported. It was added that similar efforts toward getting harvest hands had been made in at least six other Mid-Western states. In Illinois, it was reported, relief work had ceased in the rural districts and in Kansas men were to be dropped from the rolls if they refused temporary employment. It was said that action was being taken in Iowa and Minnesota, that in other farm states it was difficult for the farmers to get help.

All of this is, of course, a new development in the United States. When one remembers how, a few years ago, political speakers of both parties denounced the European dole as something "un-American" and talked about our brave, industrious nation, it immediately becomes evident that this new development is one which is not entirely satisfactory.

Perhaps it might be well, for a moment, to picture the trials, the dangers, the hardships and the sufferings of the pioneer American men and women who cleared, and drained, and cultivated this Middle Western land making it possible that this naturally rich section of our country was made the breadbasket of the world. This was in the "horse and buggy days" of course, and these men and women were rugged individualists. They did not depend on the government for relief, but on their own efforts with the squirrel rifle, and the hand plow. And they managed to get along somehow and to help build up a great nation.

No man or woman will contend, for a moment, that in a great country like the United States anyone should be permitted to become naked and starving. But the situation will become just as dangerous if we permit ourselves to get into the state of mind where we expect to live off the government until something happens to suit us in the way of employment turns up. Some of these days the government's supply of good money will run out and we will then have the prospect not only of a loss of dole but a loss of liberty and a revision to some form of state socialism.

Leaning on the government may be at times in periods of stress, necessary, but if long continued the leaner may lose his independence and his American enterprise, to say nothing of what may happen to the government. Few people have ever starved in this country and none should be permitted to starve. But at the same time we ought to be thinking less about government relief and more about giving private enterprise confidence in the future so that it will go ahead and supply real jobs for American workers.

THE LINE WAVERS

Among the interesting political speculations in Washington are said to be those about the real friendships in Congress toward the New Dealers. According to some well known political analyists the tried and true friends of the New Deal on Capitol Hill are not the old line Democrats, but some of the so-called Progressive or Progressive-Republican leaders. The regular Democrats, it is maintained, do not really favor the departure from the time-honored principles of their party but are going along because, at this time, there does not seem to be any other place that they want to go.

Whether or not this is true, it is evident that all is not harmony between the New Dealers and the old Democratic leaders, who have been prominently identified with the party, at least since the time of Woodrow Wilson. Repeated criticisms of New Deal policies have been heard from time to time by men like Senators Glass and Byrd, of Virginia, former Senator Reed of Missouri, Bainbridge Colby, former governor Smith of New York and Ritchie of Maryland.

For example, one of the severe critics of the New Deal policies, who is known as a staunch Democrat and an assistant Secretary of War in the cabinet of President Woodrow Wilson, is Henry C. Breckenridge.

Mr. Breckenridge, in an adress at the Institute of Public Affairs, held at Charlottsville, Va., recently, declared that "to concentrate executive and judicial powers in the executive is not progress but reaction back to tyranny." Mr. Breckenridge declared that he opposed the general extension of the powers of the federal government over the states and their domestic concerns and that he regarded it as "subversion of the sound evolution and permanent triumph of free institutions."

This extension of federal control is of course one of the prime theories of the so-called New Deal. But continuing Mr. Breckenridge is quoted by the International News Service as stating:

"The golden calf has been moved to Washington. Disillusioned by the collapse of '29 and the protracted depression, the irrepressible human dream of getting something for nothing becomes the theme song of current politics and demagogues vie with one another in promising utopian largess which can exist nowhere but in the imagination.

It is reported that Mussolini will go to bread' now becomes 'vote for me and you will eat caviar with a golden spoon'."

It will be indeed interesting to notice the progress of political thought in America during the next few months, especially that expressed by the leaders of the old Democratic party which in principle stood for theories entirely opposite of those developed in the working out of the New Deal.

NO CHANCE FOR RELIEF!

Bad as the revision of the Agricultural Adjustment Act is in numerous respects, its most high-handed feature is a provision that seeks to make it impossible for processors to recover taxes paid in the event of a decision holding them to be invalid. To supplement this it is provided that "no suit, action or proceeding shall be brought or maintained in any court" to prevent "the assessment or collection of any tax imposed."

How it is expected that such attempts to circumvert the Constitution and the courts can get by is beyond understanding. No such denial of the ordinary rights of citizens has probably ever before found concrete expression in a legislative proposal. But let it be remembered that the House of Representatives has already put through this revised AAA, and under the pressure that is being exerted by the administration the Senate may follow suit.

Although some of the lower federal courts have ruled adversely on the present act, its constitutionality has not been passed upon by the Supreme Court. Some fifty or more cases are now headed for that body, but it seems to be the expectation of the administration that they will be dropped if the pending revision of the act becomes an accomplished fact. In that event, two years or more might elapse before a test case involving the constitutionality of the new law could reach the court. It may therefore be regarded that these AAA amendments are, in part, designed to postpone the day of reckoning. There is no better evidence, unless it be afforded by the Guffey coal bill, of the willingness of this administration to play fast and loose with the Constitution and to effect by adroit practces alterations in the structure of our government.—Hartford Courant.

RELIEF IN MISSISSIPPI

As we watch the "heroic" efforts of the government to afford "relief" to people nowadays, we cannot escape noting the effect these efforts have had upon the morale of these people. I am sure that almost any of my readers can recall some person or family who, before the relief era, would have considered themselves insulted if anyone had suggested that they become an object of charity. Now, however, after several months of relief, these same people take the relief and dole hand-outs as a matter of course—that they will live whether they work or not.

Lately there has appeared an uglier side to the picture, too. Some have decided that the hand-outs they were receiving were not good enough. On at least one occasion I know of here in Chilton County, a reliefer went up and drew his rations. They were not such as he wanted, so he went out to the street and very calmly laid them in a parked car and went his way. I know this to be a fact, because they were put in my own car. I carried the goods to the relief office and told the officials that someone must have mislaid his allowance of provisions. They were not surprised, and stated that such occurrences were quite common—that whoever put these goods away were not satisfied with what they had drawn, and had promptly thrown them away. They explained also, that the reason this person had not refused the goods outright was that if he had done so his relief check would have been stopped. They knew all the answers.

Two other instances from the State of Mississippi are interesting, too. In one of them, a woman appeared before the relief board boiling over with wrath. A few questions brought forth the information that "the warehouse man was giving her unsliced bread, when she had asked for sliced loaves."

The other instance was when a woman appeared to air a greivance. Said she: "We have to have more to eat. We are not being given enough. So this morning I had a talk with my old man, and he said to tell you that if you couldn't raise our allowance, he intended to get and see if he couldn't find a job of some kind".

Imagine that! Those are "relief" results.

SOMETHING IS LOOSE

Democratic newspapers are having their loyalty tested again. At first the "ancient and honorable" Democratic publications, among them The Montgomery Advertiser and The Birmingham News and Age-Herald, tried to uphold everything the autocrats at Washington did, but there have been a few times when they couldn't see their way clear to do this. These have been the times when the brass hats did something which tampered with the purses of the papers.

One of these was when the government began tampering with the power business. For reasons better known to themselves, the above named publications didn't want the power interests meddled with. It is very probable that the fat advertising contracts had something to do with this. To be fair, I really believe the papers were right in this matter, but what I want to bring out is the quick change of heart these rock-ribbed papers take when their beloved administration strikes at their pecuniary interests or the interests of those with whom they are closely affiliated.

They rally to the autocrats where the common people are concerned, but if these harsh measures touch their own interests, a howl goes up. This shows where their own interest is—not with the people, but soley for themselves.

The latest outbreak that newspapers have made is against "Baldy" Jim Farley's methods to get merchants to use the direct mail system for advertising, rather than the newspaper medium. And the Democratic papers have been some of the loudest howlers. They say the government has no right to do this. I think the same way, but neither has the government the right to tell a farmer how many bales of cotton he can raise and sell, nor how many hogs he can market. In fact, it would seem that the present administration has tried to see just how far it could go beyond the bounds of reason. As said before, the Demmy papers have whooped it up for the brass hat boys and their new plans until they got around to them. Then the fat was in the fire. The boot is getting over to the other foot.

MORE EVIDENCE

An article is being written for this column, and it will be published within a few days, which will point out in detail the real system of government under which the people of the United States of America are living today. When that article appears, it will give the platforms of the national Republican, Democratic and Communist parties, just as they were set out in 1932. When that article appears, I want every reader, be he Democrat, Republican, or member of any other party, to read it, and to check, point by point, the policies which have been carried out by the present administration, against the three platforms, and decide for yourself, by your own good judgment, just which policy is being adhered to.

Now, just as an inkling of what that article will prove to you, I will cite the recent attempt by the President and his Red henchmen to get a law through the national congress which would be the death of so-called "holding companies". The attempt was a desperate stroke against big business, in fact.

Allow me to quote from the platform of the Communist party which is in power in Soviet Russia. One note in the so-called "blood pact" of that Russian party reads as follows:

"There shall be no centralization of capital. Every effort shall be made to break up all capitalistic corporations and companies. Our plans can never be called finished until capitalism is completely dead".

Now, check this against President Roosevelt's recent utterance:

"Capitalism is the main cause of all our natonal troubles today. Capitalists have grown rich at the expense of the poor, therefore we shall take from capital and give to labor."

This all sounds very well, but the president does not take into consideration that the capitalist was providing jobs for millions of people at the time he was making money himself. Neither does he explain that this very plan has been tried in Russia, and that unhappy country has become a shambles as a result. I ask, do these words issue from the lips of a Democrat, a liberty-loving American, or from the mouth of a man whose brain has become warped with Communistic propaganda until he is as Russian as the ruble?

Look for this article in the near future. It's an eye-opener.

DEUCES WILD

I wonder how many of you ever played poker. There was a time when there were set rules for the game, when skill counted most. Then, someone thought up the idea of "deuces wild", where the deuce could be counted as any card in the deck. This reduced the worth of skill, and introduced a new element of recklessness in the game. It pretty near ruined the game, insofar as the game, itself, was concerned.

Nowadays nearly everything is thought of in terms of a game. There is the railroad game, the oil game, etc., and not the least of these is the political game. Up until a few years ago this political game was very much like poker, so much like it, in fact, that President Roosevelt called his administration "the New Deal". This New Deal brought in the use of "deuces wild" into the political game.

I know very little of poker, but those who do tell me that with the "deuces wild" a novice at the game may wreck it. That's what it is introduced for. Realizing that he was in a game of which he knew little, the new president must have hit upon the "deuces wild" idea to give him an even break. A novice at the political game, at least looking back on a record which did not stand so high, so far as the orthodox poltical game goes, he must have sensed that something out of the ordinary must be attempted, hence the "must" laws, the all-powerful but illegitimate NRA, the liberty-suppressing AAA, the Brain Trust, and other bright innovations in government, calculated to help an untrained man at the helm.

Thus it may be seen why the president's gambling, experimenting policy has not been working. With "deuces wild" and Mr. Roosevelt dealing, and looking at the cards before he dealt them, no wonder the "game" has become such a tangled mess. Why not try proved methods once more?—Man in the Moon.

A TIP TO THE NEW DEALERS

A well known Republican business man of the Middle West, who is quoted for his economic and political farsightedness, expressed the opinion the other day that if the Democrats wanted to make victory certain in the Presidential election next year they had only to adjourn Congress, cease experimentation and readjustment by the Brain trust and permit nature to take its course. He professed to see the making of a good-sized business boom in the offing, and stated the belief that this boom is being held in leash by uncertainty on the part of business men as to what is in store for the country in the way of new legislation and regulation. This man states that he gave his opinion in the way of advice to a Democratic congressman who is his very close personal friend and that the congressman had the graciousness to agree with him and then shrug his shoulders in the intimation that he was of course helpless in the matter. It is only fair to say of course that this statesman adheres more closely to the so-called pre-1932 Democracy than to the popularly labeled New Deal brand.

Be that as it may, it is interesting to note that published reports come from at least one state, Michigan, important industrially and agriculturally, say that business is better up there since the NRA was set aside by the United States Supreme Court.

W. F. Doyle, secretary of the State Labor Department, is quoted as stating that the purchasing power of the public is increasing, that more men are at work and that more wages are being paid. In June, he is reported to have said the total wages and weekly earnings advanced faster than food prices, and this was the first time in many months that such a phenomenon had occurred. Food prices, it is estimated, increased 12 per cent over June, 1934, in price while the average weekly wage increased 12.1. This is not a great change but is undoubtedly one in the interest of better living and better business.

Mr. Doyle is reported to have added:

"It is obvious to us that lifting the NRA restrictions has been beneficial to consumer, retailer and manufacturer alike in this state. Comprehensive figures for the entire state show that June, 1935, was considerably better than June, 1934, with the exception of some minor declines in wholly seasonal industries."

Of course the survey in Michigan is only a straw, but it will be interesting to scan reports of what has happened in other states since the setting aside of the important features of the NRA. It is certain that the predictions of widespread strikes and discontent and lowered wages—made by friends of the Blue Eagle when its feathers were plucked—have not so far been born out. Maybe the Middle Western business man and political expert was not so far wrong after all. Certainly it is interesting to wonder what would happen to the country if the professorial members of the Brain Trust were to take a long vacation.

NOW IS THIS CONSISTENCY?

On May 30, 1935, The Chilton County News published editorially on the front page:

"Now, the men and women, working men and women, who are the backbone of the country, are going to resent the attitude of the Supreme Court in ruling that the government has no right to take steps for their protection—and they have every right to be resentful . . . . . They will resent the action of nine men in tearing down and destroying the guarantee that has given them and their families a chance to earn a living again . . . . The constitution was written almost 150 years ago, and a large part of it was patterned then from the Magna Carta of the Twelfth century . . . . . The people of the United States are going to ask themselves if the Supreme Court had the right to rob them of their opportunity to again march toward financial security."

On August 1, 1935, The Chilton County News published editorially on the front page:

"The News is not in position to determine the constitutionality of the AAA, it certainly recognizes the court ruling on it as legitimate news, but it is not willing to accept a minor court ruling as final, determined to accept AAA for what we believe it is—a fair deal to the farmer—until such time as the Supreme Court of the United States passes verdict upon it."

On May 30, 1935, according to the scathing attacks upon the Supreme Court and even the Constitution of the United States, as quoted from the first editorial, The News felt perfectly at ease and competent to place its own judgment up beside or even superior to this, the highest tribunal in the land, and up beside or even superior to this document of documents—the Constitution—upon which the destinies of the nation have rested for a century and a half. The News did not have the least hesitancy in belittling these the highest powers of the American domain.

But in the course of two months time, for some unknown reason, they softened up considerably, even to say: "The News in not in position to determine the constitutionality . . ." and "it certainly recognizes the court ruling as legitimate news."

We are glad that our neighbor can now recognize the Supreme Court and the Constitution in the true light that these two great American institutions deserve; but what we can't understand is why their complete change of mind in just two months time.

While The Chilton County News is cavorting itself hoarse about advantages of the different alphabetical arrangements, bureaus, etc., of the New Deal, we fail to see that particular one—the TVA—mentioned in their exhortations. It would make interesting reading for them to tell us how it would help Chilton County for us to join up with Muscle Shoals and get the benefit of Mr. Roosevelt's yard STICK. It would also be interesting for The News to relate to its 4,000 readers what benefits would come to Chilton County for Mr. Roosevelt's death sentence to be imposed on the utilities, thus depriving our county of the $69,000 which Alabama Power Company pays into our treasury every year, $31,500 of which goes to the public schools of the county.

But maybe they just haven't got around to that phase of the business yet. Maybe probably they will give us their views on that, the really pet hobby of the New Deal, some time soon. In the meantime, let's wait and see.

Report Grand Jury Session Last Week

State of Alabama, Chilton County:

To Hon. Arthur Glover as Judge of the Circuit Court of Chilton County:

We, the Grand Jury, empanelled for the July term of the Circuit Court after receiving your Honor's able and instructive charge, entered upon our investigation of the matters that came before us as Grand Jurors and herewith submit the following report:

During our investigation we have considered 23 cases and have examined 52 witnesses and are returning herewith 13 true bills.

We have made a personal inspection of the county jail and believe it to be sufficiently safe for the keeping of the prisoners and find that the prisoners confined therein are being well fed and cared for with reasonable comfort.

We wish to thank your Honor for calling us into session at this season of the year, as we believe it will be helpful to law enforcement generally throughout the county. We fell that our two day session at this time of the year will afford those prisoners in jail, who are unable to make bond, and that are indicted, an opportunity to plead guilty if they so desire and begin working out their sentences without having to remain in jail until the fall of the year when the regular term of court is usually held. We believe that by having a split session, that, now and later in the fall, that the time that we will consume by both sessions will be no more, if as much, had we followed the old custom of disposing of all cases at one session in the fall of the year. The expenses of a split session will be no more and we are impressed with the fact that it will help the courts to operate more efficiently and will tend to aid generally law enforcement in the county.

We did not make an inspection of the almshouse or any examination of the County Officers at this session, it being our intention to attend to these matters when we are called back into session.

We, having complied to the best of our ability with your Honor's charge, respectfully ask that we now be dismissed until such time as your Honor may see fit and think proper to have us again convene.

This, August 1st, 1935.

H. T. WILLIAMS, Foreman.

AMERICAN LEGION MEETING FRIDAY NIGHT, AUGUST 16

The regular meeting of the American Legion, which was to be held on Monday night, was postponed on account of the revival at the Baptist church. However, a special meeting of the Chilton County post will be held at the courthouse Friday night, August 16th, at which time new officers will be installed for the coming year.

A capable out-of-town speaker will be on hand at this meeting, and all ex-service men are urged to attend, whether you are a member of the Legion or not. Remember the date and be at the courthouse.

CENTER HILL CEMETERY

Everyone that is interested in the grave yard at Center Hill will meet early Friday morning, August 9th, for the purpose of cleaning off the cemetery and around the church.

Our revival begins next Sunday, and our pastor, Rev. Maurice Hodgens, will do the preaching. Everybody come and be with us.

A Question to the Taxpayers and School Patrons of CHILTON COUNTY

Your county (including its municipalities) receives annually in taxes from electric utilities approximately

$69,000*

Of which amount approximately

$31,500

Goes Directly to Public Schools

TVA pays no County taxes and no other taxes from which your County will receive any share.

If TVA takes over all electric operations in the State of Alabama, are you prepared, as tax-payers, to make up this huge loss? Are you prepared, as school patrons, to accept this reduction in school revenues?

*Includes County and City Ad Valorem Taxes and Licenses; also State 3 Mill School Ad Valorem Taxes; State Kilowatt Hour Taxes and State Franchise Taxes allocated to Counties. From reports for 1933, viz., State Auditor's Report, State Tax Commission's Report, State Comptroller's Report; and information obtained from State Department of Education and State Tax Commission.

B. Lawrence Favors Building Place At Airport For County's Folk To Hold Meetings

Editor Union-Banner:

Since June 26 I have been confined to the house. During this time I have read the county papers more than I have for a long time. I have thought much about the articles written by different people about county and community development. These articles have appealed to me. I wish to be counted on the side with those always for better communities and a better county. As I write this it just so happens that one of my little girls, back in the kitchen, is singing "Be a Booster." That should be our motto.

In the papers last week Dr. Gragg sounded to me a sad note when he called attention to the fact that we had an opportunity to get $10,000 given to us for a hangar at the airport. That opportunity is forever gone. However, he said that there is still an opportunity to get considerable aid to develop this port as a community center for the county. We need it and our people need the work.

Look at Jeffferson County as, an example of the amount of federal money being spent. The goernment has appropriated a definite amount to be spent. It is going to be spent, and it is going to be our debt. Then why not get all of the benefits from it that we are entitled to? If we do not spend a dime of it, we will have the same responsibility of paying back that Jefferson or any other county will have. The only difference is, we may fold our hands and get none of the benefits.

This airport should be made the playground of the county. When so done, one person would feel as free as another, though he may be from the most remote secton of the county.

While writing this I am thinking of the county picnic that will already have been held when this is in print. Would it not be a fine thing for us if ample provision had already been made and this picnic could be held at the airport? This is Monday. Perhaps tomorrow just in the midst of the program a cloud may come up and spoil the whole affair. If there were a community house at the airport, this would be taken care of. Not only that, but if the airport were dedeveloped and made a real community center, the day would be more fully enjoyed by all.

Perhaps there is another thing you may not have thought about. There is not a building in the county large enough to hold the people that attend gatherings held here in Clanton at least a dozen times a year. The reason more such meetings are not held is because we cannot accommodate them.

When Chilton County and Clanton wake up and realize the importance of such get-together meetings and make provisions for them, the better off we will be socially, spiritually and financially. Constantly every big city is pulling for conventions of different bodies because they realize their value.

It is a fact we have a good reputation in the State as a county and a town; but unless we keep abreast in progress, other counties of the State will grow off and leave us. We will come to look like the "runt" of the whole State, and we will be. We can't afford not to go forward.

Not long ago I was in Columbiana. Everyone who knows Harry Gordon knows that whatever else you may say about him, he is one of the greatest hustlers and one of the finest progressive men of his or any other community. He took me in his car and drove past the Columbiana airport.

Columbiana is away back in the woods of Shelby County. No reflection, because it is out of the woods that our great leaders come. If we are not careful, in spite of our fine location, and our fine farming lands, Columbiana, with all her handicaps, is going to make Chilton County and Clanton look like a "runt." They are doing things up there.

If we will do it, we can have a much finer community center at our airport. What are we going to do about it? We have already let one opportunity go by. Shall we miss another? I do not believe we are, but we must get busy.

I can lie here and name communities in this county that at one time were our leaders. One of these communities set the example for a large educational program for the county. But it came to that place where it was willing to travel on its reputation. Then the rest of the county moved off and left it. It took a long time for that community to realize that a reputation could not carry it on; that with a good reputation there are certain obligations.

That community, after it had seen its mistake, waked up and is coming to the front again. I am just a bit uneasy sometimes when people out in the State are saying so many good things about us. There is a tremendous responsibility on us. We must build and go forward. We must live up to our reputation.

I would like to see a county fair, or maybe a Central Alabama Fair held here. I do not know of anything that would be worth more to our farmers in the way of helping us to be better farmers. But where could we hold such a fair? If we would develop the airport into a real community center, we would have a place for it; a place where a singing convention could be held and everybody would be able to get into the house and hear the program. A thousand people is a big crowd. This community house could be made to accommodate such a number. Let's do it.

With kindest thoughts for all, and for a bigger and better Chilton County, I am sincerely yours.—B. Lawrence.

PLEASANT GROVE

We have just closed a great revival here. The Rev. Harris, of Pike Avenue Church, Ensley, did the preaching and he is wonderful. He is one of the most sincere ministers that we have ever known.

There were 21 additions to the church. There were by baptism: Mr. Elzie Carroll, Lewis Wright, Vernon Miskelley, Sanders Champion, Lewis Compton, Thurman Childress, Lance Lenoir and Jesse Coffer.

Misses Lorene Davenport, Lucile Compton, Essie Mae Dawson, Jessie Belle Abbott, Mildred Crowson, Meredith Cory, Jewell Carroll, Margaret Morgan, Alleze Clements, Mrs. Burnett.

By letter: Mr. Ed Compton, Mrs. Clara Smith and Miss Lucile Merchant.

Mr. George Spivey went to Selma last Friday for an examination. He seemed to be improving some. Mrs. Spivey is just about the same that she has been for some time.

Mrs. Jim Miskelley doesn't seem to be improving.

Mrs. Muntie Hodgens is in a very ill condition.

Mrs. Emmett Miskelley has gone to Birmingham for an examination. Her husband and Mr. and Mrs. Tom Zuber went with her.

Mr. and Mrs. Wooley Nix and daughters, Mildred and Elaine, visited relatives here last week. Mildred is spending a while here and her grand mother, Mrs. C. W. Wells, went home with her father and mother for a visit.

Mr. and Mrs. Butcher from Ensley were visitors in this community last week.

Miss Eunice Lee Pruitt visited her sister at Mr. Dock Hodgens's, Miss Edna Pruitt, last week.

Mrs. Dayton Chapman and little daughter, Pat, were guests of her people, Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Wells, Reece, C. W., Grace and Elizabeth, last week.

B-Ball Tournament Begins Monday, 12

The Second Annual Central Alabama Baseball Tournament will get under way at the Clanton park next Monday afternoon, August 12, at 2:00 o'clock.

There are two brackets of teams this year, with six teams in each bracket. Each day there will be two games—the first game each day will begin at 2:00 o'clock, and will be between two first bracket teams. The second game each afternoon will be between two second bracket teams, and will begin 20 minutes after the end of the first game. Teams in the respective bracket will play among themselves. There will be no competition between teams in different brackets, but the winning team in each bracket will win a prize of $50, at the end of the tournament.

The play this year will be by double elimination process—no team is out of the tournament until it has lost two games. After the first round of elimination games, winners will play winners, and losers will play losers. In these second elimination contests, matching of clubs will be made as evenly as possible, by these rules:

Invitations were extended to teams as follows: First Bracket—Randolph, Autaugaville, Plantersville, Maplesville, Independence, Clanton, Jemison, Alabama Mills (Clanton). Second Bracket—Isabella, Cane Creek, Union Grove, Lay Dam, Billingsley, American Legion (Clanton), Coopers, and Verbena. Of these, six in each bracket have filled in their invitations and returned them. Jemison and Alabama Mills in the first bracket, and Cooper and Verbena in the second bracket have declined and will not be in the tournament.

The first elimination schedule has been drawn as follows: Monday, August 12—Randolph vs. Autaugaville, and Isabella vs. Cane Creek; Tuesday, August 13—Plantersville vs. Maplesville, and Union Grove vs. Lay Dam; Wednesday, August 14—Clanton vs. Independence, and American Legion vs. Billingsley. After this round, further drawings will be made to match winners and losers for second round play.

A total of 186 names of players have been turned in—93 in each bracket. Don't miss these games. You will see some good baseball, you may see some bad baseball, but if you are a baseball fan you'll get your money's worth every afternoon. Don't miss a day! Remember, play begins each day at 2:00 o'clock sharp, and there will be two games each day. Be there and root for your favorite.

YOUNG GIRL HURT AT COUNTY PICNIC

Miss Mildred Popwell, age 16, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jim Popwell, of South Clanton, suffered severe and dangerous injuries in an accident at the county picnic Tuesday afternoon.

Miss Popwell was one of a large group who came to the picnic on a truck. At the close of the program the party were loaded on the truck to go home. The young lady was standing on the running board as the truck started.

She lost her balance and fell to the ground, when the wheel of the heavy truck passed over her body. She was rushed to Central Alabama Hospital, where it was found that she had sustained internal injuries, with her chest crushed, some ribs broken, and a fracture at the base of the skull.

Hospital attendants at first expressed grave doubt as to her recovery. However, it was stated Wednesday morning that she showed signs of improvement during Tuesday night, and her chances for recovery were much more favorable.

JOHN DREHR HERE TO PEP UP SHRINE MEMBERS

John E. Drehr, recorder for the Alcazar Temple Nobles of the Mystic Shrine, was in Clanton Tuesday and spent most of the day visiting leading nobles here, urging keener activities in the local Shrine Club. While here Mr. Drehr was the guest of Noble J. Mell Martin.

Potentate W. P. Screws and the Divan, together with the uniform body and Alcazar Temple Band, is expected to pay Clanton a visit within the next few weeks, it has been announced.

For Comnunity Center At Port

Editor Union-Banner:

I have been reading with interest what Dr. Gragg and others have written regarding a county-wide community center with a community house adequate for housing one thousand or more people. It is my understanding that this would mean a place for our farmers and the public in general to have an auditorium or assembly hall for any and all legitimate purposes that the people of Chilton County might want to use it for, such as a county-wide all day singing, a political speaking, farmers annual meeting or other such farmers gatherings or county mass meetings too large for any auditorium now within the county.

I also understand that this place could be used as an athletic field and a permanent home for Chilton County fairs at any time our farmers and business people saw fit to use it as such. I also understand that with almost no cost to our county, that the Federal Government will finance the greater part, in fact, almost the entire cost of this community center. In other words, about all that is necesary is to let the proper officials know that we want it and it is ours for the asking.

Now, if I am correct in my way of seeing it let's go to it and get something for the farmer while it is yet time. It may be too late a few weeks later, and our farmers have not been over-burdened with free gifts anyway.

Yours truly,

A. F. MIMS.

FUNERAL IS HELD FOR JUDGE TATE

Wetumpka, Ala.—Funeral for F. Loyd Tate, 62, prominent attorney and former circuit judge, who died last Thursday at his home here, was conducted Friday at the home with Rev. W. S. Guice, of Brewton Methodist Church, officiationg. Burial was in Wetumpka Cemetery.

A native of Atlanta, Mr. Tate was graduated from Alabama Polytechnic Institute in 1898 and the following year studied law at the University of Virginia. He taught school for a time at Jackson, Ala., moving to Wetumpka in 1900 and was admitted to the bar in 1901. Gov. Jelks appointed him circuit solicitor and was elected to this office in 1910 and 1934. In 1931 he was appointed circuit judge and was elected to the post later, serving until last January when failing health caused him to retire.

Surviving are the widow, two daughte, Mrs. W. E. Cooper, Greensboro and Miss Jean Tate of Montgomery. Mr 7YJp edeQ-M nat—L- 33boya

Wins Prize

Atlanta, Ga., August 5th.—Eric Allen, Jr., 16 years old, of Ashland, has been declared the winner in the Junior division of the Fisher Bady Craftman's Guild apprentice class coach-building competition in Alabama.

Announcement of the award winners was made by Dr. M. L. Brittain, president of Georgia Tech, tonight. With 16 awards in each state, more than $3200 in cash was distributed in this region, besides the conventional trips offered the sectional winners.

First place winners in both the Junior and the Senior divisions received $75; second, $50; and third, $25. Winners of honorable mention won $10 each.

J. MATT MAHAN DIED OF HEMMORRHAGE TUESDAY

J. Matt Mahan, prominent farmer and citizen of Chilton County, died of a cerebral hemmorrhage at his home near Lay Dam about seven o'clock Tuesday evening.

Mr. Mahan suffered the first stroke of paralysis Tuesday afternoon while attending the funeral of his brother-in-law, Will Beaird, at Verbena. He was carried home and given medical attention. The fatal stroke came late in the evening, after which he survived only a few minutes.

Burial will be Thursday afternoon at Macedonia, with Spigener in charge.

Mr. Mahan is survived by his wife and several children.

A SQUASH FOUR FEET LONG

An unusual and fine specimen of squash was left at The Banner office Wednesday morning by Mr. O. A. Jones of Mt. Pleasant community. It was four feet long and 12 inches around in the largest place. It was one of those kind that can be cut nearly all off the vine and it will grow out and make another squash.

Mr. Jones said he was growing squash in competition to a gourd which Uncle Jeff Blankenship was growing. Mr. Blankeship has a gourd that measures four and a half feet in circumference, and it is still green and growing. The gourd is practically round.

W. M. U. TO MEET AT CHESTNUT CREEK, 17th

ALABAMA POWER CO CUTS RURAL RATES

5,500 Rural Customers Are To Share $28,500 Saving

Reductions of power rates to about 60 per cent of its rural customers were announced today by the Alabama Power Co., following approval by the Public Service Commission of a petition for liberalizaton of rural rates.

About 5,500 rural consumers will get reductions amounting to $28,500, power company officials said.

The power firm said the reductions were made possible through use of new construction standards perfected for single phase or two-wire lines.

CHILTON W. M. U. MET AT MACEDONIA ON JULY 18th

I wish to state that every woman that was not there can't begin to realize what they missed. We had some wonderful speakers for the day. some of our association officers are surely missing something when they fail to attend the quarterly meetings. So we are writing this through the paper so maybe they can see that we (the W. M. U.) of Chilton Association are still holding our quarterly meetings.

You should have heard Bro. Maurice Hodgens at the 11:00 o'clock hour. I wish every woman in the association could have heard him. The afternoon was for the young people and they rendered a splendid program.

The climax of the evening was Eloyse Jones and Lois Thompson. Eloyse talked about what Ridgecrest meant to her and Lois gave a report on the institute held at Clanton. So, you officers and you local societies, please meet with us at New Cedron in October and see what is being done. Help to pray that the officers for the following year may make a greater success than we have ever done.—Louanna Jones, Secty.-Treas.

Playground For Clanton Children

A movement is being agitated in Clanton for the establishment of a public playground for children to be located in the Mullins Grove back of the Tip Mullins residence.

The location and surroundings of the place are ideal for that purpose. The Grove occupies practically a whole block of space, and is densely shaded with native oak trees.

Those who advanced the idea propose to bring it to the attention of the various clubs and organizations of the city, with the request that they co-operate in working out the necessary steps to obtain equipment and facilities necessary for play and amusement.

Everyone will at once recognize that one of the crying needs of Clanton is a suitable place for play and amusement of the children. We have no public park, no swimming pool, nothing to appeal to the child's natural desires for recreation.

The Mullins Grove offers an ideal solution for this need of Clanton. It would be a most worthy contribution to the youth of the city if the property owners will consent to such public use of the property. If they will do so then the people of Clanton should lose no time in equipping the place with all suitable recreation facilities.

DR. EDGAR WILL BE OUT OF OFFICE ON VACATION

RESOLUTION FOR COTTON CONTROL

Farmers At County Picnic Endorse Keeping Bonkhead Law

The following resolutions were unanimously adopted by 4,000 Chilton county farmers and other business people at the County-Wide Picnic on August 6, 1935:

Whereas, the Agricultural Adjustment Act and the Bankhead Cotton Control Act have been instrumental in greatly increasing our income, bringing us out of the bottomless pit of depression into the road to recovery, and a better standard of living, and

Whereas, the processing tax and benefit payments made possible by the Agricultural Adjustment Act are the first effective semblance of a protective tariff for American farmers, bringing to them in simple justice benefits of the kind other groups have enjoyed for more than 100 years, and

Whereas, powerful organized groups who have benefited for over 100 years under the tariff and other similar legislation, are now attempting to destroy the Agricultural Adjustment Act which was passed as the results of years of effort by organized farmers in the Farm Bureau and other organizations and the inspired leadership of our great President, Franklin D. Roosevelt.

Now therefore be it resolved, that we respectfully request of Senators and Congressmen to give their unqualified support to the continuation of the Agricultural Adjustment Act, the Bankhead Cotton Control Act, the Precessing Tax and the Amendments now pending in a conference committee in Washington, and

Be it further resolved, that if an amendment to the Constitution of the Unted States is necessary for this Legislation to be continued, we hereby unqualifiedly endorse such an amendment.

Be it further resolved that we express our appreciation to Senator Bankhead, Senator Black, and other members of the Alabama delegation in Congress for the great service they are rendering agriculture.

Be it further resolved, that we appreciate the great address delivered by Edw. A. O'Neal at this meeting and the great work he is doing as head of our organization, the American Farm Bureau Federation.

Election Result Is Repudiation

Rhode Island Verdict Is Cited As Indication Of Anti-Roosevelt

Chicago, Aug. 7.—John Hamilton, general counsel of the Republican national committee, Wednesday said he interpreted the victory of the Republican congressional candidate in Rhode Island's special election as a "repudiation of the policies of President Roosevelt."

Hamilton's statement, issued as the official pronouncement of the Republican committee, follows:

"Last November the same Rhode Island congressional district which held a special election yesterday elected a Democrat congressman by a majority of 21,000. In that election the Republican nominee received but 41 per cent of the votes cast. Yesterday a Republican was elected to congress from this same district by a majority of 13,000 votes.

"This shift in majority of 34,000 votes, with the Republican now receiving 58 per cent of the votes, is significant of itself. Other facts not apparent from the returns must be considered before the full import of this vicotry is appreciated.

"In the first place, both the Republican and the Democratic candidates made the New Deal the single issue of the campaign. It presented a clear-cut issue to the voters whether they did or did not approve of President Roosevelt's policies. Secondly, the full weight of Governor Green's state machine was thrown behind the Democratic candidate, who was Governor Green's personal choice for the nomination.

"Finally, when Rhode Island was redistricted several years ago the state was gerrymandered so that all the predominantly Democratic counties were thrown into this destrict to make it safely Democratic.

"When the picture as a whole is considered. The importance of this election is at once apparent. It constitutes a repudiation of the policies of resident Roosevelt and nothing else."

PETE B. JARMAN TO SPEAK AT AMERICAN LEGION MEET

Hon. Pete B. Jarman will be the principal speaker at the American Legion meeting to be held at the courthouse Friday night, August 16th. Mr. Jarman will also have charge of the installation of the new officers for the Chilton county post. All ex-service men are urged to attend.

Broken Neck Fatal For Aaron Roper

Aaron C. Roper, 36, farmer of the Range Line Road neighborhood, in Dallas county, who had been under treatment in a Selma hospital since Wednesday following an accident while diving from a spring board into Mulberry Creek near Jones, died from a broken neck Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock. Roper had been unconscious since the accident.

Funeral services were held from the Sardis Baptist church near Pletcher at 2 o'clock Sunday afternoon, the Rev. Archie Price, Baptist minister, officiating. Interment was in the churchyard there, Brislin Brothers directing.

Surviving are the young man's wife, Mrs. Esther Mims Roper, his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Walter L. Roper, a sister, Miss Mattie Lean Roper, and four brothers, Dealos Roper and Clifford Roper of Chilton County and Walter Roper and John Roper who reside in Dallas county. Aaron Roper was noted around Clanton as a fine baseball player.

New Postoffice To Be Finished Soon

Postmaster Downs Expects To Move About September Fifteenth

Postmaster H. F. Downs stated this week that he expects to begin doing business in Clanton's new federal postoffice building about the fifteenth of September.

There remains only the finishing touches to be put on the interior of the building, and installation of the fixtures, to make it ready for Uncle Sam's business.

It is already apparent that the building is going to be a very fine structure, and will present working conditions that will take all the drudgery out of handling the mails.

A detailed description of the plans and arrangements will not be attempted at this time. We will wait and save that to give our readers after the final finishing touches have been put on.

Postmaster Downs mentioned one thing we might as well tell you so you can begin now to get fixed for it. He said the new mail boxes in the lobby of the building will have to be opened with keys instead of combination locks as we have been accustomed to for a long time.

That will not make much difference, however. It will be just as easy to lose your key as it is to forget the combination. And when you lose your key, the Postmaster can let you have another one—for only twenty cents.

MONTGOMERY PROFESSIONAL MEN APPRECAITE BUSINESS FROM US

In a series of well-prepared and attractive advertisements in this week's Union-Banner a number of the leading business and professional firms of Montgomery are expressing to the people of Clanton and Chilton County their appreciation for the business that has come to them from our county in the past.

These firms say to the people up here: "If you cannot find what you want in Clanton or the other towns of the county, we invite you to come to Montgomery and let us fit you up." This is a fine spirit. Turn to their advs. and read them, every word. Each one has a message that will interest you and will likely prove beneficial to you as well.

Clanton Schools Open September 2

Same Date Is Announced For Both High School and Grammar School

Both schools in Clanton, the Chilton County High, and Clanton Grammar School, will open their sessions for 1935 on Monday, September 2.

Pupils and patrons of the Grammar School, will open their sessions for 1935 on Monday, September 2.

Pupils and patrons of the Grammar School will be glad to know that new temporary quarters will be ready for four classes on opening day, thus eliminating the use of the old building entirely.

Workmen are engaged now in erection of the new temporary structure, and it will be completed and ready for use by opening day.

The addition of building facilities for a vocational unit at the Chilton County High School is being worked out as a PWA project, according to Superintendent Little. It is not yet determined when the matter will be ready for building actually to begin.

Applications, specifications, and all preliminary details are now before the allotment board in Washington for the new buildings at Isabella and Collins Chapel. Final approval of these measures is expected momentarily.

However, it is certain that these two schools will have to open this year's session in temporary quarters and operate until the building program is completed.

The Cox Legislative Measures

[AN EDITORIAL]

In last week's Chilton County News Representative C. B. Cox had advertised two local bills which he intends to press for passage in the Legislature of Alabama. One bill provides for the appointment of a road supervisor for Chilton county. The other provides for the use of half of the county's gasoline tax to match State and Federal money to complete surfacing the Selma Highway.

The Union-Banner does not propose to go into the merits or demerits of these propositions. However, it appears to us that, judging from the far-reaching effect that the road supervisor bill, when enacted, will have on the biggest item of business of the county—that of road building—it would not be a bad idea to give the voters of the county a little say-so about the matter. The idea of a referendum may seem rather fogy, inasmuch as the people themselves are now not consulted very much about what they want or what they get. The dear people are expected to take and like whatever the superiors deem best for them. But The Union-Banner can't help being so old-fashioned that we believe the people, inasmuch as they have to furnish the money through taxation to pay for these things, they ought to be consulted about what they want in the matter. They ought to be permitted to vote on the question of taking the road-building business away from the Commissioners and hiring a supervisor to do the work, and if they prefer such a change, the supervisor ought to be elective by direct vote of the people.

As to the money to match other funds to surface Selma Highway, it seems that the Commissioners Court would have a perfect right to pass on this question. If they think the county is financially able to put up the required money, then they would have a right to say so; if they think not, likewise they could say so. The commissioners were elected for such jobs as this, and they ought to have judgment enough to equitably pass upon such matters. If they wanted a refrendum from the people on it, then they could arrange and get such refrendum.

To us, it seems that the Cox Bills are merely an attempt to pass by legislation and force upon the people without their consent measures that very likely would not meet with their approval should their wills be consulted by means of a public election.

NEW TAX BILL CUT EXEMPTION

Senate Committee Hikes Rates On Small Incomes And Endangers Passage

Washington, Aug. 10.—A progressive-conservative coalition took command of the Senate finance committee today and voted to boost income taxes on even smallest taxpayers, beginning at a new low level of $800 a year.

In swift and startling ballots which ripped out major features of President Roosevelt's "wealth tax" plan and raised some doubts of the whole bill's future, the senators cut the income for a single person from $1,000 to $800 and for a married person from $25,000 to $2,000.

This change was calculated to bring new income groups into the Federal tax fold, though experts were unable to estimate at once how many.

Also they substituted higher estate taxes for Mr. Roosevelt's requested inheritance taxes and made other changes estimated to increase the bill's revenue-raising power from the House's $2500,000,000 to more than $400,000,000.

Bitter Fight Expected

A bitter fight was predicted when the measure reaches the Senate floor next week. Chairman Harrison (D) Mississippi, said the revised bill "fails to carry out the President's suggestions although it is a gesture in that direction."

Some Democratic senators said privately the incorporation of higher taxes on the little taxpayer, unless they are stricken out by the Senate, would mean no tax bill.

An important House leader likewise said Senate insistence on boosting taxes on the lower brackets would raise the possibility of dropping the bill. Another party spokesman, who did not wish to be quoted by name, said:

"The Senate's changes might be designed for the simple purpose of killing the bill. Some members of that committee didn't want the bill passed anyhow."

INTER CLUB MEETINGS OF KIWANIS AT MITCHELL DAM WEDNESDAY, AUG. 28

Arrangements have been made for a joint meeting of the Kiwanis Clubs of Montgomery, Selma and Clanton, to be held at Mitchell Dam on the evening of Wednesday, August 28th.

Each Club member is requested to bring his wife (or lady friend, if he has no wife) and as many other invited guests as he wishes.

Parties going to the meeting are requested to arrive at the dam about four o'clock in the afternoon, in order to have an opportunity to view the scenery before the hour for meeting.

REV. P. G. CARTER TO PREACH FOR REVIVAL AT MARBURY

A revival will begin at the Marbury Baptist Church August 18th, and will continue through Sunday, August 25th. All are cordially invited. Services daily at 10:30 a.m., and 7:15 p.m., preaching by Rev. P. G. Carter.—W. A. Goss, Pastor.

Miss Carrie Foshee returned home Saturday afternoon from Birmingham where she has been visiting for several weeks.

PARKING LIMIT ON SEVENTH ST.

Restricted Zone Is on Highway Between Dief's And Standard Station

By ordinance duly passed and proclaimed, the laws of Clanton now prescribe a parking limit of one hour for automobiles, trucks, motor vehicles, wagons, buggies or any other vehicles, between the hours of eight o'clock a.m. and six o'clock p.m. on the highway through the city; the restricted zone to which said law applies being from Dief's Service Station to the Standard Service Station.

Proper signs proclaiming these regulations have been erected along the curbs throughout this zone.

The ordinance as published prescribes the following penalty for violations thereof:

"Any person or persons who shall violate the provisions of this ordinance shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and upon conviction shall be fined not less than one dollar nor more than $100, or be sentenced to hard labor for Clanton for a period not exceeding six months, one or both."

Action of the city council in passing such regulations was brought about by request of business concerns along the highway where continuous all-day parking of cars proves a menace to business and a hinderance to traffic.

Police Chief, John Browder, says he is prepared to carry out the provisions of the ordinance by enforcing its regulations; however, he hopes that people will abide by the law and thus make it unnecessary for him to apply enforcement measures.

JUDGE J. LEE SMITH BACK ON DUTY AT PROBATE OFFICE

Judge J. Lee Smith was back on duty at the Probate Office Monday morning, after an absence of several weeks, in which time he has been undergoing treatment at Mayo's Hospital, Rochester, Minn.

Having recovered from two surgical operations and undergone a series of treatments, the Judge presents a fine physical appearance, and says he feels better than he has in the past four years.

His many friends throughout the county are glad of his recovery, and hope his condition will continue to improve.

IF YOU WANT PAVING NOW IS THE TIME TO ASK FOR IT

Mayor C. Fenn Jones requests that if the citizens on any residence streets, other than those already included, want to get in one the proposed paving project, now is the time they should ask for it.

He said: "I am not disposed to push the matter upon anyone. But if any citizen wants his property included in the program before it is submitted to the authorities for approval, it will be necessary to act now. We will be ready to send off the specifications and estimates right away. After we have done that it will be too late for additional areas to be added or included."

Misses Elizabeth Williams, Virgie Robinson and Messrs. Paul and Ralph Hughes and Leon Robinson spent last Sunday in Troy.

Two Injured When Log Chain Broke

Two men were seriously injured last Friday near Coopers, when a loading chain broke and a load of green lumber rolled from a truck and pinned them underneath it against the ground.

Jack Lattiker, 22, was brought to Central Alabama Hospital with a broken back and severe lacerations and bruises. Clyde DeLoach, the other victim, suffered severe cuts and bruises, and possibly chest injuries, DeLoach, however, was not brought to the hospital for treatment.

The accident occured when the chain which held the lumber in place on a truck broke, letting the load slide to the ground, and pinning the men who were attempting to place rocks under the rear wheels to prevent the truck from running backward down a hill.

The injured men were unconscious when a group of loggers nearby reached them and removed the lumber from their bodies.

Hoover Challenge To Pres. Roosevelt

Former President Tells Executive He Should Come Out In Open

Washington, Aug. 12.—Herbert Hoover's challenge to President Roosevelt to inform the people "openly" and "precisely" just how he wants the consitution changed was regarded today as a major step in a republican drive for a knock-down-and-drag out fight on constitutional isses in 1936.

Stopping in Chicago on a trip east, the former president hit at the New Deal last night in a statement accusing the administration of "dictatorial" demands, of trampling on "primary liberties of the people" and of invading state's rights.

Open Fight Seen

Directly or indirectly, he said, the adminitration seeks to revise the constitution to concentrate powers in Washington. Calling on the administration to declare his intentions before congress adjourns and to make it an open fight on a specifically worded amendment, he said:

"No matter how destructive an amendment might be an even though the people were persuaded to ill-advised action upon it, yet it would be better for liberty to commit suicide in the open rather than to be poisoned by indirection in the capital of the nation.

"No more momentous decision has been raised since the civil war. Common frankness requires that the administration come forward to the people and declare precisely wherein under our constitution, we cannot corect evils and cannot present social maladjustments."

A special program of preaching and song service is announced by Rev. T. C. Cassady, of Montgomery, to be held at the courthouse in Clanton next Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock.

It is expected that some visiting quartets from Montgomery will render a number of selections.

Rev. Cassady is engaged this week in conducting revival services at Walnut Creek Church, and invites the public to attend and take part in the worship.

Cotton Exemption Certificates Here

Will Be Ready To Give To the Farmers In The Next Few Days

A force of clerks have been busy this week checking and assembling 5,488 cotton tax exemption certificates for farmers of Chilton County, preparatory to issuing the same to cotton growers prior to the ginning season which will begin in a few days.

When the gin certificates are ready to be given out, the distributors will prepare a schedule of times and places to meet the farmers of the different localities. Cards will be sent to all individuals who have certificates allotted to them, notifying them of the time and place distribution will be made in that community.

In making this announcement, Mr. Chester Wingard requests that all farmers who receive notification cards please bear in mind that they must present their cards when applying for allotment of certificates. This is necessary, he points out, because the certificates are arranged and filed by sections and numbers, and the notification cards bearing the section number will be necessary in order to locate the certificates represented by that card.

Another thing of importance cited by Mr. Wingard is the necessity of all cotton growers holding on to their certificates once they have gotten them. It requires a very intricate and difficult procedure to get certificates duplicated, he said. He recommends that farmers do not take out their certificates until time to use them, in order to avoid possibility of loss or misplacement.

LARGER AIRPORT AREA IS NEEDED

Committee Appeared Before Commissioners Court On Tuesday

Machinery was set in motion Tuesday afternoon to secure a vast improvement to the county airport property here, when a delegation appeared before the Commisioner's Court and petitioned the converting of the property into a community center.

Dr. V. J. Gragg, local flying enthusiast, was chairman o fthe delegation which asked that the Court secure an additional 32 acres of land adjoining the 60 already owned by the county. This, it was explained, would not only give more space for runways but would also be ample for the erection of a community hall with dimensions of at least 80 by 100 feet, the installation of a large outdoor athletic facilities that would make the field serviceable to a greater number of the county's citizens.

Thursday afternoon, it was agreed members of the Commissioners Court will meet a delegation at the field and the proposition will be discussed further.

Dr. Gragg and other speakers Tuesday explained that with the acquisition of this land and further participation by the county that it will be possible to get quite a bit more federal money for improvement of this project. Floyd Smith, local PWA director, stated that he is sure that funds will be available for continuation of the project provided the county officials show a willingness to cooperate to this extent.

County Agent J. W. Fant read a resolution adopted unanimously at the county-wide picnic last week, urging the Commissioners to take steps to turn the airport into a community center that can be used for farm gatherings—and which will not interfere with it as a flying feld.

Both Mr. Fant and Luther E. Little, superintendent of educaton, spoke at length on the possibilities of the movement as it will afford opportunities for further educational activities. The organization of a Central Alabama fair association was advocated and it was explained that all county-wide farm meetings could be held at this center. Too, it can be used for large singings, for which this county is noted.

A measurement of the natural water supply that is available showed that 25 gallons per minute is the minimum to be expected during any season.

Others in the delegaton were W. M. Wyatt, Mayor C. Fenn Jones, and J. B. Atkinson, Clanon attorney.

Rip Burnett Wins Trip to California

Sets High Record For Ford Sales During Months of June and July

Mr. J. C. (Rip) Burnett, of Clanton Motors, local Ford Dealers, received the happy message this week, announcing him as one of six Ford salesmen in the Atlanta territory to win an all expense trip to San Diego, California, as a guest of the Ford Motor Company.

To win this honor Mr. Burnett checked up a record by selling 38 new Ford uits during the test period of June and July. He is accorded the distinction of being one of six winners out of a total of over 200 competitors.

When asked if he would take the trip offered him, Rip replied with a very significant smile of anticipation and satisfaction and this question, "What kind of a Ford salesman do you think I am?"

One would naturally conclude, therefore, that he will go to San Diego, and certainly his record in this contest proves that he is a darn good Ford salesman. Then to put the final acceptance upon his reservation for the trip, he said: "If any of my friends have any word they want to send Mae West, I will be glad to deliver the message, and all that."

Mr. Burnett will go to Atlanta Sunday, September 1st, to join the other Southeastern group winners. They will be entertained at the Country Club, where official awards will be made by representatives of the Ford Motor Company.

Departing from Atlanta at 7:05 in the evening, the trip will be made to San Diego by railway, via Montgomery, Mobile, and New Orleans. They will reach their destination on Thursday, September 5, where they will form a part of similar honor winners from all divisions of America. Entertainment will be provided by Ford Motor Company.

The many friends of Mr. Burnett in Clanton and throughout Chilton County extend congratulations upon the honor he has won for himself.

NEGRO DIED FROM SHOOTING AT BASEBALL GAME LAST WEEK

Rayfield Ray, prominent negro of the Lilly Hill community, in Autauga county, died last Saturday from wounds received in a shooting scrape at a negro ball game Friday.

Accurate details of the affair were not available. It was not stated who did the shooting.

CALLOWAY FAMILY REUNION HELD LAST SUNDAY, Aug. 11th

The family of Uncle John Calloway enjoyed a happy reunion at his home near Providence, in Beat 16, last Sunday. The day was spent in a quiet and most delightful manner, with everybody having a good time renewing acquaintances and reliving scenes and experiences of years gone by.

At noon time a bounteous dinner was enjoyed. To use the words of "Spuds", it was a dinner of the kind you get only when you go back to the old home and put your feet under pa's table.

Those who spent the day with Mr. and Mrs. Calloway on this occasion were Mrs. Filey Funderburk, of Dallas, Texas; Mr. and Mrs. Frank Calloway and son, Frank Jr., of Providence; Mr. and Mrs. Willie Jones, of Clanton; Mr. and Mrs. Fred Calloway, of Verbena; Mr. and Mrs. Spurgeon Calloway, of Clanton; Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Jones, of Clanton; Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Calloway and two sons, Joe Ben and Billie, of Providence; Mrs. Laura Patterson; Mr. T. J. Bates; Mr. and Mrs. Odie Caton and baby, of Poplar Springs; Mrs. Bud Bates; Mr. and Mrs. Billie Calloway, and daughter, Lucile, of Coopers; Mr. and Mrs. Huey Taylor, of Coopers.

Modernism does not pioneer. Modernism captures committees, boards, schools, and colleges after orthodox Christians do the pioneering. Modernism is destructive, it is not constructive. It empties churches which orthodox money has built. It steals faith from our boys and girls even in some colleges. Instead of being open and frank, modernism is subtle. It works under the cover of darkness. Beware of modernistic preachers and teachers! Stand by the old gospel. It still does business in the old time way.

The newspapers recently carried a story to the effect that an American woman had been convicted and fined in the courts of Paris for Dancing nude. The writer grew up to believe that America was a country of modesty and that Paris was the center of world obscenity. Paris is no worse than American critics. This nation needs a revival of the old time, honest-to-goodness womanly modesty. During the summer I have spoken at chautauquas and religious centers. In some places I have been shocked at the immodesty of the women on parade. We may need sun baths. Sun rays may do us good, but our mothers managed to live to a ripe old age without going nude in public places!

"Young people are more open than the old generation". That is what I hear. In this modern, scientific age we know how to keep the lid on the garbage can but we have forgotten how to keep the lid on human nature. We forget that men are born in sin and that they were conceived in iniquity. Man has an inherited evil tendency. There is no such thing as "the divinity of human nature." "All have sinned and come short of the glory of God." "In Adam all die." Our race is a fallen race. This is not a popular theory, but it is true, nevertheless. The devil told Adam to become like God and man decided to do what the devil said. There has always been a tendency to edify man, but man is naturally a sinner. Kings and queens, the poor, the rich, the high, the low, the cultured and uncultured—all are sinners by nature. Man needs a new nature, he must be born again or he cannot even perceive of the kingdom of God. Blind men cannot see. Deaf men cannot hear. Neither can sinners who have no spiritual eyes see, nor can they hear without spiritual ears. "They that know God hear us," are Bible words. Only those who know God can in their hearts respond to a message from God. No man responds to music who has no music in his own soul. "The preaching of the cross is unto them that perish foolishness, but unto us who are saved it is the power of God." "The things we once loved we now hate and the things we now hate we once loved." This is the experience of those who have been born again.

Calvin Hayes Died

The six months old son of Mr. and Mrs. R. C. Hayes died Tuesday after several weeks of sickness. All was done for it that loving hands could do, but God saw fit to call him away to a better land we know. Do not weep, dear loved ones, just prepare to meet that little brother and son on that bright and shining day.

Calvin leaves to mourn his death, three sisters and one brother and mother and father, Mr. and Mrs. R. C. Hayes, Martha, Alice, Etta Mae and Richard.

The remains were laid to rest in the Cedar Grove cemetery with Rev. Homer Carroll officiating.

Mrs. Bernice Strength and son, of Maynard's Chapel, are spending a few days with her sister and family, Mr. and Mrs. Vastine Hayes and son.

Mrs. Rube Williams and children spent Sunday with her daughter, Mrs. Pauline Hayes.

Miss Leedie Mae Wallis spent a few days with her sister and family of Thorsby last week, Mrs. Tommie Maddox.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Patterson and kids were visitors of his sister and family, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Hayes.

Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Hayes and children took dinner with their niece and family Sunday, Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Champion.

Miss Ione Nazworth is spending a while with relatives and friends of this community.

Miss Parey B. Smith is spending the week with her brother and family, Mr. and Mrs. Odis Price.

METHODS OF TURPENTINING ARE RAPIDLY IMPROVING

Montgomery.—American methods of turpentining the native longleaf and slash pines are generally recognized as being extremely wasteful, says Col. Page S. Bunker, State Forester. Efforts have been made from time to time to adopt the French method of turpentining, which system has not as yet found favor in this country due largely to economic conditions over which the naval stores industry has had little or no control. By way of contrast, the French system permits the tapping of individual trees for a period of from thirty to forty years, whereas the American method is restricted to three or four years. However, modifications in the American system and improvement in technique together with radical changes in the policy of land management, after careful consideration and scientific experimentation, have tended to increase the production of individual trees as well as to save the tapped timber.

Of late years one of the most enlightened steps taken by turpentine operators was to abolish the practice of woods burning, with the result that the production of crude gum was increased from 15 to 30 per cent per unit or crop. A recent experiment conducted by the U. S. Forest Service verified a prevalent belief held by operators that chipping hacks and pulling hacks perform their functions best when sharp and properly shaped. In fact, trees chipped with a sharp hack were found to produce approximately 15 per cent greater yield of gum. However, this fact should not be hard to understand when it is realized that the flow of gum is largely a pathological process induced in the tree to cover the wound inflicted by the hack. A sharp cut, opening up the resin ducts, permits a greater unrestricted flow of gum, whereas a jagged or rough cut made by a dull tool tends to open only a portion of the individual resin duct which are quickly sealed.

THE COTTON PROBLEM

(Editorial in Birmingham Age-Herald)

There has been much concern of late over the drop in cotton exports. Certainly it is no light matter when the nation's leading export commodity declines 3,000,000 bales, or more than 40 per cent, in a year's time. Especially is the problem pressing in the South, where more than half of the population makes its living out of cotton.

During the 12 months from July, 1933, cottoon exports of the United States were 7,921,000 bales. During the 12 months ending with this July, the shipments dropped to 4,826,000 bales. This loss of more than 3,000,000 bales means a money loss of $150,000,000.

Decreased consumption by the world does not account for the difference. Cotton shipments from other countries increased 2,500,000 bales while American shippers were losing 3,000,000. Where American producers used to supply 60 per cent of the cotton needs of the world, they now furnish less than 45 per cent. Germany has cut her purchases in the United States 70 per cent, France nearly 50 per cent, England about 40 per cent and Japan almost as much. They have gone into other markets, South America especially, to supply what they formerly bought here.

Neither can it be argued that the other nations are only using up surplus supplies of cotton bought several years ago when prices were down. Something of that sort has taken place, it is true, but inroads into surplus stock account for only a small part of the decline in American exports.

One truth in the situation is that the present domestic and tariff policies of the United States are making it unprofitable for buyers to purchase our cotton. Limitation of production and control of prices make our cotton too expensive for foreign buyers who have access to staple grown in countries with less concern about the standards of living for their cotton farmers or with lower tariff walls. Yet our cotton growers, it is important to remember, are better off now than they have been in several years.

The problem before the government is more easily stated than solved. It is simply to take some action that will increase trade and thus consumption of American cotton without forcing the cotton grower down to the starvation prices he received a few years back. On this point The Texas Weekly asks: "Has the American Congress nothing in the way of a plan to meet this situation? Secretary Wallace says that the only way out is to get down the American high tariff walls. But Congress does not seem concerned about getting those walls down. It seems content to let the reciprocal trade act stand as its alibi on the tariff. Are the leaders of the South content with this situation?"

A different suggestion is made by The United States News, which devotes most of the front page of its latest issue to the problem. "Important groups, in Congress and out," it says, "are demanding that the federal government, instead of continuing to restrict production and jack up prices, fight to regain markets by subsidizing exports, or by paying bounties on the domestic portion of the crop, and letting the rest seek an outlet at world prices."

Whatever is done in the situation, the evidence remains that it is difficult for one nation to maintain the living standards of its people above the general level of the world if it has to sell its goods in a world market.

ROOSEVELT AND THE SOUTH

(Editorial in Selma Times-Journal)

If the present trend is followed until 1936, Democratic leaders are going to get a jolt when they realize the extent of vote losses in the South.

It is true that the AAA has chained the farmer to the chariot wheels of Franklin D. Roosevelt, but among other occupations there is a growing number of voters who are going to sheer away from him in 1936 unless something happens to make them change their minds, or unless the Republicans fail to offer even a fair candiate.

No doubt the farmer support, coupled with that of labor, will give Mr. Roosevelt a great hold on Dixie, but if the calm assurance that the South is "in the bag" is followed, somebody is liable to get surprised.

The reason for this lies in the fact that the South has made notable gains, probably more than any other section of the country, and wants to protect them. Some of the latest moves by the President have not been exactly conservative and the time has past when the Nation will take drastic doses without question.

The position of the South is comparable to that of the poker player who has a goodly number of chips stacked on the table and is doubtful about whether to try to add to the store, or to play them "close to the vest" and be certain of cashing out ahead of the game.

The fact that Roosevelt policies have permitted these advances is not being considered by many voters. They only know that they are better off than they were in 1931 and are inclined to shy away from risking what they have for even better conditions.

Then too, there are some valiant souls who are beginning to express doubts about the Roosevelt farm policy. They are wondering just how the farmer will come out when the government ceases to keep him in the game by constantly supplying new chips. In the agricultural sections they are naturally unpopular, but they offer a telling argument when they declare that the farmer cannot always be a ward of the tax payer.

The situation offers grounds for intriguing surmise.

Misses Gloria and Gladys Donovan of Oak Grove community, Autauga County are visiting relaties and friends in the Enterprise community this week.

NEW BANK FOR PRATTVILLE

Stock is Subscribed and Bank Will Soon Be Open For Business

Prattville and all Autauga County will welcome the news that plans for organization of a new bank to be located in Prattville have reached the stage which assures organization of a bank in the immediate future. The month of September will probably witness the opening of Autauga's new banking establishment which will put an end to the inconveniences suffered by our local people during the past four years in being forced to use the facilities of outside banks.

Mr. J. W. Strange, who is connected with the Grimsley interests, has been in Prattville for several weeks carrying out the plans for organization of the new bank.—Prattville Progress.

ALABAME GAME NEWS

Montgomery, Ala., Aug. 13.—Alabama duck hunters will have 30 days for shooting this fall, the season opening November 20 and closing December 19.

These are the dates decreed by the U. S. Bureau of Biological Survey in what is described as "the most rigid regulations in the history of American wildfowling."

The new regulations place the daily bag limit on ducks at 10 in the aggregate of all kinds and make the possession limit conform to the bag limit. Shooting will be restricted to the hours between 7 a.m. and 4 p.m.

Those species which are nearest the danger point of extinction, such as canvasback and redheads, will be particularly favored by the elimination of sink boxes, sneak boats and open-water shooting, practices which have been the chief method of taking these species.

Shooting over baited water or land, which has furnished the heaviest toll from all species and accounted for the most constistent full bag limits, will be prohibited. Live decoys also have been ruled out.

The three-shell limit placed on the auto-loading and repeating shot-guns last February will take effect this fall, and the new regulations provide that hunters may use a shotgun only, not larger than No. 10 gauge.

The 30-day shooting season will apply to geese, brant, jacksnipe and coot, as well as ducks. No open season is allowed on wood ducks, ruddy ducks, bufflehead ducks, Ross' geese or swans. Bag limits on geese and brant remain at 4, but the possession limits have been cut in half, now conforming to the bag limits.

The bag and possesion limits on other species affected by the regulations are as follows: Coot, 15; jacksnipe, 15; sora, 25; rails (except sora and coot), 15; woodcock, 4.

The regulation prescribing means by which migratory game birds may be taken limits the use of "a blind, boat or floating craft of any kind" to locations "not more than 100 feet from the shoreline as determined by ordinary high tide or, where there is continuous natural growth or vegetation extending beyond such shore line, not more than 100 feet from such growth or vegetation protruding above the surface of the water at the time of taking such birds."

This regulation prohibits entirely the taking of migratory game birds "from or by aid of an automobile, airplane, sink box (battery), power boat, sailboat, any boat under sail, any floating craft or device of any kind towed by power boat or sailboat.

The one-month open season for woodcock hunting in Alabama will continue to be from December 1 to December 31, and on rails (except coot), the season, as formerly, will be September 1 to November 30.

MORE AGRICULTURAL EXHIBITS FOR THE ALABAMA STATE FAIR

Birmingham, Ala.—The Alabama State Fair to be held at Birmingham from September 23 to September 28, will have many more agricultural exhibits this year than last according to Dr. M. F. Jackson, director in charge of agricultural exhibits.

Dr. Jackson and the state fair management are well pleased with the interest being shown by counties throughout the state. Some of the counties that have already arranged for exhibits include Walker county, Calhoun county, Limestone county, Cullman county, Jefferson county, Bibb county, Blount county, Chilton county, Butler county, Choctaw county and Morgan county. More counties are being added each week as the opening date of the fair approaches.

It is Dr. Jackson's ambition and aim to see every county in the state represented with exhibits at the State Fair.

There will also be exhibits by the United States Department of Agriculture at the State Fair.

CHICKEN WITH NO EYES

The latest curiosity is a chicken without the sign of an eye. Mr. Henley Moore of near Cooper brought the little fowl to The Banner office last Saturday. The biddie, a barred rock, was normal in every respect except it had no eyes, and its general head make-up and bill looked very much like a ground mole's head. It was hatched in an incubator, Mr. Moore said. They are going to try to raise the chicken to maturity.

Properly Stowed Bags Add to Comfort

Comfort, pleasure, and safety on a tour depend largely on efficient loading of the luggage, and modern body designs have done much to ease the problem, as these views of Chevrolet models reveal. In the upper left view, the suitcases have been fitted in snugly, the adjustable front seat having been moved forward to allow extra leeway, and the driver is now pushing back the seat to clamp the bags in place for the day. Upper right, the tourist is utilizing the baggage space back of the rear seat. The two lower pictures show the loading of a coupe compartment and a sedan trunk.

CARRIER PIGIEON "ACCEPTS" OPEN HOUSE INVITATION

Wetumpka, Ala.—A few days ago the attention of the attendants and visitors at Alabma Power Company's Jordan Dam was attracted by an object fluttering on the lawn near the power plant. The object proved to be an exhausted pigeon. Maxwell field and other points were called to learn the bird's homing point, but no one was able to identify the bird from the band on its leg which bore the number 81. The pigeon was given water and food, and after resting for a day it took off, heading east. Some of the people at the Dam wondered if the pigeon had "accepted" the Power Company's invitation to visit the pioneer large-power developments in the State during "Open House Month."

POPLAR SPRINGS

We have just had a great revival at this place. Rev. Williams did the preaching.

Our Sunday school and B. Y. P. U. are not progressing as they should. Everyone who can, be there next Sunday and Sunday night. We might have something on program that you will enjoy.

Next fourth Saturday is the time set to elect new officers for the coming year. It is the duty of every member to be present.

Remember Sunday school at 10:00 o'clock and B. Y. P. U. at 7:15. Serve your Lord by showing your presence at these services.

ARCHER'S CHAPEL

Editor Union-Banner:

Will you please allow me a small space in your paper to say a few words in regard to our revival. It was the best that we have had in several years. We had large crowds, and fine conduct. Many gave their hearts to God and we want to urge them to keep on praying and God will help them to overcome the rough spots in life.

When the Alabama Conference sent Bro. Payton up here, our church was dead. But, thank God she lives again. Brother Payton has done a wondeful work at this place for the last two years. We all love him because he stands for the laws of God.

We people of Archers Chapel believe that Bro. Payton is a God-called preacher and a God-sent man.

SINGING AT FRIENDSHIP FRIDAY NIGHT, AUGUST 23

There will be no singing at Friendship any night this week on account of a number of revivals going on near by; but one will be held Friday night of next week, August 23rd, beginning at 7:30 o'clock.

All singers have a cordial invitation to attend, and lovers of sacred music are invited. Bring your new song books.

DR. LAWRENCE ON VACATION ALL NEXT WEEK

Dr. C. O. Lawrence announces that he will be out of his office taking his vacation next week. He will be away from Sunday, August 18 at noon until Saturday morning, August 24th.

TAXES GOING DOWN IN KANSAS

When Governor Alfred M. Landon took over the administration of Kansas and decreed by orders and supporting laws that Kansas and its political divisions would have to regulate expenditures by the amount of receipts there were predictions of wide disaster. It was too revolutionary even for Kansas, home of an older order of radicalism. The grumblings, however, have about ceased and a happier people are going ahead with their latest budget makings on the basis of income, the eating of Governor Landon's pudding having proved its worth. There has been no breakdown in state government and counties and towns have not been hampered seriously because outgo has been held in agreement with income. Taxes are going down in Kansas instead of up as is the case almost universally elsewhere. Kansas banks are crammed with money in spite of the 1934 drouth disaster to this essentially agricultural state, credit is more liquid and merchants report that cash sales in over-the-counter dealings are more prevalent than usual. Automobile dealers, especially, say that there are more cash sales in 1935 than at any time since 1930.—St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

Governor Landon is a Republican, and the example he has made of his state is attracting nation-wide attention in this day of reckless spending and tax gouging engaged in by the Democrats in charge at Washington. Other states will likely deem it wise to follow Kansas by putting the Republican party in charge in the forthcoming elections.

SEE YOUR LEGISLATORS

(Editorial in Birmingham Post)

Whether the thousands of Alabamians, now denied a voice in government because of inability to comply with the cumulative poll tax law, will be instated to full citizenship will be decided in the Legislature Tuesday.

On two previous occasions a handful of Black Belt politicians aided by certain large corporate interests bent on preserving the present balance of political power have defeated those who have supported this vital reform.

This week 37 members of the lower house voted "no" on poll tax reform and the measure was again blocked by the lack of only four votes.

Below we present again the names of the 37:

Austin, Tuscaloosa; Bateman, Elmore; Blann, Sumter; Bulger, Tallapoosa; Cook, Wilcox; Cox, Chilton; Denson, Lee; Dominick, Tuscaloosa; Doster Autauga; Goodwyn, Montgomery; Haley, Perry; Hall, Greene; Hamner, Dallas; Hanks, Talladega; Hare, Dallas; Hollis, Lamar; Williams, Clarke; Lee Bullock; Long, Perry; Matthews, Wilsox; Miles, Blount; Miller, Sumter; McGowin, Butler; Norman, Bullock; Poole, Butler; Reid, Shelby; Reynolds, Dale; Robinson, Lowndes; Sightler, Montgomery; Sparks, Barbour; Steele, Coosa; Street, Talladega; Tidmore, Hale; Toomer, Lee; Terry, Hale; Waldrep, Franklin; Welch Jefferson.

These men will be at their homes, today and tomorrow. Some of them oppose poll tax reform for very definite reasons and will not be changed, but there are enough among them with an unselfish desire to serve the broad interests of the state who can and should be convinced that they have been mis-led.

Every citizen who today is denied the right to vote because of inability to present a perfect record of poll tax payment should contact his representatives and senator. Every school teacher, every school official and every member of the parent-teacher organizations in the state likewise should urge poll tax reform since every cent of the poll tax is dedicated to the schools.

In a county founded on the belief that every man is created free and equal it is not sound nor is it fair for one man to deny his neighbor the right to vote. Popular government can survive only so long as it remains popular in fact.

Today only one out of every three adult white citizens of Alabama go to the polls on election day and vote. Revision of the cumulative poll tax law will pave the way for a return to real democracy in Alabama.

Remember it is important that you see your legislative representative before they return to Montgomery next week.

MAYNARD'S CHAPEL

Our revival begins at this place next Sunday. Rev. Maurice Hodgens will hold the meetings. Everybody come and bring some one else with you.

Sunday school and B. Y. P. U. were fine Sunday and Sunday night. We had a large crowd and we invite all visitors back again.

Brother Robinson preached a fine sermon Sunday night. He announced Sunday that he had the material on hand to make curtains to divide the B. Y. P. U. rooms. We are thankful for them and God bless the one who gave them. He also announced that Mr. Bryan Maynard , of Birmingham has donated enough white paint to paint our church. We are indeed thankful, and God bless him.

Rev. Robinson was Sunday dinner guest of Mr. and Mrs. Warn Maynard.

Miss Eloise Williams spent Sunday with Miss Jewell Barrett.

Messrs. Roy and Troy Horton are spending their vacation in Birmingham visiting their brothers and sisters.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Baret spent Sunday afternoon with Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Barrett.

Miss Viola Langston, Evan and A. J. are visiting their grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Stephen Pate.

Mrs. Orval Gulledge's mother, Mrs. Davis, is here with her for a few days.

Miss Evelyn Adams is at home after staying two months in Birmingham.

We are glad to know that Mr. Windell Hayes' shoulder is geting along fine.

Everyone remember our meeting and come.

ONE CASE IN MAYOR'S COURT

After passing about five weeks in succession without a case on his docket, Mayor Jones had one customer last Monday morning. The charge was reckless driving, and the defendant was assessed a fine and costs.

Mr. and Mrs. Dewey Rockett and daughters are in Panama City, Fla. this week. They were joined in Montgomery by Mr. and Mrs. Charlie Thomas and family from Sylacauga.

Mr. and Mrs. Harris Hardy and young son, of Birmingham, visited friends and relatives here during the week end.

GOVERNOR GRAVES WILL SPEAK TO MERCHANTS' ASSOCIATION

Birmingham, Ala., Aug. 14.—Governor Bibb Graves of Alabama will deliver "A Message to The Merchants of Alabama" at the closing session of the Alabama Merchants Association nineteenth annual convention on the night of August 22, at the Municipal Auditorium, promising to be of special interest at this time.

What is termed an "entertainment extraordinary" will be presented preceding the Governor's address by Rebecca Webb and her chorus of 25 dancing girls, and other specialty actors, promising a brilliant close to this convention, which it is estimated will be attended by more than 6,000 merchants from over the state and adjoining sections.

Beginning with registeration at 8 a.m. on August 21, in the vestibule of the Municipal Auditorium, every detail of the program for the entertainment of this convention has been perfected, it is announced by James C. Lee, Chairman of the Executie Committee of the Wholesale Merchants and Manufacturers Division of the Chamber of Commerce, "hosts" to the convention, and M. J. Roberson and George Bellsnyder, Chairman and Co-Chairman respectively, of the committees on arrangements for the convention.

TUNE WRANGLERS AT BILLINGSLEY AUG. 17th

The Tune Wranglers of Birmingham will render a professional program of music, dancing and clean comedy sponsored by the P.-T. A. at the Billingsley High School Auditorium. Every body is invited to come and hear the program.

The date is August 17, at 8:00 o'clock p.m.

Stop Chills and Fever!

Rid Your System of Malaria!

Shivering with chills one moment and burning with fever the next—that's one of the effects of Malaria. Unless checked, the disease will do serious harm to your health. Malaria, a blood infection, calls for two things. First, destroying the infection in the blood. Second, building up the blood to overcome the effects of the disease and to fortify against further attack.

Grove's Tasteless Chill Tonic supplies both these effects. It contains tasteless quinine, which kills the infection in the blood, and iron, which enriches and builds up the blood. Chills and fever soon stop and you are restored to health and comfort. For half a century, Grove's Tasteless Chill Tonic has been sure relief for Malaria. It is just as useful, too, as a general tonic for old and young. Pleasant to take and absolutely harmless. Safe to give children. Get a bottle at any drug store. Now two sizes—50c and $1. The $1 size contains 2½ times as much as the 50c size and gives you 25% more for your money.

ANOTHER GOOD SINGING HELD AT COURTHOUSE SUNDAY P.M.

The regular monthly singing met at the courthouse last Sunday afternoon The chairman, Mr. Jesse C. Jones, had charge of the proceedings. The quartet from Montgomery was on hand, as announced, and added greatly to the enjoyment of the occasion.

Directors were: L. T. Grant, A. O. Boswell, T. E. Wyatt, Pete Wilson, Dual Jones, Audie Brown, J. B. Crew, Lee Grant, O. L. Devaughn, Emmett Wilson and Kermit Lowery. Two members of the Montgomery quartet also directed lessons. The quartet rendered several selections which were greatly enjoyed.

The singing will be held again the second Sunday afternoon in September. It is hoped to have something else special at that time. The society will have a supply of some other book to supplement the ones now in use by the time of the next meeting.

JAMES MADISON MAHAN

Funeral for James Madison (Mat) Mahan, 60, of near Clanton, who died Tuesday night of last week, following an illness of only a few hours, was held Thursday afternoon from the Macedonia Baptist church. The Rev. Rufus Byler officiated, Spigener in charge. He attended the funeral of a brother-in-law Tuesday and it is thought that the excessive heat was responsible for the cerebral hemorrhage which caused his death.

Surviving are his widow; four children, Mrs. John R. Jones and Miss Glennie Mahan, both of Montgomery; J. F. Mahan and Miss Maude Mahan, of Clanton; two sisters, Mrs. Janie Smith, of Clanton; Mrs. Sallye Robinson, of Birmingham; one brother, R. J. Mahan, of Clanton.

EXTRA PRIZES FOR 4-H MEAT ANIMAL WINNERS AT SHOWS

Four-H club boys and girls in meat animal projects in Chilton county again are eligible to compete for the splendid county, state, sectional and national awards given in the sixth annual meat animal contest sponsored by Thomas E. Wilson, Chicago meat packer and chairman of the National Committee on Boys and Girls Club Work.

These prizes supplement handsomely those offered in the year's livestock exhibitions for 4-H animals and are an extra incentive to club members to complete their projects in the best possible manner.

County winners, who are to be chosen by extension agents, receive a beautiful embossed gold medal, while state champions win a 17-jewel watch on which their name is engraved. Four sectional winners each receive a trip with all expenses to the forthcoming National Club Congress to be held in connection with the International Live Stock Exposition the first week in December. Three cash college scholarships of $300, $200 and $100 go to national winners. Contestants are required to fill out forms available from the county agent.

Three $300 cash scholarships also are provided by Mr. Wilson for livestock club members showing in the 4-H International Show in connection with their animal projects. Scholarship awards are announced after the show.

Mr. Paul Cox, of Daytona Beach, Florida is spending a week with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. B. Cox.

Lesson for August 18

MARTHA

LESSON TEXT—Luke 10:38-42; John 11:17-28.

GOLDEN TEXT—Jesus loved Martha, and her sister, and Lazarus.—John 11:5.

PRIMARY TOPIC—A Home Jesus Loved.

JUNIOR TOPIC—A Home Jesus Visited.

INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOPIC—How Can I Help at Home?

YOUNG PEOPLE AND ADULT TOPIC—A Home That Attracts Jesus.

The lesson committee designated Martha as a home-maker. That she was a home-maker is to be conceded, but to view this lesson only in that light is to miss its vital point, for Christ's teachings here are equally appropriate to male and female, in the home, office, shop, schoolroom, farm, etc.

I. Jesus Revealing to Martha Her Supreme Need (Luke 10:38-42).

1. Jesus welcomed into her home (v. 38). Though Jesus had no home of his own, he could come into this home at any time and throw off the restraints incident to public ministry. What a blessed thing it would be if all homes were open to receive Jesus.

2. Mary sitting at Jesus' feet (v. 39). While this was Martha's home, Mary seemed to have lived with her. Mary had a peculiar spiritual insight which prompted her to sit at Jesus' feet and listen to his words. The real place to hear Jesus' words is "at his feet." Let no one imagine that Mary did not render any service, for the little word "also" indicates that she had been serving with Martha.

3. Martha's complaint (v. 40). She was so bent on providing a good meal for Jesus that she was on the verge of distraction. Her many assumed duties had so got on her nerves that she not only found fault with Mary, but even censured Jesus for allowing Mary to sit at his feet while dinner was being finished. She even assumed the authority to command Jesus to send Mary back to help her. The sure way to serve without distraction is to first sit at Jesus' feet and listen to his words.

4. Jesus' reply (vv. 41, 42).

a. He rebuked Martha (v. 41). This rebuke he administered most tenderly, for he knew that Martha loved him sincerely. Those who are supremely occupied with Jesus are anxious for nothing (Phil. 4:6).

b. He defended Mary (v. 42). In this defense he declared that there was but one thing needful and that Mary had chosen that good part which could not be taken from her. Those who choose this good part cannot be robbed of it by friends, foes, or circumstances.

II. A Revelation of Christ's Love (John 11:1-36).

1. The sickness of Lazarus (vv. 1, 2). Even those who are in close fellowship with the Lord are not immune from sickness. Sorrow comes even to the homes where Jesus is loved.

2. Martha and Mary send for Jesus (v. 3). Because they had come to know Jesus as more than a mere man they instinctively turned to him when this shadow fell across their home.

3. Jesus' strange delay (vv. 4-6). They sent for Jesus because he loved Lazarus. They said, "He whom thou lovest is sick." Jesus abode in the same place because he loved Lazarus and his sisters (v. 5). This mystery is to be explained by the fact that Jesus was divine and knew all things.

4. Jesus goes to the Bethany home (vv. 7-17). His mission in going into this home was twofold; to minister to the sisters and brother and to strengthen the faith of the disciples (vv. 11-15).

5. Jesus teaching Martha (vv. 18-27). As he was nearing the village, Martha met him with a complaint because of his delay. He ignored her complaint and taught her concerning the resurrection and the life.

a. "Thy brother shall rise again" (v. 23). He is saying these words to every sorrowing sister, brother, wife, husband, child, and parent.

b. "I am the resurrection, and the life" (vv. 25, 26). He is the source of life, and all who are joined to him by a living faith are in such vital fellowship as to be unaffected by bodily change.

6. Jesus weeping with Mary (vv. 28-35). In response to the Master's call Mary fell at his feet, uttering the same words used by Martha, but, no doubt, in a different tone of voice and attitude. Her words were responded to with tears. "Jesus wept."

III. Jesus Raising Lazarus (vv. 38-44).

His great sympathy now expressed itself in supernatural power. Sympathy would be valueless without this connection with divine power.

Music

Music, like a true coin, rings best on the domestic hearthstone. The essence of it no more belongs to the concert room than—reverently let it be said—does religion to the church. It must needs be an everyday matter, entering the hearts and homes of the people, otherwise its true functions remain unfulfilled.

Repentance

Repentance is a goddess and the preserver of those who have erred.—Julian.

Miss Evelyn Poe of Selma, Ala., is the house guest of Miss June Cox.

County Farm Agent's Notes

Compiled by J. W. Fant, County Farm Demonstration Agent for Chilton County

30,000 STATE FARMERS ENDORSE AAA PROGRAM

Auburn, Ala.—Over 30,000 Alabama farmers have recently endorsed resolutions favoring the continuation of the AAA, the Bankhead cotton control act, and the processing tax. They have also asked that the United States constitution be amended if necessary to continue these acts.

The farmers who voted for the resolution attended huge meetings at Belle Mina, Crossville, Dothan, Albertville, Tuscaloosa, Monroeville, Clanton, Birmingham and Auburn.

FEW CATTLE WILL BE SLAUGHTERED THIS YEAR

Auburn, Ala.—Fewer cattle and calves will be slaughtered this fall than last when the drought forced heavy marketings, according to the mid-summer beef cattle outlook report issued today by the Bureau of Agricultural Economics. The reduction is expected to be chiefly in the slaughter of calves and of the better grades of steers.

The bureau expects a larger number of cattle will be fed in the Corn Belt this fall and next winter in view of increased feed grain production. The result will be larger marketings of grain-fed cattle during the first half of 1936 compared with the corresponding period this year.

AUBURN COW MAKES EXCELLENT RECORD

Auburn, Ala.—The Jersey cow, Auburn Eminent Betsy, owned by the Dairy Department here has been acclaimed by the American Jersey Cattle Club as the champion fet producer of Alabama for the months of March, April, and May, 1935. Betsy's official record for March was 983 pounds of milk, 51.7 pounds of fat; for April, 1,092 pounds of milk, 55.8 pounds of fat; for May, 1,011 pounds of milk, 53.6 pounds of fat.

CORN STALK BORERS WILL APPEAR IN 1936

Auburn, Ala.—Corn stalk borers—both the southern and lesser—will be numerous in Alabama next year, predicts Prof. J. M. Robinson, head of the entomology department of the Alabama Polytechnic Institute.

The entomologist bases his prediction upon the fact that corn stalk borers appear in large numbers every third year. It was two years ago that the pest was numerous in the State.

By cutting or dragging down the corn stalks this fall and winter, the farmers can control to a large degree these borers, Robinson advises

Mr. and Mrs. Dewey Rockett and children, Nell and Lois, left Sunday for a vacation trip to Panama City, Florida.

BABY CHICK PRODUCTION IS GREATLY INCREASED

Auburn, Ala.—Production of baby chicks by commercial hatcheries in June, according to the Bureau of Agricultural Economics, was the largest ever reported for that month. An output of 9,894,000 chicks was reported by 314 hatcheries, or about 80 per cent more than in June a year ago. These plants also set 8,267,000 eggs in June, or 71 per cent more than in June, 1934. Production for July is expected to be much more than in the same month of 1934. Production of chicks by commercial hatcheries from January to June this year is estimated at about 20 per cent more than during the same period in 1934.

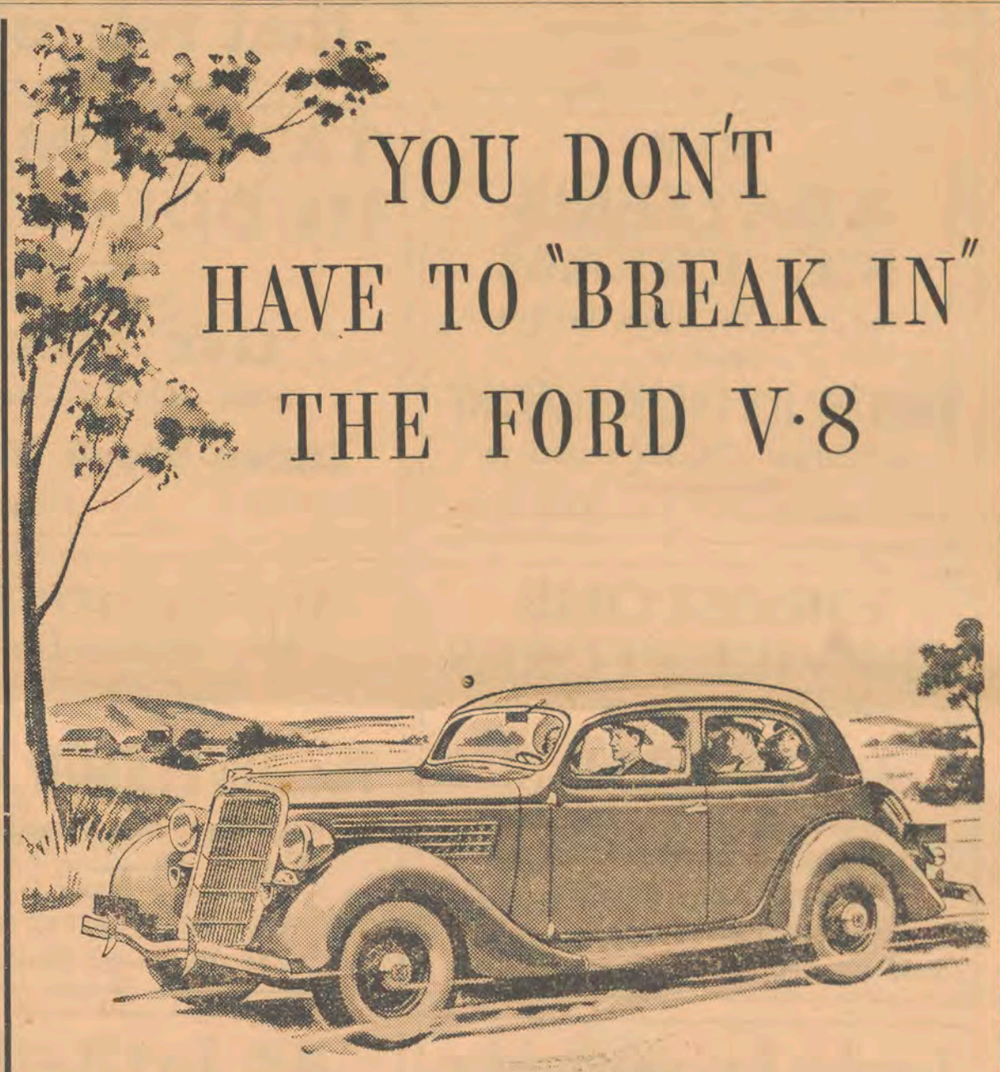
Hatchery business is reported to have increased in practically all parts of the country. It has been especially large in the central states which produce the greater part of the market supplies of eggs and poultry.

ICE CREAM SUPPER

The W. M. S., Circle No. 1, of the Mulberry Baptist Church is sponsoring an ice cream supper at the home of Mr. O. O. Calfee, Route 6, on Saturday night August 17th, for the benefit of the Church. There will be entertainment for all. The old as well as the young are cordially invited.

WOOD CUTTING AT BAKER SCHOOL

All patrons of Baker School are requested to join in a wood cutting for the school on Friday and Saturday of this week. The purpose of the event is to provide necessary fuel for use at the school during the coming winter session.



YOU DON'T HAVE TO "BREAK IN" THE FORD V·8

You can drive it 50 miles an hour the day you buy it

THE FORD V-8 is ready for normal driving when you buy it. There is no tedious period of breaking-in for 500 or 1000 miles. You can drive it up to 50 miles an hour the first day. And after the first hundred miles you can drive it as fast as you desire.

That means greater motoring enjoyment for every motorist. It is especially important to motorists who are thinking about a new car for a vacation trip — to physicians, salesmen and all those who use a car for business. Instead of dragging along at slow speeds for days, you can make good time from the start.

The reason for this is as important as the result. The Ford V-8 needs no breaking-in because of unusual accuracy in the manufacture of moving parts and the smoothness of bearing surfaces. Clearances are correct when you buy the car. It is not necessary to depend on a long wearing-in period to eliminate tightness and insure smooth running. Longer life, greater economy and better performance are bound to result from such precision methods. An Old Preacher Gives His Views On Nation Trend

Editor Union-Banner:

Here I come for a little chat with your readers. I have seen so much in the papers about the New Deal and the Roosevelt tax slaughter that I have been made to wonder how long can it last. Some say that Roosevelt has a brain trust up at Washington; but it appears to me he has a tax trust instead. I have wondered what has got wrong with our old lawmakers at Washington. I used to think they loved God and their country and fellowman, and were glad to have the privilege of serving us as our representatives.

They used to have respect for the Constitution of our good old U. S. A. I hold the Constitution of our country as sacred as I do the Bible, the word of God. The Constitution has been our waybill since Washington. He started out with it, and for eight years under his management our people prospered. The Constitution has always safegurded our security and prosperity when the right kind of men were put at the wheels of the ship of state.

It seems in this administration the whole bunch of lawmakers have lost their heads and have forgotten the poor people back home. They are bound to know they are robbing the poor and giving the wealth to the rich. It seems that everything is shot to pieces throughout our nation.

I am wondering what is the matter with our Democrats. They have never given us a prosperous administration. Cleveland gave us the worst panic we ever had. Wilson told us a lie, said he would keep us out of war, and no sooner than he got in office he gave us war, which killed and crippled up all of our good young men, and bankrupted our nation.

That was the foundation laid for this distress. Some want to lay it to Hoover. But I want to say that Hoover did well with a bankrupt nation and a bunch of contrary Democrats to work with. They would not pass the laws he wanted. But he ran our business and paid nine million dollars on Wilson's debt, I am told.

So Roosevelt has been in the saddle now over two years, and after using the whip on his lawmakers, getting them stampeded through his brain trust and codes, he hasn't yet done even the first thing he promised in his campaign. Conditions are worse now than when Hoover went out, although Mr. Roosevelt has put us in debt more than 29 billion dollars.

Well, who can expect a clean thing to come out of an unclean thing? God's word says it can't be done. The devil sure has got people going his way these days. Who can expect a fair deal from these old Democratic politicians?

If you please, just take them right here in Chilton County. In our last election I am told the Democrats, with the help of a few leading Republicans, lied, bought and stole enough absentee ballots to claim they won the election, and it is going to be contested. I fell almost sure the report is true.

God knows who has acted dirty, and I hope we have a judge this time who is a Christian man, and who will turn on the light and search diligentl for the truth in the matter and give a righteous decision. That is the only thing people can do to be justified before God: Do the right thing between man and man, regardless of what some people might say. God's word says "Be sure your sins will find you out." And God says whatsoever you sow, that you must also reap.

If I were a judge, I would not make a decision without knowing the truth. I knew a judge not so long ago who was to decide a case between man and man. After hearing the evidence he gave honest to goodness judgment. But later the losing lawyers must have formed some kind of a caucus with him. They got the judge to give a new hearing without any more evidence. So he reversed himself and threw the other man in the cost. This was wrong, and I know it was.

In a few weeks the judge had to send a daughter to the hospital. He lost her. Later on he lost his health, and has died since. Some of the dirty bunch that had a hand in this case and received unjust money have been in the hospital, and other things have happened to them. God knows all about it, and says, "Be sure your sins will find you out."

Don't go beyond and defraud thy neighbor out of anything." Thus sayeth the Lord. "I will revenge," sayeth the Lord.

In conclusion, I want to say our lawmakers at Montgomery have been as bad as these at Washington; only they haven't raised their wages at Washington yet. I am wondering if they have a brain trust at Montgomery, or a tax trust, or both. These are getting bad. They tax what the poor man uses, but leave off the things of the rich.

They tax tobacco and snuff, but leave the cigars to go free.

So this I know: President Cleveland gave us the worst panic we ever had. Wilson got us into the worst war. Now Roosevelt is in, and some folks say he is giving us hell. I won't say that, but it sure has been hot and dry for the last few weeks. But we still have a little water to drink. The rich man in hell could not wet his tongue. So I close, with good wishes to all.—J. N. Scott, the same Old Preacher.

IN AUTOMOBILE WRECK

Mr. Buddie Robinson of Providence in beat 16, was a participant in an automobile accident at old Thawley Pond on Higgins Ferry road last Saturday afternoon. Mr. Robinson, together with his son and Mr. Lewis Easterling were traveling east, and a large Nash car said to have been driven by Rev. Lumpkin was going south on the road that crosses Higgins Ferry road. The two cars went into each other and both landed in the ditch. The front of Mr. Robinson's car, a Ford, was battered up quite a bit and the windshield was broken. Neither of the occupants of the cars were hurt seriously; Mr. Easterding sustained a bruised and cut-up hand.

ROBBERY AT CHARLES WADE'S APARTMENTS SUNDAY NIGHT

A burglar entered the apartments of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Wade last Saturday night, and stole about fifty dollars in cash.

Mr. Wade lives up stairs in the Wadesonian picture show building. Investigation revealed that the burgler entered at the rear of the building gaining entrance through a transom.

A negro said to have been seen leaving the building was apprehended and held for investigation by Police Chief John Browder. Tuesday afternoon Mr. Browder said sufficient evidence had not been developed against the negro to justify a warrant charging him with committing the crime.

POPWELL GIRL REPORTED BETTER TUESDAY MORNING

Mr. Jim Popwell, of South Clanton, stated Tuesday morning that his daughter, Miss Mildred Popwell, showed encouraging signs of improvement during recent days.

The young lady remains in Central Alabama Hospital, under treatment for severe injuries sustained at the County picnic Tuesday, August 6th, when she fell from a truck and the wheels passed over her body.

Her father stated that she would likely have to stay in the hospital for some length of time. It was at first thought that her injuries would prove fatal.

Mr. and Mrs. Curtis Guy of Birmingham spent the week end with relatives here and in Mt. Creek.

THIS EVOLVING BUREAUCRACY

The administration has spent billions of dollars to increase employment by reviving industry, but something like ten millions remain jobless. The bureaucracy at Washington, however, reports enlarging payrolls and increasing employment from month to month.

In May the federal payroll increased by $1,500,000 over April. Some 2,000 were added in Washington alone, for a total of 102,539.

Candidate Roosevelt accused his predecessor of piling "bureau on bureau, commission on commission." It has not occurred to President Roosevelt, apparently, that the sitting army, maintained by the taxpayers, might need reducing.—Philedelphia, Inquirer.

NATIONAL AFFAIRS

(By Frank P. Litschert

One of the most interesting stories out of Europe in a long time and one that is of especial concern to the United States, comes to us from the Soviet capital of Moscow. The third International of the Communist parties has been holding a meeting there, one attended by delegates from all over the world. The Third International is the right arm of Soviet Russian Government, the only communist government in the universe. It is the right arm because it has carried on the propaganda which seeks to stir up trouble everywhere and win the rest of the world to communism.

But now there has come an apparent switch of policy and a very clever one. It almost causes the student of international politics to doubt the general conclusion that the Birtish diplomats are the shrewdest ones in the world. The manipulators of the Third International are not so bad, either. The astounding statement issued from the convention of the Third International is that since fascism has become such a world menace the communist organization will now effect a change of front and throw in its fortunes with the democratic but capitalistic countries of the world in an effort to end fascism, but to at the same time strive to set up a "proletariat dictatorship."

This announcement of a "change of policy" is all the more astonishing because communism and democracy are the very antithesis of one another. Communist Russia, in its governmental machinery, resembles nazism and fascism much more closely than it resembles representative democracy. The practical difference is that in the nazi and fascist state private ownership has not been abolished. In Communst Russia the state, which is the communist leadership, owns and controls property as well as principles of government.

There may be more than one reason for this change of front but the principal one assigned for it by those who have made a careful study of communism for years, is that the Third International now sees a much better opportunity for subversive propaganda in democratic-capitalistic countries. For example: in negotiating a recognition treaty with the United States, Russian diplomats promised to cease propaganda in the United States. Those who understand communist policies have been wondering what the Tihrd International would do. Now this has become plain. Directing its open fire against other autocratic governments, known as fascists, it will bore from within in democratic countries, pretending to "protect" them from fascist penetration. The end will be, of course, if these agents of the Third International have their way, an overthrow of capitalistic democracy for so-called communist democracy, which means the kind of dictatorship they have in Russia. In addition to their recognition treaty with the United States the reds have completed a political treaty with France which makes it all the more necessary that they mask world revolution behind a "change of front" in an apparent movement to line up with democracy against fascism.

The doctrines of communism as exemplified by the Third International and the principles of democracy as exemplified in the constitution of the United States are just as far apart as they were. For instance: the six principles of the Marxian communists are, abolition of capitalistic representative democracy, abolition of private property rights; abolition of inheritance; abolition of Christianity; abolition of the family; abolition of patriotism. It would be difficult to find six doctrines more at variance with the purposes of American constitutional government.

It is to be remembered that the communist change of front is a "tactical" movement. There is no change of principle, no change in the ultimate end of winning the entire world to the brand of government they have in Moscow.

AMERICA A DUMPING GROUND

The ruinous effects of the administration's policies on our export trade has just been shown in a startling report of the Agricultural Department and a "trade agreement" list compiled by George N. Peek, head of the Import-Export Bank.

While Secretary Wallace is destroying the world markets for our farm products, Secretary Hull through his "trade agreements" is destroying our industries by demolishing the protective tariff system which has made this country the richest in the world, with the highest level wages that has ever been reached in historical memory.

Here are the astounding official facts: In 1921 we exported 359,000,000 bushels of wheat. Our exports were then ten times higher than our imports. In the last eleven months we exported only 20,337,000 bushels of wheat and imported 23,603,000 bushels!

In 1933, before the AAA cracked down on our farmers, our exports of corn were 7,885,000 bushels and our imports 344,000 bushels! In the first 5 months of this year we exported 96,031 bushels of corn and imported 11,500,000 bushels! The corn-restriction and high-price program of our ruling crackpots has cost us not only the markets of the world but has made us the dumping ground for foodstuffs from all the slave-wage countries of Europe and the Orient. The economic debacle of America begun by Secretary Wallace is being completed by Santa Claus Hull.

According to the Peek report, Secretary Hull has concluded 290 trade agreements which discriminate against the United States. The most disastrous paragraph in the reciprocal tariff act provides that any tariff reduction granted to one nation shall be generalized to all other countries that do not discriminate against this country.

Uutimately, this means free trade.

The Peek list shows that except for eleven minor nations every country with which Secretary Hull has concluded these agreements is discriminating against the United States. France has fifty trade agreements which exclude the United States from the benefits she showers on other nations. Germany shuts out the United States on fifty-seven such bilateral agreements, Greece 23, Canada 8, Great Britain 29, and Italy 21. To all these nations Secretary Hull extends full "most favored nation" treatment.

The result, as in the case of farm imports is that we are being flooded with goods made by industrial workers in Europe and the Orient who will eventually pull down our workingmen to the level of the coolie wage of Europe and Asia.

What's the matter with America?

The official figures answer, Wallace and Hull and the President who put them in power and keeps them there.—Washington D. C., Herald.

THE CONSTITUTION AN ISSUE

Regardless of what the politicians may do about it, there is increasing evidence that unless there is a sudden shift in public sentiment the inviolability of the Constitution and the perpetuation of states' rights are going to be important questions in the campaign of 1936.

This first became evident when the Supreme Court made its now famous decision setting aside most of the so-called important features of the National Recovery Act. Lower courts have been steadily invalidating certain provisions of the AAA and this had led to proposed amendments in Congress which would debar those who paid the processing tax under the AAA from recovering monies so collected by the government, should the act be decided unconstitutional by the Supreme Court, as now seems somewhat probable. In addition there seems to be a pretty general belief among constitutional lawyers that the Supreme Court will set aside the power which Congress delegates to the executive authority to write new tariff treaties with other countries. Tariff making is expressly delegated to Congress by the Constitution. If this legislation should be invalidated by the court the constitutional issue will be intensified. And the matter will not be decided along political lines.

Senator Dickinson the other day forcefully brought this point out in an address on the AAA amendments when the said:

"When fundamental principles established under the Constitution are involved, as I stated in the beginning, there are no differences between Republicans and Democrats. Interpretations of basic law cannot be made on the basis of current economic theories. Nor can there be any difference of opinion, I believe, as to the duties laid upon the Senate in this connection. We cannot proceed blindly down a road, ignoring all the danger signals that have been set, to end up at last in that catastrophe predicted by Mr. Roosevelt himself when as governor of New York he said:

"' It was clear to the framers of our Constitution that the greatest possible liberty of self-government must be given to each state and that any national administration attempting to make all the laws for the whole nation———'

"Those are Mr. Roosevelt's own words—

"'* * * would inevitably result * * * in a dissolution of the Union itself'."

Senator Dickinson has undoubtedly summed up the situation correctly. Once the people get the idea that the American Constitution is being violated or ignored in the interest of experimentation, we are going to have a live issue which will relegate a lot of so-called "burning questions" to the limbo of forgotten things.

A lot of smart politicians thought that the League of Nations couldn't be made a live issue in the United States. The campaign of 1920 proved them mistaken. Much more could be said for interest in the Constitution of the United States.

If you are fat you may be able to reduce yourself to normal—providing the fat is not located in your head.

MAN IN THE MOON

ACCORDING TO SCHEDULE

Last week The Chilton County News emblazoned its editorial page with an editorial published in The Montgomery Advertiser entitled: "Two Newspapers". In publishing this reprint from The Advertiser, The News has merely followed its usual custom of clipping comment from Democratic sheets which appear to favor their side of the question. It is a rare thing for The News to publish an editorial of its own, and when it does, it is a safe bet that no one will ever know who the author of such article is.

It is the policy of The News to clip such as appears to prove their side of their question. They quote from Democrats "in the soft spots" of the present spendthrift administration. But right there The News stops short. It NEVER quotes Jeffersonian Democrats who fought so hard for Mr. Roosevelt in 1932, but who are honest enough and patriotic enough to try to safeguard the nation and its basic laws and institutions now, when the administration would lay aside such bulwarks of national safety for the sake of its personal whims and fantastic imaginations. Frankly I am not able to say which has the more doubtful honor—The News, for having The Advertiser comment on its stand on the AAA, or The Advertiser, for having The News reprint its editorial. As said before, The News NEVER quotes those staunch Democrats who still believe in defending the basic laws of America, even at the cost of rebuttal of the Communistic Roosevelt crowd at Washington. Indeed, it seems The News must studiously dodge quoting these gentlemen.

Now to get on with this discussion—we cannot call it an argument, for we never argue with The News crowd. WE TELL THEM! The Advertiser says: "Unhappily for its well-being, The Union-Banner has become involved in the issue of processing taxes and the AAA." The Union-Banner believes that SOMEONE should take an interest in it, as The News, The Advertiser, and the whole Roosevelt crowd in general profess ignorance of any difference between the procesing tax and the protective tariff, which the Democrats have fought so long. We propose to tell them. We have run the News outfit into a hole on more than one question, and we propose to repeat the process on this one. There is but one strange thing about The News—it has always been our experience that once we run The News in on a question, it is impossible to smoke them out on it again. In the language of the day, they "can't take it".

The Advertiser and The News think it strange that The Union-Banner should be against the AAA, being situated, as it is, in the heart of a farming community. That's easy to explain—we have yet to see one good thing any act of the AAA has brought about. We use the same kind of figures The News uses and this is the way our figures worked out. The money crop of Chilton County is cotton. Admitting that the price has doubled under the AAA, everyone knows that the price of every commodity has done likewise, to keep step with cotton prices. So, an unprejudiced sum-up shows that prices are just about on the same ratio as they were when Mr. Roosevelt took office. The only difference, then, is exactly the amount of products the AAA authorities have denied the farmers the right to raise. The farmer is the loser by the exact amount the AAA has cut his crop.

That is the immediate loss. Looking further, we find that the AAA has succeeded in losing the greater part of the foreign market for American products. And by the way, that is another main reason why cotton is not worth more than it is today in this country. The same is true all over the country, in all departments—wheat, corn, cotton farmers, meat raisers—all have suffered alike. It is true that the government has partly reimbursed farmers for this loss, but this has been done from federal funds from government bonds which farmers will help repay, along with the interest that will accrue.

We will challenge The News to ask its readers, the farmers in particular, how they like the farm set-up. The best test, however, would be to ask them if they plan to "sign up" again next year. If they answer to The News as they do to us on this question, it will be found that every farmer who can still call his soul his own dislikes the procedure, and will do his best to get by without signing up again.

That is the reason The Union-Banner is against the AAA. We do not believe its workings are best for the farmers, we do not believe the farmers, themselves, like it, and we never will be found standing for something which we conscientiously believe wrong, even if the big-wigs do give the order all down the line to stand by. That is just one other of the many ways The Union-Banner is different from The News and The Advertiser. Judging from the past, we honestly believe that if Mr. Roosevelt and his Red gang at Washington should decide that the best thing for us would be the abolition of all regious creeds and the destruction of all churches, these sheets might mealy-mouth around a bit, but in the end they would come around and agree that "maybe it would be the best, inasmuch as the churches aren't seeing many conversions today any way; we might as well do away with them."

That's the Democratic newspapers of Alabama all over—a bunch of "yessers" to their autocratic bosses. And if there is anything which will turn the stomach quicker than a "yessing" newspaper with lack of guts to stand for what it KNOWS to be right and fair and just and honest, we'd like to hear about it. And don't mention ipecac—there is no comparison. Here and now we proclaim that we will NEVER back down and give up in despair, even though beset by The Montgomery Advertiser, "Grandma," so old that her editorial brains have become musty and dusty, despite the fact that many changes have been made of late, possibly in an effort to find some new string to harp on; neither will we give in to The News, even though it sees fit to keep the identity of the author of its "burning" editorials a secret. We don't blame the guy who writes what few losal editorials they do have—we'd stay behind a smoke screen, too. The Union-Banner will choose its stand on any question, and it will not have to call up some big-wig to make up its mind for it, either. We will cling to what we think is right, no matter what others do. And we expect to fight for our convictions until the end, and no slurs by The News nor The Advertiser can stop us.

Getting back to the question of processing taxes and tariffs, which The News and The Advertiser profess to see no difference in. Personally, I do not believe that the personnel of The News nor The Advertiser COULD be that dumb. It takes a certain amount of ability and brains to get a newspaper printed and I believe that these required qualities would naturally fit them to be able to see the difference between these two. So, naturally, it must be construed that these two worthy sheets are merely making another bold pass at "spoofing" their readers.

But, just for the edification of The News and The Advertiser, we will be glad to tell the difference, which is patent on its face. The tariff was devised to equalize the cost of foreign made goods with domestic goods. In other parts of the world the standard of living and the wage standard is not as high as in the United States. Hence, other countries could produce finished goods at their low wages, and ship it across the water, and still sell at prices far below the lowest rate domestic manufacturers could operate on, with our higher wage standards. So, the tariff was put on, such tariff charge being placed just so high as to make these foreign goods cost the same on the open market as local goods. Without this tariff local manufacturers could not hope to compete with foreign goods.

The processing tax is a charge put on local products, which throws the trade ratio still more out of balance than it naturally would be if there were no restrictions of any kind on local or foreign goods. Anyone can easily see that when a tariff is required to equalize competition between foreign and local goods, on account of different standards, then a lowered tariff on foreign goods and an added tax on local goods pretty near puts local producers and manufactures out of the picture.

I will draw a parallel to show this clearly. We will take the strawberry business. Suppose the prevailing price is $2.00 per crate, and gives growers in Chilton County a fair profit; suppose growers in another state, using cheap labor, can grow them and ship them to our trade territory and sell them for $1.50 or less and still make money. Then let a tariff of 50 cents per crate be put on these imported berries, to protect local growers. If this is not done, then the imported berries will sell and the local grower will be forced to let his crop rot in the field, for there is no sale, as he would have to have $2.00, while the imported berries would be selling at $1.50 or less. But with the tariff the price is equalized, both products selling for $2.00, thus giving the local grower an even break in the open market.

Now, suppose we use the Democratic plan, and cut the tariff on the imported berries to 25 cents per crate, or remove it altogether. This would bring the price of the imported fruit down to $1.75 or $1.50. At the same time let a processing tax be levied on local growth at the rate of 25 cents per crate. This would cause the local goods to have to sell for at least $2.25 per crate, instead of $2.00, and again the local grower would have no chance at the market. The difference between the prices of local goods and foreign goods would be still as great or greater than before any restrictions were placed on either. By this comparison anyone can see the difference in tariffs and processing taxes. Tariffs euqalize the selling prices of goods which are imported and cost less to raise than local products, while processing taxes are taxes on local goods and tend to throw the price ratio still more out of balance. In short, tariffs tax foreign goods, while processing taxes are levied on local goods. Tariffs protect local producers, while processing taxes help foreign producers and tend to keep our local goods off the market. So, as processing taxes are levied and tariffs reduced, as is the case with the Democrats, it is no wonder we find Japan shipping millions of yards of cotton goods to this country, while our local producers see their cotton rotting in the warehouses because there is no sale for it. They can buy their cotton in India, mill it with cheap labor in Japan, and ship it into this country over the low tariff walls cheaped than our local manufacturers can buy our local cotton, mill it, pay the processing tax and sell it. That's the heart of the cotton problem and the truth about tariffs.

The hullaboo you hear going over our state in support of the AAA program is not the work of the dirt farmers. If you will notice, you will see that it is being pushed by a bunch of parasites like Ed O'neal. I doubt very seriously if Mr. O'neal ever picked a lock of cotton in his life. Of course he wants it carred on. It helps him to keep a fat job, where he has nothing to do but sail around over the contry to picnics and such and shoot hot air and bull to try to fool farmers to keep him in white shirts and collars. He is not the only tough one, though. There are others, plenty of them, just as bad.

Space will not permit all I would like to say about these two parasites of the newspaper world, The News and The Advertiser There is one more thing that The Advertiser said in its editorial that I want to quote and comment on.

The Advertiser admitted that President Roosevelt's "batting average is slumping." If The Advertiser would use baseball terms, I believe we could enlighten them still further along this line. In baseball, when a player, no matter how good he may be, falls into a slump—when he strikes out every time he goes to bat—and then when he gets on base, by error, maybe, and is caught off the base and is called out by the umpire several times—the smart baseball manager soon benches him. Mr. Roosevedt has gone to bat several times with the bases loaded and has struck out or popped out on every occasion. The Supreme Court umpire called him out when he got on base with the NRA question, too. The American public is a pretty wise manager. They can be fooled, but not for long. If Mr. Roosevelt doesn't begin to connect for some timely hits pretty soon in his political game, he may soon find himself picking up splinters on the bench. Smart managers bench bad players, you know.—Man in the Moon.

A REAL INQUIRY

The biggest single accomplishment of the New Dealers and also the greatest harm they have done the country is this: They have made millions of self-relient men and women sorry for themselves, and have made it easy for them to become chronic whiners.

The terriffic debt the New Deal has saddled on the nation is a serious thing and will remain a heavy burden for years.

The grotesque financial and economic policies and legislation it has put over have been a horrible handicap on normal recovery.

Attacks upon the Constitution and the guarantees of liberty made in furtherance of New Deal schemes have been highly pernicious.

But nothing else has been quite as bad as the spread of the enervating and insulting doctrine that the American people are a lot of helpless and hopeless, morons, weaklings and cowards, who are unfit to manage their own affairs in the face of little adversity but must be taken in charge by a superior class, regimented, told how to settle quarrels, told when and where to work, instructed in the management of their affairs even down to the ordering of their homes and families, and all but undressed, bathed and tucked in bed at night.

This has been the worst injury and the biggest insult to the people of America.—Detroit Free Press.

THE NEW TAX BILL

The new "soak the rich," "share the wealth" or "soak the thrifty" tax bill, the name depending on how you feel about it, has now been introduced into Congress. It provides for heavy sur-taxes on incomes above $50,000 a year, a graduated corporation income tax ranging from thirteen and one-fourth to 14 and one-fourth per cent, and excess profits tax of from eight to ten per cent and an inheritance tax running up to 75 per cent.

Of course there will be much debate before the bill is passed and much water will run over the legislative wheel. It will be mainatined of course that the little fellow will not have to pay the tax, that it will come out of the coffers of the rich. But it is impossible for the ultimate consumer to avoid his share of each new tax burden, as these are always passed on by the corporation or the man higher up.

But that is not all. The bill, it is estimated, will raise 275 million dollars a year. This sounds like real money but it is only a few drops in the bucket compared with what will be needed, with annual deficits mounting up into the billions. If the budget is balanced and we start paying our debts as a nation, and we must do this sooner or later if we are to continue as a nation, more taxes must be found somewhere else. And that somewhere else is on the income of the so-called "little fellow."

It is coming sooner or later, and the sooner we stop reckless expenditure in government the less burdensome that tax is going to be. But even at the best it is going to be plenty.

COMPARING THE RECORDS

When the campaign is on again and the political lines are closely drawn once more—if they are indeed to be drawn between the two old historic parties—some political dopsters are wondering just what men like Senator Glass and Byrd can say when they are charged by supporters of the administration with not going along in Congress and on the the stump to support the party.

The answer, however, will be easy to find and and there is little doubt that men as skilled in politics as the two statesmen mentioned above will be able to locate it. All they have to answer, in order to prove that they are "good Democrats" is to point that they have been standing squarely on the Democratic platform of 1932 and have been criticising the Brain Trusters principally for policies which do not square with the platform and with the pledges made in the 1932 campaign.

For example: if our memory does not fail us, the Democratic platform three years ago advocated among other things "an immediate and drastic reduction of governmental expenditures"; "maintenance of the national credit by a federal budget annually balanced"; "a sound currency to be preserved at all hazards."

In addition the platform condemned bureaucracy and promised its curtailment together with a cutting down of the number of federal employees. It condemned also the "exvtravagance of the Farm Board and the unsound policy of restricting agricultural products to the demands of domestic markets."

Democrtic speakers from the candidate for President on down, lauded the platform and promised to stand by its provisions. Now, when men like the so-called "old fashioned" Democrats are criticized by New Dealers for failure to cooperate and their partisianship is also called into question they have only in the words of Al Smith to "look at the record" including their party's platform in 1932 and a transcript of the speeches made during the campaign of that year.

INTOLERANCE - DICTATORSHIP

There has naturally been considerable indignation in the United States over developments reported from Germany having to do with racial and religious differences. The situation brings to mind the fact that in a dictatorship, whether it be communist or otherwise, freedom of the press and religious liberty soon go by the boards.

Nearly everyone is young enough to remember what happened in Russia when the red dictators got control. Not only were certain religious organizations abolished, but religion itself has practically been wiped out. There is no such thing as freedom of the press or even freedom of thought. Every man fears his neighbor as a spy who may send him to Siberia for expressing an opinion which is not in line with the policies of the Moscow government.

In Italy, when Mussolini created a fascist state, the same thing happened. Freedom of the press was abolished and freedom of thought rendered perilous. Religious freedom was endangered too and it was only the overwhelming strength of the Catholic church which forced the dictator to make terms with it.

There has been an outcry in Mexico, generally a country governed by dictators, about religious persecution, and now from Germany comes the news of the curtailment of religious freedom by the government. Freedom of the press has long since gone.

The lessons for America are not hard to find. We may become indignant, but we cannot, of course, interfere with the internal affairs of another country. That is the business of the people of that country, although we can always hope that they proceed in an atmosphere of freedom and tolerance.

But the affairs of the United States are the business of our people. It is no accident that the rise of dictatorship is always accompanied by the abolition of the press and by the curtailment of racial and religious freedom. That always happens and it will always happen so long as the people set up dictators to do their thinking and their leading.

There has been a tendency in the United States toward a centralizing of power in Washington. This can only mean greater bureaucracy, and less liberty. No matter how good and kind we may think our present rulers to be, the very moment our government evolutes from constitutional control into a dictatorship we may expect at least the destruction of freedom of the press and the ending of religious freedom. Those of us who believe in a free and untrammeled press, and those who believe that we should be permitted to worship God according to the dictates of our own consciences, regardless of creed or race, should always keep these facts in mind. Doctatorship means not only centralizing the power of government in the hands of one man or group of men. It spells also the end of freedom of the press and religious liberty. Persecution and repression always follow. The lessons of the past few years are before us. Let us not forget them.

The way they are scattering money at Washington leads us to suggest that the emblem of the New Deal party on the ballot next year ought to be a scoop shovel.

When some of those Italian soldiers get to Abyssinia and see one of the girls in a native costume you can just hear them shouting, "Hail, See-lassie."

SOCIETY

Miss Hilda Hart Complimented At Parties

Mrs Oscar Jones was hostess at a beautiful prenuptial party on Friday afternoon at 4 o'clock, when she complimented her neice at a linen shower. The apartments thrown into one were profusely decorated in summer blossoms.

The dining room, where the gifts were on display, was lovely in tones of white. The table was centered with a silver bowl of white phlox, white altheas and fern. Silver candlesticks held white candles. Tall standards of white blossoms added to the loveliness if the scene.

The central feature of the living room was the mantle banked in ferns and white flowers to form an arch under which stood a tiny bride and groom.

Refreshments were served by friends of the honoree, who was becomingly gowned in a lovely organdie frock.

Another lovely courtesy extended to this charming bride elect was the kitchen shower given by Misses Celia Gerald, Ruth Gowan, Eloise Rasberry and Helen Moore at the home of Miss Gerald.

The apartments were beautifully appointed in bridal tones of green and white. Tiny dolls dressed as bride and groom were placed here and there.

Little Eric Hart, brother of the bride and Hayden Lanier, cousin of the bride, dressed as miniature bride and groom, entered to the strains of the wedding march and presented the gifts to Miss Hart.

Later the guests were invited into the dining room, where tea was served. The central motif of the tea table, made lovely with, crystal candles and white tapers, was the lovely arrangement of choice white flowers enshower from the chandelier. About 35 guests called to extend good wishes to this charming bride-elect.

VARNELL HART WEDDING

The marriage of Miss Hilda Hart the pretty daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Eric Hart, and Mr. James B. Varnell, son of Rev. W. H. Varnell, of Scottsboro, was solemnized Sunday afternoon, at 5:00 o'clock, at the bride's home.

The impressive ring ceremony being performed by the Rev. W. H. Varnel, father of the groom, in the presence of the families of the bride and groom and a number of friends and relatives.

The living room of her home was effectively decorated for the occasion. Placed aginst a beautiful background of ferns, were two tall floor baskets which were filled with white lilies, gladiola and tube roses. On either side of the altar were five branched candelabra in which burned white candles. The bride and groom entered the living room together.

The bride wore a aquamarine blue silk Crepe, made extra effect with a blouse of silk lace. Her smart hat and accessories were brown. She wore a corsage of talisman roses and lilies of the valley.

After the ceremony, an informal reception was held. The dining room was prettily decorated with white dahlias and white asters. On the table was a maderia table cloth, with a center piece of white asters and baby breath flowers. On either side burned crystal candelabras. On the table were white and green mints. Ices in white and green, the color scheme were served to about 100 guests.

The bride and groom left for a wedding trip to North Carolina and Tennessee for two weeks, after which they will be home with the bride's parents. Mrs. Varnell expects to return to school in Montevallo in September.

She wore for traveling, a blue ensemble, with accessories to match.

Miss Ruth Sheppard entertained at a bridge luncheon on Saturday morning, honoring Miss Hilda Hart. The house was prettily decorated in dahlias, zenias and gladiolias.

A three course luncheon was served to 16 guests. Helen Newell won high score, a deck of cards. The honoree as presented with a pretty vase.

MISS KENDRICK WED TO MR. MILLS IN LUVERNE

Luverne, Ala.—Solemnized on Sunday afternoon at 5 o'clock at the Methodist Episcopal Church was the marriage of Miss Margaret Kendrick, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Bishop Marvin Kendrick, and William Benjamin Mills. Dr. R. A. Moody pronounced the wedding vows in the presence of a large assemblage of friends and relatives.

Preceding the ceremony a program of nuptial music was rendered by Herman Moll, violinist; Mrs. Marvin Byrd, Mrs. F. M. T. Tankersley, Steve Hicks, vocalists; Margaret Reddock, pianist, and Mrs. Steve Hicks, Jr., pianist and accompanist.

The ceremony took place before Southern smilax, which extended in a semi-circle, defining the altar space.

With this were placed standard baskets filled with pink crape myrtle, alternating with tall candelabra in which burned cathedral candles.

The candles were lighted by Dr. Chalmers Febster and John Stoddard.

First of the bridal party to enter were the ushers, Dr. Chalmers Webster and Hamilton Warner, of Montgomery; Paul Grisset, of Lapine; H. B. Cope, Will King and John Stoddard, of Luverne. They were followed by the bridesmaid group, in which were Miss Ethel Mizell, of Tallahassee, Florida, cousin of the bride; Miss Sara Colley, of Troy; Mrs. W. J. Fowler, Miss Ethel Walker and Miss Hermoine Little of Luverne.

The bridesmaids were gowned in similar models of organdy in pastel shades fashioned over summer taffeta, with which they carried frilled muffets to match. These were centered by an old fashioned bouquet of flowers.

The matrons of honor, Mrs. Pete B. Jarman, of Montgomery, cousin of the bride, in ice green over taffeta, and carrying an arm cluster of talisman roses and purple astors, and Mrs. W. A. Willis, of Clanton, in orchid organdy over taffeta and carrying an arm bouquet of talisman roses and lavender asters, entered together.

Miss Eleanor Kendrick, sister of the bride and maid of honor, entered alone. She was gowned in blue organdy over taffeta. Her flowers were sweetheart roses.

The flower girls, who were little Miss Barbara Ann Mahone and Betty Reddoch, entered together. They were dressed in similar models of organdy and carried miniature baskets of pink rosebuds.

Master John Kendrick Sherling, of Greenville, was ring bearer.

The bride, escorted by her bother, James Evan Kendrick, who gave her in marriage, was met at the altar by the bride-groom and his cousin, Seigel Revel, best man. The bride was lovely in her princess gown of white mousseline de soie over sheer taffeta fashioned with graceful train. The long Sleeves, tight below the elbows were fitted to the wrist where they ended in points over the hand.

The veil of illusion in cap effect was caught about the head with a bandau of orange blossoms. The veil extended beyond the train of the gown. Her bouquet was of bride's roses shoered with valley lillies.

Immediately after the ceremony, the bride and groom left by automobile for Washington D. C., and points in North Carolina, after which they will be at home in Miami, Fla.

Mrs. Mills is the oldest daughter of Dr. B. M. Kendrick, of Luverne. She graduated from Huntingdon College with the class of 1930. She received her B. M. degree, with diploma in piano, and later her B. S. degree. She was also a member of the Tri-Sigma, honorary sorority. She has done graduate work at the Florida State College for women, and at the University of Alabama. For the past five years she has been head of the Foreign Language Department of the Chilton County High School, at Clanton.

Mr. Mills is the oldest son of Mrs. James Mills, of Miami, Florida, and the late Mr. Mills. He is a native Alabamain, and received his education in the schools of Alabama. For the past several years he has held a position with Goodrich-Silvertown, Inc., of Miami, where he is prominent both in civic and social life.

Among the out-of-town guests were Mr. and Mrs. Anthony Warner, Mr. and Mrs. James Heustess and children, Pete Jarman, Charles Bricken, Jr., and Miss Margaret Mashburn, all from Montgomery; W. A. Willis, W. A. Willis, Jr., Mr. and Mrs. L. C. Warr, Mr. and Mrs. Luther Little and Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Searcy, from Clanton; Miss Bonnie Clyde Griffin, from Billingsley, Marvin Byrd, from Troy; Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Kendrick, Dr. and Mrs. James Kendrick, Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Sherling and Mrs. J. A. Kendrick, from Greenville; Mrs. John Milton Hightower, of Sylacauga; Mr. and Mrs. G. E. Webster, Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Webster, Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Spear, Mrs. Esther Webster and Mrs. Velma Grissett, of Lapine.

Beauty Contest At Htgh School Tonite

Chilton County's choice selections of young feminie pulchritude will pass interview tonight when scores of our most beautiful girls will be presented by their sponsors as 1935 candidates for the title of "Miss Chilton County." At the Chilton County High School auditorium.

The glamorous display of beauty is being sponsored by the Parent-Teachers Association of the Clanton Grammar school. Merchants and business firms of all parts of the county are co-operating, each of which will present its individual choice of beauty for the consideration of the judges who will decide the tremendous issue at hand. The judges will be composed of a group of men from outside Chilton County, who do not even know the candidates, and have no personal interest in the matter.

One thing is desired to be made clear. There are no votes to be sold. Money will not enter into the consideration. The question of who is the most beautifhl girl in Chilton County will be determined solely and only by the ability and powers of observation of the judges.

The winner in this pageant will be designated as "Miss Chilton County," and will be given an all-expense trip to Birmingham, where she will take part in the State Pageant August 22 and 23, when "Miss Alabama" will be selected. "Miss Alabama" will receive an all-expense trip to Atlantic City the following week to compete in the National Beauty Pageant, where "Miss America" for 1935 will be chosen.

This event will command a wide interest throughout Chilton County. Prices of admission will be 10 cents for children and 25 cents for adults.

The following business firms of Chilton County have entered and named their representatives as candidates for the honor of "Miss Chilton Countf:"

PLEASANT HILL

Everything is looking better in our community since we were blest with a nice rain last Saturday afternoon.

We had a very good Sunday school Sunday. However, there were quite a few absent, and we would say to them that we surely did miss you. Let's each one try to be on time next Sunday and bring some one with you.

Next Saturday night and Sunday and Sunday night are our regular meeting dates and we are expecting a wonderful message by our pastor, Rev. W. E. Robinson, and we are hoping to have a large crowd out for each service. Folks, we get just what we go after when we go to church, so let's go for the good of each service and I am sure we will get a blessing.

We are having prayer meeting at Pleasant Hill church, now, on Thursday night of each week. We invite the other churches to be with us every time they can.

Listen folks, everybody who has a number on the quilt that was being sold for the piano fund of Pleasant Hill church, we are going to see who is the lucky person on next Saturday night. All that are interested better come to church and see for your self.

Mr. and Mrs. S. J. Twilley had as their guests last week Mr. and Mrs. J. D. King, also the children of Mrs. Nora Kinedy, all of Jamestown, Ala., and Miss Alma Lee Twilley of Dallas, Ga.

Mr. and Mrs. B. L. Cleckler and son, Earl Dean, were the Sunday dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. F. F. Cleckler.

Miss Willie Mae Davis spent Sunday with Miss Pearlene Martin.

Don't forget our prayer meeting every Thursday night, and Sunday school on Sunday. Come and bring someone else.

REPORTED CHICKEN THIEVERY LAST THURSDAY NIGHT, AUG. 8

The report comes to The Union-Banner that on Thursday night of last week three homes near the county almshouse were visited by chicken thieves and lots of fowls taken.

Reports say that Mr. Hubert Smith lost twenty-five hens; Mr. Fonza Cleckler's chicken house was completely cleaned out, and so was that of Mr. D. M. Crowson.

Other people in that community, and all others who have chickens, are warned against a repetition of this stealing. Similar losses may be avoided if the proper care is exercised by the owners.

EASTBURN-GREEN

Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Clarke Eastburn, of Thorsby, formerly of Birmingham, announce the engagement of their daughter, Cordelia Phelps, to J. Herbert Green, the wedding to be an early Fall event.

LEGION AUXILIARY MEETS WITH MRS. VINSON FRIDAY NIGHT

Chilton county unit of the American Legion Auxiliary will meet at the home of Mrs. Kin Vinson, in Clanton, Friday night of this week. The principal business of the meeting is the election of unit officers for the coming year.

Mrs. N. L. Self and Mrs. Claudine Forsman and daughter, Margaret, of Birmingham spent several days last week with Mrs. Self's parents, Mrs. Martin Petersen. While here they attended the County-Wide Picnic, and Margaret won the jar of candy in the candy-guessing contest at the picnic. The jar contained 209 pieces and she guessed 208.

Mr. Fred McCain left Monday for a two weeks stay in Atlanta, Georgia.

RHODE ISLAND LEADS THE PROCESSION

(EDITORIAL)

The Democrats and the national administration at Washington received a jolt last week the like of which they have not encountered since they snowed under Hoover in 1932, in a congressional election in Rhode Island, when Judge Charles F. Risk, Republican, was elected by a majority of 13,000 over his Democratic opponent who carried that district nine months ago by 21,000.

The New Deal was made the clear-cut issue in the campaign, and the repudiation given that issue is very significant. That district is highly industrial, and a great portion of the voters are on the relief rolls.

Some Democratic statesmen try to pass off that election as not of any moment in that it was a local election, but Republicans are claiming consolation just the same at the results since, they say, the New Deal was given a fair shake in the well rounded campaign and lost heavily. The AAA processing taxes constituted the main issue as it does in Massachusetts, which together with Rhode Island were the only two New England States carried by Roosevelt in 1932. Massachusetts likely feels the same as Rhode Island.

The Republicans hope to center their strength in the East and Mid-west next year, and the recent election in Rhode Island is at least an indication that their hopes will be realized. The administration is banking on the South and West for its strength next year. The South is "in the bag," but a fight is in the offing in the West. The Grass Rooters are on the job out there, new States falling in line with them all along. This will likely cause the Republicans to look around in the West for their standard-bearer in 1936.

Another precedent, unheard of during the past few years of unrestrained spending of pubic relief money, was set in this Rhode Island election when the voters of that state turned down the proposition of accepting $7,000,000 from the federal government whenever they had to supplement that grant with $8,000,000 to be raised by a bond issue by their own state. They figured the federal donation was coming to them too high, especially when they considered that the federal government might turn out to be an "Indian River" and call upon them some day to pay back the $7,000,000 in the form of taxes.

Evidently the people of Rhode Island have come to ask themselves: "Where are we as a nation going, and where and how will all this uncertainty stop?" People all over the country are beginning to think sanely along these lines and are "feeling for the brakes." God hasten the day when we can all think soberly, and not be confused by the complicated befuddlement that centers in Washington and engulfs the whole country with its strangling influences.

In summing up the outlook as viewed from the Rhode Island election Senator Hastings, of Deleware, head of the Republican senatorial campaign committee, had this to say:

"The election in Rhode Island shows when the American people find that American principles and American liberties are in danger, they stand ready to crush those who are responsible for putting them in a dangerous position."

THORSBY SECTION

(Mrs. S. E. Norton, Manager)

POLICIES — PRESIDENTIAL

(By Ralph Hurst in Birmingham News)

While admitting that some of the tactics being employed against President Roosevelt are not exactly cricket, certain of his foes in Alabama counter with a complaint that the president's large expenditures of funds in doubtful states and his employment of field speakers to expound the New Deal gospels on the eve of a campaign are not so good, either.

Widespread activity against the president is under way in this state, although there isn't much of the whispering campaign. Many prominent men are being listed as members of an organization to uphold the constitution and political circles have recently been flooded with a chain letter headed: "Is it worth your time to read this?"

Here's the letter:

"The following extracts of speech must be as astounding to you as they are to me, in view of the torrent of money poured out by the present administration:

"I accuse the present administration of being the greatest spending administration in peace time, in all our history—one which has piled bureau on bureau, commission on commission, and has failed to anticipate the dire needs of reduced earning power of the people."—Franklin D. Roosevelt speech at Sioux City, Iowa, Sept. 29, 1932.

"I regard reduction in federal spending as one of the most important issues of this campaign. In my opinion, it is the most direct and effective contribution that government can make to business."—Franklin D. Roosevelt speech at Pittsburgh, Pa., Oct. 19, 1932.

Expenditures of the government from President Washington to President Taft, 1789-1913, inclusive, total 124 years, $24,521,845,000.

Expenditures of Franklin D. Roosevelt administration as estimated by the president—actual for 1934 and estimated for 1935 and 1936, total three years, $24,206,653,000.

"Remember well, that attitude and method—the way we do things, not just the way we say things, is nearly always the measure of our sincerity."—Franklin D. Roosevelt speech at Butte, Mont., Sept. 19, 1932.

Will you not send these extracts on to at least 10 of your friends who have at heart the welfare of the whole American people?

Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Reinhardt, Mr. J. C. Reinhardt and Mr. Grantland Davis made a trip to Columbiana last Thursday. Mr. J. C. Reinhardt remained there.

Mrs. Peter Mixon of Deatsville visited Mr. and Mrs. H. L. Walker last Thursday.

Mr. and Mrs. Astro Wright spent a few days last week in Lylerly, Ga., with Mrs. Wright's parents.

HIGHLAND NEWS

Our Sunday school is progressing nicely but there is still room for improvement. Come on everybody and let's make it better.

There will be an all day singing in the new books at this place next Sunday, beginning at 10:00 o'clock Sunday morning. We especially invite all singers and lovers of music to come and be with us.

We are going to meet at nine o'clock Sunday morning for Sunday school. Don't forget the time.

We are going to call our pastor for another year at this place the fourth Saturday in this month. Everybody be thinking about who you want and let's have our mind made up by then.

STOP ! LOOK! AND LISTEN!

What? An ice cream supper.

Where? At the Home of Mr. Vastine Hayes.

When? Saturday night, August 17.

What time? Saturday at 7:30.

There will be sandwiches for the hungry. Everybody has an invitation. The proceeds will go for the singing school held at this place a while back, on account of those that wasn't able to pay their tuition or some that wouldn't pay it—one or the other.

Everybody remember the date, Saturday night, August 17 at 7:30 o'clock.

SINGING HELD AT ROBINSON SPRINGS

The singing at this place was a grand success. The opening song was led by Mr. M. C. Jackson and prayer was offered by Rev. Littleton.

Mr. M. C. Jackson was elected as chairman for the day. The arrangement committee for the day consisted of: T. J. Miller, W. M. Jackson and W. B. Cooper.

Each director was given fifteen minutes. Directors for the day were: John Hayes, Henry Armstrong, W. M. Brown, J. N. Scott, Joe Jackson, G. W. Akers, of Sylacauga, W. B. Cooper, J. M. Williams, Mr. Sperman, of Wilsonville, T. C. Jackson, of Sylacauga, T. J. Miller, Mrs. Flora Oaks, C. L. Sanders and Ruth Henley.

The singers appreciated very much the interest shown by the people of Robinson Springs community. This was made an unusual singing by the community, so remember that the singing will meet again next year at Robinson Springs.

The closing song was led by the chairman and prayer was offered by Mr. Z. J. Jones.—Secretary.

STATE GAME NEWS

Montgomery, Ala., Aug. 15.—The new regulations of the U. S. Bureau of Biological Survey provide for the shooting of mourning doves in Alabama and other Southern States from October 1 to January 15.

This provision, says the Biological Survey, eliminates September shooting in the South and thus prevents the killing of many immature birds.

Shooting has been restricted to the hours between 7 a.m. and 4 p.m., the daily bag limit has been placed at 20 and the possession limit made to conform to the daily bag limit.

The prohibition of baiting included in the new reulations provides that mourning doves "are not permitted to be taken with or by aid of corn, wheat, oats, or other grain or products thereof, salt or any kind of feed by whomsoever, or for whatever purpose, placed, deposited, distributed, scattered, or otherwise put out in any environment whatsoever, whereby such doves are lured, attracted or enticed to the hunter."

The three-shell limit placed on auto-loading and repeating shotguns last February will take effect for the first time this fall, the new regulations providing that hunters may use a shotgun only, not larger than No. 10 gauge.

This reulation states that the birds "shall not be taken with or by means of any automatic-loading or hand-operated repeating shotgun capable of holding more than three shells the magazine of which has not been cut off, or plugged with a one-piece metal or wooden filler incapable of removal through the loading end thereof, so as to reduce the capacity of said gun to not more than three shells at one loading."

The Southern Zone for dove hunting includes the following States:

Deleware, Maryland, Virginia, North Carolina, South Carolina, Georgia, Florida, Alabama Mississippi, Kentucky, Tennessee, Arkansas, Louisiana, Oklahoma, Texas, New Mexico, Arizona and California.

Tournament Opened Monday Afternoon

Monday afternoon, August 12, the lid was pried off the Second Annual Central Alabama Baseball Tournament, Autaugaville opening with Randolph, and Cane Creek with Isabella, for the first day's contest.

In the first gime, Autaugaville defeated Rondolph 6 to 4, with "Pop" Lightsey on the mound for Randolph. "Pop" gave over to his brother, Clayton Lightsey, in the 7th frame, when, with the count tied at 3-all, Powell opened the inning with a whistling double. Autaugaville went to work on the new hurler and scored 3 runs with 3 other singles and an error thrown in for good measure.

Randolph came back in their half of the seventh to score a run after two were out. P. Lightsey doubled, and brown and Horn Walked, Lightsey scored on Smith's error, but Powell bore down to strike out the slugging Tucker to quell the uprising.

Powell struck ou 9, walked 2 and hit 1, giving up 13 hits. P. Litghtsey gave up 8 hits, struck out 4, while C. Lightsey allowed 3 hits and struck out 1. Autaugaville erred 4 times, Randolph 2.

For Autaugaville, G. Jones, C. Jones and Prather led with a pair of safeties, each getting a single and a double. For Randolph, Cottingham led with 3 hits, while Middlebrooks, P. Lightsey, Brown and Tucker got a pair each.

In the second game, Cane Creek defeated Isabella 7 to 6, putting on a 9th inning rally for 3 runs to turn the trick. H. Jones started on the mound for Cane Creek, but he was wild and ineffective and gave way to Ellison, who was hit fairly hard. Veazey kept the boys from Beat 11 pretty well in hand until the uprising in the 9th.

Cane Creek scored first in the first inning when L. Jones opened with a screaming double to left which LeCroy let get though him; it rolled to the fence in left center and went for a home run. Isabella tied the count in the third on a base on balls and two singles, and went in front in the 4th, scoring 2 runs on 4 hits. Cane Creek scored one in the 5th on two doubles. Isabella put over two more in the 8th with a base on balls, a double and a single, and added another in the 9th on Veazey's triple and Wright's blow. Cane Creek scored twice in the eighth on two singles, an error, and two infield outs. In the 9th, Cane Creek came to bat two runs behind and jumped on Veazey for four hits, including Gilmore's fluke double to right, which coupled with an error, got 3 runs to win the game.

The opening day's battles were both good ones. Maplesville and Plantersville were scheduled to play Tuesday, Clanton and Independence Wednesday. The play-offs in both brackets start Thursday, today.

REFUGE NEWS

Our church met Sunday for the Baptising of our five new members at Mr. Johnnie Easterling's and then back to the church for Sunday school and a called conference. We elected a pastor and officers of the church and Sunday school as follows:

Pastor, Rev. Wm. E. Robinson, Clerk, R. C. Connell, Sunday School Superintendent, A. N. Mims, Secretary-Treasurer, T. N. Miner, Teachers, Mrs. J. S. Easterling, J. R. Connell, Mrs. Lucindia Johnson and Mrs. J. R. Connell, Correspondent, Mrs. J. R. Connell.

We also wish to mention that this was the best election in years. The pastor and every officer was elected unanimously.

Next Saturday and Sunday are our regular preaching days and we urge everyone to be present, as Brother Lockhart will be with us only two more meeting days.

Mrs. Bessie Johnson has been very ill but at the time of this writing she is better.

We invite everyone to attend church and Sunday school with us and help us make this the best year in the history of our church.

Mr. "Sunshine" Chism, Mr. Everett Spooner and Miss Matthews of Montevallo were in Clanton last Sunday.

KIWANIS CLUB AT EXCHANGE HOTEL THURSDAY NIGHT

The Kiwanis Club will meet at the Exchange Hotel to-night at the regular hour, 7:30. Louie Smith is in charge of the program.

Mr. and Mrs. L. F. Gerald and family are visiting in Birmingham this Week. While there, Lawrence Gerald, Jr. will undergo an operation.

FIRST BALE OF COTTON GINNED AT VERBENA LAST SATURDAY

The first bale of cotton from the 1935 crop in Chilton County was reported from Verbena last Saturday. It was ginned by D. I. Deramus, and came from the farm of Wash Browder, weighed 580 pounds, and sold for 15 cents a pound.

The first bale last year was ginned in Clanton August 18, and came from the farm of John Gray.

The third bale was brought in Wednesday to W. H. Carroll at the Planters Gin & Warehouse. It weighed 557 pounds.

Marion Tatum also brought in a bale Tuesday at J. N. Dennis's gin.

The third bale was broufht in Wednesday morning by Floyd Aldridge, and was ginned at Planters Gin & Warehouse.

Preparations are being made by-gins, warehouses and cotton dealers for the ginning season to be under full headway within another week.

Everybody in this community is wearing a smile after a good shower.

We had a good Sunday school last Sunday and a real good prayer meeting and B. Y. P. U. Sunday night. More of the older people are taking an interest in our church work. We are still urging everyone to come and help u to make our church one of the best.

Don't forget our revival begins next Sunday at 11 o'clock. Every body is invited to come. You are always welcome at Mineral Springs.

Mr. Arthur Burnette, of Montevallo, spent the past week-end at home.

Mr. and Mrs. Barney Burnette spent the past week-end in Troy with friends and relatives.

Miss Lucille Dickinson motored over to Billingsley Sunday afternoon.

Miss Carrie Foshee is visiting Miss Ada Holcombe, in Calera this week.

FARM MEETINGS FOR THIS WEEK

Fant, Montgomery and Smith To Discuss Farm Problems At Several Places

Appropriate and important for the consideration of farmers as they approach the winter season, County Agent J. W. Fant, calls attention to the great benefits that may be had through a systematic program of soil building and prevention of erosion.

Happily for the farmers, there is provided a means whereby both these important advantages can be attained with one process. In other words, it is an opportunity for the farmer to kill two birds with one stone.

Mr. Fant has sent a letter to all farmers of the county pointing out the tremendous importance of preparing now for the greatest possible program of soil building and prevention of erosion through the use of winter cover crops. He offers statistics to prove the advantages that may be obtained thereby.

Also in the letter there is given a schedule of farm meetings at many places in the county, for the purpose of discussing farm problems. The important subject of farm organization is also mentioned. "The farmers have a good program," he says. "Other groups are trying to destroy this program. Therefore, the farmers must fight to keep what he has so he may improve it. The only way to fight effectively is through organization."

At the meetings scheduled below Mr. J. P. Montgomery of Jemison, and Mr. A. L. Smith, of Isabella, will be with Mr. Fant to assist in the discussions with the farmers:

Thursday, August 22: Minooka at 9 a.m.; Concord Beat 13 at 1 p.m.; Center Hill at 3 p.m.; Providence Jemison at 3 p.m.

Friday, August 23; Shoults at 9 a.m.; Maplesville at 1 p.m.; Macedonia at 3 p.m.; Isabella at 7 p.m.

Saturday, August 24; Providence Beat 16; at 9 a.m.; Thorsby at 1 p.m.; Jemison aat 3 p.m.

Tuesday, August 27; Smith School at 9 a.m.; Union Grove at 1 p.m.; Freeman School at 3 p.m.

Wednesday, August 8; Thomas Junior at 9 a.m.; Enterprise at 1 p.m. Verbena at 3 p.m.; Cooper at 7 p.m.

Thursday, August 29; Popwell School at 9 a.m.; Mullins School at 1 p.m.; Cane Creek at 3 p.m.

Friday, August 30; Stanton at 9 a.m.; Pilgrim's Rest at 1 p.m.; Vermont at 3 p.m.; Pate's Chapel at 7 p.m.

Music Teacher At The High School

Mrs. Jatie Longshore Will Be Head of New Dept. Next Year

It is with a great deal of satisfaction and an index of better times generally, that announcement is made that the department of music will be reorganized at Chilton County High School for another year. This has been a long felt need, and we are indeed grateful and appreciate that this a very necessary part of the high school student's life is made possible again.

The chief interest centers around the individual who is to do the work of revising and arousing a conscious and music-minded class of students to begin; there is not perhaps a teacher in Alabama who is better prepared to do this than Mrs. W. L. Longshore, of Birmingham. Mrs. Longshore needs no introduction to a Clanton audience. This very talented lady has agreed to accept the position, and will begin the first week. She will offer piano, voice and violin. Those interested might communicate with Mrs. Longshore at once, as quite a number of students have already signed up for one or more of the courses she will teach.

Again we say we are very glad indeed to have Mrs. Longshore in charge of the music department of Chilton County High School.

UNCLE SAM ADDS 5,250 A MONTH TO HIS PAY ROLL

How the Federal Agencies Have Boosted Salary Payments to More Than 1,250 Millions a Year

Washington, August 15.—For every month the present Administration has been in office there have been added to the Government pay rolls more than 5,250 employees.

To June 30, 1935, reports the Civil Service Commission, the Federal pay roll had grown from 563,437 in February, 1933, to 717,712 with salaries ticking off the treasury check-machines to the tune of $109,300,000 a month.

These 154,000 employees added to the Federal roll do not include some 31,200 temporary agriculture workers with a pay of $1,219,000 nor some 390,000 Civilian Conservation Corps employes including military personnel enrolled personnel, enrolled Indians, nurses and intermittent employes.

WEDNESDAY CLOSING CEASES WITH END OF THIS MONTH

The Wednesday afternoon closing of stores in Clanton will cease at the end of the month of August, according to the agreement that was signed by the merchants at the beginning of the summer season.

The agreement stated that Wednesday afternoon, August 28th, would be the last day upon which stores will close for the summer weekly half-holiday.

After that time it is assumed that all vacations and summer rest periods will be over. It is hoped that cooler weather and a rush of business will be upon us so we may get started out on the long winter grind of every day in the week a hard working day.

Ball Tourney Closes Best Games Coming

All-Star Games And Inter-County Series Have Been Scheduled

With the Central Alabama Baseball Tournament drawing to a close, the best games of the series are on tap for the week end.

On Thursday, today, Clanton will play Independence. On Friday, the winner of Wednesday's game between Randolph and Plantersville will play the winner of the Clanton-Independence scrap, with a possible play-off game on Saturday. On Thursday, too, Cane Creek will play Union Grove, in the second bracket. On Friday, the winner of the American Legion-Lay Dam game on Wednesday will play the winner of the Cane Creek-Union Grove game, with a possible play-off on Saturday.

At the close of the tournament, two all-star teams of 16 players each will be picked to play a series of best two of three games. The managers of these two clubs will be Mr. F. D. Nix of Maplesville, and Mr. Marvin Marcus of Clanton. These two managers were selected by popular vote of the tournament fans a few days ago.

If the tournament closes on Friday of this week, then the first all-star game will be played in Clanton on Saturday afternoon, with the other game, (or two games, if necessary), being played in Maplesville Sunday afternoon. In case the tournament runs through Saturday, then the first two games of the all-star series will be played as a double-header in Maplesville Sunday afternoon, with the third game, if needed, being played in Clanton Monday afternoon.

With the close of the all-star engagements, a team of 16 players will be picked from the 32 players on the two all-star teams, to be known as the All-Stars of the Central Alabama Baseball Tournament. Likewise, a similar team is being picked from the teams representing six Shelby County towns in the Shelby County League, to be known as Shelby County All-Stars.

On Tuesday, August 27, these two all-star aggregations will open a series of best four out of seven games. The first three games will be played in Clanton on Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday, August 27, 28 and 29. Dates for later games to be held in some Shelby County town will be announced some time during these three games.

These late season games should bring into competition the very cream of the baseball talent of central Alabama, and a good turn-out is expected at every one of them.

STATE'S DROUTH COST 3 MILLION

Plenty of Rain In Last Week But Too Late To Save Damage

Montgomery, Aug. 13.—With little relief in sight, the blistering sun and lack of moisture from the first of July already has cost Alabama farmers more than $3,000,000.

The corn crop particularly has been hardt hit. In its August crop report issued today the State Department of Agriculture estimated the drought has cut corn crop estimates by 1,627,000 bushels which would be worth $1,300,000 at present prices of 80 cents per bushel.

Pastures Shriveling

Total production of corn for this state is now estimated at 42,302,000 bushels. A month ago the crop was estimated at 43,545,000 bushels.

Pastures have been shriveling, dropping from 76 per cent of normal to 70 per cent during the 30-day period.

The north and central sections of the state have suffered more than the southern.

Cotton's Condition Good

Cotton was reported to be in better condition the first of August than at the corresponding time last year but a slight reduction in the acreage yield is expected, the report from the state department said.

This year's average is estimated at 210 pounds an acre against 215 last year.

A report on water indicated that 3.9 per cent of the farms had no water for their livestock.

Seeking Compromise On Local Bills

Mr. Roosevelt Then and Now

[AN EDITORIAL]

In Pittsburgh on October 19, 1932, Franklin D. Roosevelt said in a public speech: "All the costs of local, state and national governments must be reduced without fear and without favor. Unless the people, through unified action, arise and take charge of their government they will find that their government has taken charge of them. Independence and liberty will be gone and the general public will find itself in a condition of servitude to an aggregation of organized and selfish minorities."

On March 10, 1933, President Roosevelt, in his message to Congress, said: "We must move with a direct and resolute purpose now. The members of Congress and I are pledged to immediate economy."

In the Pittsburgh speech Mr. Roosevelt gave the people of the United States fair warning when he uttered the words that "Unless the people . . . . . take charge of their government they will find that their government has taken charge of them." Again at Butte, Montana, on September 19, 1932, Mr. Roosevelt said: "Remember well that attitude and method—the way we do things, not just the way we say things, is nearly always the measure of our sincerity." Again he warned the people of the nation against paying too much attention to what was promised them—that action might not measure up to promises. In substance he said that the voters should judge him not by what he said but by what he did. Well, he said plenty and he has done plenty, but what he said and what he has done do not jibe very well, but he warned us, and we went right ahead and put him in the white house.

What, in the way of independence and liberty have the farmers of Chilton county left today? Are you your own boss, or does the government at Washington tell you what you can plant on your own land and how much you can sell? Or, do you "find your-self in a condition of servitude to an aggregation of organized and selfish minorities," the Democrats, at Washington? Well, you can't say that Mr. Roosevelt didn't warn us.

And, about that economy to which Mr. Roosevelt said that he and Congress were pledged, we refer you to an example cited by Hon. Oliver D. Street and published in the Birmingham News:

COST OF A FEDREAL HOUSING PROJECT

To the Editor The News:

The Engineering News Record of May 30 contains an item announcing the letting of a contract for the construction by the United States of modern negro tenement houses at Montgomery, Ala. The item reads as follows:

"Alabama—Montgomery. Federal Emergency Administration, Housing Division, Washington, D. C. Construction 14 two-room houses and 15 five-room houses, Thurman Street Montgomery, to T. L. James & Co., Longview, Tex., $367,500."

This is a part of the so-called New Deal's "low-cost housing program." But this is not all. The ground on which these houses are to be built cost the government $43,490, making a grand total of $410,990. There are other considerable costs not included. The total number of rooms in these 29 houses is 103. So a simple calculation by division shows that each room costs an average of $3,990. One of these two-room houses, therefore, cost $7,980. Who ever heard before of a two-room house costing nearly $8,000? A five-room house costs $19,950. This should build a palace.

The above news item was given out from Washington, D. C. In the finest divisions of that city, we are reliably informed that the average cost per room in residences privately constructed is about $1,600. In other words, the construction of rooms in Montgomery by the United States for the use of negroes is costing two and one-half times as much as private construction per room in the best sections of our national capital costs for the use of its best white people.

Thousands of the best white families in Alabama are living in five-room houses in which the cost of the entire five rooms is less than the negro houses in Montgomery. This is what is going with the people's money under these PWA, CWA, FERA, WPA and other alphabetical rackets. OLIVER D. STREET.

Guntersville, Alabama.

Good people, such extravagance and such contemptuous repudiation of pledges is truly an abomination against civilization. Think over what Franklin D. Roosevelt advocated and used as a medium on which to slide into the executiveship of this nation, and look now how completely he is reversing the very things that he so strongly advocated and pledged himself to uphold to his constituents.

It is true that this exhobitant spending of federal money is for the time being helping some people. The AAA is temporarily helping the farmers of Chilton county and the South, but the AAA, like all other agencies of the new deal, helps one class at the expense of the rest and the whole lot of us put together.

Read what Abraham Lincoln said on this subject years ago. They are still true and apply admirably to the present situation:

> "Let not him who is houseless pull down the house of another, but let him labor diligently and build one for himself, thus by example assuring that his own shall be safe from violence when built."

How can anything permanently good come out of an arrangement that is so contemptible as this Democratic regime at Washington? We answer that it can't be done. Some part of it, like the AAA, may look good from one angle, and may even benefit some people, but when the entire cost is considered, the seeming value that does come from it is lost in infinity. The whole new deal is rotten to the core, and if permitted to operate long will turn our great nation into a communistic and Red hotbed worse than that in the darkest chasms of Russia.

Our people should take the matter of their government more seriously. Public matters should be considered as personal matters. They are personal, and unless we attend to them as such we as a nation will soon be sorry for our neglect.

Let's try putting men in office who are statesmen, with the good of America at heart, rather than slick politicians with only selfish interests.

DITCHING PROJECT STARTED AGAIN WEDNESDAY MORNING

After being idle for several months, the Clanton Drainage Project was resumed Wednesday morning, and will be operated as a mosquito control project under the supervision of the State Health Department.

Mr. C. C. White, an engineer of the health department, has been assigned here to supervise the work. Forty laborers began work on the job Wednesday morning, in charge of overseer T. G. Wyatt and John L. Gore.

Work has started at the old ditch on the north side of town, and will be pushed up Black Snake Swamp along the west side of Marion Gore's farm property.

Twenty women workers, both white and colored, have been employed this week on a project cleaning off the Clanton Cemetery.

It is reported that Mr. Duncan Manning, prominent farmer and well-known citizen of the Isabella community, is seriously ill in a hospital in Birmingham.

Thomas And Cox Agree Upon Terms Under Which They Will Withdraw

Commissioners Requested To Do Essentially The Same Things As Provided In Proposed Bills

Under the terms of a suggested compromise between Senator Thomas and Representative Cox on the one hand, and the Commissioners Court of Chilton County on the other, the two local bills being prepared for introduction in the legislature would be withdrawn, if the Commissioners would agree to go ahead and do essentially that which is provided in the bills.

The only difference apparently is that under one of the proposed bills provisions is made for the appointment of a road supervisor for Chilton County by the Governor of Alabama for a period of years, whereas the compromise would provide for the appointment or election of such a supervisor by the Commissioners for a period of one year.

The bills which have stirred up a lot of discussion since they were advertised a few weeks ago are local propositions, one of which sets up a road maintenance system under direction of a road supervisor, and takes away from the Commissioners practically all their authority over road work and maintenance. It provides for a road supervisor to be appointed by the Governor.

The other bill sets up a legal requirement whereby Chilton County shall appropriate one-half of its gasoline tax toward joinging the three-way plan of paving the Selma Highway.

A meeting of representative citizens and business men was held at the probate office last Saturday night for a study and discussion of the proposed measures. It was stated after the meeting that all citizens in the meeting, with but one exception, expressed opposition to the bills.

Representative Cox, who was in the meeting, is reported to have stated he wanted the matter arranged by law whereby he would be responsible for the outcome of the road business under the plan, and stoutly insisted that under the provisions of the bill the road business of Chilton County can be more efficiently and more economically carried out than under the present system.

Judge J. Lee Smith, who is outspoken against the bills, made the statement that he wants to know how the people of the county feel about them. He proposed to hold an election on the questions, and, in the event the people expressed a majority sentiment in favor of them, he would pay all expenses of the election, and that it would not cost Chilton County one single penny.

Out of the meeting Saturday night a committee composed of Grady Reynolds, J. B. Atkinson, Grover Walker, and Judge Smith, was chosen to confer with Representative Cox and Senator Thomas for the purpose of discussing a compromise on the proposed measures.

This committee met with Mr. Cox and Mr. Thomas Monday morning and engaged in considerable discussion of the various subjects in the bills. Senator Thomas made a motion that if the county will enter into an agreement with the State Highway Department with reference to hard surfacing the Clanton-Selma Highway under any conditions that may be feasible, then the local bill for the purpose of paving this highway will be withdrawn.

At the meeting Monday it was also agreed that this committee recommend to the Commissioners that the Court appoint a competent and capable road supervisor for a term of one year, and the local bill providing for a road supervisor would be withdrawn.

Also that Representative Cox and Senator Thomas may sponsor a local bill placing the Commissioners of this county on a salary, this bill to be submitted at the special session of the legislature of Alabama in Jenuary, 1936, and the salaries to be agreed on between the representative, senator, and members of the court. This bill to be introduced with the understanding that the Commissioners Court continue to employ a road supervisor.

Some time this week, it is expected that the offers of compromise outlined above will be presented to the Commissioners Court for their discussion and consideration.

Judge Smith stated Monday that he would have something to say to the people on the subject next week. He pointed out that there was one provision in the compromise that is better than the provision of the proposed bills, in that the compromise would give the commissioners a right to hire and fire the road supervisor.

BUSINESS BETTER WITHOUT CODES

Prediction That We Would Go To Bow-Wows Without NRA False

Washington, Aug. 17.—Predictions that business would go to the bow-wows when the NRA Blue Eagle was shot down from the New Deal tree by a nine-gauge Supreme Court shell have proved a false alarm.

Dirges of administration chanters of the calamity facing a codeless nation have been drowned by the paeans of a colossal choir shouting "business is better."

Privately, a little group of President Roosevelt's "Brain Trusters" today were confounded over the turn of events. Survey of the general situation showed that "business can take it."

Mid-year reports of industry were so optimistic all thought of using the death of NRA as a political argument next fall has been abandoned.

Business Improves

There was secret expectation among the inner circle of administration alphabetists that the decision making NRA null and void would be followed by general debility and a yelp from business for a double-Nelson substitute.

They waited for an orgy of price-slashing, wage cutting, back-biting competition which would send big little business running to Washington for relief.

Since the NRA upset in May, however, business has made more progress in many lines than during the entire period under the codes.

Steel production spurting last month astounded experts by reaching the 50 per cent level in an off-season period.

Records Broken

Automobile production without the codes has broken all records since the depression.

Railroads have shown improved earnings and freight loadings are making favorable showings.

Building construction, dormant for four years except for Public Works projects, is at last starting up on its own in many sections of the country.

As these trends toward a return to normal were being noted there was a distinct falling off in the requests of many lines of business for government regulation.

Business, in fact, has found it can "go it alone," according to reports filtering into the capital.

Pauline Hogan Is "Miss Chilton Co."

Selected As Most Beautiful Girl In Pageant Last Thursday Night

Miss Pauline Hogan, beautiful and attractive daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dan Hogan, of Clanton, was selected as "Miss Chilton County," at the beauty pageant at the High School auditorium last Thusrday night.

The selection of Miss Hogan was made from a group of forty-five entrants sponsored by various business firms of the County. She represented the Wade Grocery Store. Second place in the contest was given to Miss Theda Wyatt, and third to Miss Marilyn Hardy.

The event was carried out under direction of the Parent-Teacher Association of the Grammar School for the selection of a Chilton County beauty to take part in the state-wide beauty pagenant to be held in Birmingham, where "Miss Alabama' will be chosen.

From Birmingham "Miss Alabama" will go to Atlantic City to compete with representatives of all other states for the honor of "Miss America" for 1935.

BIG RAIN SUNDAY

Of course it is not news to the people in and around Clanton, but for the benefit of our subscribers at a distance, who may be interested in keeping up with local affairs, we might say that Clanton experienced the biggest rain of the season last Sunday. It was something in the way of a downpour, waterspout, cloudburst or something. We do not know the official figures about how much water fell, but it is sufficient to say that it was a toad strangler.

BIBB COUNTY CONVENTION OF SINGERS NEXT SUNDAY

A card to Mr. Jesse C. Jones from Mr. John Deason, of Centreville, says: "You and all others are invited to attend our County Convention at Centreville on the fourth Sunday."

Several of our singers usually attend the Bibb County Convention and they usually have a knock-out over there. A great time is expected this year.

GIGANTIC MUSICAL SPECTACLE AT STATE FAIR

Birmingham, Ala.—A stupendous musical extravaganza "Fascination of 1935" with nearly one hundred singers, dancers, and comedians has been booked for nightly performances before the grandstand crowds at the Alabama State Fair to be held at Birmingham from September 23 to September 28. Three railroad car loads of massive scenery and electrical effects provide the scenic settings and over 1,700 plumes decorate the costumes of the dancers in one of the many gorgeous tableaux.

Admission tickets for the Alabama State Fair to be held at Birmingham from September 23 to September 28, will go on sale Monday August 26.

During the advance sale the admission tickets in book form will be sold at six tickets for One Dollar for the regular 25c admission tickets.

Mail orders are now being received and will be filled and mailed on the day that the advance seat sale opens. All mail orers should be addresed to Manager P. T. Strieder at the Alabama State Fair, Birmingham, Alabama.

Jim Lowe, Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Lowe and two children, of Decatur, Miss Annie Lowe, of Pensacola, and Miss Mary Lowe, of Birmingham, spent last Saturday night and Sunday with their father, Mr. Will Lowe, in Clanton.

REQUESTS FOR SEEDLINGS NOW BEING RECEIVED

Montgomery.—Farmers and landowners interested in securing seedlings from the State Nursery for the purpose of planting trees for timber production or erosion control should file their applications with the State Commission of Forestry well in advance of the shipping season, according to the Commission. In fact, applications are now being accepted, although the shipping season does not start until early in December. During the past two years the demand for seedlings has exceeded the supply, for in addition to the requirements of various State and Federal agencies now engaged in planting trees on idle and cut-over land.

Since the State Nursery was established primarily for the purpose of supplying tree seedlings to private landowners, it is desired to give such applicants priority in the distribution of planting stock and to meet this demand before releasing any considerable quantity of seedlings to the ECW, the AAA, the SCS or other branches of the Government. In order to follow this policy it is highly desirable that private planters file their applications at an early date.

Last season many applications were received either after the supply of nursery stock had been exhausted or after the close of the shipping season. Although an inventory of the growing seedlings is not yet available, indications are that a considerable quantity of slash pine, longleaf pine, shortleaf pine, loblolly pine, cypress, osage orange, black locust and black walnut seedlings will be ready for shipment by December. Information as to procedures to be followed in obtaining tree seedlings may be secured by writing the State Forester at Montgomery.

Mr. and Mrs. L. C. Duncan, Dorothy and Betsy Ann, of Birmingham, came down to Clanton for a visit with relatives and friends Sunday. Mrs. Duncan, Dorothy and Betsy Ann will remain here for this week while Betsy Ann has a tonsil operation at Central Alabama Hospital.

COMMENTS ON HERE AND HEREAFTER.

"One thing thou lackest." That is what Jesus said to a man who came to Him and indicated that he wished to go to heaven and wished to do the right thing on earth. If a man lacks only one thing he would seem to be in pretty good shape, but sometimes the ONE THING is the MAIN THING. A sinner may have a great many sins, but he usually has one overmastering sin. There is a king sin in the life of a sinner. There is one sin that stands out and when that sin goes the other sins go with it. This man who came to Jesus loved money. He was personally clean. He did not drink. He was not an adulterator. He was decent and straight, but he love money. "The love of money is the root of all kind of evil". This man wanted to do right. He believed in the things that were good, but he loved money. He went away from Jesus sorrowful. Money had him. Money was his god.

"This night thy soul shall be required of thee". That is the closing chapter in the earthly life of a man who loved money. Could the rich fool have been the young man who came to Jesus and Jesus told him to sell what he had and he went away sorrowful? He may have been the same man. The rich fool as far as we know was clean morally. Jesus never charged him with any immorality, but Jesus called him a fool. He ran a farm successfully. He made a bountiful crop. He saved what he made and housed his harvest in new barns, but he died and left it all. Jesus called him a fool. This is the end of chapter two in the book of life of a man who worshipped money instead of God.

"In hell he lifted up his eyes being in torments." This is chapter three. When we write books our last chapter is finished when the hero dies, but God does not write books like we do. The man who went away from Jesus sorrowful because he loved money and hoarded a fortune and lived without God, died, but Jesus says the rich man went to hell. If a man goes away from God for money he has to go to hell. There is no other place for him to go. Jesus Christ is the very center of heaven. There are respectable men in every community who are sociable and clean who are going to hell because their god is the god of gold.

STATE GAME AND FISH NEWS

Montgomery, Ala.—A one-page report just made public by the U. S. Bureau of Fisheries, of which Frank T. Bell is Commissioner, shows how far Alabama is lagging behind the majority of the other States in supplying revenue for its fish cultural program and just how important the other States consider the collection of revenue.

Of the entire 48 States only Alabama, Mississippi, Georgia and South Carolina do not have a State fishing license. The only contribution the fishermen make in these four States is the fee they pay for the non-resident, alien or part-time license. This fee in 1933-34 brought Alabama the sum total of $1,300 from 410 non-resident anglers.

This, of course, is negligble when balanced against the cost of even the limited fish cultural program the State now attempts to carry out, and, as a result the hunter must bear the major share of the cost of this program. This seems grossly unfair when compared with what the anglers of the other States are contributing to perpetuate the sport of fishing.

For the same year, 1933-34, the fishermen of Pennsylvania paid $387,269, exclusive of non-resident fees, for the privilege of fishing in that state; California's fishermne paid $345,164; Michigan's $215,892; Minnesota's $170,014; and West Virginia's $169,336, while even closer to home the anglers of Florida paid $9,490 and the non-residents $13,204; Louisiana's paid $9,293; Arkansas' $21,699; Kentucky's $47,199; North Carolina's $33,025; Texas' $31,992, and Tennessee's combined hunting and fishing license netted $89,108.

These figures bear out the intense desire of the fishing public in other States for a safe guarantee against a fish famine in the future. It is about time Alabama anglers also should begin to realize the importance of such a safeguard and lend their influence and support to legislation that will relieve any uncertainty as to the future.

GOODWATER ENTERPRISE BOUGHT BY BILLY SMITH

Enterprise, Ala., Aug. 18.—The Goodwater Enterprise, Coosa County weekly newspaper, has been purchased by Billy Smith, publisher of the Rockford Chronicle and the Chilton County News, who will publish it in the future.

Editing this paper will be Crin Williams, Coosa County boy, who has been connected with the Chilton County News and the Rockford Chronicle for several months. Mr. Williams has had extensive experience in the weekly newspaper field and both he and Mr. Smith feed that the Enterprise will be able to render worthwhile service to the people of this section.

The change of ownership was made Friday when the publication was purchased from Thomas S. Bugg, of Dadeville. The Goodwater Enterprise was established in 1902. Ownership of this paper makes Billy Smith publisher of both of Coosa County's papers.

NOTICE TO COTTON FARMERS

The Internal Revenue Department says: When a farmer gins a bale of cotton, the bale must be settled for at that time, either by exemption certificate, the tax paid, in cash, or a lien card attached to the bale.

In order to comply with this provision, and to avoid confusion and delay, it is absolutely necessary that all farmers, when they bring a bale of cotton to the gin, also bring their exemption certificates, properly signed.

If the farmer does not have his certificate at the gin, it will be necessary to place lien card on the bale. Then in order to secure certificate and bale tag, it would be required that the farmer send his book of certificates to the Internal Revenue Collector at Birmingham, and bale tag and certificate would be issued direct from that office to him.

This trouble and delay can be avoided only by the farmer bringing his exemption certificates with each bale of cotton brought to the gin.

All of the ginners in Chilton County, listed below, are uniting in this request and urging all who bring cotton to be ginned to comply with provisions of the revenue department.

Constitution Day To Be Observed More Broadly

New York, Aug. 16.—National Constitution Day—September 17—will be observed more universally this year in New York than ever before, it was revealed today by reports from public school officials, patriotic and civic organizations.

In the public schools, more than one million children will be told through pageantry, playlets, speeches and essay contests the story of the Constitution, its origin and significance.

Harold G. Campbell, superintendent of schools, announced that the observance this year and next will be preliminary but connected with the 150th anniversary, in 1937, of the adoption of the Constitution.

Patriotic societies are preparing more than a score of public Constitution Day ceremonies.

The Veterans of Foreign Wars will direct the program on City Hall Plaza with other veteran groups participating. Last year's program was under the auspices of the American Legion.

Former Judge Clarence J. Shearn, newly elected president of the Bar Association of the City of New York announced that the members of the bar would participate in this year's observance both in radio speeches and at several important public meetings.

The Young Men's Council of the United States, organized last winter to preserve the Constitution and American ideals and institutions, will have a large Constitution Day dinner. Robert La Porte, president of the council, who is completing a tour of the state capitals' reported that 11 Governors have agreed to head state committees to form local branches of the council. Each of these will stage Constitution Day programs.

Fred G. Clark, director of the Crusaders, said that with the Constitution facing attack from so many quarters, his organization would intensify its efforts this year toward stimulating interest in the observance of Constitution Day by the Crusaders in their local chapters in each state.

KNOX DEPLORES NEW DEAL RAP AT THE U. S. COURT

Hampton Beach, N. H., Aug. 15.—An indictment of the Roosevelt administration for its "lack of trustworthiness and loyalty" and for promoting enactment of laws for the "deliberate purpose of undermining" the prestige of the United States Supreme Court, was delivered here yesterday by Colonel Frank Knox, Chicago publisher.

Speaking at the annual outing of the Rockingham County Republican organization, which launched a boom to boost Colonel Knox for the Republican Presidential nomination, he declared:

"Every single industrial nation in the world has been showing steady increases in production and improvement in business and industrial conditions since 1932 but the United States."

Colonel Knox declared that increased taxes and living costs, two factors which invariably lead to defeat in a popular government, are growing more pressing. He continued:

"I charge the President and his advisors with deliberately promoting the enactment of a group of laws which they have every reason to expect will be declared unconstitutional as soon as they reach the Supreme Court, and with doing so for the deliberate purpose of undermining the power and prestige of the Supreme Court and of precipitating attacks upon it in the hope that its unique power will be destroyed."

ANNUAL POPWELL FAMILY REUNION HELD AUG. 18

A reunion of the family of the late Rube Pepwell was held at the home of his widow, Mrs. Mary Ann Popwell, 2 miles northeast of Clanton, last Sunday. The affair is an annual one, having been held for the past several years. Those present were.

Mrs. Mary Ann Popwell, age 85 years; daughter, Miss Lena Popwell, Mr. and Mrs. Butler Lowe, Mr. and Mrs. Ruben Lowe and children, Juanita, Bernice, Edna Ruth, Evelyn and June; Mr. and Mrs. J. Walter Teel and family, Mr. and Mrs. D. A. Teel, Mr. and Mrs. L. J. Teel and son, Luther, Jr., Misses Billie and Myrtle Teel Mr. and Mrs. Rube Miller and family, Chester, Rufus, and grand daughter. Barbara Ann, of Mitchell Dam; Mr. and Mrs. John R. Popwell and family, Misses Mary and Ida Mae, and William Popwell, Mr. and Mrs. Grady Popwell and daughter; three of Mr. J. W. A. Popwell's children, Alford, Lois and Buddie.

A very happy day was spent by this circle of relatives with grand mother. All looking forward to repeating the occasion next year.

IN MEMORY OF OUR FATHER J. MATT MAHAN

We never could find a good reason why sorrows unbidden should stay and all the bright joys of life's season be driven unheeded away, but God has marked each sorrowing day and remembered each secret tear and heaven's age of bliss shall pay for all His children's suffering here. Death seems but a covered way which opens into light, wherein no blinded child can stray beyond the Father's sight.

We shall ever remember the good things he did. How he loved us and remembered us on all occasions. Yes, memory has a power to lift the veil and permit us to walk down the corridor of yesterday. Memory is a priceless heritage. It becomes the beacon light which guides us through stormy waters of life and into the port of perfect peace. Oh! memory whispers a promise that it will be our father who will stand at the threshold of that other country and welcome home his children and he will recognize the sound of our weary footsteps sooner than onyone else and he will be heart-hungry to take us again into his arms and kiss away all our weariness and grief.—His Children.

Mrs. George McCain and children accompanied by her sister, Miss Sue Prater, motored to Rockford Friday, where they will spend a few days with their parents.

Prof. DeVaughn writing regarding the school, says: "I have splendid classses with 100 pupils and attendance increasing.

PLEASANT HILL

Well, it rained so until we did not have any services Saturday night, and the weather being somewhat rough there were not so many out Sunday, but I want to say to those who didn't get out you really missed one of the best sermons we have ever heard. Although Bro. Robinson always has a message that is well worth our time to go and hear. That one Sunday seemed to be unspeakable. How we would like to see more of our members come out and get lined up to work for the Lord. We need your help and let's everybody go to church and be as one. By so doing we can keep our church growing.

We are going to have a working at Pleasant Hill on next Friday, the 23rd, for the purpose of cleaning up around the church and cemetery. Those who have an interest in the cemetery and wish to help, meet early Friday morning.

Mr. and Mrs. N. L. Martin had as their Sunday dinner guests Mr. and Mrs. S. J. Twilley and children, Miss Central Cost, Miss Alma Lee Twilley, also Messrs. Ernest Connell, Frank McMullins, Odis and Obie Davis.

Miss Dotha Cleckler spent Sunday with Miss Alta Mae Blow.

Mr. Billy Cochran has returned to his home in Birmingham after spending several days with Frank McMullins and other friends here.

Miss Minnie Bolton was the Sunday dinner guest of Miss Jesse Cleckler.

Miss Willie Mae Davis spent a while Sunday with Miss Pearlene Martin.

Don't forget our Sunday school every Sunday. Visitors are always welcome.

Public Health In State Looking Upward Now

With Alabama's annual appropriation for public health work apparently to be retained at its present reduced figure, $400,000, as requested by the State Board of Health, the State Health Officer feels that this State will be in position to receive substantial aid from the fund provided in the Social Security Act for the building up of rural health work, recently passed by congress to assist states and their subdivisions in establishing and maintaining adequate public health services.

Plans for distributing the federal funds already have been worked out in Washington at a conference between officials of the United States Public Health Service and a committee representing state and territorial health officers, of which Dr. J. N. Baker, Alabama's Health Officer, was a member. These rules call for state and local co-operation, and with its present efficient set-up, Alabama is in position to strengthen and broaden its field of health activities.

Copies of the plans worked out by the Surgeon General and the State Health Officers show that the basic principles of all health work—local participation and local responsibility—have been carefully preserved. Officials of the health department explained that the federal subsidies are to serve as "primers to the health pump" in stimulating and promoting increased output in both state and local appropriations. Practically all allocations to states, with the exception of a certain amount set aside for training of personnel and an equalization fund, are to be made on a participation basis.

The central state health department will work with the county health units in carrying out the program and will direct the work in unorganized counties. There are now 53 county health units in Alabama, with promising indications that several other counties will be organized in the near future.

HIGHLAND NEWS

The all day singing at this place last Sunday was greatly enjoyed. We had a large crowd, and some real good singers. We surely do thank the visitors for their cooperation.

The opening song was sung by Mr. Coy Lockhart. Prayer was offered by Mr. Lockhart.

Directors for the morning were as follows: Mr. Raymond Brigance, Fonzie Coe, Sovereign Dickey, Gladys Wyatt, Herman Culpepper, Audie Brown, Ruby Weldon, Newman Jones, Elizabeth Culp and Willie Merle Lockhart.

At twelve o'clock a bountiful dinner was served.

Directors for the afternoon were: Professors J. Lee Grant, Emmett Wilson L. T. Grant, O. L. DeVaughn, Mr Glass, George Chambers, Virginia Eubanks, Marvin Lowery, Mr. Bennett, Hiram Littlejohn, L. Z. Dickey, Houston Melton, Mr. Melton, Fonzie Coe, Gladys Wyatt, Coy Lockhart, Margie Crowson, Ruby Weldon, Sovereign Dickey, Audie Brown, Newman Jones, Herman Culpepper and Earl Lowery.

Several quartets were sung by the Liberty Hill quartett, which were thoroughly enjoyed by all.

Pianists for the day were: Misses Dessie Wyatt, Virginia Eubanks and Mr. J. Lee Grant.

Don't forget that we have our singing every third Sunday afternoon, and we invite you all to come back and be with us.

Next Saturday and Sunday are our regular preaching days. We invite all who will to come and be with us. We are going to call our pastor for another year and we urge that all members be present.

ALL DAY SINGING AT BETHSALEM NEXT SUNDAY

LIBERTY HILL DID SOMETHING UNUSUAL, SAYS PROF. GRANT

Prof. Luther T. Grant of Coopers was in the Banner office Monday afternoon, and made a report on his singing school at Liberty Hill, which closed last Saturday afternoon after having run for two weeks.

Regarding the school, Prof. Grant said: "Something happened to me at the close of that school that has never happened to me before, not more than one time and probably not that one time. That was when the school closed, there as not one cent left owing to me. The people of Liberty Hill paid me up in full, not lacking one penny."

Prof. Grant has been teaching singing schools for twenty odd years, and he says that it is not often that every bit of the money promised is paid. But Liberty Hill came across with all of theirs. That is one community in a hundred. This was the third school that Prof. Grant has taught this summer.

MORE TAXES IN THE FUTURE
(Editorial in Opp Weekly News)

Governor Graves surprised many Alabama citizens when he announced Tuesday that he would ask the Legislature to promote a general sales tax. He wants to swap the tax burden to this form of taxation and give the home owners an exemption up to $2,000. It is doubtful if the people will vote in this measure. It is nothing in the world but an increase in taxation, although it will even the burden by reaching out over the entire state in a more uniform manner.

Taxation is rapidly increasing in every form. There is no need to worry. As long as we, as citizens, continue our plea to the government of "gimme, gimme," nothing else can occur except more taxes. The government has no money but that coming from the people.

We hope we are true Democrats, but we can not refrain from wishing the government would stop all types of business competition, whether it be TVA, RFC, or XYZ. We believe all charity can be taken care of at home for twenty-five cents in the dollar of present costs. The government originally acted as umpire of the game of citizenship; now it is making an effort to support everybody through its own business operations.

Roosevelt is one president who is trying to run this government for the people. He is making an effort to grant their every wish. The people have turned selfish, and the people will have to pay. At lot of hard work is ahead for every body.

Above are just our frank thoughts. We may be all wrong. This old country could be a lot worse off; and certainly it was when Roosevelt took over the reins of leadership.

There is nothing wrong with the government, maybe; but we would like to shake the hand of a man who needed a job and got one with either the State or National government without the aid of political pull.

Rites For Rogers And Post Scheduled For Thursday. Bodies Come Home

Hollywood, Aug. 20.—The nation's sorrow at the passing of Will Rogers and Wiley Post was epitomized here and at Oklahoma City today as thousands planned a final personal tribute to the salty humorist and the daredevil air adventurer.

Rogers traveled the last of the thousands of miles he had covered by air last night when a Douglas airliner touched ground at Burbank Airport. His and Post's bodies were taken to a mortuary chapel, having been flown 4,000 miles in three days from Point Barrow, Alaska, scene of their tragic accident Thursday night.

Post's body will be flown on to Oklahoma today and will lie in state Thursday in the Capitol at Oklahoma City, where thousands of his admirers will pay their last respects to the hero of two breath-taking flights around the world.

At approximately the same time Rogers' body will lie in state at Forest Lawn Cemetery, Glendale.

Flags throughout Southern California were at half-mast and will remain so until after the funerals. Hollywood was in the deepest mourning, affected by death as it hasn't been since the passing of Marie Dressler. Sorrow was not confined to the movie studios, where Rogers was a shining figure, but filtered down to the man in the street who loved him well. Hollywood residents predicted his funeral would be the greatest manifestation of public grief over the passing of a motion picture character since the death of Rudolph Valentino.

Services for Rogers will be held in the Wee Kirk o' the Heather at Glendale Thursday afternoon, but these will be attended only by members of his family and his more intimate friends. The chapel seats but 125.

PATES CHAPEL

The revival at this place closed on last Friday with 16 new additions to the church. All of them were not baptized on account of the unsettled weather. There will be another baptizing next meeting day at 9:00 o'clock at the Pate Creek on next second Sunday.

The people of this community wonderfully enjoyed the impressive sermons brought to us by the Rev. Geo. J. McCoy and cordially invite him back with us again.

Pittsview Beauty Closes Switch On New Rural Electric Line

Miss Virginia Burt, shown in the upper picture, is the proudest young lady in Russell County. On August 21 she closed the switch which started electricity flowing through the 9.6 mile line built by the Alabama Power Company to serve the citizens of Pittsview and farms along the line. The completion of the line was celebrated with a barbecue, at which Mrs. B. R. Pitts, pioneer resident of Pittsview, expressed appreciation to T. W. Martin, President of the Alabama Power Company, for bringing electric service to Pittsview. In the lower picture, C. T. Hunter, Division Manager of the Company, is shown just after nailing up the sign on the 72,000th pole of the Alabama Power Company's rural electric system.

NATIONAL AFFAIRS

(By Frank P. Litschert

Although we are now in the hot summer of 1935 it is a fact that inside of six months we will be girding our loins for the political campaign of 1936. Before the winter is well upon us the national committees of the two major parties will meet to decide where they are going to hold their national conventions in 1936. Chicago has usually been the favorite place during the past generation but a number of other fine cities will doubtless be rivals again this time.

Just who is going to be the Republican candidate? That seems to be the question of most general interest at this time. It is generally assumed that the party in power will renominate President Roosevelt. To do anything else would bring one of the biggest political upsets of the century. There is, of course, much political speculation as to what the conservative Democratic leaders may do. There is also some speculation as to where Huey Long, Upton Sinclair, and Doctor Townsend will be found. But after all the biggest public interest seems to lie in the name and geographic location of the Republican candidate.

One thing seems certain, that there is just now, among Republican strategists, is no dearth of Republican material. Shocked and somewhat stunned by the Congressional campaign of 1934, the Republicans have rallied nicely and now most of the leaders believe that the political tides are running their way in many parts of the country. Whether they are running that way and whether they will run strong enough by November, 1936, remains to be seen. Although the time is short a lot of things can happen in fourteen months. Issues which now seem "hot" may have cooled down by October, 1936, and newer and hotter issues may have taken their places.

One of the principal points of discussion unless conditions change rapidly there will be whether the early activity of prospective candidates should be encouraged or whether it ought to be curbed so far as possible. Many leaders seem to believe that the "soft pedal" ought to be put on candidacies now and that the delegates to the convention should be free to go in and select the candidate who seems then to be the most suitable and the strongest. Many leaders view the situation differently. They say that the more prospective candidates who get in to stir the waters in the next few months, the more Republican speeches there will be made, and the more Republican interest stirred in various parts of the country, without expense to the Republican National Committee which is none too flush anyhow in this lean political year of 1935. They say furthermore that a dearth of candidates now will give the Democrats basis for claiming that their opponents have no confidence in their chances next year, and that the Republicans are meeting in convention merely to draft a candidate and go through the motions.

No matter which of these views is the sounder, it is a good bet that they will have little weight in formulating the procedure for the next few months. If there are any Republicans who want to be candidates early in the game they will get in despite what may be said to the contrary. And if they want to wait and see somebody else shot at first, there may be a hesitancy about stirring the waters. After all, individual strategy, not party strategy, will prevail.

Issues now being made may carry into October, 1936, and they may not. The situation could change. For example, a general war in Europe might present us with a brand new set of issues, which would cause domestic ones to pale into insignificance. Who knows?

THEN AND NOW

Those of us who are loath to believe there has been any change in the public attitude toward the so-called old American ideals during the past generation, have only to look at the record, to harken back in memory, too, for about twenty years, and compare the conditions of that time with 1935. Any such procedure will convince the average man that we are not back in the horse and buggy days, so far as the public mind is concerned, no matter what the decisions of the Supreme Court on so-called New Deal legislaton, may have been.

Support by the government was then something to be avoided, so long as possible and a great many people were still imbued with the idea accerdited to Grover Cleveland to the effect that it was the duty of the people to support the government, not the duty of the government to support the people. In those pre-war days, now looked back upon rather wistfully by many of those who remember them, there was a belief that "every tub should stand on its own bottom" so far as possible.

Even now, however, when we have billion dollar works programs and doles which run into many millions, there are still some whose voices continue to cry out in the wilderness.

For example, in an address at Los Angeles, not long ago, Col. William A. Neblett, Democratic leader and law partner of Senator William Gibbs McAdoo, took occasion to say:

"All of our relief measures, even including the CCC and not excluding 'Production for Use,' require regimentation in its most extreme form. Some of us who have served in the army know that a man cannot be regimented for even a very short time without losing his initiative and desire to help himself.

"If anyone doubts that individualism, upon which this nation was built, is not a dying attribute, consider 20 years ago when young people rose to maturity and thought only in terms of some business of their own.

"On acount of the concentration of all business in a few hands, now the only thought is to get a job with some business where a person is lost in the stream and finally becomes, in effect, a feudal retainer. Such businesses are run upon the theory of ever restricting the labor cost. So highly have they specialized themselves in this regard they now pay their workers so little and cut so many off the payroll there are no available consumers for the products of the industry of those still allowed to work."

There is food for serious thought in what Colonel Neblett has to say. Perhaps the old order has gone beyond recall. If it has, then there is no assurance that people are going to be any wiser, any happier or freer than they were in the days when every man tried to support his own family and the government debt could be reckoned in millions instead of billions.

There will be almost five million dollars spent by the state and four times that amount by the federal government in Minnesota in the next two years to restore lakes and streams. That's a lot of money, but probably a very small amount as compared with what has been spent in this state in past years in oblierating once beautiful lakes and marshes. Aren't civilized people peculiar?—Windom, Minn., Citizen.

Italy seems to have millions for new military ventures but not a cent for payment on account.

Most of the share the wealth programs end up by the government's owning all of it and the people having none.

WHO IS IN POWER?

When the returns from the national election in 1932 came in, there was great rejoicing among Democrats all over the nation. The Democrats won! Now, however, after several months of the New Deal, millions of Americans, and among them a great number conscientious Democrats, are inclined to place a ? mark after that assertion instead of an ! point. They are not sure that it should have read "Democrats won!", but that it should have read "Democrats Won?"

When the first Socialistic and Communistic moves came through the New Deal it was considered almost high treason to criticize these moves or the officials who made them. Everyone cried "give Roosevelt a chance". Well, he has had his chance. We challenge any Democrat to tell us that we are yet out of the depression. Let us check up on the acts of the idministration, and see who really tinuance of the tariff against foreign goods, in protection of Amercian producers and manufacturers. It called for relief measures which might be needed to ward off starvation in the masses, but not for a general relief program. It called for grants to industry that the industries might provide jobs for the idle, and so put the wheels of the nation to humming again, and bring the nation back to prosperity in this way. It called for a continuance of the strict immigration laws, tending to hold aliens on the old continent, so keeping American jobs safe for Americans, so far as possible. It called for an effort for natural growth of business. It also called for retrenchment in expenditures of the national government wherever possible and advisable. That was the Republican platform in a nutshell, and was a truly American as the "Stars and Stripes in Old Glory".

The Democratic platform advocated by Mr. Roosevelt called for a reduction of at least 25 per cent in the cost of national government. It called for the abolition of hundreds of governmental bureaus and boards. It denounced "restriction of agricultural products". It promised "a sound currency at all hazards'. It promised "a budget balanced annually". It advocated "the removal of the government from all fields of private enterprise, and the removal of government competition with private business wherever it may exist." This, too, was a good and sensible platform, truly American.

Lets see how these promises have been carried out.

The cost of government has been multiplied many times over. Instead of abolishing bureaus and boards, hundreds of new ones have been established. For the first time in the history of the nation the production of the farms have been restricted. Instead of "a sound currency" we have the 60-cent dollar, and we are off the gold standard. Instead of balancing the budget "annually", it has shown up more out of balance each year, increasing the national debt several billions of dollars. Instead of following the "hands off business" policy advocated, the New Deal, through he NRA, put the government in direct charge of every business establishment in the nation, from the lowliest boot-black up to the biggest railroad company.

That is the way the Democratic officials have kept their word to proceed upon the platform on which they were elected. We must admit that it was a beautiful picture, this proposed 1932 platform, but THE DEMOCRATIC PLATFORM OF 1932 HAS NOT BEEN TOUCHED by the administration in carrying out the government of the nation.

Now, let us turn to the Socialist and Communist platform, and compare it with the results that the administration has achieved or attempted. (The black-face type sets forth the Socialist demands made in the 1832 platform of that party, and the light-face in each paragraph is the administration's actions along the line of these demands.)

1. A federal appropriation of five billion dollars for relief. A federal appropriation of five billion dollars for public works. Legislation for acquisition of land, buildings and equipment by the government. There have been appropriations totalling nine billion, one hundred million dollars for various activities of this kind—PWA, FERA, the work relief administration, housing, public works, reforestation, etc. In addition to this, there is now pending in the national legislature a billion dollar tenant farm bill.

2. Free public employment agencies. Compulsory system of unemployment compensation, benefits based on contributions by the government and employers in private business. Old age pensions for men and women over 60 years of age. Alignment with the greater part of this demand is included in the social security bill which has been before congress for the past several weeks, including old age pensions and unemployment insurance to be financed by taxes on pay rolls —taxing people who work to support those who do not work.

3. A 6-hour day and 5-day week. Abolition of child labor. Minimum wage legislation. Enforce collective bargaining. The NRA codes provided for shorter working hours, minimum wage and child labor restrictions. The Wagner bill fulfills collective bargaining enforcement.

4. Public ownership and control of mines, forests, oil and power resources, public utilities, transportation, communication and basic industries. One answer to this is the TVA. Also, legislation to control the coal industry, to destroy holding companies, and pending bills for government ownership of railways, as well as other lines of transportation, and control of utilities and communications systems.

5. Socialization of credit and money system. Establishment of unified banking system, with complete acquisition of Federal Reserve Banks. The answer to this is the banking bill passed by the House and "demanded" by the administration, the government purchase of banks through RFC, and recommendation by the President and Secretary of of the Treasury that the government buy all stock in Federal Reserve Banks.

6. Increased inheritance taxes. President Roosevelt has only recently lined up with this by sending to Congress a "must" bill providing for much increased inheritance and income taxes, commonly known as the "soak the rich" campaign.

7. Shift of taxes from realty to incomes and inheritance. Increased subsidies to road projects, educational and social service, creation of a Federal marketing system, socialization of production, marketing and distribution farm products, etc. The processing tax has provided the demand shift from realty taxes to an indirect tax on the incomes of all consumers. The other "demands" under his head are taken care of under the AAA and relief agencies, together with the PWA.

8. Abolition of the power of the Supreme Court to pass upon the constitutionality of congressional legislation. A constitutional amendment for social security legislation, by popular referendum, rather than before the Supreme Court, and President Roosevelt advocates a constitutional amendment taking away the right of the Supreme Court to pass on constitutionality of congressional legislation; he also advocates an amendment calling for unanimous Supreme Court decisions in all matters coming before it, rather than the majority rule, as it now stands. In regard to the second demand under this head, the administration has gone the Socialists one better—social security has been attempted without the trouble of an amendment.

9. Recognition of Soviet Russia. Independence for the Phillipine Islands. Entrance into the World Court. Russia has been recognized. Phillipine independence is in process of accomplishment. Entrance into the World Court was demanded by President Roosevelt recently, but was defeated by the Senate, although carried by the House.

These comparisons should convince the most prejudiced mind as to what platform is being carried out. Not one plank of the popular Democratic platform has been adhered to. On the other hand, Socialistic and Communistic personnel has been installed as the President's private advisers—the brain trust. Each and every one of the members of the so-called "brain trust" is an admitted and avowed Socialist or Communist.

When all this is considered, Democrats have room to doubt if they really won the election, after all. If you will remember, normally the Socialists and Communists are forever issuing scathing remarks in regard to governmental measures in our so-called capitalistic system. Since a few weeks after the present administration went into power, these usual remarks have been conspicious by their absence. Is not this proof that the Socialists and Communists were pleased with the turn of events? Did they not have every right for elation? As they saw one after another of their platform demands become reality, was it not reasonable for them to feel that they, after all, had won the election, although their party candidates were not elected? Does one fight his desires?

On the other hand, dyed-in-the-wool, lifelong, staunch Democrats of the old school, who had fought to put their party into power saw their platform and promises scrapped and scattered to the four winds. Being honest and conscientious, was it not to be expected that they would censure such action when they believed their party principles were being discarded? That these outstanding Democrats have decried the actions of their principals is another proof that even good Democrats realize that they lost the election, although their candidate won.

The fight today for the Republican party is one of to hold in place the Constitution of the United States, the bed-rock bulwark of our government. The Constitution holds the welfare of the nation, just as truly as the foundation of a building must remain secure if that building is to stand—the foundation must not, can not be removed. We do not contend that the Democratic party as a whole is a party to this un-American attempt to scrap the Constitution. On the other hand, we believe that true Democrats are our brother Americans, and are as much interested in seeing the Constitution retained as are the Republicans. We believe that the attempt is being made by a bunch of Reds, masquerading under the Democratic banner, and we believe that true Democrats will resent this act of treason to their party. "By their fruits ye shall know them", and the present administration has produced "Red" fruit in their every move. We, as Republicans and Americans, are fighting for our American citizenship and rights, and we firmly believe that we will be joined by conscientious Democrats against this common foe of our country.—Man in the Moon.

Secretary Wallace advocates judicial review

TAX EXEMPT SECURITIES

There has been a renewal of criticism in Washington concerning the much discussed issuing of tax exempt securities. It is said that those who are wealthy seek to avoid the payment of taxes by investing their funds in securities which are exempt from taxation.

The federal government, the states and municipalities which issue bonds get a lower rate of interest on their securities by issuing them in tax exempt form. If the securities were taxable of course a higher rate of interest would be necessary, and the retirement would cost the issuer more money. This would result, naturally, in the issuance of fewer securities which, after all, might be a good thing, in spite of the present theory that we can spend ourselves into prosperity.

Be that as it may, there is a disposition on the part of some to blame the present tax-exempt situation on to the Constitution, by inferring that this practice of issuing these tax exempt securities can't be curtailed until a constitutional amendment is adopted. This may be true so far as the securities issued by states and municipalities and their subdivisions are concerned. But certainly no constitutional amendment is necessary to stop the issuance of any federal securities which are exempt from taxation. This can be easily done. When it is done then there will be time to talk about constitutional amendment. So long as the federal government isues tax exempt securities, the most potent argument against other tax exempt securities is somewhat weakened.

THE "NUISANCE COINAGE"

Secretary Morganthau's proposal to issue half-cent and one-mill pieces is meeting with more ridicule than applause.

Outside of a handful of states, which seem to think that they will aid them in collecting their sales taxes, there appears to be a general feeling that midget coins will add annoyance to confusion.

They have been dubbed in advance "nuisance money."

And if Congress limits the amounts for which they will be legal tender, as it proposes to do, one wil have to carry around a pocketfull of half-cents to pay bills under 10 cents and another pocketfull of one-mill pieces to pay bills under three cents.

An administration that has been juggling billions of dollars for a couple of years would hardly have been expected to propose that the people meet their expenses in split cents. —Detroit Free Press.

IT HASN'T WORKED

Reason behind the direct primary was the corruption that had occasionally appeared in the convention system. It was believed by honest reformers that the direct primary would eliminate this—and put a higher type of man into public office. In that, it has failed almost completely. The caliber of public officials is no greater now than fifty years ago—perhaps it is less. Political chicanery has increased, rather than waned. And the direct primary's worst offspring—the long ballot—has made intelligent voting impossible in most states.—Red Wing, Minn., Eagle.

Of course we are opposed to any war between Italy and Ethiopia. But we are not enough opposed to it to send an army of our young men to Africa or Europe to help finish it.

THAT HORSE AND BUGGY ERA NOT HERE YET, TRADE SHOWS

President Roosevelt's remark that the Supreme Court NRA decision would put the nation back in the horse and buggy era has not been verified to date.

The catastrophe seen from the White House is still invisible to the rest of the country.

On the contrary, an official survey made by the Department of Commerce reveals that there have been widespread gains in retail business throughout the nation in the week following June 16, the date that the National Industrial Recovery Act expired.

New York shows a larger volume of sales in practically every line of business.

In Los Angeles the weekly business index reached its highest point since March, 1933.

Other cities, although hampered by bad weather, report general advances in business activity.

It seems that the wage scales and working hours prescribed under the former NRA codes are being pretty generally observed.

Furthermore, all signs point to a pronounced improvement in business during the summer and autumn.

The most important element in any business recovery is confidence.

The Supreme Court restored confidence by ousting extra-legal government and restoring legal conditions to the nation.

"Business is picking up," therefore, and the horse and buggy have not yet driven the automobile from the highways.

That may be a disappointment to some theorizers, but it is eminently satisfactory to most Americans.—Los Angeles Herald-Express.

HAND OUT

When the Works Progress Administration was organized it was, as a matter of course, equipped with its publicity machine. Proposals for the expenditure of four billion dollars were naturally held not only to need the help of publicity but to warrant a lot of it. Therefore the machine was about the most elaborate that has been seen in Washington where such mechanisms are familiar. The force numbered about 200 persons, including former newspaper writers, clerks, stenographers and messenger boys. Now many of them have been given indefinite leave of absence, and there is a disposition to regard "leave of absence" as synonymous with that short and ugly word, "fired."

One trouble with the machine is said to be that newspaper correspondents have found it a cumbrous mechanism. It is difficult to get it to grind out the desired grist. Perhaps there is too much wrapping of the news in red tape. And red tape may have cramped the hand that wrote the hand-out. That is not surprising. The surprise is embodied in the news that half the force have been given those indefinite leaves of absence. With four billion dollars to spend why bother about the expense of maintaing another hundred in idleness?

This shrinkage in the personnel of the "Division of Application and Information of the Works Progress Administration" is further explained by the statement that there has been so far not a great amount of material to feed into the machine. Putting it bluntly, there has not been much for the press agents to write about. It is further indication of the difficulties to be encountered in setting several million men at work on a wide variety of "projects." Possibly it was a mistake to let the hundred go. They might have been sent into the field to discover where and to what extent progress was in evidence.—Boston Transcript.

President Roosevelt is quoted as telling the newspapermen that he didn't even know there was going to be an election in Rhode Island. Judging from the results up there a lot of Democrats who lived in that district didn't know it either.

The German Government is publishing praise which it got from a Columbia University professor. That propaganda won't do it much good in this country.

Dr. Gragg Dreams Of Ideal Gathering Place For Citizens

Editor Union-Banner:

I sometimes wish I could refrain from dreaming or allowing my imagination to carry me so far afield in speculation regarding the good things we miss. I came from "away back on the farm," and I am proud of it, and always will be. I still love the farm and its people. They are the best people in the world; and yet they are the worst enemy to themselves.

The rich bond-holder has no tax to pay on his government securities. The rich manufacturer or tradesman, (and even the gangster), usually finds some way to evade taxes. But the poor farmer gets caught in the tax mill every time—and it grinds rapidly and mercilessly on. We face an era when the tax mill will grind harder than ever before. In fact, the screws have already been tightened considerably. Everything you wear and nearly everything you hear (if you have to buy it) comes through the exacting toll of the tax mill.

Listen to my prophecy: You will be paying both a federal and state sales tax within a few months. You are now paying more tax on gasoline than the gasoline itself costs. My recollection is that it was around $11,000,000 in this state last year. Just think of the tax on as little a thing as tobacco was $425,000,000 last year.

We are being literally ground up in the tax mill. Yet we are too simple-minded and child-like to accept any of the benefits when they are offered to us. It reminds me of a bashful child standing back in a corner and letting the others rush forward and take all the fruits, cakes and goodies, while he merely looks bashfully on.

Here we in Chilton County, pure-blooded white farmers of the very best type to be found anywhere. Yet we stand back and let the people of other counties and other states (many of them negroes and foreigners) rush in and take our share of the nearly five million dollars that will soon be gone. Then it will be too late to complain that we did not get our share.

Someone has said: "Of all sad words of tongue or pen, the saddest are these—it might have been." But I think the words "too late" are equally as sad.

I have had in my mind a vision of a large community house for Chilton County, fitted with portable seats, of a capacity to seat more than 1,000, and to shelter more than 2,000. I visioned it with an arbor of kudzu vine or other growth to cover a seating space for another 2,500 or 3,000 in a cool shade in front of this building, so that an audience of 4,000 to 6,000 could be comfortably entertained.

I visioned this for all classes of our people, but more especially for the farmers of the entire county. In addition to this I visioned a county fair ground where our farmers of this county and several adjoining counties, perhaps, could have an annual fair. How would it sound to have a "Central Alabama Fair" at Clanton every year for one week in the fall?

I had visioned an athletic field where your boys and girls could have nice respectable ball games and such other sports here at home, and not have reason or excuse to go so far away.

Certainly Clanton is the place for such a county-wide community center. It is the county seat, and almost in the geographic center of the county. Besides, I am told on good authority, that Beat 4 is the home of about 25 per cent of all the farmers in Chilton County.

I think the airport is the logical site for such a community center for Chilton County people. It is about the proper distance from town. It has an adequate water supply for piping to all parts of the grounds to supply both man and animals. The airport land is already paid for, and all funds necessary have been alloted to finish it. So, outside of extending the end of a runway, none of the money would be supplied to airport activities, but all would be supplied to a community center for the benefit of the entire county, and especially the farmers.

This project would come under the WPA, and would require very little participation locally. The federal government would probably stand more than 90 cents in every dollar that is spent. There are people who need the work. Chilton County people need the money that would be paid out, and our farmers and others need the community center. I have spent many hours, made some long trips, written several letters, and paid for telephone charges to get this for you. Mr. Fant, your County Agent, is doing all he can. But you need to help him by letting your County Commissioners know what you want.

You know the governor on an engine is very necessary to conserve its power and make the engine do good work. But if the whole machine were a governor, the engine would be worth only the scrapiron in it.

If your cause is not already lost, and you don't want to lose this money and let some other place get it, you had better act now before it is too late.

It will be used somewhere, and you will pay your share of the future taxes necessary to replace it, regardless of who is benefited or where it went.

LAW CHANGES AGE LIMITS FOR CHILDREN IN SCHOOLS

Public schools of Alabama will begin the 1935 session undtr a new legal provision fixing the minimum age at which children may enter the schools.

The new statute, approved by the Governor and placed in effect on August 12, this year provides:

That a child who is six years of age on or before October the first shall be entitled to admission to the public elementary schools at the opening of such schools for that school year or as soon as practicable thereafter; that a child who is under six years of age on October the first shall not be entitled to admission to such school during that school year, except that a child who becomes six years of age on or before February the first may, on approval of the board of education in authority, be admitted at the beginning of the second semester of that school year to schools in school systems having semi-annual promotions of pupils.

COUNTY-WIDE SCREW WORM CONTROL MEETINGS HELD

County-wide meetings were held last week on the Screw Worm Control campaign in Alabama. Meetings were held in Pickens, Tuscaloosa, Chilton, Shelby, Talladega, Tallapoosa and Lee counties. All other counties were well represented at these meetings and those present were vitally interested.

During the week of August 19 to 23, meetings will be held in Chambers, Randolph, Clay, Cleburne, Calhoun, Cherokee, Etowah, and DeKalb Counties.

By holding these meetings, it is intended to familiarize the citizens and livestock owners adjacent to the northern border line of the present screw worm infested territory and along the Georgia-Alabama line, due to the fact that this pest has appared in all the border counties in Georgia as far north as the Tennessee line. While infestation has been ight in Aabama thus far this season, indications point toward heavier infestation and spread of this pest. It is also intended to hold these county-wide meetings in the rest of the counties in North Alabama as soon as possible.

Those conducting these meetings and delivering the talks in cooperation with the various county agricultural agents are Mr. T. F. McGehee, State Supervisor, Dr. W. E. White, Assistant State Supervision and Mr. L. L. Perrin, District Supervisor of Alabama. It is probable that Dr. W. E. Dove, Director of Screw Worm Control in the Southeast, will be present at some of the meetings this week.

21 DAYS SLICED FROM AUTO TAG TIME LIMIT

Construing the provisions of the general revenue law enacted by the present legislature, as to time limits prescribed for payment of motor vehicle tax, the office of Atty. Gen. Carmichael held in an opinion yesterday, that 21 days have been cut from the period formerly allowed owners of private automobiles to pay the tax, while there has been no reduction in the limit for owners of motor vehicles of other sorts.

The opinion which answers an inquiry from Probate Judge B. L. Malone, of Decatur, lays down the rule that under the revenue law, license tags on automobiles and motor cars for private use become due on October 1 and delinquent October 25; while the license on all other motor vehicles becomes due October 1 and delinquent Nov. 15. Heretofore, all motor licenses were due October 1 and delinquent November 15, irrespective of the class of motor vehicle for which the license was obtained.

FOX REUNION

The day was spent very happily Sunday August 18, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Fox, of Billingsley. It was the 60th birthday of Mr. Fox.

He was greatly surprised when he came in and found the cake with 60 candles and many nice presents.

Among those present were: Mr. and Mrs. Joe G. Caver, two sons and little daughter, Louise, of Billingsley; Mr. and Mrs. Julius Headley, of Pletcher; Mr. and Mrs. Johnnie Fox, of Billingsley and Mr. and Mrs. Carl Baker, of Vida. All of the children and grand children were present.

We hope that won't be the last time that we celebrate in honor of our father.

Mrs. Morris Schmitt, of Memphis, Tennessee, is visiting in the home of Dr. and Mrs. T. J. Marcus.

DEATH OF MRS. HARRIET SELLERS

Mrs. Harriet Sellers died at her home, 2806-5th Street, Tuscaloosa, Ala., on Sunday August 11, at 8:30 p.m. Her death came from a sudden heart attack. Mrs. Sellers was 74 years of age.

The funeral was conducted at the home, August 13, at 10:00 a.m., with Rev. Burns and Rev. Olive of the Methodist and Baptist churches officiating.

Mrs. Sellers is survived by five married daughers and their families: Mr. and Mrs. L. A. Rasco and six sons of Birmingham; Mr. and Mrs. L. H. Lavey, of Northport; Rev. and Mrs. Charles Bryant and three children, of Tuscaloosa; Mr. and Mrs. Jack Richards, and two children, of Tuscaloosa; Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Appeling and son of Northport; Mrs. Lutetia Smitherman, sister, and Mr. J. T. Jones, brother, of Clanton, Route 5.

Mrs. Sellers, before her marriage to J. B. Sellers, was Miss Harriet Marilla Jones, daughter of Augustus C. Jones. She will be remembered as a pioneer citizen and school teacher of Chilton County.

Rev. Lindsey Smith of Coosa county will preach at Robinson Springs next Saturday night August 24th, at 7:30 o'clock.

County Farm Agent's Notes

Compiled by J. W. Fant, County Farm Demonstration Agent for Chilton County

AGRICULTURAL OUTLOOK IS BETTER, SAYS MYERS

Auburn, Ala.—The outlook for agriculture is better than it has been for several years, according to a statement by W. I. Myers, governor of the Farm Credit Administration.

"According to the reports from most of the Federation land bank districts, farm sale prices have advanced materially in the last few months and I am wondering if we are entering a farm real estate boom period," he says.

FALL GARDENS NEED SHALLOW CULTIVATION

Auburn, Ala.—For those who have late-planted gardens, it is important to keep all weeds out so that the crops will have a chance to make their best growth.

Whether cultivation is done with a horse-drawn cultivator, a hand cultivator, or a hoe, the soil should be stirred no deeper than is necesary to kill the weeds. Shallow cultivation results in less injury to crop roots; and with the proper cultivation and cultivator attachments it controls the weeds just as well.

Deep cultivation brings moist soil to the surface where the moisture is quickly lost.

R. J. Goode, state commissioner of agriculture, has joined with the Alabama Farm Bureau Federation, the Alabama Cotton Cooperative Association and a large number of individual farmers in asking that the 12c government cotton loan be continued on the 1935-36 cotton crop.

HOME DEMONSTRATION WORK IN CHILTON PAYS

Home demonstration work in Chilton county, under the direction of Miss Ruth Pardue, has brought returns of over $100,000 to the farm women and girls of that county within the past two years.

Miss Pardue's report shows returns on the different phases of home demonstration work as follows: Canned products, $75,386; poultry and poultry products, $19,376; dairy products, $16,889; clothing, $15,000.

Miss Pardue says that in addition to the money returns the women and girls have learned much about the buying, preparing and wearing of clothes while at the same time making substantial savings in the clothing bills for the whole family.

Miss Pardue is a Shelby county girl, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. S. W. Pardue, of Saginaw.—Shelby County Reporter.

PROSPERITY DEPENDS UPON THE FARMER'S INCOME

Auburn, Ala.—Business and industrial prosperity is dependent upon agricultural prosperity.

A careful study recently completed by a prominent statistician connected with one of the large Chicago Industries reveals that with each 10 per cent change in national farm income, there is reflected a similar change of 10 per cent in the total payroll of the nation. A 10 per cent increase in farm income immediately reflects 25 per cent increase in gross profits of all reporting corporations. A 10 per cent increase in farm income has resulted in a 11 per cent increase in distribution of profits in the form of dividends from all enterprises. A 10 per cent change in national farm income immediately is reflected in a 10 per cent increase or decline in the value of all stocks listed on the New York Stock Exchange. The study reveals that a 10 per cent increase in farm income has resulted in 30 per cent increased profits to the U. S. Steel Corporation. It also reveals that a 10 per cent change in national farm income is followed by a 14 per cent change in the volume of production of U. S. Steel.

It is particularly interesting to note that a 10 per cent change in farm income—whether up or down—is reflected in a 16 per cent change in profits of International Harvest Company; 22 per cent profits in General Motors; 14 per cent profits in United Fruit Company; 10 per cent profits in International Shoe Company; 8 per cent change in the profits of packers; 10 per cent in the profits of millers and 12 per cent change in the large cotton manufacturers.

Lesson for August 25

BARNABAS

LESSON TEXT—Acts 4:36, 37; 11:19-30.

GOLDEN TEXT—He was a good man, and full of the Holy Spirit and of faith.—Acts 11:24.

PRIMARY TOPIC—Barnabas' Love Gift.

JUNIOR TOPIC—The Friendly Barnabas.

INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOPIC—How Barnabas Used His Possessions.

YOUNG PEOPLE AND ADULT TOPIC—In Partnership With God.

The explanatory title given by the lesson committee, "Barnabas (A Consecrated Man of Means)," is not entirely satisfactory, as it emphasizes only one of his many excellent qualities.

I. Barnabas the Man (Acts 4:36).

His original name was Joseph. When he became a Christian he was by the apostles renamed Barnabas, which doubtless signifies the change from the old life to the new. This was a common custom, e. g., Simon to Peter and Saul to Paul. The name means "son of prophecy" or "son of exhortation and consolation." This shows not only the nature and spirit of Barnabas but indicates that he possessed a gift of hortatory preaching.

II. Barnabas the Philanthropist (Acts 4:37).

So fully had the divine love permeated the very being of Barnabas, that, seeing the need of his fellow believers, he sold his property and brought the money and laid it at the apostles' feet. He was in no sense obliged to do this as there was no such binding law of a community of goods in the early Church. Private ownership of property was recognized (Acts 5:4).

III. Barnabas the Christian Statesman (Acts 9:26-30; 11:19-30).

1. Befriended Saul (9:26, 27). After Saul's conversion he came to Jerusalem and tried to join himself to the disciples, but they were afraid of him. Barnabas saw that Saul was really a converted man. Being a good man he could see there was good in Saul. To be able to judge personality is the first mark of a Christian statesman.

2. Sent to Antioch (Acts 11:22-24). Violent persecutions of the Church sent many disciples to the regions about the Mediterranean sea. As they went they preached the gospel and churches were established. The most conspicuous of these was at Antioch, the capital of Syria, becoming the most important center in the spread of Christianity. Everything went well as long as the gospel was preached to the Jews only, but certain of these disciples deliberately preached Christ among the Greeks. They announced to them that God had become incarnated in a man, that that man, after a ministry of love and grace, had died a sacrificial death on the cross, and that salvation was now offered to all who would accept him.

Tidings having reached the ears of the Jerusalem Church that a great work of grace was expressing itself through the Grecians who were preaching the Lord Jesus Christ at Antioch, Barnabas was sent to look after it. Barnabas was a good man and full of the Holy Ghost and faith. He, therefore, had spiritual discernment and broad sympathy. Those who have grace in themselves will be able to see grace in others. He exhorted them and urged them forward in their work.

3. Goes after Saul (11:25, 26). The work at Antioch so prospered that help was needed; therefore, Barnabas went after Saul. Barnabas thus introduced Saul to his great work as the apostle to the Gentiles. The gifts of both of these men were needed on that field. Different temperaments when brought into harmony by God's grace are needed in the church.

4. Disciples called Christians first in Antioch (v. 26). After a year of teaching by Paul and Barnabas the name "Christian" was given to the disciples. Observe that the name was associated with the teaching. Paul taught the vital oneness of the believer with Christ! therefore, it was natural that the disciples should be called Christians. The notion that the name "Christian" was given in derison has no factual basis.

IV. Barnabas the Dispenser of Alms (vv. 27-30). Because of the oneness of Christians with Christ and with one another, the distress of the brethren at Jerusalem must be relieved by the gifts of believers at Antioch. The Spirit of God, through Agabus, made known the coming dearth which was to prevail throughout all the world. The disciples were therefore moved, according to their ability, to send relief unto the brethren in Judea. These gifts had a powerful effect in removing the suspicions of the brethren at Jerusalem.

A Strong Will

If we have need of a strong will in order to do good, it is more necessary still for us in order not to do evil; from which it often results that the most modest life is that where the force of will is most exercised.—Count Mole.

Lies

One lie in word or act opens the door to a thousand. Truth is the magician's circle, to cross which is to break the spell and turn all to darkness.—O. S. Marden.

HARRIS FAMILIES ENJOY DAY TOGETHER SUNDAY, AUGUST 18

A most enjoyable day was spent last Sunday by members and close relatives of the Harris families at the home of Mr. and Mrs. M. C. Wyatt, of Clanton Route 5. A delicious lunch picnic style was served to the following:

Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Harris, Willie Davis Harris and Frances Harris of West Blocton; Mr. and Mrs. Tom Harris, Archie Harris and Ehel Harris, of Titus Rte. 1; Mr. and Mrs. William Harris of Wetumpka; Mrs. Mollie Barnett of Titus Rte. 1; Mr. and Mrs. G. T. Guy, Mrs. W. A. Adams and Billy Adams of Mt. Creek; Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Smith of Clanton; Mrs. Harvey Barrett, Lanoyd, Vernon, Cecil, Clinton, Curtis, Neeley and Lena Mae Barrett of Wetumpka; Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Wyatt, Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Wyatt and baby, Osmond and Addis Wyatt of Clanton Rte. 1; Mrs. Janie Harris and Dolphus Harris; Mr. and Mrs. Alton Harris, Mr. and Mrs. Newt Popwell and baby of Clanton; Mr. and Mrs. V. J. Harris, Misses Wylma and Nora Harris of Clanton; Mrs. Mollie Barrett and Miss Elsie Barrett of Clanton; Mr. and Mrs. John M. Parrish of Clanton; Mr. and Mrs. M. C. Wyatt, Katheryn and Orean Wyatt of Clanton Rte. 5.

SIXTH DISTRICT CONTEST

Quite the most arresting political item of the day is that to the effect that Rear Admiral Richmond Pearson of Hopson will become a candiate for congress from the Sixth Alabama district in case Representative W. B. Oliver's health prevents him from serving longer in the house. Admiral Hobson was a major political figure in Alabama a quarter century ago when he served in congress from 1907 to 1915 and then made a memorable but unsuccessful race for the senate against Oscar W. Underwood.

The Sixth District promises to become a lively place politically in case Mr. Oliver decides not to run again. Hubert Baughn in the Birmingham Post publishes a list of the potential candidates including Hobson. He mentions Thomas E. Knight, Pete Jarman, J. J. Mayfield, Jr., and Ed Livingston.

Contests for congress in several other districts promise to be spirited next year, and though 1936 will be what is known as an off year in Alabama politics, it promises to be anything but an off year so far as public interest is concerned, with congressmen, a senator and delegates to a Democratic national convention to be chosen.—Alabama Journal.

Mr. and Mrs. Hubert Farley of Gorgas are spending their vacation in Clanton this week with relatives and friends. Mr. Farley works for Alabama Power Co., at the Gorgas Steam plant.

Bankhead Fails To Help Cotton

Statement On Loans For 1935 Is Disregarded By Traders

New Orleans, Aug. 15.—Cotton prices sagged six to nine points at first call on the local exchange today. The traders were prone to disregard the Bankhead statement of yesterday, especially after a quotation ascribed to Secretary Wallace to the effect that "it will wind up controlling the whole carryover each year."

October was nine points off at 11:00 December six off at 10.88, and March six off at 10.81.

WALNUT CREEK WINNER IN LEADER'S PRIZE CONTEST

At the end of the spirited contest in which a score of churches and orgainzations of Chilton County engaged in friendly rivalry, Mr. M. Lande announces this week that Walnut Creek Methodist Church stands first, drawing the grand award of $75 in cash.

Close behind Walnut Creek in a hot race up to the closing hour was Sunshine Church, which was awarded the second prive of $25 in cash.

Concluding this unique and most interesting event, Mr. Lande, of The Leader says:

"We congratulate the winners of the cash prizes, and extend our thanks to all who took part in the contest. It was a fine friendly race, and we had a good time. It was a distinct pleasure to us to serve you, and we are proud to award the cash prizes to the winners.

"We ask our friends who were engaged in and interested in this contest, as well as all our customers over the entire county, to remember that The Leader will always do its part to support and push forward the good institutions of Chilton County.

"For the past fifteen years we have been engaged in an honest effort to help and to serve you. We have been providing for you the latest and the best we could in merchandise, at prices we know you can pay, and still save yourselves some money.

"Our hearty appreciation is extended to all, and we continue in the hope that we may yet be privileged to help and to serve you and the whole progrom of progress in Chilton County."

Graves Silent On Liquor Question

But It Is Natural For Graves To Be Silent On Any Subject

Gov. Bibb Graves, in his recent address before the Alabama Legislature, did not mention another referendum on the liquor question and by his silence gave one of the most convincing arguments possible against a second vote on the subject.

The February 26 results are sufficiently convincing to good sports. They settle the matter for a long, long time. Wets wrote the three-way, cover-all refrendum bill and set the date for the vote. February was picked because the chances were that bad weather then would reduce the dry rural vote. The drys met the issue and turned a 30,000 vote for repeal of the 18th Amendment into an 8,000 victory against repeal or modification of our state liquor laws.

Political observers agree that had February 26 been a fair day, rural voters would have sent the dry majority to at least 20,000.

The dry victory was won against great odds; against money, loss of the 18th Amendment, newspaper opposition, years of wet propaganda, presidential influence, and against the most persistent drive ever made for liquor. For years the matter had been most thoroughly discussed from the wet side with dry arguments practically barred from a majority of the papers. Alabamians were informed and went to the polls deliberately, expressing themselves unmistakably.

The real demand is for liquor and blood money for a few booze barons. Liquor advocates are not interested in the ideals of states' rights, governmental revenue, schools, old age pensions, local option, temperance, human welfare, lawfulness, etc. Experience has proven that liquor laws can be enforced by men worthy of office and that the state may have its greatest monetary returns for liquor enforcement, and by this means also keep itself above the base plane of entering into a racketeering conspiracy with John Barleycorn to debauch its own children.

GOV. TALMADGE BRINGS APPEAL TO ALABAMIANS

Georgian Voices Plea For Repudiation Of F. D. R. in Birmingham Speech

Birmingham, Ala., Aug. 20.—Governor Eugene Talmadge, of Georgia, carried his fight against President Roosevelt into Alabama today, declaring the only chance for a democratic success in 1936 is to "repudiate every communistic doctrine advocated by the present administration" and pick new standard bearers.

The Georgia executive, regarded by observers as himself having an eye on the presidency, spoke before the Traffic and Transportation Club here, reiterating criticisms of the policies of the federal administration—particularly on relief and agriculture.

Assails AAA Program

He charged that destruction of stock and crops under the agricultural program brought about conditions that "necessitated importations of these very products that we destroyed."

Talmadge accused the administration of "deliberately" encouraging the people "to beg . . . and to look to the government to support them" in order to "catch the sympathy and imagination" of the public.

He also declared inducements had been offered to get various states "to increase their taxes in order to get some money matched by the federal government."

"The old Biblical quotation, "The debtor is the servant of the lender,' has not been forgotten by the brain trusters," he went on, "and they know that the people would never forgive their gambling with God, and then trying to put the yoke of debt on them so that they can tell when to dance and where to jump."

Directly striking at the president, Talmadge said, "One man does not constitute a party. Roosevelt is not a democrat. President Roosevelt has reversed and has forsaken and gone back on every principle of the democratic platform except liquor."

Talmadge said he, himself, was a democrat who was "going to remain a democrat—true to the Jeffersonian principles," concluding:

"If the next democratic national convention is brave and not bought out, Roosevelt will never be renominated but we will nominate standard bearers who will again bring triumph to the democratic party and a halo and protection to the American government."

GINNERS URGE FARMERS TO BRING CERTIFICATES TO GIN

A meeting of the cotton gin operators of Chilton County was held at the courthouse Monday, at which a representative of the United States Internal Revenue Department was in attendance for the purpose of explaining and outlining the process of the law governing the ginning of cotton and the use of exemption certificates.

After the meeting Monday, all the ginners of the county prepared and authorized the following notice to cotton farmers, which is being published in a large advertisement in this week's newspapers:

The Internal Revenue Department says: When a farmer gins a bale of cotton, the bale must be settled for at that time, either by exemption certificate, the tax paid in cash, or a lien card attached to the bale.

In order to comply with this provision and to avoid confusion and delay, it is absolutely necessary that all farmers when they bring a bale of cotton to the gin, also bring their exemption certificates, properly signed.

If the farmer does not have his certificates at the gin, it will be necessary to place lien card on the bale. Then in order to secure certificate and bale tag it would be required that the farmer send his book of certificates to the Internal Revenue Collector at Birmingham, and bale tag and certificate would be issued direct from that office to him.

This trouble and delay can be avoided only by the farmer bringing his exemption certificates with each bale of cotton brought to the gin.

Verbena People Honor Will Rogers

Will Stand In Silence For One Minute At Time Of Funeral Today

Editor Union-Banner:

To show respect, love and appreciation of Will Rogers whose life brought so much joy to the world, Verbena citizens will pause for a moment with bowed and uncovered heads during the lowering of his body into its last resting place. We hope Chilton county residents and all of the entire nation will do likewise and thus honor such a worthy man who never can be replaced. The world owes this expression of respect to Mr. Rogers.

Verbena people have also decided to start a cash contribution toward building in Arlington cemetery a shaft of some suitable monument to perpetuate the memory of Mr. Rogers. We hope this movement will spread over our county and that at an early date a lasting memorial will be lifted in Arlington to show that our people appreciate a really great man.

Mr. Jim Hurtt, of Verbena is, the first person to contribute toward this monument.—S. L. Gibson.

FINISHING PAVING ON ROAD

A fleet of trucks was engaged Wednesday morning hauling gravel out on the Selma Highway. The finishing touch is being applied to the last section of paving which extends about four miles west of Clanton.

The many friends of Mr. Manning sincerely hope for his recovery.

BACK CONSTITUTION, KIWANIANS ARE URGED

Alex C. Birch Forecasts Issue In The Presidential Race for 1936

Montgomery, Aug. 20.—Pointing out that the constitution of the United States is the bulwark of the nation that has weathered the catastrophe of civil war, world war and other great calamities, Alex C. Birch, guest speaker at the weekly luncheon meeting of the Kiwanis Club at the Jefferson Davis Hotel yesterday, made an eloquent plea with the members to protect and uphold the constitution.

Mr. Birch, who is the former referee in bankruptcy at Birmingham and for eight years U. S. district attorney at Mobile, showed in connection with his address two interesting documents. The first of these was bond No. 1 issued by the Confederate government, of which he humorously remarked: "You will observe the bond is still intact, as none of the coupons have been clipped."

The second document was the original drafting of the constitution of the Confederacy with the handwritten notations regarding amendments, deletions, etc., written in by the secretary, who was the grandfather of the speaker.

Contrasting the method of making amendments to the Confederate constitution with that of amending the U. S. constitution, Mr. Birch stated that practically all educated men have a fair idea of the fundamental law of the land and that the issue of the next presidential campaign will be whether the constitution shall be strictly construed or liberally interpreted.

It was announced that, in addition to the regular weekly luncheon meeting next Tuesday, the club would meet jointly with Selma and Clanton at Mitchell Dam on Wednesday for an outing.

Miss Eunice Sudolph, radio artist, gave several piano selections.

Clanton Schools Open September 2

Same Date Is Announced For Both High School and Grammar School

Both schools in Clanton, the Chilton County High, and Clanton Grammar School, will open their sessions for 1935 on Monday, September 2.

Pupils and patrons of the Grammar School, will open their sessions for 1935 on Monday, September 2.

Pupils and patrons of the Grammar School will be glad to know that new temporary quarters will be ready for four classes on opening day, thus eliminating the use of the old building entirely.

Workmen are engaged now in erection of the new temporary structure, and it will be completed and ready for use by opening day.

The addition of building facilities for a vocational unit at the Chilton County High School is being worked out as a PWA project, according to Superintendent Little. It is not yet determined when the matter will be ready for building actually to begin.

Applications, specifications, and all preliminary details are now before the allotment board in Washington for the new buildings at Isabella and Collins Chapel. Final approval of these measures is expected momentarily.

However, it is certain that these two schools will have to open this year's session in temporary quarters and operate until the building program is completed.

TO WITHDRAW PROPOSED BILLS

Commissioners Agree To Put Tax On Paving The Selma Highway

In a conference at Montgomery Monday night between Judge J. Lee Smith, the County Commissioners and attorney Omar Reynolds, and Representative Charley Cox, the following agreement was made relative to the two local measures for Chilton County which had been proposed by Rep-representative Cox:

The County Commissioners agreed to adopt a resolution providing for county participation in the three-way paving of that part of the Selma Highway through Chilton County. Mr. Cox agreed to withdraw and not introduce the two local bills. One of the proposed bills provided a local law for appointment of a highway engineer for Chilton County and placing all the county road business under his supervision. The other provided a law requiring the County Commissioners to appropriate one-half the county's share of the gasoline tax toward paving the Selma Highway.

Under the agreement reached Monday night, the resolution of the Commissioners provides appropriating one-third of he county's share of the gasoline tax to the Selma Road paving. This, it is estimated, will be about $2,000 a month. The cost of the paving on the part of the county, is said to be $2,000 a mile. Under these figures it will require about $42,000 for the county's part of the paving, and the one cent appropriated out of the gasoline tax will pay this amount off in 21 months.

Burglars Raided Hill Grocery Co.

Attempt Made To Open Safe But Was Not Very Successful

Burglars entering the store of Hill Grocery Company in Clanton last Thursday night, evidently had as their obective looting the safe in which money is accustomed to be kept. However, this aim was a failure. The only thing they got off the safe was the hinges of the door.

Entry to the Hill Store was gained by pushing open the back door of the barber shop adjoining. From the barber shop there is a connecting door which remains permanently closed. Against the door inside Hill's was a pile of sugar sacks. A panel of the door above the sugar pile was broken out. Through this they gained their entrance.

Mr. Stewart, manager of Hill's says he has not yet determined what and how much merchandise the burglars carried out of the store. County and city officers have been engaged in working on the case, but so far no clue has been found leading to the identity of the party or parties who entered the store.

Two Ball Games Set For Sunday

All-Star Teams of Chilton and Shelby Counties Will Play Series

There will be two base ball games at Maplesville next Sunday afternoon, the first game beginning at 2:00 p.m., between an all-star team picked from the participants in the Central Alabama Tournament and another all-star team picked from the Shelby County League.

These two games are a part of a series of best four of seven games to be played between these two teams.

The team which will represent Chilton County in this series consists of 20 players, as follows:

Pitchers—Golson and Culver, Clanton; Longcrier, Independence; Dorminey, Union Grove; Ellison, Cane Creek; Tucker, Maplesville; Powell, Autaugaville.

Catchers—Cruise, Plantersville; Tiffin, Clanton.

Infielders—M. Hayes and B. McAfee, Maplesville; Littleton and Baker, Clanton; Armstrong, American Legion; Burnett, Independence; Cottingham, Randolph.

Outfielders—Simms, Clanton; Golson and Mims, Independence; Wallace, Maplesville.

These two games should be good ones. There was a good turn out at the all-star double-header at Maplesville last Sunday, and preparations are being made to care for a still larger crowd next Sunday.

Remember the place, the date, and the hour—Maplesville, Sunday, September 1, at 2:00 o'clock—sharp!

VAUGHAN QUARTET IN CONCERT HERE TUESDAY NIGHT, SEPT. 5

It will be welcome news to their many friends and admirers here to learn that the Vaughan Quartet from Lawrenceburg, Tenn., will appear in concert at the high school auditorium in Clanton on Thursday night, September 5th, at 8 o'clock. The appearance is made under the auspices of Circle No. 1 of Clanton Baptist W. M. S., and an admission charge of 15c and 25c will be made.

This bunch of singers has the reputation of being the best Mr. James D. Vaughan has ever sent out from his institution. Most of the personnel has been to Clanton before in other quartets, and the fans here will recognize them as being an assemblage of real artists in their line. They are: Palmer Wheeler, first tenor; Keifer Vaughan, second tenor; J. T. Cook, baritone; Jim Waites, bass. Mr. Brock at the piano.

Clayton Bowles Is Wreck Victim

Died In Hospital Sunday Following Accident At Jemison

Clayton Bowles, age 21 years, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charley Bowles, of Mt. Pleasant Community, died at three o'clock Sunday afternoon at the Central Alabama Hospital, following injuries sustained in the wreck of his automobile at Jemison about nine o'clock Sunday morning.

As he was driving south on the highway he lost control of the car on the curve almost in front of the Jemison High School. It left the road and is said to have turned over three times, Bowles was thrown from the car. When brought to the hospital by Martin's ambulance, it was found that he had both legs broken about the knees, one hip crushed and his left side crushed.

Funeral services and burial were at New Salem at 11 o'clock Tuesday, with Martin charge.

Young Bowles was unmarried. For the past five years he has been employed by Sam Wilson on his farm near Clanton. He is survived by his father and mother, and several brothers and sisters.

BUCKEYE STATE SHOWS HERE ALL THROUGH THIS WEEK

The Buckeye State Shows are in Clanton for the amusement of those who are inclined to cater to this kind of amusement. They are located on the vacant lot between the railroad and Wilson Hotel, and will be there all this week—through Saturday night.

Mr. Galler, the manager, stated Monday night that he was well pleased with the way the company was getting started off. He anticipated a fine week while in Clanton. The show was in Prattville all last week, and did well down there, with the execption of a day or so that it rained.

The amusements consist of merry-go-round, ferris wheel, chair plane, photo gallery, and other booths of different kinds. Mr. Galler extends a cordial welcome to the people of Chilton County to visit his show during their stay in Clanton.

C. C. C. CAMP AT CLANTON NOW HAS FULL QUOTA OF 200 MEN

Captain Martin, commander of the C. C. C. Camp recently established in the western edge of the city limits of Clanton, reports that he has now in his camp his full quota of men, 200 in number. Besides the enlisted men, the administration personnel number about a half-dozen officers and instructors.

Presence of the C. C. C. Boys is noticeable on the streets of Clanton during their off hours. They may be seen here and yonder in small groups, surveying the city and passing away their leisure moments.

Regular drills are held in the camp each day, and training is being carried out preparatory to the program of soil erosion control and prevention in which the men will be engaged in connection with the Agricultural Exension Service in this county.

DRESSING UP THE COURTHOUSE WITH A NEW COAT OF PAINT

A crew of painters are engaged this week in putting a new coat of paint on all the woodwork of the courthouse, both inside and outside. The task is a rather large one, and will likely take several days time.

COWS STOLEN LAST WEEK

Two cows, one belonging to Mr. J. M. Kelley and the other to Mr. L. E. Blalock, four miles south of Clanton, were taken from their stalls Tuesday night, August 20th, driven a short distance, loaded on a truck, and carried away. As yet no trace has been found as to where they were carried.

Sheriff J. R. Hardy is offering a reward of $30.00 for information leading to the arrest and conviction of the party or parties perpetrating the theft.

TO PREACH AT COOPER

Rev. F. M. Barnes, secretary-treasurer of the Alabama State Convention, of Montgomery, will preach at Cooper Sunday afternoon, September 1st, at 11 a.m. and 7:30 p.m. The pastor, Rev. J. W. Jones, will be absent conducting a revival in Florida.

Rev. Barnes is a product of Chilton County, and his friends here will be glad to learn of his enagement to preach for us aain..

Beating Around the Cotton "Bush"

[AN EDITORIAL]

Since the federal government at Washington pegged the price of cotton at 9 cents, there has been considerable cussing and discussing pro and con about the south's biggest money producer. In the pronouncement that a guarantee of 9 cents a pound has been made, there is inserted in a proviso (more properly called a joker) that in some cases and under some conditions and to some people an additional three cents would be extended, bringing the price up to 12 cents—the price most generally expected to be guaranteed by the govrenmnet. This additional three cents is a rather vague condition; in fact, no one seems to understand just how it will work. In this connection The Atlanta Journal says: "It would take a Philadelphia lawyer to understand what the government means to do about cotton that does not sell for 9 cents."

The Union-Banner reiterates what it has said before that the cotton farmers ought to have not 12 cents a pound for their cotton but 20 cents, when the price of what we have to buy is considered. But what we ought to have and what we can get are two different things. When the world market is well below even 9 cents, it would take a considerable stretch of the imagination to conceive of the federal government being able very long to fill the gap between that price and the figure we think we ought to have, or even 12 cents, as for that matter. That gap would have to be filled with tax money, and we are all paying quite enough already in the way of taxes, we think.

The cotton situation is a very complicated one. Some southern senators and congressmen are very displeased with present actions of the administration. Senator George of Georgia said in substance that he did not have the heart to ask another cotton farmer to sign up a contract. Tom Linder, Georgia's commissioner of agriculture, says that the AAA is attempting to cut the cotton crop four million bales next year in order to create a market for six million bales that the government now has on hand. "The Santa Claus is about to give out up there," says Mr. Linder. He continues: "They have drafted a smart trick and won't give the 12-cent loan to any body unless the farmers sign up to do whatever the AAA says do next year. They make it a special condition that they are not going to tell you what you are going to have to do."

It looks as though, after all, the farmers are going to have to solve their cotton problem themselves. We venture the suggestion that a good solution would be to cut down the raising of cotton to a minimum, if not altgether, and raise other things on the farm. Our farmers certainly could raise plenty of corn to do them and have a surplus to sell. They could do likewise with other crops. It looks as though we are eventually going to lose out completely on cotton, so we might as well take our medicine and get through with it.

With the cotton business, like lots of the other indefinite and uncertain ventures of the New Deal, the Democrats at Washington are simply "Beating the devil around the bush". They have not known where they were going any of the time, and they have less idea of the destination now than when they started. This country needs most of all things to know something about where it is at and what we may reasonably expect in the future. We are fed up on uncertainty.

But there's one thing we do know about it. We know that the thing does not jibe when we have to pay 40 cents a pound for meat and only get 9 cents a pound for our cotton. Something is badly out of joint; we farmers know that.

Negro New-Deal Congressman Spoke

For the attention and comment of Hon. J. Thomas Heflin, for many years the champion of white supremacy in Alabama, and who has recently been restored to the good graces of the New Deal, as well as for those other Democrats who used to say they couldn't see how a man could be a Republican and live in the South because of Republican coloring, we call attention to this statement of Arthur W. Mitchell, Democratic negro congressman from Illinois. This address by New Deal Representative Mitchell, an Alabama-born negro, was made in the House of Representatives in Washington, and is inserted in the Congressional Record, Volume 79, Number 167, Page 13,497, issued August 13, 1935, in which he says:

"Mr. Roosevelt has appointed more negroes to responsible governmental positions than the last three Republican administrations taken together. Under this administration, Dr. Thompkins, an outstanding negro physician and a lifelong Democrat, has been appointed Recorder of Deeds of the District of Columbia. Robert L. Vann, lawyer and publisher, has been appointed Special Assistant Attorney General with offices in Washington, D. C. Mr. Lawrence Oxley, an outstanding social worker of the State of North Carolina, has been appointed special assistant and advisor in the Department of Labor. Lester A. Walton of the city of New York has been appointed Minister to Liberia. Outstanding lawyers such as Theopholis Mann and William F. Hastie, special solicitors in the Department of Interior. There have been scores of other appointments of high and important rank such as negroes have not enjoyed under any Republican administration."

Note: The Chilton County News and The Montgomery Advertiser, please reproduce the above.

Tax Paying Time Is Coming

The annual period of paying county and states taxes again approaches, and this year will find many additional occupations and businesses required to buy licenses. Approximately 75 more types of business have been added to the list required to pay license fees, the fees varying from $8 to $450. Among these will be dance halls, road houses and night clubs. The state also is expected to collect more than $1,000,000 in income taxes before the end of the year, according to the State Tax Commission.

TWO DAMAGE SUITS FILED AGAINT TOWN OF CLANTON

Two damage suits were recently filed against the town of Clanton, according to City Clerk, C. H. Pipes, upon whom notice of the suits was served.

Attorney J. B. Atkinson, representing Mrs. E. B. Wyatt, sets up in his suit a claim for damages in th amount of $10,000 for his client. Mrs. Wyatt, it is said, some months ago, stumbled and fell on the sidewalk at the corner of Upchurch Drug Company, sustainnig serious injuries.

The other claimant is Mrs. Weeks, of Randolph, who claims damages in the sum of $1,500 for personal injuries. She is represented by Attorney Percy M. Pitts. Mrs. Weeks claims to have stepped into an open water meter box in front of Hayes Chevrolet Co., causing her to fall and sustain serious injury.

Average Car Tax In State Is $74.18

Comparative Figures Show Alabama Auto Levy In Highest Rank

Motor vehicle operators in Alabama paid an average of $74.18 per vehicle in special automotive taxes during 1934, acording to Earl M. Hearne, secretary of the Alabama Petroleum Industries committee.

The average vehicle in Alabama paid $41.20 in state gasoline tax, $8.08 in federal gasoline taxes, $14.12 in license fees, $2.70 in tire and tube and other governmental excise taxes, and $8.08 in local city and county gasoline taxes.

The automotive taxes of $74.18 paid in this state were far in excess of those paid in the District of Columbia, where the total annual motor levies amount to less than $27 per vehicle, and they compare with a nationwide average of $45.41 each.

In announcing the results of this study, Mr. Hearne pointed out that no effort was made to include property taxes.

"In view of the fact that the value of the average automobile is only $200, it is obvious that automotive taxes in this state have become excessive," Mr. Hearne declared. Gasoline taxes constitute by far the heaviest levies on motorists today and thereby constitute the logical means by which the excessive tax burden on motorists can be relieved.

Official Figures Used

"The data used in making the computations were the official figures recently released by the U. S. Bureau of Public Roads, which show 24,933,403 vehicles registered last year, state gasoline tax collections as $565,027,000, federal gasoline and oil taxes as $194,947,000, license fees as $304,928,000, and federal excise taxes, exclusive of those on gasoline and oil, as $67,384,802."

C. C. C. BOYS ATTEND BAPTIST S. S. LAST SUNDAY

The Clanton Baptist Sunday school last Sunday was delighted to have seven young men from the C. C. C. camp here attend Sunday school and the young men's class, taught by Mr. H. A. Harris. Their names are: J. J. Roberts, J. Ramine, Oral Reader, Hope D. Lee, Walter D. Hoffman, and Lois McDowell. They are all seven from Miami, Fla.

Prof. Luther E. Little, acting superintendent, in public asembly extended the young men a hearty welcome, and urged that they come back and invite others from the camp to do likewise. The officers of the Sunday school, and especially the young men's class, would be signally pleased to have a large delegation of these C. C. C. boys attend Sunday school and preaching every Sunday.

J. MELL MARTIN RE-ELECTED ASSOCIATION SEC'TY - TREAS.

At the annual convention of the Alabama Funeral Directors Association, held at the Jefferson Davis Hotel, in Montgomery last week, Mr. J. Mell Martin, of Clanton was re-elected as Secretary-Treasurer of the Association. This is the sixth consecutive year in which Mr. Martin has been elected to this important office.

Mell Martin bears the distinction of being one of the most outstanding and active members of his profession in the State of Alabama. During recent years the Funeral Directors Association has been made a compact and well organized body, representing the leading funeral directors of the State. A large amount of the credit for this splendid organization is given to the untiring efforts of Mell Martin as Secretary-Treasurer.

He is a good worker at any organization. It is no wonder the funeral directors want to keep him in the important place he has filled so well. But they ought to harness up some other fellow to do the real work for a while, and honor Mr. Martin with a few years as President of the Associ'ation, where he would have a period of well-deserved rest.

FRAZIER CHILD DIED

New Yorker Flays New Deal And Urges Party To Get To Work

Yellowstone Park, Wyo., Aug. 24.—Representative Hamilton Fish, of New York, told western Young Republicans today the party must "quit its shadow boxing and pulling punches."

The Easterner, addressing a conference of representatives of the Republican party from 11 western States, described the "New Deal" record as one of "soundermania, blundermania and powermania" and as "the greatest failure in American history."

He proposed an eight-point program which he said the party schould demand:

1. A return to Congress of powers surrendered to the President.
2. Withdrawal of the government from competition with private industry.
3. National economy, a balanced budget, a soundly backed, stabilized currency and abolition of tax-exempt securities.
4. A new farm program including minimum prices for domestic consumption, adequate tariffs or embargoes, export financing, abolition of processing taxes and refinancing of farm indebtedness.
5. Retention of the American wage scale and standards of living, together with enactment of a reasonable and adequate old age pension plan without political advantage, and development of an unemployment insurance fund under State control.
6. Freedom of speech and press except where used to urge overthrow of the Republican form of government.
7. Provisions for national defense but not aggression, prohibition of munitions profits and loans to foreign nations.
7. Reaffirmation by the Republican party that human rights are superior to property rights and labor prior to capital.

ELMORE FARMER SHOT TO DEATH

Tallassee, Ala., Aug. 25—Chester Estes, 29-year-old farmer, died in a hospital here this afternoon from bullet wounds officers said were inflicted by a negro tenant farmer during an argument over a debt this morning at Estes's farm, five miles from Tallassee.

Sheriff W. A. Austin, of Elmore County, was holding Torrie Harrell, negro, who surrendered to a citizen near the scene of the shooting while a possee and bloodhounds were combing the country for him. Harrell was in jail at Wetumpka.

A PECULIAR WRECK NEAR LOMAX ON LAST MONDAY

It has been predicted that automobiles would get to climbing trees, but an actual demonstration of that feat has never been produced.

However, Spurgeon Calloway reports one that is next to it. Monday he was called to bring his wrecker to get a car that had gone off the highway near Lomax. When he got there he found the machine sitting on top of a wire fence several feet from the pavement. There was no sign where it left the road, and scarcely no damage done.

He suspended the car with his wrecker crane, cut the fence from under it, and everything was all right and ready to go. A man and a woman who were in the car were unhurt.

Floyd Smith On Ditching Project

Will Be Supervising Engineer For State Department of Health

Mr. Floyd Smith, who has been works director for the Chilton County Relief Administration for the past year, will remain here as technical supervisor of the malaria control project now being carried on under the State Health Department.

It was stated last week that Mr. Smith would leave here after the close of the relief office, but a subsequent order was issued transferring him to the health project.

The mosquito control work involves a continuation of the ditching and drainage work in the swamps around Clanton. Work on the job was started last week with a crew of forty men. The new ditch was started in Black Snake Swamp, and will be extended north up the Swamp at the back of Marion Gore's farm.

The end of last week found only five counties in Alabama in which relief offices had not been closed. As the direct relief agencies are being discontinued plans are under way to organize public welfare bureaus under supervision of a state department of public welfare.

This bureau, it was stated, will be charged with caring for those not employed on work relief jobs and other relief problems. It is planned to have all federal direct relief agencies closed by September the first.

MITCHELL DAM ITEMS

(By R. C. Ross, in Powergrams)

Record Attendance Indicated

Open House Month is now in full sway at Mitchell Dam, and if the number of visitors who have already been here is any indication of what to expect we will have a record attendance for the month. Our register shows visitors from several states, and our very pleasant and efficient Home Economist, Miss Johnnie Lee Hulsey, says that every one who has seen the kitchen display is more than delighted with it.

Party From Cuba

The writer had the pleasure Sunday afternoon of showing an interesting party from Havana, Cuba, through the plant, Pablo F. Carreno and family. Mr. Carreno says they are touring a few states and will visit the national Capitol, Chicago, New York and other points of interest before returning home. According to Mr. Carreno we people are very fortunate in being able to secure electricity so cheap, he says that in Havana his light bill runs around sixteen dollars a month and he only has a refrigerator and lights. Another interesting thing about this party was the fact that Mr. Carreno was the one in the group who could speak English but that was no draw back for the others, for his wife and children were very much interested and it was really a pleasure to have had the opportunity to show them through our plant.

FAMOUS SINGERS FROM TENNESSEE TO BE HERE NEXT THURSDAY NIGHT

The famous Vaughan all-star Quartet from Lawrenceburg, Tenn., pictured above, will appear in concert at the County High School building in Clanton on Thursday night, September 5th, at 8:00 o'clock. Sponsors are the ladies of Circle No. 1 of Clanton Baptist Church.

A REAL REVIVAL HELD AT MINERAL SPRINGS

We wish to say one of the best revivals throughout the county was the one at Mineral Springs. Everybody was happy and the spirit of God was moving. Several souls were brought to God and others came by letter. Each one was showed a hearty welcome by each one casting their vote. May God bless each young convert with the richest of blessings.

The meeting came to a close Friday night. No one could express their appreciation to Bros. Green and Robinson for their faithful work while here. They were led by the spirit to do whatsoever they could for the upbuilding of our community. We also thank the visitors who took a part with us.

Our Sunday school proved a blessing Sunday. Lots of older heads were out and every body seemed to feel good. Let's all work together. We had a splendid prayer meeting Sunday night with a small crowd present. We heard forty good testimonials and seven prayers. Thou hast said in thy word, "Where two or three meet in my name I will be in the midst." We feel like He was there ready to own and bless us.

We invite every one possible to come and help us out. We realize we are weak. Everybody is welcome at Mineral Springs. Next Saturday night, Sunday and Sunday night are our regular preaching days. I am sure Bro. Robinson will bring us some worthwhile messages. On Sunday there will be baptizing at the regular place with nine candidates to baptize.

We also have a fine program for Sunday night, hoping each one will render their part in the best way possible. Every body invited to come to these services. We are sure you will not regret the trip.

Mrs. L. C. Warr has as her guest her sister, Mrs. T. H. Walker, of Talladega.

Ball Tournament Closes Clanton, Lay Dam Win

The Central Alabama Baseball Tournament, which opened August 12, closed last Monday with a heated pair of games in the second bracket.

Clanton won the first bracket championship, beating Plantersville for the crown. Earlier in the series, Clanton had beaten Plantersville one game, and had trounced Independence twice.

Last Monday saw three second bracket teams still in the running, although all three had lost a game each. Cane Creek was paired against Lay Dam, the latter winning 7 to 2.

That drew Lay Dam and Union Grove into the final game for the championship. Union Grove had played jam-up ball all through the tournament, and, in addition seemed to be a favorite of lady luck up until the final game. In this scrap the Union Grove boys were too much on edge, realizing the importance of the game, and blew up completely, committing 10 costly errors, losing to Lay Dam 7 to 8, making every kind of bobble in the catalog.

For the benefit of all interested, we will hold all box scores over until the Shelby-Chilton series is finished, then all will be published, including this series, the all-star games at Maplesville last Sunday, and all games which went into the record of the Central Alabama Tournament. We will try to have the whole works on one page, so that any interested player or fan may keep this sheet for future reference if he wishes so.

CONCERT AT CAPITOL HEIGHTS

As the closing exercises of his singing school at Capitol Heights, Montgomery, Prof. W. M. DeVaughn announces a concert for Friday night of this week. He says: "Tell the folks that if they want to hear some good old-time singing, choruses, quartets, duets, solos, etc., come on down; I can show them better than I can tell them. There will be an admission charge of 10c and 20c. I hope lots of my Chilton county friends will attend this concert." There are 125 on roll.

BETHANY CHURCH SINGING

Next Sunday is our regular singing evening at Bethany church, south of Enterprise school. On account of the all day singing we called in our evening singing some time ago. So we expect to meet next Sunday for the first time in a good while.

We especially invite one and all. We need your help. If you can't sing come anyway. We will appreciate your presence.

We started our evening singing at this place about a year ago. If you remember, there were more than a house full of folk, and we had a real singing. Now, we invite you back with us next Sunday and lets do that over. Come and bring your new books of all kinds and let's enjoy the evening together.—Chairman, J. W. Devaughn.

CARD OF THANKS

We wish to express through the paper our many thanks to our friends and relatives for their kind thoughtfulness of us on the night of August 7th, when they surprised us with a pounding of good things to eat, such as meat, lard, potatoes, coffee, sugar, and many other things. We are praying that God may bless each and every one that were present that night, for God loveth a cheerful giver.—Mr. and Mrs. Nicholas Minor.

Dr. P. C. Wilson, druggist and past-master, of Montevallo, was a business visitor in Clanton Monday.

Some Comments On The Cotton and Meat Situation Of Today

Editor Union-Banner:

Please give me space in your paper to comment on the cotton and meat situation as it is to-day. When our government took charge of the cotton and meat production we farmers could purchase one pound of meat or lard with one pound of lint cotton. Today it takes three pounds of lint cotton to purchase one pound of meat or lard.

What in the name of heaven is wrong? And who is responsible for meat and lard prices going three times as high as cotton? We cannot put the blame on either the meat and lard producers nor the cotton producers, because our government officials have charge of the production of both.

I am told that Mr. Wallace is a big Northwestern producer, and if he is, that may spill the beans as to why it now takes three pounds of cotton to buy one pound of sow-belly.

It may be that the South's misfortune is that we failed to get a big cotton producer for Secretary of Agriculture at Washington, instead of Sow-Belly Wallace of the Northwest. If we could have two secretaries of agriculture at Washington, one a big meat producer from the Northwest, and one a big cotton producer from the South, we might be getting 27c per pound for cotton, which is the price we are now paying for sow-belly.

Let our government officials at Washington, who have charge of the production of cotton and hogs give us a system under which one pound of cotton will buy one pound of meat. Hoover did that well, and came very near starving us to death.

Give us a chance, if we have to take a so-called demagogue like Senator Huey P. Long.—Respectfully, A. A. Jackson.

MANY EDUCATIONAL EXHIBITS AT ALABAMA STATE FAIR

Birmingham, Ala.—Colleges and schools throughout the State of Alabama are busy these days working on exhibits which they will present to the public in the educational department at the Alabama State Fair to be held at Birmingham for six days and six nights from September 23 to 28.

Dr. Walter B. Jones, State Geologist, assisted by Mr. David L. DeJarnette, Curator of the Alabama Museum of Natural History, will be in charge of the University of Alabama exhibits, which promise to be some of the outstanding exhibits of the Educational Department.

HIGHLAND NEWS

Last Saturday and Sunday were our regular preaching days. Bro. Lockhart delivered two wonderful sermons which were greatly enjoyed.

We are very glad to say that Rev. M. Lockhart will be our pastor for another year. Bro. Lockhart has done some wonderful work for us in the past year and we feel like he is going to do lots more the coming year.

Mr. Soverign Dickey was elected as church clerk for another year and Mr. J. B. Coe was elected treasurer. We are glad to say that our pastor was elected by a unanimous vote. We surely do appreciate the good co-operation of the church members.

Every body come back to Sunday school next Sunday morning and bring some one with you. We will be glad for all who will to come and be with us.

Mrs. Grady Powell and son, Billy, have returned to their home after spending a while with relatives in Birmingham.

A. B. Jones, prominent farmer of Plantersville, was a business visitor in Clanton Monday afternoon.

GINNERS PLANNING SPECIAL GIN DAYS

Auburn, Ala.—Ginners throuhout Alabama have made arrangements to hold special gin days this season to have pure planting seed of better varities for use in 1936.

"If present plans materialize Alabama should save, this season, several hundred thousand bushels of pure planting seed of better staple varieties," says J. C. Lowery, extension agronomist, in complimenting the ginners for cooperating with county agents and farmers in holding the special gin days.

Several thousand bushels of Stoneville seed were planted last spring in Perry, Tuscaloosa, Montgomery, Tallapoosa, Chambers, Marshall, Cullman, Jefferson, Marion, Lawrence, Limestone, and Madison for multiplying this variety, Lowery reports.

D. P. L. 11 is being multiplied by growers in Madison, Franklin, Coosa, Tallapoosa, Shelby, and several others.

More than 10,000 bushels of Cook 144, which runs one inch and better in staple length, direct from the breeder, were used in the Blackbelt and surrounding territory. This variety is proving very popular on the heavier soils of the southern half of the state.

The Cook wilt-resistant were planted in large quantities in south Alabama for the purpose of saving pure seed. Cook 12, grown on the Wiregress sub-station, is being multiplied by farmers of the southeast Alabama section.

CARD OF THANKS

We wish to express our sincere thanks to our neighbors and friends for their kindness and sympathy shown us in many ways following the tragic death of our son last Sunday. —Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Bowles.

ARMY WORMS APPEAR IN NORTH ALABAMA

Auburn, Ala.—The cotton leaf hopper or army worm is numerous in many North Alabama counties, report county agricultural agents, who are advising farmers to control the insect with calcium arsenate.

"Dusting should be done whenever worms appear in large numbers on cotton with immature bolls," says Prof. J. M. Robinson, head of the entomology department of the Alabama Polytechnic Institute. "The calcium arsenate may be applied undiluted with a dust gun at the rate of 5 to 6 pounds per acre, or it may be shaken from cloth bags on the ends of poles. If bags are used each pound of calcium arsenate should be mixed with 9 pounds of hydrated lime to prevent wasting large quantities of the arsenical. An application made with a dust gun is cheaper and more effective than one made with poles and bags."

AAA WILL OFFER AID TO SIRUP PRODUCERS

Auburn, Ala.—The Agricultural Adjustment Administration is preparing a production adjustment program for commercial producers of sugarcane for sirup in Alabama and other Southern States. The program will be offered to growers as soon as the adjustment contract is approved, says official announcement from Washington.

The program is expected to add approximately $2,500,000 to the income of producers of this commodity for the crop years 1934 and 1935. Under the proposed program approximately $1,500,000 of this will be paid as benefit payments on the 1934 crop and the remainder will be paid on the 1935 crop.

ENLISTMENT AT FORT BENNING

Lesson for September 1

PAUL THE APOSTLE

LESSON TEXT—Acts 20:33-35; Philippians 4:4-14.

GOLDEN TEXT—In all things I gave you an example, that so laboring ye ought to help the weak.—Acts 20:35.

PRIMARY TOPIC—A Happy Worker for Jesus.

JUNIOR TOPIC—Paul a Good Soldier for Jesus.

INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOPIC—How to Find Happiness in Work.

YOUNG PEOPLE AND ADULT TOPIC—The Church and the Toiler.

The explanatory title given by the lesson committee, "Paul (A Worker With Hand and Brain)," is unsatisfactory. His pursuit of a trade was incidental, as well as working with his brain. He was in deed and in truth the apostle of Jesus Christ and his entire person was dominated by his passion to serve his Lord.

I. His Birth (Acts 22:3; cf. Phil. 3:17).

He was born in Tarsus of pure Hebrew stock. He could with lawful pride boast of a godly ancestry.

II. His Home Training (Phil. 3:5).

His parents were pious people and carefully reared him according to Jewish standards. Most religious leaders spring out of such homes, as for example, Moses, Samuel, and Timothy. Stern principles of integrity were inculcated in him, thus giving him strength of character to impress the world.

III. His Education (Acts 22:3).

1. His patriotism. He was brought up to love his nation. He proudly affirmed, "I am a Jew." Paul was a nationalist of the true type.

2. A love for the Bible. The Scriptures were to him the very Word of God. What was found written therein was the final word for him. Loss of love for the Bible and implicit faith therein is a tragedy.

3. Zealous for God. He says, "I was zealous toward God." The word "zealous" literally means "to boil." It means that his life was inflamed with passion for God.

4. He was conscientious. His supreme aim was to have a conscience void of offense. Conformity to the dictates of conscience is demanded. It is the law of life for every man, but because of the blight of sin the conscience needs to be taught by the Word of God.

5. He had a trade. Every Jewish boy, regardless of his father's wealth, was taught a trade. It was a saying among them that he who failed to teach his son a trade taught him to steal.

IV. His Conversion (Acts 22:6-10).

1. On the way to Damascus (v. 6). He was filled with hatred of Christ and was on his way to Damascus with authority to bring to Jerusalem to be punished such Christians, men and women, as might be found.

2. A light from heaven (vv. 6-9). As this light burned through the sky he fell to the ground. Accompanying the light was a voice saying, "Saul, Saul, why persecutest thou me?" In response to his inquiry as to who was speaking, the Lord declared that it was Jesus of Nazareth whom he was persecuting.

3. An honest inquiry (v. 10). This is shown by his declaration of his willingness to do what the Lord willed. The Lord, therefore, instructed him to go to Damascus where fuller light would be given him.

V. Paul's Philosophy of Life (Phil. 4:4-13).

What men do and say expresses their philosophy of life. In order to induce right living, there must be created right thinking, for truly, "As a man thinketh in his heart, so is he."

1. Unceasing joy in the Lord (v. 4). The one who knows the Lord Jesus Christ as a personal Saviour and who knows that in the providence of God all things work together for good to them who love God, cannot help but persistently rejoice in spite of personal circumstances.

2. Be careful for nothing (v. 6). The word "careful" means "concern which leads to distraction." This does not mean that such a one will be hazardous in his living or fail in the exercise of common sense. He will not be disposed to depend upon himself, but cast himself upon his Lord for everything.

6. Think on right things (v. 8). The one who thinks on truth will be true; the one who thinks on honesty will be honest; the one who thinks on love will have love flowing from his person. Things honorable and of good reputation among the people will not be neglected.

4. All sufficiency is in Christ (vv. 10-13). The one who is thus in harmony with his Lord will be content in whatever circumstances he may be placed.

Health

"The first wealth is health. Sickness is poor-spirited, and cannot serve anyone; it must husband its resources to live. But health, or fullness, answers its own ends, and has to spare—runs over, and inundates the neighborhoods and creeks of other men's necessities."—Emerson.

Need of Self-Control

But take my word for it. This is the time to see the world in its Sunday clothes, and without money and without price.—Exchange.

Dr. and Mrs. J. M. Kimmey and little son have moved into the apartment at the home of Mrs. Hugh Jones.

CCC PROJECTS 100 PER CENT GRANTS

Montgomery.—Forest and park development projects of the Emergency Conservation Work, manned by the Civilian Conservation Corps, under the direction of the Alabama Commission of Forestry do not involve loans which later must be paid back to the Federal Government, states Col. Page S. Bunker, State Forester. One of the most deterrent factors of the various work programs under recent reconstruction policies has been the requirement that the beneficiary, public or private, pay back to the Federal Government some 55 to 70 percent of the total cost. This demand has given pause to many a deserving project.

In the Emergency Conservation Work, the entire cost of the project is equivalent to a grant to the State. The only provision is that, if the State in selling its lands should make a profit, due to the work done by the CCC, such profits shall be shared with the Federal Government. This, however, is radically different from the repayment of a loan and, being wholly contingent upon a profit, constitutes no actual expense to the State.

Certain administrative conditions, however, are exacted by the Federal Government in connection with forest and park enterprises of the Emergency Conservation Work. Improvements are constructed only upon guarantee by the State that they will be maintained. This is assured by restricting work on private lands to the holdings whose owners have entered into cooperative agreements with the State to continue certain forestral practices upon their lands.

In the case of State forest lands, the title in the State is presumed to be an adequate guarantee that the works will be maintained. The same is true of State park lands.

In Alabama the number of State Park projects at present exceeds that of any other class under the supervision of the Commission of Forestry. In the case of parks, an ironclad requirement is that the State must own the land. A small financial outlay is necessary in the acquisition of areas appropriate for State Parks and in rounding out units already established. However, the amount involved is insignificient as compared with the millions of dollars being devoted by the Federal Government to the improvement of the State Parks with no obligation to the State to pay back any part of the cost.

Game and Fish News

Montgomery, Ala., Aug. 27.—The new Swift Act, setting up a State Conservation Board and changing the name of the Department of Game and Fisheries to the Department of Conservation of game, Fish and Seafoods, requires all persons engaged in the business of training dogs in Alabama to procure a $5.00 dog trainer's license.

The new law provides that:

"All persons engaged in the business of training dogs for hunting or field trial purposes for remuneration or profit, shall first procure a dog trainer's license from the Commissioner of Conservation and pay for same the sum of five ($5.00) dollars, such license to be procured and such fees to be deposited in like manner as provided for other licenses set forth in this Act.

"Any person in this State who trains dogs for hunting or field trial purposes for remuneration or profits without first procuring from the Commissioner of Conservation a dog trainer's license shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and on conviction shall be punished by a fine of not less than fifteen ($15.00) dollars and not more than twenty-five ($25.00) dollars for each offense."

BOB JONES

COMMENTS ON HERE AND HEREAFTER.

"That which is seen is temporal". The things we can see will not last. Flowers bloom, wither and die. We build houses and after a while they become heaps of ruin. Our bodies go back to dust, The unseen things are real and eternal. The soul lives on. All the virtues will last—honor, purity, truth and such things continue through all eternity.

"What shall I eat?" "What shall I wear?" "What shall I do with the little money I have saved?" "Where shall I go to college?" These are questions people are asking. The big question is, "Where shall I spend eternity?" Man must live somewhat forever. He cannot cease to exist. The Bible teaches that there are only two places—heaven and hell. So there are only two alternatives for every human being—heaven and hell. "Where shall I spend eternity?" That is the big question.

If there were no life beyond this life Christianity would still be a great blessing. I do not know how men who have no Christian faith bear their burdens and their sorrows. Life's load gets heavy at times. The burdens are sometimes almost unbearable. Jesus Christ offers rest to weary people. He offers comfort to the broken hearted. A great physician said, "I do not see how a doctor could be a skeptic. A Christian does not die like a sinner." Yes, Christianity is wonderful for life, and experience shows it is a good thing to have when dying. Here are two Bible pictures: First, Jesus comes out of heaven into the air. Dead men leap out of their graves and are joined by living men who climb an invisible stairway to meet their Lord. Second, Jesus is on the throne. A thunderbolt is on His brow and lightening flashes from His eye. Sinners beg for mountains to fall on them to hide them from the King on the throne. The first picture is a picture of sinners. Yes, Christianity is a good thing to live by. It is a good thing to have when dying and it a good thing for the world to come.

FLOYD NEWS

The revival at Floyd was wonderful. Some said that it was one of the best revivals that we ever had. We received ten additions to the church. Three were baptized. Our pastor, Rev. Culpepper, did the preaching and every body has been blessed . The harvest is over, still the fields are white. let us continue to pray that more may come into the vineyard to help us labor for the Lord.

Next Saturday night and Sunday are our regular preaching times. We hope every body will be there.

Sunday will be our community day. We want all the young members to be there next Third Sunday in September. We sure did have a good singing last Sunday. We welcome everybody back next third Sunday.

AMERISANS MUST BE MADE CONSTITUTION-CONSCIOUS

(Editorial in The Atlanta Georgian)

September 17, 1935, should be given up almost entirely by all American-minded educators, patriotic societies and public men who are traditionalist Americans, to making Americans read and understand their glorious Constitution.

September 17 is the one hundred and forty-eighth anniversary of the adoption of the Constitution of the United States, a document that—

Guarantees every man, woman and child born under our flag civil and religious liberties.

It guarantees against the evils of despotism, against usurpation by executive power.

It guarantees the equal rights of the States.

It guarantees against search and seizure.

It guarantees freedom of thought and of speech and of religious belief and of assembly and of political opinions and expression.

It is, in a word, a document that is of vital importance to every man, woman and child in this country, in that it expresses their personal rights to life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness.

On September 17 this greatest of charters of human liberty should be in the hands of all Americans who are against the contemplated raids on it by Socialistic, Communistic and Fascist groups of alien-minded men, some of whom are now in the saddle in Washington.

Americans, it is time to study your Constitution—and to guard it against the adoption of amendments that are opposed to the letter and the spirit of the document itself.

Your Constitution is not a dry legal document.

It is alive in every line with the genius and ideals of the founders of the republic.

It means you, in every line.

It is for you, for your personal security and welfare, in every word.

It is for you—be you the humblest citizen in some remote country of Northwest America or one of the now greatly disparaged and despised successful men who have made America.

The liberties of people, in ancient and modern times, have been lost time and again by Inertia and indifference—by failure to preserve the fundamental guarantees of their lives, their opinions, their civic rights, and their personal property rights.

To combat the sinister movement of our Constitution-wreckers, boring from within like thieves on an inside job, it is necessary for every American to become conscious of and acquainted with the wording and the meaning of the Constitution of the United States, by which instrument his hights and his liberties, his opportunities and his possessions are safeguarded and secured.

Study your Constitution and organize for the celebration on September 17.

Legion Officials Continue Their Interest In Airport Development

Editor Union-Banner:

Chilton County Post of the American Legion is much interested in recent discussion of efforts to develop and enlarge the airport near Clanton, and to provide there recreation facilities and accommodations as a community center and public meeting place for all the people of Chilton county.

We recall the first movement made here for locating an airport. It had its inception with the Post of the American Legion, acting upon a suggestion from our National Department, when the Legion first undertook the matter of interesting the smaller communities of the entire country in airport developments.

Promptly upon the suggestion of the Legion here, the Kiwanis Club joined in support of the proposition, designating a committee to work with a smaller committee of the Legion.

Later, when the airport property was purchased by the county, Dr. Gragg, a member of the Kiwanis Committee, advanced the idea of making the project not only a landing place for airplanes, but a community center, public playground and meeting place as well.

The American Legion is interested in an airport, believeing that the advantages of same to the community in the future will be large and beyond our present ability to estimate. We are likewise, and even more so at present, interested in the proposal for making the airport a community center. We would not have to wait any period of years to utilize a community center to the advantages of the community. We need it right now. We have needed it all along. If we had the kind of buildings and accomodations as have been suggested at the airport, we could and would begin using them to the advantage of our people in a public manner at once.

The Legion is constantl interested in advancement of wholesome and properly supervised athletics among the youth of our locailty. It would be a distinct advantage to us in this work to have an athletic field, such as we could have at the airport property.

We commend our county and city officials for the interest they have taken so far in developing the airport. We wish they would go as much farther as is necessary to provide the facilities necessary for making it a community center, capable of accommodating any public meeting of our citizens from all over Chilton County.—Chilton County Post No. 6, American Legion, Percy M. Pitts, Commander, and Vaughn C. McKee, Adjutant.

GREETINGS! MEN of LABOR....

Next Monday is Labor Day, the occasion upon which, every year, the people of our country pause to do honor and express apprciation to the working class of people.

Those who earn their living by the work of their hands are a vast and noble army, gaining their own living by honest toil, and at the same time building steadily and permanently for the progress of our country.

We are glad to have a part and a place in this vast army of workers. Those who make this newspaper possible are laborers, just as you who till our soil, run our plants and factories, or build our cities and highways.

As one of you, and wishing for you the best things of life, we are glad to extend our greetings and best wishes to to all men and women who labor.

The SNAPSHOT GUILD

Brighten Your Shadows

"A piece of white cardboard brightened this shadowed face"

HAVE you ever tried taking a picture of your best girl — or your wife—wearing her new broad-brimmed summer hat and find, when you see the finished print, that her pretty face turned out to be an unattractive dark shadow? Of course you have. Who hasn't?

Now there is really no excuse for this common error in amateur photography. You can't prevent the appearance of the shadow but you can lighten it considerably in the picture by using a reflector to cast or reflect the necessary light under the brim of the hat and on her face.

Please don't gasp and think about spending a lot of money for a reflector for it isn't necessary. A satisfactory, efficient reflector can be had for practically nothing. Any number of things will serve you; a piece of white paper about three feet square, a white cloth of the same dimension or even a pillow slip or white towel, if the chancellor of the linen closet will let you get away with it, will serve admirably.

What's the trick? There's no trick to it at all. This is all you have to do. Suppose we use the pictures of the comely young lady above as an example.

Both snapshots were taken at noon with the sun's rays striking the top of the hat. Notice the picture to the right; how the brim of the hat casts a dark shadow over the face. The picture to the left, however, shows the pleasing results by using a reflector to cast or reflect the sun's rays under the hat. The reflector in this instance was a piece of white cardboard about two feet square held about four feet from the subject and tilted so as to reflect the sun's rays on her face and under the hat.

If there is not a third party to hold a reflector it can be placed on a chair at the proper angle or tilted against a stick placed in the ground. Be sure, however, that the reflector does not appear in the view finder of your camera.

This is only one of the many ways a reflector may be used to advantage in getting better pictures. By giving a little thought to your snapshooting you can readily detect where a reflected light on your subject may brighten over-shaded spots in outdoor or indoor picture making. Try it.

TED WILSON ARRESTED FOR STEALING AUTOMOBILE SUNDAY

Ted Wilson, son of Mr. Richard Wilson, of the Poplar Springs community, was arrested last Sunday night on a charge of stealing the automobile of Mr. Hardy Jones, at Poplar Springs Church.

Report of the theft came to the police officers of Clanton Sunday night, and Police Chief John Browder, with his men, soon located the stolen car in the possesion of young Wilson.

Mr. Plyler, night policeman, was sent to the home of Wilson's brother-in-law, near Boswell's Tourist Camp, where he found the man in bed. He brought him to Clanton, turning him over to the sheriff, who locked him up in jail.

It is understood that Wilson is under suspended sentence for a prior automobile theft, for which he was recently convicted in the Circuit Court.

NEW DEAL TEST IS SEEN IN AAA, POWER CO'S TVA SUIT

Attack on AAA Will Come Next

Washington, August 27.—The parade of New Deal enactments to the Supreme Court speeded up Tuesday. The government sought a ruling on the constitutionality of the AAA and private interests made ready quickly to challenge the TVA.

Congress having adjourned, these developments bade fair to intensify dispute over whether the New Deal can be carried on within the constitution of the U. S. A.

On all sides was a realization that the course of the 1936 campaign, and perhaps the national destiny itself, may be tremendously affected by the results.

The Justice Department asked the highest court to review the case of the Hoosic Mills in Massachusetts, under which the Boston Circuit Court held against the AAA last month on the processing tax.

The New Orleans circuit court decision upholding the TVA was involved in a brief prepared by Forney Johnson, counsel for George Ashwander and other stockholders of the Alabama Power Company. He made ready to file it, in an attempt to have the TVA outlawed along with NRA.

The court plans to expedite the oral arguments in all New Deal cases and speed final decision.

Question Box
By ED WYNN
The Perfect Fool

Dear Mr. Wynn:

I am a coed, at a well known college, and am crazy about a boy my own age who goes to the same college. He gave me a lovely cigarette holder for my birthday and his birthday is next Saturday. I saw a whisky flask, in a shop window, which was made to look like the seven of spades. Don't you think that is a cute present to buy him?

Sincerely,
LILY KUPPS.

Answer: The present is all right, but he's liable to leave it on a table in some fraternity house, and some other student might come along with the eight of spades and take it.

Dear Mr. Wynn:

My wife and I had an argument last night about the army. My wife says, in order for a man to be buried with "military honors" he must be a captain, while I say he must be a general. Which of us is right? Yours truly,
LEW TENANT.

Answer: You are both wrong. In order for a man in the army to be buried with full military honors he must be dead.

Dear Mr. Wynn:

Every month, a club I belong to, holds a meeting at which all the members have to tell a story on a subject which is told us a week before the meeting. The subject for our next meeting is: "The Stingiest Man I Know." Will you tell me the stingiest man you ever met? Yours truly,
O. COMM TELMEE.

Answer: The stingiest man I ever heard of was a man who fell overboard and as he was swimming ashore a policeman hollered to him that it was $50 fine for swimming in that river and when the man heard that he just threw up his hands and sunk.

Dear Mr. Wynn:

I bought a new suit, the other day, and the first time I put it on, the coat split up the back. How do you account for that?
Yours truly,
I. PICTICT.

Answer: The buttons were sewed on too tight.

GOVERNMENT LOAN ON COTTON BOOSTED TO 10 CENTS A POUND

Intricate Bookkeeping Involved In Cotton Subsidy Program

Washington, August 27.—Farm officials today began working out a solution to what is expected to be one of the government's greatest bookkeeping jobs—figuring the 1935 cotton subsidy payments.

Late Monday the AAA announced a compromise cotton loan-subsidy plan to placate southern senators who objecting to the announced 9-cent loan had plocked adjournment Saturday.

Under the new plan, the government will lend 10 cents a pound on cotton of a stipulated quality produced under the Bankhead allotment. The loans will be made only to signers of cotton control contracts.

Signers also will receive a subsidy to equal the difference between the average price of cotton on 10 spot markets the day the signers sell their cotton and 12 cents.

Loans will be made only on cotton grading seven-eights inch low middling or better. The chance was said to have eliminated about 200,000 bales from loan eligibility.

Loan forms, the AAA said, will be made available to producers next week.

COUNTY IS MAKING ADDITIONS TO POTTS HOUSE FOR OFFICES

Farley and Teel (Uncle John and Walter) with their force of carpenters and assistants, are engaged in the construction of an addition to the old Potts residence, which will afford much-needed additional office space for the following departments of Chilton County's business.

The Education department, including quarters for Superintendent Luther Little and the County Board of Education; the County Health Unit, with office for Dr. Kimmey and work rooms for the nurse and his assistants; the County Agent, J. W. Fant, and the various committees and departments under his program; Miss Ruth Pardue, County Home Demonstration Agent, and her allied activities.

The county is having this work done as a temporary means of relieving the congested conditions in these departments. Ultimately it will be necessary to make permanent arrangements for these departments, perhaps for an addition to the courthouse in the place of the Potts building.

Willie Shaw, road overseer of Beat 13, was a visitor in Clanton Monday.

AS SOUND TODAY AS EVER

Sixty-six years ago a successful and highly respected farmer in Washtinaw County caused to be cut in the cornerstone of a new barn his motto: "Pay as you go."

Sunday people went out to the barn to pay respect to his memory.

A good many appearances to the contrary notwithstanding, Americans generally still pay homage to the home philosophy of the now sometimes derided horse-and-buggy days.

After an orgy of speculative extravagance by the nation, a trying period of depression and then another orgy of squandering by the government, with no regard for the days when the bills must be paid, a revulsion aginst mortgaging the future seems to be setting in among the people at large. They are beinning to see that George A. Peters, who believed in paying as he went, followed the only road there is to financial independence and security.

The motto which he had cut into the cornerstone of his barn ought to be inscribed indelibly over the portals of Congress.

There is more need for it in Washington than in Washtenaw County.—Detroit Free Press.

NATIONAL AFFAIRS

(By Frank P. Litschert

It seems to be becoming more and more apparent that the next political campaign may go back to fundamentals. We will have, of course, a great deal of discussion about the amount expended by the government during the past three years and how much or how little good it has done. We will hear also of the Democratic platform of 1932, and the Republicans will charge that the New Dealers have ignored practically all of it. The New Dealers will seek to explain. We will hear also about the banking and unemployment situation.

But the action of the Supreme Court in invalidating the NRA and other important legislation enacted by the New Deal Congress, together with other developments, have tended to center attention on such fundamental issues as constitutional versus personal government, state and local rights versus bureaucracy and democracy against autocracy. Just how far the discussions will go along abstract and fundamental lines remains to be seen. One New Deal orator in the Middle West during the 1934 campaign, in answering charges that the American fundamental law was being violated, replied that "you can't eat the constitution." This wisecrack elicited so much unfavorable reaction that it was not repeated. All of which indicates that the American people are still interested in their Constitution in spite of the fact that there may be more up-to-date economic issues.

An indication of the line which the opposition to the New Dealers may take in upholding a government of law, rather than a government by men may be found in a recent address made in Illinois to party workers by the fiery and outspoken Senator Dickinson, of Iowa, who has been one of the most consistent critics of the New Deal from the drop of the hat. Senator Dickinson carries the argument back to the days before the adoption of the Constitution and declares that it was a personal government and the evils attendant upon it which primarily led to the revolt which brought about American independence. He adds:

"It is worth remembering that the complaints of the colonies were directed not against parlament but at the excesses committed by the king's agents. Some of the grievances cited in the Declaration of Independence have quite a modern ring, as for example:

"'He has called together legislative bodies * * * for the sole purpose of fatiguing them into compliance with his measures.

"'He has made judges dependent upon his will alone for the tenure of their offices.

"'He has enacted a multitude of new offices and sent swarms of officers to harass our people and eat of their substance.

"'He has combined with others to subject us to a jurisdiction foreign to our Constitution and unacknowledged by our laws.'

"America's outstanding contribution to the political philosophy of the world has been in these restraining bounds established for the executive power. This has been accomplished, as I have said, through the creation of an independent judiciary, made part and parcel of the Constitution itself. Only thus could proctection be provided against aggrandizement of authority by either the legislative or administrative branches of the government—jealously regarding itself as the true agent of the popular will. Indeed, so well has this system worked during 138 years, it should be noted, that but forty-eight laws passed by Congress have been declared invalid. Four of these decisions have been handed down during the present administration; all relate to improper delegations of power to the executive."

Here we have indicated for us one line of attack which the anti-New Dealers will use in the campaign of 1936. Just how much time will be given by the orators purely to up-to-the-minute affairs and how much to fundamental issues remains to be seen. There are indications, however, that the farther we go along the way more attention will be paid to the latter. The people of the United States still have an overwhelming interest in their Constitution.

PITTSBURGH'S MAYOR SPEAKS

The New Dealers some time ago made a great deal of "medicine" out of the fact that they had carried the Republican City of Pittsburgh and elected a Democratic head for the municipality. Evidently, however, William M. McNair is not a "New Deal" mayor, even if he is a Democratic one. Mayor McNair came to Washington some time ago to protest against the New Deal tax program and what he believes it will do to his city. According to the newspapers he issued the warning in his meeting with the Senate committee that "you tried this thing in the early days and we had a whiskey rebellion."

Mayor McNair is quoted as stating his belief that what the country now needs is a Democratic administration, that redistribution of wealth is not Democracy but communism. Continuing he is quoted as stating:

"This tax program takes so much money out of Pittsburgh. You took 79 million dollars away from us in income taxes last year and if this bill goes through you'll take twice that much. That's too big a burden. The people can't pay their local taxes. I want to protest in the name of Pittsburgh, because we can't stand it any longer.

"Of course, you're spending some of it in our city but we don't like the way you're spending it. I went over to see Mr. Ickes today. We don't like these toll bridges they're building. The people can't come in to buy anything because they can't pay the tolls.

"And this proposition of taxing bigness. There are lots of big corporations around Pittsburgh, but they pay taxes and give employment to people. You've got to have big business—and I'm a Democrat, too. I'm a Benjamin Franklin Democrat. You people think Thomas Jefferson founded the Democratic party, but he didn't. It was founded in Pennsylvania by Benjamin Franklin.

"This tax program will be too much of a drain on city funds and destroy the reservoir of credit. You take our people! When we tax them they get something for it. They get police protection and fire protection and garbage removal. We give them something for their money. What do you give them?"

"You're not going to redistribute wealth with this tax bill," he continued. "You just take it and we don't get it back. That's not redistribution. That's confiscation."

Mayor McNair stated that as a delegate to the Democratic convention at Chicago in 1932 he voted for a platform calling for a balanced budget and that that was the last he ever heard of it.

Mayor McNair is said to have expressed the old fashioned opinion that one way to balance the budget was to quit spending so much money. No doubt he actually believes this but it shows that he is hopelessly a horse and buggy man. No wonder he is out of sympathy with the New Deal. Balanced budgets are passe and the way to get rich is to spend yourself rich.

"BACK TO NORMAL"

Now that the election in the first Rhode Island district is becoming a matter of political history, and the smoke of battle has cleared away, it is possible to get some idea about the significance of the contest. The Republicans gleefully hail it as the beginning of the end for the New Deal. Many so-called old line Democrats who look askance at some of the administration policies admit that it is time "to stop and think," but many political spokesmen in sympathy with the now majority party profess to make light of the result. Some of them say that the Republican victory was due to a Democratic split while others profess to dismiss the subject with the statement that Rhode Island is normally Republican and is only going back to her old moorings.

The result indicates on its face, of course, that the Republicans have considerable reason for rejoicing. Turning a 21,000 adverse majority into a favorable 12,000 majority in a few months is no mean feat in itself, and indicates that something has happened.

But it might be well for a moment to examine the opinion of those who claim to see nothing significant in the result. Such examination will give them cold comfort. In the first place, it is to be remembered that a split in the organization of the party, no matter which party it is or where the split becomes evident, is in itself a cause of concern. It indicates that the machinery is breaking down here and there. Splits always accompany major defeats, and there are indications now that the Democratic organization split in Rhode Island is not entirely a local affair. It will be remebered that the Republicans a year ago blamed the defeat of their governor in Maine on to a "split" in the party. But just the same the upset was the forerunner of a complete defeat in the November election. Signs of a political split are never a cause for comfort anywhere. When the ice cracks in one place it is very apt to be doing it in other places.

Nor can a great deal of solace for the New Deal be derived from the statement that Rhode Island is normally Republican and is just "going back to normal." For it is to be remembered that the entire country is normally Republican, too, and has been since the Civil War. So if the rest of the country follows Rhode Island is merely "going back to normal" it means that the elephant is going to be a pretty active animal in the political campaign next year. It is up to the New Dealers to keep the country from going back to normal politically next year if they want to win. If Uncle Sam does go back to normal then the political record of the nation for the past seventy years shows us what is apt to happen in 1936.

The fact is that the Republicans won an unexpected victory in Rhode Island and one which is important, phychologically at least. The Democratic candidate supported the New Deal principles and the Republican opposed them all the way down the line. The people not only voted against New Deal principles but turned down bond issues which were designed to keep them in effect. It may be true that the Middle West hasn't turned against the New Deal like New England. It doesn't have to, to make the result disastrous from a Democratic standpoint. For just imagine how it would look if the Republicans garnered 58 per cent of the vote out there, too! If the Middle West goes back to normal the G. O. P. ought to be satisfied.

It is said that every bedouin of the Egyptian desert has a right to share the meal of his more fortunate tribesmen. Evidently that share-the-wealth idea is old stuff.

MAN IN THE MOON

WILL ROGERS—WILEY POST

When Will Rogers and Wiley Post plunged to their death a few days ago America lost two leaders—leaders in their respective fields, which were as far removed from each other as the east is from the west.

Will Rogers was a "home" man, although he met his death farm from home. His devotion to his family was a favorite topic among his neighbors and the people who knew him most intimately. Although none of his work was of a spectacular nature, yet he was known from coast to coast, and was universally loved and respected. His work in moving pitcures was acclaimed everywhere, and producers state that his pictures were among the best box office attractions in the business. Millions have watched him on the screen and hung on his every word, that they might not miss one of his famous wisecracks nor one bit of his sound, homespun philosophy. Other millions have read his syndicated articles, published in thousands of newspapers daily, and have approved his ideas as sound and sensible, although given in a manner to bring laughter. He advised officials and dignitaries, farmers and housewives, and they all alike took his advice to heart. He criticized presidents and work-a-day wage earners, and they all liked it. In short, he made a nation laugh and forget its troubles in some degree, and at the same time passed on to the nation's millions sound advice, and these millions, from the highest to the lowest, have put their stamp of approval upon his work. Will Rogers will be missed. His wit and humor will be missed. His simple, straightforward criticism will be missed. "He walked with kings and laborers, and they all loved him"—the acid test of a great man.

Wiley Post was great in his own line. He was an adventurer, an explorer, a frontiersman. He was the kind of man, who, if he had lived in earlier years, would have been a sea-farer and discoverer; he would have been one of the first to "go west" when the country was being opened up and there were Indians to be fought and obstacles to be overcome. As there were no more lands to be discovered and explored when he came along, he became an explorer of the skies, blazing the way that others might follow. He was a fearless man, riding the sky-ways and laughing at danger. Wiley Post might well be placed alongside the Vikings, Columbus, Lewis and Clarke, Daniel Boone and the drivers of the "prairie schooners" in the days of '49, for he was one of their kind.

OUR TAX PROBLEM

Strange as it might seem, the United States of America had its birth directly from successful attempt to evade exorbitant taxes. In colonial days the colonists never had in mind the idea of a separate and independent nation. It was only after unjust and unreasonable taxes had been imposed by the mother country that the colonists rose in rebellion, whipped their oppressors, and then set up their own government and their own tax system, a system so designed to take care of the costs of government, and no more.

As we have come down through the years, however, officials have in great degree lost sight of the original intention for which our tax system was outlined, and taxes have been heaped on from time to time until now the nation's people are in pretty near as bad a condition, so far as taxes are concerned, as they were when King George II of England ruled the roost.

Opinions change often, but human nature never changes, and when our people come to the point when they can no longer bear the ever increasing tax burden they will revolt, just as they did in the country's beginning. I think most everyone recognizes this fact. If not, then let him who sees otherwise search his own mind, and we believe that he will concede that he would fight rather than see his home and possessions taken from him by a confiscatory tax system.

In view of this, would it not be a wiser course to consider some plan other than the continued heaping of taxes on the already overburdened taxpayers? I believe all will agree that this would be a good idea. If this is true, we would like to offer an example and a suggestion.

Tax statistics show us that everfy time taxes are raised, the total of revenue becomes less. When realty taxes are raised, more landowners are forced to allow their lands sold for taxes. When gasoline taxes are raised, more cars go under the sheds—to stay. If increased taxes decrease the total of revenue collected, we believe the reverse would be true, too. At least one city, Detroit, has tried this method and found that it worked. Detroit cut the tax rate 20 per cent, and the revenue jumped 30 per cent, More people were able to pay their taxes, more people could open business houses, more bulding and improvement was done, more automobiles were driven and more gas sold. If the plan will work in Detroit it will work everywhere. Too, there is the idea of decreased governmental expenditures. These would bear looking into, and the problem might be helped along this line. It's worth a trial, any way.

OUR VIEWPOINT

The Union-Banner, and this column in particular, have been strongly criticized many times in the past when we put our own views into print concerning local, state and national questions. We have been charged with chiseling, willful misrepresentation of facts and figures, and everything but downright lies.

In view of these charges, this column would like to make its position clear again regarding its views or any exceptions to them that any opposing member of the fourth estate might take to them.

In the first place, let me say that we have always and always will express our true and conscientious beliefs and convictions in all matters, without fear or favor. We, of course, would like to please all our readers, including our newspaper editors, but that would be a foolish goal to attempt to attain. Too, we have far more respect for anyone who will voice his true convictions, even though we think them wrong, than we have for the habitual "yesser." We have absolutely no respect for the person or publication which makes a practice of trying to rub everybody the right way, even though convictions suffer in the process.

Concerning politics, we feel just as free to criticize or approve the president of the United States and his policies as we do the lowliest constable and any of his actions.

On numbers of occasions we have acclaimed actions of the present administration and its chief executive, because we believed they were good for the nation and our system of government. On other occasions we have just as bitterly assailed their actions, for the opposite reason. We have NEVER sided on any question in any manner just because we believed that popular sentiment ran that way and what's more, WE NEVER WILL. And while we have sided with the president, himself, we have yet to find one time when we could take sides with the special advisory board that the president keeps. We KNOW that they do not believe in our system of government, from their own lips, and we can never believe that they will put their whole heart and work into something they detest.

So, when any of our readers see something in these columns with which they do not agree, please remember that it is our conviction, which we have every right to voice and fight for, and that if their viewpoint is different from ours, then they have their right, just as we have, without having any reproach to bear.

TOO MUCH MEDICINE

There is a woman living in Chilton County who, a few years ago, was counted an invalid. She had been in bed continuously for years. Numbers of doctors had attended her, and countless remedies had been tried, but none of them seemed to do any good.

Finally, she grew tired of being a continual dependence on her relatives. She decided that rather than go on through life taking medicine and being a perpetual drudge on her friends, she had much rather die and be out of it all. So, she refused all medicines, and called for solid food, where she had lived on light foods, soups, etc., for years. When her nerves became "jumpy" she refused "shots" which had been the rule heretofore.

Strange to say, after a few days, she became stronger and stronger from day to day, until finally she called for a robe, sat up, and walked about the room. She continued to improve, and today, after only a few short years, that woman is as hale and hearty as they make them. She tells all that she was over-doctored—that all she needed was to let nature have a chance.

We believe the same thing is troubling the United States. We believe that the artificial doctoring that has been done to a suffering nation in the last few years has done nothing but prolong the ailment—depression. Why not give natural methods of growth a chance?

The government has spent millions—it has primed the pump several times, it has doctored and given shots in the form of relief, and done all kinds of things like this, yet the patient continues to flounder along in the same old sick-bed.

Why not stop the medicines? Why not give a chance to that "rugged individualism" which President Roosevelt has decried, but which has made of America the richest and most powerful nation on the face of the globe?

Anyone with a brain as big as a mustard seed knows that the people must support the government, that the government cannot support the people always. There MUST be a stopping point sometime. The sooner the better. Eventually we must stop doctoring. Why not now?—Man in the Moon.

A STATEMENT BY GOV. ELY

"I am surprised that the Rhode Island election showed such a pronounced change in sentiment. I would have expected the election to be closer than the election in 1934, but I did not look for such a violent upheaval as this result indicates.

"You immediately wonder what caused it. One reason is the disappointment over the New Deal policies. They have increased the cost of living without bringing increased wages. They have not decreased the welfare rolls. The processing taxes in particular have put a load on the textile industry directly or indicertly on the consumer.

"To a large percentage of the voters these policies now loom up in all their strange aspects. The voters are beginning to see that these policies are not American as we understand the American government. They savor of Stalin instead of Washington and Jefferson and Lincoln. Our people cannot reconcile these new ideas with the old idea of thrift and prudent management.

"The other reason is political. The Democratic party in Rhode Island was split and the Democratic party in the nation is split. Very few—so few that you can count them on your fingers of your hands—of the leaders of the party who built it up from 1928 to 1932 and created for the party the confidence of the voting public, have had any recognition by this administration.

"The President's advisers have not been the men who made his election possible, who created confidence in the Democratic party, but they have been a small coterie of unknowns—the Tugwells, the Moleys and Wallace and Harry Hopkins—whose social ideas are not at all in line with either the historical precedent of our party or the platform on which Mr. Roosevelt was elected.

"The election in the Eastern States will go as Rhode Island went, unless Mr. Roosevelt announces that he is through with reform and is giving his attention to recovery and unless he gets rid of those of socialist tendencies and brings into his cabinet the real Democrats of the nation. My impression is that the South is even more violently opposed to the New Deal than we are here in the East.

"They have tried to annihilate the bankers and the public utilities and are giving us horse racing, dog racing, and lotteries. This more abundant life seems to be horse racing. If Mr. Roosevelt's inheritance tax proposals go through, you might as well wipe off all the income taxes in the higher brackets because there won't be any high incomes.

"It seems to be an offense against the social order to save any money. It looks to me as if they'd like to put my widow, if I have one, on the state as a welfare charge. It sounds harsh to say that we should cut down this welfare, but if we don't cut it down there won't be anybody who will have anything. We can't have a Sunday school picnic and go on handing out ice cream forever."—Ex-Governor Joseph B. Ely, of Massachusetts, Democratic leader, in the Boston Transcript.

Petty soon it'll be news when one man in the public eye publicly tells another man in the public eye that he's telling the truth, instead of calling him a liar.—Springfield Union.

One thing which always seemed to infer sanity and balance in the horse and buggy days was the goold old fashioned horse laugh.

Aldous Huxley, British philosopher, says "the greatest miracles are the everyday facts of life." And there are a lot of statesmen in America who don't believe in miracles.

Some kinds of machines don't save labor, they make more. For example the machine that puts the pins in the new shirts.

Here is a suggestion for a New Deal campaign slogan next year: don't change alphabets in the middle of the soup.

The courts have decided that the tomato is a fruit and not a vegetable. But it doesn't make any difference if one hits you.

CORN AND HOGS

One of the most significant economic phases of the latter part of 1935 promises to be the shortage of meat supplies. Observers who travel through the country by train or automobile are remarking about the scant supply of cattle and hogs to be seen in the fields.

According to an Associated Press dispatch recently half of the hog pens in the Chicago market, the greatest in the world, were closed because not enough hogs were being shipped to this market to fill the pens. Traffic in pigs was said to be at the lowest ebb in the history of the market which dates back to 1857.

In the meantime pork prices have skyrocketed to the level attained in boom times when the people had plenty of money with which to buy high priced meats. And the prices of beef are steadily mounting, too, because of the scarcity of the supply. Wages have not gone up in proportion.

Housewives going to the retail markets are said to be strenuously objecting to the prices of pork, beef and lard, and the prices are still mounting.

The increase in price is due to two causes, the scarcity of livestock and in the case of pork products, in part to the processing tax.

It might seem that the farmers had reached the high tide of prosperity, but such is not the case. It makes no difference what the price of livestock is when there is little or no livestock to sell. The livestock markets of the world are now receiving but a fraction of the number of hogs and cattle that were received a year ago.

Higher prices, of course, mean reduced consumption and a burden on the working man who has to buy meat. But the farmer does not get the benefit because the prices are caused in most part by scarcity and he has little livestock to sell. There will be more meat and meat products imported into the United States during the year 1935 than has been the case for a great many years.

Meadows have never been greener in many parts of the Middle West and the corn prospects has seldom seemed better. But it is difficult now to buy thin cattle to browse on the meadows because there are none. And in view of the scarcity of livestock farmers are beginning to wonder what they will get for their corn this winter if they sell it and what they will do with it if they keep it.

The program of the AAA seems to be decidedly out of joint. Some Brain Trust farm experts blame it on to the drouth of last year and not to the destruction of pigs in 1933. Well, something happened to the cattle that were moved out of the drouth area last summer. They are not visible now. And something happened to the pig crop after the wholesale slaughter of 1933. As one man who traveled across Indiana recently put it:

"When I went across the Hoosier Seate in 1933 I smelled burning pigs everywhere. Now I see corn everywhere but don't smell any pigs either burning or otherwise."

Mr. Wallace is quoted as stating that had it not been for the hog control program of the AAA in 1933, pork would be higher than it is. Evidently he has forgotten to take into consideration the processing tax, for one thing.

But even at that, the Brain Trust farm experts told us there were too many pigs in the country in 1933, that they did not represent wealth but "surplus." The farmers were paid and the pigs burned on the theory that this would get them better prices. Now we are told that the hog control program kept prices lower than they otherwise have been.

O, consistency, thou are a jewel. And jewels are rare these days.

DEMOCRACY ASSERTS ITSELF

When a paper like the Atlanta Constitution, which described itself as long ardently faithful to the administration, admits it is beginning "to crawl out from under the covers," a situation possibly more menacing to administration interests is indicated than the long open hostility of Gov. Talmadge.

Gergia is aroused by the attempted dictation of Secretary Wallace and some of his subordinates in the federal roads bureau of the state's highway program and over the Wallace ultimatum that the state highway board must be reorganized to suit the department. Mr. Wallace scolds the state because a chief highway engineer who was a federal favorite was dismissed and personnel reduced.

The federal roads bureau insists that the state place on its program a $250,000 bridge over the Oconee Creek in the district of Representative Vinson, an administration favorite. There may be no politics in this sort of thing, but it would be hard to convince Georgia. The state officials say that the bridge would require the construction, in a section where all traffic needs are already met, of a $1,200,000 road to give access to the bridge.

The Constitution suggests that if Mr. Wallace is to have his way the state might as well recall its representatives from Washington and turn over the administration of the state to the Secretary and those who agree with him. Pennsylvania knows something about attempted dictation by chesty administration subordinates. This time the pain in the neck is Georgia's—Philadelphia Evening Bulletni.

A lot of people seem to think that amnesia is a new disease. Shucks, when we were young all the boys of our town were afflicted with it every time the grand jury went into session.

AAA HOLDS OVER 152 MILLIONS

Washington, August 26.—The AAA paid out $563,438,812.77 in rental benefit payments to farmers participating in the crop production control in the fiscal year ending June 30, Comptroller John B. Payne reported today.

Processing taxes collected during the same period totaled $526,222,357.76. At beginning of the fiscal year, July 1, 1934, the AAA treasury had on hand $71,572,151.43 from processing taxes and $281,565,270.08 from appropriations and trust funds.

In addition to processing taxes, receipts during the year included $111,924,702.63 from appropriations in trust funds and other sources.

Total expenditures of $807,686,134.47 for the year, from total resources of $960,334,220.63, left a balance of $152,466,086.16 to launch the new fiscal year.

Rental and benefit payments by commodities were: Cotton, $116,195,930.56; wheat, $98,223,175.49; tobacco, $28,767,914,02; corn-hogs, $302,407,647.62; and sugar, $17,844,145.08.

The Wednesday afternoon closing of stores in Clanton will cease at the end of the month of August, according to the agreement that was signed by the merchants at the beginning of the summer season.

The agreement stated that Wednesday afternoon, August 28th, would be the last day upon which stores will close for the summer weekly half-holiday.

After that time it is assumed that all vacations and summer rest periods will be over. It is hoped that cooler weather and a rush of business will be upon us so we may get started out on the long winter grind of every day in the week a hard working day.

GINNERS URGE FARMERS TO BRING CERTIFICATES TO GIN

A meeting of the cotton gin operators of Chilton County was held at the courthouse Monday, at which a representative of the United States Internal Revenue Department was in attendance for the purpose of explaining and outlining the process of the law governing the ginning of cotton and the use of exemption certificates.

After the meeting Monday, all the ginners of the county prepared and authorized the following notice to cotton farmers, which is being published in a large advertisement in this week's newspapers:

The Internal Revenue Department says: When a farmer gins a bale of cotton, the bale must be settled for at that time, either by exemption certificate, the tax paid in cash, or a lien card attached to the bale.

In order to comply with this provision and to avoid confusion and delay, it is absolutely necessary that all farmers when they bring a bale of cotton to the gin, also bring their exemption certificates, properly signed.

If the farmer does not have his certificates at the gin, it will be necessary to place lien card on the bale. Then in order to secure certificate and bale tag it would be required that the farmer send his book of certificates to the Internal Revenue Collector at Birmingham, and bale tag and certificate would be issued direct from that office to him.

This trouble and delay can be avoided only by the farmer bringing his exemption certificates with each bale of cotton brought to the gin.

Master J. D. Davenport spent Saturday night with his uncle and family, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Davenport.

SINGING CONVENTION

The singing convention in Harp and Harmony will meet with Cedar Grove church the first Sunday and Saturday before, in September. We invite all singers and lovers of music to be with us.

LAW CHANGES AGE LIMITS FOR CHILDREN IN SCHOOLS

Public schools of Alabama will begin the 1935 session undtr a new legal provision fixing the minimum age at which children may enter the schools.

The new statute, approved by the Governor and placed in effect on August 12, this year provides:

That a child who is six years of age on or before October the first shall be entitled to admission to the public elementary schools at the opening of such schools for that school year or as soon as practicable thereafter; that a child who is under six years of age on October the first shall not be entitled to admission to such school during that school year, except that a child who becomes six years of age on or before February the first may, on approval of the board of education in authority, be admitted at the beginning of the second semester of that school year to schools in school systems having semi-annual promotions of pupils.

Steps Forward In Ala. Health Work

Two important events in separate sections of Alabama in the near future will mark additional steps forward in the progress of the state's public health program.

One is the formal opening of Morgan County's new tuberculosis sanitorium, for which a special program has been planned for Thursday, September 12th. The second will be the beginning of operations of a full time health unit in DeKalb County, expeteed to start on September 1st.

The Morgan County hospital was built during the Civil Works Administration programs with local authorities co-operating, and civc clubs, the American Legion, Chamber of Commerce and all other interested groups have planned an elaborate program to celebrate its completion.

Governor Graves, Dr. A. E. Morgan. Chairman of the Board of Directors of the Tennessee Valley Authority; Dr. E. L. Bishop, Director of health of the Tennessee Valley Authority; Dr. J. N. Baker, State Health Officer, and others have been invited to attend.

Dr. Baker said the event would be of "peculiar significance" to Alabama in that it will mark the opening of the first tuberculosis hospital in the State's carefully worked out plan for control of this disease. While its operations will be modest at first, financed by local appropriations and charitable contributons, it is large enough to serve many more patients when a small amount of state aid may be made available by the legislature to supplement these funds.

The State Health Department at present is endeavoring to have the State appropriate a small fund to aid counties or groups of counties which construct such hospitals by providing a subsidy not to exceed 75c per day per patient cared for. The plan seems to be meeting increasing favor among legislators who know the ravages of the "white plague."

DeKalb County's new health unit, which is expected to begin its program soon after September 1st., was made possible when the county governing body appropriated a fund for a public health program. The officials were highly praised by officials of the State Health Department for their far-sightedness.

The DeKalb unit will bring to 54 the number of county health units now in operation in Alabama, giving a great majority of the people full-tme health protetcion. Other units are expected to open soon in view of the coming benefits to be derived from the National Social Security Act.

Dr. and Mrs. C. O. Lawrence, Bubber Lawrence and Misses Sara Lawrence, Helen Roberts and Gertiwyl Vinson returned home Saturday from a delightful vacation trip to the Florida coast.

Mrs. Oliver Latham has as her guests this week Mr. Sam Latham and Mr. Julian Latham and their families of Aurora, Illinois.

Mr. Earle Ellis left Monday for Chicago. Miss Mary Ellis, who has been attending the Chicago University this summer, will return with him.

Mrs. Minnie Weaver of Birmingham was the guest Sunday of Mrs. Oliver Latham.

Mr. and Mrs. George Trotter of Jordan Dam visited friends here Tuesday.

Little Miss Donna Blacketter Celebrates Birthday

Little Miss Donna Blacketter celebrated her sixth birthday last week when her mother, Mrs. D. L. Blackketter, entertained with a party for children at her home on Friday afternoon. A number of games were played on the lawn and balloons and suckers were given each little guest for favors.

The whole birthday cake embossed in pink and holding six pink candles made a pretty counterpiece for the dining room table. Mickey Mouse ice cream cups were served with the birthday cake refreshments.

Those present were Barbara Burnette, Ann Maddox, Barbara McDonald, Lucy Ann Williams, Julia Nell Parrish, Carolyn and Sidney Teel, Warrena and Martha Jeanette Wingard, O. K. Welch, Jack Elmore, Richard Reynolds, L. J. Stewart, Gwendolyn Atkinson, Ruth and Betsy Jones of Lay Dam, Jeanette and William Crutcher Ross, Bobby Popwell, Jimmy Bell, Bobbie Deal of Birmingham, Thad and Frances McSwain, John Will Pitts, Nina Lou Davis, Broadhead, Harry Reynolds, Sally Gowan, Marye Lee Gray and others.

Mrs. L. C. Ross and Mrs. Vernie Teel assisted Mrs. Blacketter in the games and in serving.

Sunday school met Sunday with a good many present, but there are still several who could come if they would. We are making much improvement and we urge everyone who can to come.

A special service was held Sunday night, which we enjoyed very much. Delegates were appointed to go to the convention to be held at Liberty Hill, in October. The delegates are as follows: Mr. Willie Adams, Mrs. J. R. Connell, Mrs. J. S. Easterling, Mr. Tom Miner and Mr. J. S. Easterling.

We urge that all our members be present next meeting day, which is the third Saturday and Sunday in September. This is the last two services Bro. Lockhart will hold as pastor or this church. Communion services will be held on Saturday.

Several people from this community including Mr. and Mrs. T. N. Miner, Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Easterling, Mrs. Ollie Easterling, Jodie Miner, and Mrs. Dewey Miner were in Sylacauga last week on account of the illness of Mrs. Mary Easterling. Mrs. Easterling returned home Sunday but is still very ill. We wish for her a speedy recovery.

Mrs. Nancy Mims and her grand son, Grady, were the guests of her son, Mr. A. N. Mims Sunday night.

HUGE SUMS PORTRAY AMERICAN BANKING

Millions of Persons Are Shown as Entrusting Billions of Dollars in the Nation's Banks

The latest official figures covering all banks in the United States show that there are 16,042 licensed banking institutions of every kind and that over 63,000,000 persons have entrusted them with their deposits to the amount of $44,800,000,000.

Of the total number of banks 10,580 are operating under the supervision of the banking departments of their respective states and 5,462 are national banks under the supervision of the Comptroller of the Currency. The state banks had deposits of $26,300,000,000 and the national banks $18,500,000,000.

The banks are employing these deposits to the amount of about $20,500,000,000 in loans and $23,000,000,000 in investments. These figures depict the broad channels through which they are cooperating with individuals, business and government in financing their needs and activities.

Cooperating With All Classes

Under the classification of loans the banks had advanced to owners of farm lands and city real estate nearly $9,000,000,000 on mortgages, and to individuals and business concerns some $12,000,000,000, either in the form of unsecured loans or loans secured by readily marketable collateral.

Their investments in direct Federal Government borrowings aggregated $11,000,000,000, and they had advanced through the purchase of obligations of various Government recovery corporations, another billon dollars in support of Federal activities of this class. Their investments in local, state and municipal bonds were over $3,000,000,000 and in American corporate securities over $6,000,000,000.

Their deposits are classified in two main divisions,—savings or thrift accounts, and time and demand, or checking, accounts. In the former class there were 39,000,000 depositors with $22,000,000,000 to their credit, and in the latter 24,000,000 depositors with balances of about $23,000,000,000.

The Services of Banking

These latter deposits represent the active business funds of the country which circulate freely in carrying out the financing of current commercial and industrial activities through the checking and other facilities placed at the disposal of depositors by the banks.

It has been pointed out that these depositors are made up of wage earners, salaried folk, farmers, housewives, professional and business men and women, manufacturers and executives, representing all types and all walks of life, ranging from persons in modest circumstances up to those of large means.

"These millions of prudent, industrious people constituting a complete cross section of American thought and activity," says a recent comment, "are giving through their deposits, an impressive declaration of confidence in the soundness and usefulness of present-day American banking."

TO IMPROVE YOUR CREDIT STANDING

By DAN H. OTIS,
Agricultural Director, American Bankers Association

What steps can be taken to improve one's credit standing? Through the use of credit statements it is possible to maintain contacts with credit agencies and thus become better acquainted and establish a friendly, mutual understanding.

D. H. OTIS

When properly handled a bank account gives an accurate record of income and expenses, and is a valuable aid in keeping business and farm accounts. The duplicate deposit pad with carbon paper on which to make an extra copy provides a dated day-book record of farm income. The check book, with a properly filled out stub, provides a dated day-book record of expenses.

"I have discovered how essential to success it is to keep an accurate book account of the income and expenditures for the farm," writes a farmer who tried out this plan. "Heretofore these detailed duties were burdensome and neglected. When I started this work I opened a bank account and have deposited every dollar received from the farm. I pay all my bills by check. By this method I have an accurate daybook account of every dollar received and paid out."

The farm inventory is a necessary factor in understanding the farm business and in establishing and maintaining a good credit rating. It lists farm resources, farm liabilities and the value of each. It is the simplest form of financial record and shows more for the time spent than any other form of accounts. It reveals real net worth and the direction in which financial affairs are moving.

It permits comparison of two or more years and shows net gain or loss. It serves as basis for planning farm operations the following year. It forms a basis for credit statements and farm loans.

Mrs. L. C. Duncan, with Dorothy and Betsy Ann, returned to Birmingham Tuesday night after spending a week with relatives here.

Road Thru Shelby County Be Rebuilt

Worn Out Road North of Calera, Now Motorists' Terror, To Be Replaced

Unofficial advice was received yesterday from Washington at WPA headquarters, of approval of the reconstruction and repaving of the approximately 22 3-4 miles of the Bee Line Highway (U. S. No. 31) that traverses Shelby County, which has become so rough motor traffic of every description passing over it has to slow down to a low rate of speed.

The surfacing placed on this road was laid during the administration of the late former Gov. W. W. Brandon, and was one of the first high type bituminous paving projects to be carried out in Alabama. According to engineers it has become rough through settlement since it was laid, and the change in volume, of the natural soil composing its base.

Plans for the repaving which it is estimated will, with relief labor, call for the expenditure of from $175,000 to $200,000, contemplate resurfacing of the present paving with bituminous material, and the widening of the shoulders on either side of the roadway, also widening of the roadway itself from its present width of 18 feet to 20 feet, wherever adequate rights of way are obtained by the county.

The project, it is stated, is one that lends itself readily to the utilizing of relief labor, as limestone to be used in the resurfacing is available along the roadside, and quarrying and crushing the stone will give employment to a large number of men. As soon as necessary rights of way are secured by the county, crews will begin clearing and widening operations preparatory to repaving, it was announced.

All work on the project will be under the direction and supervision of the State Highway Department, acting in cooperation with the WPA. Cost of the reconstruction and repaving will be borne jointly by the WPA and the Highway Department, the latter's contribution being funds that would be made available for maintenance of the section of road to be improved.

"UNKLE MIKE HANKS" WRITES TO THE "DEER GUVERMINT"

To: Hon. Felix Frankfurter, Professor Branch U. S. Govt.:
Dear Prof. Felix:

My brother-in-law Jake is a problem chile, age 40. He wuz born Unemployed and hain't did a stitch uv work in his life.

But I hear pretty soon the Govt is goin to take him off FERA and make him go to work; so Jake has sudently come down with a case of PWA Jitters.

My wife Mable give him er gud Bail-in-out today, she says, "Your loafin days is over Jake. Havin Jitters and them kind uv tricks ain't goin to fool the Govt no more," says Mable, "so what do you mean laying in bed till 12 o'click this a way?"

"I GOT to lay in bed, so as I can keep my eye on the Ceiling" says Jake "I figure there's a place for a good Ceiling Inspector in the Boon-Dogglin department."

"Oh, is zat so?" says Mable. "Well I happen to know that you wuz out till 2 m.x. with the people up the Maid's street. I suppose that was boon-doggling," says Mable.

"No," says Jake. "That wuz moon-goggling. I poon-doggle in the day time and moon-goggle at night."

I and Mable told him that those kind uv funnie Projecks wuzn't allowd any more, so Jake says, "Well, if I really got to go to work I want a job in the Brain Trust. I wanter be a Govt professor and learn Foreigners how to write their nomes on relief checks."

I told him that if he wuz going to be that kind uv thing he'd have to know all about the Nudeal Alfafabet, sich as what PWA and RFC stud fur. "I do know that," says Jake. "I bet I can pass the Alfafabet Test 100 per cent; jes try me out and see."

So I give him a Alfafabet Test. I wrote down the letters fur a lot of Nudeal bureaus so as Jake could fill in what the letters stood for. Jake knit his brow and racked his brains on the list, and the result come out as follows:

Nudeal letters—what they stand for:
AAA—Anti-Animal Adminastriaten.
CCC—Can't Cash Checks.
PWA—Papa's Working Again.
HOLC—Home Owners Lose Cash.
NRA—Now Roosting in the Attic.
RFC—Relief For Capitalists.
FERA—Feed Every Republican Arsenic.
FDR—Franklin Desires to Run.
Yourn fur more easie Jobs,

FIRST PRISONER IN NEW CITY JAIL LAST SATURDAY

Sam Cleckler won the distinction of being the first prisoner to be confined in the new jail at the Clanton City Hall. He was put in last Saturday on a charge of public drunkenness.

Ordinarily we do not mention the names of people who are arrested for various charges. But due to the fact that Sam was the first guest in the new jail, we felt we ought to tell who it was.

Mr. Z. J. Jones, prominent citizen of Beat 14, was among the visitors in Clanton Tuesday.

WALKER VOTED AGAINST AAA

This Article Clipped From Birmingham News, Date of August 22, 1935

Jasper, Ala.—The home county of Senator John H. Bankhead and Representative W. B. Bankhead voted against continuation of the Bankhead cotton control act, of which the brothrs were co-authors, and voiced bitter opposition to continuing the AAA program.

The vote was approximately ten to one, and marked the completion of a county-wide rally of farmers held here. The vote was taken by J. T. High, county agent official.

Only 46 votes were tallied for continuation of the AAA program and Bankhead cotton act, of which 17 were women. Only persons in the overcrowded courtroom were voted. About 1,500 people listening to the program by loudspeaker outside the courthouse did not vote on the issue.

Wide discussion on the two issues involved Auburn officials and officials of the Alabama Farmers Union, the latter being credited with defeat of the issues in this county.

Walker county is considered the stronghold county in Alabama of the rapidly growing farm union movement. Between 2,000 and 2,500 people attended the rally.

FORD SALES SET A HIGH RECORD

More Cars Sold in August Than Any Month Since Model T Days

According to a statement by Mr. T. J. Littlejohn, of Clanton Motors, local Ford dealers, the sale of new Ford units by his concern in the month of August was greater than that of any month since the booming days of the model T.

"This makes two months this year," said Mr. Littlejohn, "that we have broken all former records of our sales of new Ford units. Our sales have been better than they were in 1929."

With the sale of 31 units during the month of August, Mr. Littlejohn said the total sales for this year up to the end of August is more than for the whole year of 1934.

As a result of the booming sales of Fords by Clanton Motors, Mr. J. C. (Rip) Burnett, was awarded a free trip to the San Diego Exposition as a guest of Ford Motor Company. This was for his record selling of new units during a contest period conducted during the months of June and July.

Indications are that Clanton Motors, by the end of 1935, will have rounded out the most successful year's business in its history.

GUARD THE HEALTH OF SCHOOL CHILDREN

Within the next month approximately 1,500 Chilton County children will have entered school for the first time. This means that these children, practically all around six or seven years of age, will leave the comparative safety and protection of their homes and begin life filled with new experiences, in which the foundation of their future education will be laid. And while the first grade teachers throughout the county realize and accept a great part of the responsibility of seeing that their education is properly begun, the parents must realize that they also have the responsibility of seeing that their boys or girls have the proper physical and mental health that will enable them to enjoy and profit by their first year in the school.

Every child, before entering school for the first time, should have a complete physical examination by a physician, and at this time should be vaccinated for small pox and immunized against diptheria, if this has not already been done. The importance of this is plainly seen when it is remembered that the child will, more than ever before, be liable to exposure to these diseases, due to a wider contact with other children.

Another very important part of the preparation for school should be o visit to the dentist. It is about this time in a child's life that the first permanent teeth make their appearance. It is these teeth which the dentists consider the most important of all since they are the ones around which the future dental "arch" is to be built, that are most often allowed to decay. Parents too often think they will be replaced in the future and do not realize that if they are allowed to decay to the point where they must be lost that they will never be replaced.

And so this is in the nature of a plea to those parents who have children entering school for the first time to see to it that they are free from those defects which are likely to prevent them from getting the most out of their new experience, and see that they are prepared to properly begin to learn to "shift for themselves", which is such an important part of their education.

JULIUS C. BURNETT

Taking Trip As Guests of Ford

Mr. and Mrs. Julius Burnett Left Sunday for San Diego, California

Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Burnett left last Sunday for a ten-days trip to San Diego, Califarnia, as the guests of the Ford Motor Company. They joined a party of Ford representatives in Montgomery, where they boarded a special train and started their journey to the golden west.

Mr. Burnett was awarded this free trip by Ford Motor Company by winning of first place in the top group of June-July salesmen's contest recently concluded by the Atlanta branch of the Ford Motor Company in this territory. He was one of the six salesmen winners in their respective groups.

Mr. Burnett, always a leader, has received many awards in the past for stellar performance in his line of work, and this latter award keeps his batting average right up with all other leaders.

Joseph A. Hester Died Last Sunday

CITY WILL VOTE ON PAVING

Community Center Is Rejected

DR. S. J. EZELL BEGINS HIS 14th YEAR AS PASTOR HERE

With his sermon last Sunday, Dr. S. J. Ezell began his fourteenth year as Pastor of Clanton Babtist Church. In honor of the occasion Dr. Ezell delivered a very fitting sermon at the 11 o'clock service. Among other things the Doctor said that during his long stay in Clanton there had been no divisions nor serious controversies in the church, which is a rather unusual feat. It is unusual for a pastor to stay at one church that long, and it is extraordinary that no noticeable controversies arise in that length of time.

TWENTY BOYS FROM CCC CAMP ATTEND BAPTIST S. S. CLASS

The attendance at Clanton Baptist Sunday School from the CCC camp here increased to twenty last Sunday. The number attending of regular local boys was 12.

The CCC boys say they are going to keep on increasing their number of attendants, provided arrangements are made to take care of them. Sunday school officials assure them of adequate quarters, and it is hoped that a large number of them attend Sunday school and preaching in the future. A most cordial welcome is extended to them.

CITY REFUSES TO TAKE PART IN IT

Request of County for City to Pay One-Fourth Is Turned Down

What appears to be a thumbs down attitude toward participation in the development of a community center at the Airport property, near Clanton, by the County and City officials was revealed Tuesday and Tuesday night by action of those bodies.

The Commissioners began consideration of the proposal to buy more land and go into the community center development. They carried the matter over without action until Tuesday.

At the Tuesday meeting they reached the agreement that the County would be willing to bear three-fourths the cost of the purchase of the land and the same prorata of local participation cost in developing the property, provided the City of Clanton would agree to bear one-fourth of those expenditures.

Judge J. Lee Smith appeared before the Council meeting on Tuesday night and stated the proposition the Commissioners were making to the City. He pointed out that the Commissioners offered this proposition to Clanton first, because they thought Clanton the logical place for a community center, and stated that if Clanton did not want to accept it, the same offer on the part of the County would stand open to any other town or community in the county.

After considerable discussion of the matter, Councilman Diefenderfer made a motion that the city authorize the expenditure of $400 for participation with the county in the purchase of the additional land at the airport. The motion was seconded by Councilman J. Watts Moore. Upon the vote of the Council, Diefenderfer and Moore voted yes and Councilmen Heflin and Shaw voted no. The question was untied by Mayor Jones voting no.

After disposition of that motion J. Mell Martin, representing the Kiwanis Club would guarantee to raise half of the $400 if the city would give the other half, and offered to lay the $200 in cash on the table. The offer of Mr. Martin did not even bring forth a motion from members of the Council.

This action is taken to mean that the community center is definitely in the pigeon hole for a long time. Action by supporters of the movement was pressed at this time because of the fact that in a few days it will be too late to submit projects for government aid, and the government will not entertain such projects at this time without additional land being secured.

Explaining their votes against the proposition, Mayor Jones and the Councilmen who voted against the proposal stated that their action was based, not upon their opposition to such a development, but upon the fact that Clanton would have to borrow the money necessary to put into the transaction, and that they opposed borrowing money for that or any other purpose at this time.

ELECTION DATE NOT ANNOUNCED

Mayor Jones Issues Statement Regarding Proposal to Pave Streets

Mayor C. Fenn Jones, in a statement released Tuesday morning, stated that the voters of the City of Clanton will have an opportunity to express themselves upon the proposal to engage in an extensive program of street paving in our residential districts. Date of the election was not stated.

"Our application for a government grant for the paving has been made to the Public Works Administration," he said, "together with a tentative sketch of the streets proposed to be paved. This is not a definite and final set-up of the proposition, however. We may have included some streets that will be eliminated. But no streets not included in the preliminary bid can be included later. Neither can it be determined just at this time how much the proposal will involve in dollars."

The complete text of the Mayor's statement, completely covering the whole proposition, is as follows:

"Under regulations of the government I find it will be cheaper, saving time and work, to proceed with paving our streets by first allowing the property owners or the people to vote on the question, and in due time an election will be called for that purpose.

"I am pleased with this procedure, as it places the responsibility upon the people to authorize the paving or reject it. In the very beginning of the discussion of this question I told the property owners in a statement in the papers of July 15th, if they desired the paving to signify their wishes by filing petitions with me asking that the street on which they live or own property be paved. If there is anyone who doubts that the property owners on the most used streets want the paving, I invite them to call at my office and examine the petitions left with me requesting that the paving be done.

"I have not, directly or indirectly, made any effort to force the paving on the people. Unless there is a great change of heart since the petitions were filed, there will be a few opposing votes when the matter comes before the people for their approval. I think this prediction is evidenced and justified by the petitions left with me approving the paving.

"To the limit of my ability and knoledge I shall protect the property owners against graft, inferior materials and poor workmanship on these improvements to our City, if the voters order them done in the coming election.

"It is true that all legal voters within the city limits have a right to vote on the matter. But the property owner or the property improved is directly responsible for the debt. The property owners on streets not paved will not have to pay the debt. It is a fact, however, that the government will look to and make settlement with the City officials for the payment of the bonds when they fall due; but the City will collect from each property owner the amount assessed against the property for paving.

"The person without property in the immediate paving district, therefore, gets the benefit of paved streets without cost to himself. But should he desire to defeat the wish of the property owner to pay for the paving in front of his own property, he is at liberty to oppose the paving.

"I am not prepared to say at this time when the bonds would be due. They will be serial, coming due over a period of possibly ten years or more. The property owner may pay cash when the work is completed, or make annual payments; but will not be permitted to defer all payments until the last bond is due. That would obviously be very poor business for both the City and property owner.

"Application has been made to the government for sufficient money to pave the streets, extend the water mains to the people recently included in the City limits, and to seat the City auditorium. The exact amount of money needed can not be known at this time. It is assured, however, that more money than is necessary to complete the work will not be borrowed. In fact, the government will not allow the money to be used for any purposes other than as specified in the application.

"I hope the people who have lived in Clanton all the while will approve of the water extension to our new friends, giving them fire protection also. They too have a right to vote, and I hope will not fail to do so.

"Remember the government pays 45 per cent of the total cost of the street paving, the extension of water mains, and seating the City auditorium. We are not likely to have another opportunity such as this."

The New Deal---As Others See It

[AN EDITORIAL]

For the past several weeks The Union-Banner has been giving its readers its opinion of the New Deal, or the Democratic administration at Washington. Below, we shall use a few quotations to show how others feel about the matter. It will be noted that most of the quotations are from Democrats, and are generally rather serious indictments against those now in power at Washington.

William Randolph Hearst, owner and publisher of a number of large newspapers over the country, and a Democrat, says:

"I think, too, that this regular Democratic Party should sue out an injunction to prevent the Socialist Party from using its name.

"The present administration has adopted all the Socialist principles. Why should it not be content with the Socialist name?

"It has repudiated all the policies of the Democratic platform; all the promises of the candidates on the recent alleged Democratic ticket; all the policies of the historic Democratic Party; all the policies of Jefferson, who founded the Democratic Party.

"Why, then, should it desire to use the name of Democratic? And even if it should so desire, why should it be allowed to use the name?

"And it should not have its honored name stolen by the imported, Asiatic Socialist Party of Karl Marx and Franklin Delano Roosevelt.

"The Socialist Party is not an American Party and has had no place in the development of the great nation it now seeks to divide and to destroy.

"The Socialist Party represents the tyranny to escape which our fathers came to this country, and to exclude which they erected here their glorious temple to independence of thought and action; to freedom of speech and of publication and of assembly and of religious belief—to national and individual liberty."

Remember, the above is one Democrat speaking of another. If what Mr. Hearst says about Mr. Roosevelt is just half true, then the people of the United States should never want to elect another man to office who bears the insignia borne by Mr. Rooosevelt and the national administration.

Then David Lawrence, the foremost political writer of present times, takes up the unemployemnt question of the country. When Franklin D. Roosevelt went into office two and one-half years ago he promised to reduce the unmployment list by 5 million to 6 million. Mr. Lawrence has this to say about Mr. Roosevelt's failure:

"The failure could be forgiven, too, if the Administration were wise enough to recognize the reason for its blundering and if it were to start at once on the right track toward sound economics.

"But what are the unemployment figures today?

"The National Industrial Conference Board, whose figures for the unemployed have always been less than those of the American Federation of Labor, issued a table on August 10, 1935:

	Unemployed
September, 1933	9,920,000
January, 1934	10,538,000
September, 1934	10,218,000
January, 1935	10,142,000
May, 1935	9,711,000

"Thus it will be seen that in May of this year, the unemployed rolls were not materially different from what they were on September, 1933 when the NRA was supposed to put 4,000,000 to 5,000,000 to work by labor day.

"The figures tell a tragic story because in two and a half years the Federal Government has spent many billions and has incurred the largest deficits in history and still our unemployed rolls are about what they were in 1933.

"When will the New Deal concede that 'made work' is a fizzle?"

Under the headlines of "What's ahead in Washington" W. M. Kiplinger gives his observation of the administration in these scathing words in a current issue of The Nation's Business, the United States Chamber of Commerce publication:

"Speaking as a first-hand observer of government, not as a partisian, I have no hesitancy in saying that the administration set-up of the Rosevelt administration is more inefficient, more incompetent, more helter-skelter than any other of its recent predecessors for 20 years back.

"The individual officials ..... do not work together. They work at cross purposes. One set pushes one way, another set pushes another way. Their objectives are different. They don't agree among themselves, and there's no one who dares make them work together, or to fire those who do not fit into the general program—whatever the general program is.

"If the internal program of any corporation were as messy as the affairs of the United States government, the cooperation would automatically go busted.

"There will be many big speeches this fall .... But they will not help the internal situation; they may even make the internal situation worse, for such speeches tend to obscure the facts with words. The current government should have less oratory and more housekeeping."

The United States Chamber of Commerce is strictly a non-partisan organization. It is not Republication and it is not Democratic. It makes careful and accurate check-ups on conditions affecting the general public affairs; and it tells its opinion in an unbiased and unafraid manner. It lets the chips fall where they may, and they are falling fast these days against the New Deal. You can well bank on the reports and opinions of the United States Chamber of Commerce.

Hoover To Make His Plans Known

Friends Think He Does Not Want To Bear Standard Of His Party

Washington, Aug. 30.—Word was circulated in well-informed quarters Friday that Herbert Hoover was planning to issue a statement that he is not seeking the Republican presidential nomination.

Friends of the former president said they did not believe he wanted to carry the party standard again in 1936. They added that they expected him to say this directly in a statement during the next month or so.

There have been many recent demands by Republicans that Hoover make clear whether he was seeking the nomination. Some of his friends have said that what he wanted to see was a party victory and that at the proper moment he would say who he thought could deliver that.

On the other hand, some astute Republican politicians have argued that if the former president desired to have a hand in the selection of the nominee he should keep silent. In this way, they said, he would maintain a personal following which at the proper moment in the convention could be thrown to the candidate he favored.

Sidney Reynolds, son of Mr. and Mrs. L. C. Reynolds, of Clanton, left last Sunday for Tusacicosa to take up his studies at the University.

IMPROVED UNIFORM INTERNATIONAL SUNDAY SCHOOL Lesson

Lesson for September 8

LYDIA AND PRISCILLA

LESSON TEXT—Acts 16:11-15; 18:1-3, 24-28.

GOLDEN TEXT—Give her of the fruit of her hands; and let her works praise her in the gates.—Proverbs 31:31.

PRIMARY TOPIC—A Meeting Out of Doors.

JUNIOR TOPIC—A Meeting by the River Side.

INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOPIC—Serving God in Our Daily Work.

YOUNG PEOPLE AND ADULT TOPIC—Women in Industrial Life.

The central teaching of this lesson does not so much concern Christian women in industrial life as it does the gospel of Christ finding them while in the pursuit of their chosen callings.

I. The Conversion of Lydia (Acts 16:11-15).

So far as recorded, she was the first convert in Europe and in a real sense hers is a typical conversion. Observe the steps therein.

1. Attendance at the place of prayer (v. 13). There being no synagogue here, the accustomed place of prayer was at the river side. The accustomed place today is the church. However, the worship of God is not restricted to set places.

2. Listening to the preaching of the Word of God (v. 14). Paul took advantage of the opportunity afforded him by the assemblage of this group of devoted women to preach Christ to them. He was always alert and prized highly the opportunity to tell the people about Christ.

3. Her heart was opened by the Lord (v. 14). The individual may place himself near to the means of grace and the preacher may preach the Word of God, but there is no hope of salvation till the heart is opened by the Lord (John 6:44, 45. While the salvation of everyone is dependent upon this sovereign act of God, yet we can be sure that he is willing at all times to do this for those who place themselves in the way of saving grace.

4. She was baptized (v. 15). The ordinance of baptism follows belief in Christ. The invariable rule in the early church was for believers to be baptized. While there is no salvation in the water of baptism, yet hearty obedience should be rendered in this respect.

5. She brought her household to Christ (v. 15). This was as it always should be.

6. Her expression of gratitude (v. 15). She thus showed signs of the new life in showing gratitude to those who had been instrumental in her conversion by constraining them to share the hospitality of her home.

II. Aquila and Priscilla in Corinth (Acts 18:1-3).

1. Why there (v. 1). They were expelled from Rome by the cruel edict of Claudius against the Jews.

2. What they were doing (v. 3). Though recently arrived, they had already settled down to the pursuit of their trade, the making of tents.

3. Paul finding a home (v. 3). While carrying on an evangelistic campaign in Corinth and needing work for his support, he found a job at his trade in the shop with Aquila and Priscilla. It was perhaps as he plied the needle that he related to his fellow workmen the wonderful story of his salvation.

4. Valued helpers to Paul. He more than found a home with them; he found priceless fellow-helpers of the gospel. This was a most devoted couple. They are never mentioned separately.

III. Aquila and Priscilla Instructing Apollos (Acts 18:24-28).

Having been instructed by Paul, they were able not only to discern Apollos' lack of understanding of the gospel but to expound to him the way of God more perfectly. Here is a case where an eloquent preacher and mighty in the Scriptures was perfected in instruction by a humble couple of manual laborers.

IV. Aquila and Priscilla Were Active Christian Workers (Rom. 16:3).

Perhaps because of business success they occupied a place of prominence in the community, but they were preeminently known as zealous workers for Christ.

V. Aquila and Priscilla Endangered Their Lives for Paul (Rom. 16:4).

They seemed at some critical time to have endangered their lives for Paul's sake. They were so loyal to Paul that they are described as having been actually martyred for him.

VI. Aquila and Priscilla Had a Sanctified Home (Rom. 16:5).

When poverty and persecution made the house of worship impossible, the home of this godly couple became the meeting place of the saints. A private home may be made a sacred edifice and is so indeed when the saints gather there to worship God.

Work

Do your work—not just your work and no more, but a little more for the lavishing's sake; that little more which is worth all the rest. And if you suffer as you must, and if you doubt as you must, do your work. Put your heart into it and the sky will clear. Then out of your very doubt and suffering will be born the supreme joy of life.—Dean Briggs.

LIBERTY HILL

The Chilton County Sunday School convention met with Liberty Hill last Sunday afternoon, September 1st, and the following program was rendered:

The meeting was called to order by the president, and Mrs. S. J. M. Webb had charge of the devotional, which was very forcibly rendered.

Rev. Wm. E. Robinson discussed the subject of "How to Reach the Standard of Excellence in the S. S." and Rev. H. D. Durbin discussed the subject, "Music in the Sunday School."

Mr. M. C. Wyatt discussed the subject of "How to Reach and Teach in the Sunday School."

There were only six churches represented out of thirty-two in the association, but we had a fine convention. We would like to see more interest in our associational work.

H. D. DURBIN, Pres.
Mrs. SARAH COLLINS, Clerk.

BOB JONES COMMENTS ON HERE AND HEREAFTER.

"I am an evolutionist and I believe the Bible". That is what a preacher said to the writer one time. He was wrong. No man who knows what the Bible teaches and who knows the evolutionary hypothesis can accept both. The Bible and evolution are diametrically opposed. Evolution teaches that there is in plants, animals, and human life an inherent tendency toward improvement. The Bible teaches that there is a tendency toward decadence. Every botanist knows that after plants have been improved by human cultivation if they are left alone they will revert to the parental stock. The Bible teaches that man has an inherent evil tendency. "When I would do good evil is present". That has been the experience of every honest intelligent man. "We are born in sin". "We were conceived in iniquity".

Modern education takes the side of evolution instead of the Bible. It teaches that children are fundamentally good and that all children need is the proper training. The Bible teaches that culture cannot save. "The flesh proftieth nothing." The new birth is a necessity. Educated flesh and uneducated flesh are just the same in the sight of God. If education could save a nation, Germany would have been saved. It takes regeneration. Man must receive from God a new nature.

We do not have to go to the Bible to find human depravity taught. The Bible teaches it but all intelligent thinkers have observed that man has in his soul an evil tendency. Plato repudiated the idea that man was naturally good. He argued that if a man were naturally good all that was necessary to keep him pure was to let him live alone, but he said that experience shows that a man alone still manifests evil tendencies. Goethe said, "I see no fault committed which I, too, might not have committed." Dr. Johnson said, "Every man knows that of himself which he dare not tell his dearest friend". Cicero said, "Nature has given us faint sparks of knowledge. We extinguish them by our immoralities". Plato said, "The cause of corruption is from our parents so that we never relinquish our evil way or escape the blemish of our evil habits". Seneca said, "We are all wicked. What one blames in another he finds in his own bosom. We live among the wicked ourselves being wicked". Ovid said, "I see things that are better and approve them yet I follow the worst". Aristotle said, "Man is on a slope with his appetites and passions gravitating downward. He knows he ought to go upward, but there is something in him that drags him downward". The Bible explains what all these men found, that is, man was born in sin. In Adam all died. The only hope for a sin-cursed, depraved human race is the cleansing blood of Jesus Christ and the regenerating power of God.

Positive Relief for MALARIA!

Sure End to Chills and Fever!

Here's real relief for Malaria—Grove's Tasteless Chill Tonic!

Quickly it stops the chills and fever and restores your body to comfort. Many remedies will merely alleviate the symptoms of Malaria temporarily, but Grove's Tasteless Chill Tonic goes all the way and completely rids your system of the infection.

Grove's Tasteless Chill Tonic is a real corrective of Malaria because it contains two things. First, tasteless quinine which kills the Malarial infection in the blood. Second, tonic iron which helps overcome the ravages of the chills and fever and fortifies against further attack. Play safe! Take Grove's Tasteless Chill Tonic. It now comes in two sizes—50c and $1. The $1 size contains 2½ times as much as the 50c size and gives you 25% more for your money. Get bottle today at any drugstore.

C.C.C. Boys Will Begin Soil Work

Clanton, Ala., Sept. 1.—The process of acclimatizing the 200 recruits at the Civilian Conservation Corps camp, three-fourths of a mile west of Clanton, has been just about completed, according to Captain F. G. Martin, and work will very soon be started on an extensive soil erosion prevention project throughout Chilton County.

For 10 days, the recruits have been undergoing shots for typhoid prevention and vaccination for smallpox, and other "hardening" processes preparatory to beginning work in the fields. Capt. Martin declared Friday the boys are in fine shape, and said that he expects orders almost any day to assign them to F. E. Cooper, superintendent of the soil erosion project, who will have charge of them at work.

Grounds Beautified

Much time has been spent in beautifying the camp grounds. Driveways throughout the 12 acres have been lined with rock, a tennis court is being prepared, and a boxing ring is ready. There are several amateur fighters in the enrollment and some real, up-to-the-minute fights are anticipated.

The enrollment is composed largely of boys from Key West, Miami, and West Palm Beach. Many are of Spanish and Cuban extraction, and a few speak only the Spanish language. Thirteen located boys will be enrolled within the next few days, Capt. Martin stated.

Land for the camp site was leased by the city and county governments several months ago, as local participation in the project. For several weeks approximately 50 recruits from a Bessemer camp have been stationed here, assisting in the work of erecting the 16 camp buildings, which include office quarters, barracks, gymnasium and recreation hall, educational building and several other structures.

Groups To Be Formed

When working, four groups will be formed and assigned to various localities. Mr. Cooper, with technical engineers, has been studying the possibilities of the erosion work for the past month. This work will consist of eliminating "gullies" and assisting landowners in protecting their property from the greatest of all enemies, erosion.

Working in conjunction with the office of the county farm agent, the project will be carried on in every section of the county. Some months ago, County Agent, J. W. Fant, inaugurated a terracing program here and machinery was purchased by the Court of County Commissioners for this purpose. It is understood that present plans call for a continuation of this program.

Composing the official staff at the camp are: Capt. Martin, Lieut. R. F. Strickland, Lieut. W. C. Golden, medical supervisor, F. E. Cooper, superintendent of the erosion project, and P. J. Benrimo, educational supervisor.

Educational Plans

One of the most interesting phases of the camp life is in the educational plans being developed by Mr. Benrimo. Efforts are being made to secure expert instructors in the art of woodcraft and other similar subjects, with the aim of teaching the boys something of a profession while they are enrolled, better equipping them to earn a living when they return home. Courses in regular academic work will also be given, Mr. Benrimo announced.

The one qualification these boys can boast of is a healthy appetite, according to few items checked off the monthly grocery list, which includes: 4,500 loaves of bread; 2,000 pounds of Irish potatoes; 3,300 pints of sweet milk; 810 dozen eggs, and six cows.

STUNT SHOW AT BILLINGSLEY

E. C. Carnegie, "The world's colored one-legged wonder," with a two-people show, travelling throughout the country, will be at the High school P.-T. A., on Friday night, September 7.

He does magic contortion and acrobatic stunts. He stands flat-footed and jumps 36 feet. He reverses his body all the way around while standing on his head in a chair. It is interesting to see this one-legged man do the stunts he does.

"Why did you run home last night?"
"I was being chaste."

SACRED HARP CONVENTION AT NEW HARMONY CHURCH

The fall session of the Chilton County Sacred Harp Singing Convention will be held at New Harmony church, one-fourth of a mile off the Montgomery Highway, Lomax, on the third Sunday in September. Singers throughout the country have a special invitation, not only singers, but listeners as well.

Singers, bear in mind this convention and make plans to attend. Singers from different parts of the state have promised to be with us in this convention.

We cordially invite each and every one to come and enjoy this singing with us. Bring your lunch and spend the day.

UNKLE MIKE HANKS WRITES ANOTHER SQUIB TO THE GOVT.

To the Puzzle Department of the New Deal, Washington, D. C. Dear Mister Puzzle-Wuzzler:

I'm wondering if there hain't some of your professers wrote a book of riddles that I could use on my Next Door Neighbor, so as to make a fool out of him

My Neighbor tried to make a fool out of me last night; he dropped in while I was teachng Rithmetic to my little girl, age 5. "Good gracious," he says, "that Rithmetic Book you air usin on Millicent, (that's my little girl's name) is way out of date."

"Why is it out of date?" I says.

"Cause Rithmetic has changed since Mr. Roosevelt come in," he says to me. "Furinstance, 9 minus 9 now equals 10."

"Fiddle sticks," I says, "9 minus 9 couldn't never leave 10."

"Well, it did," he says, "cause the New Deal put 9 million unemployed to work and now there air 10 million Unemployed."

I hadn't hardly got that one figured out when my Neighbor give me another. "Speakin uv work, he says, what is the difference between Mr. Roosevelt and a unemployed plumber "

"I give up," I says.

"A unemployed plumber votes for public works, but Mr. Roosevelt allus works for public votes," said my Neighbor.

Right there is where I started to git rail mad. I told him that he didn't have no right to laugh at the New Deal, cause the New Deal won't no joke.

"That shore is the truth," says my Neighbor. "The New Deal is the laffing stock of the nation; but that kind of stock don't pay us no dividends."

So then he ducked out of the house before I could think up a come-back, but a minute later he poked his head through the window and says, "By the way, do you know the difference between Washington., D. C., and an insane Asylum.

"No," I says, "I don't."

"I don't nuther," says my Neighbor, "The only difference I can see is that Washington don't have any fence around hit, and none uv the Inmates ever wanter git away."

Yourn Verry Puzzled,
UNKLE MIKE HANKS.

STOP — LOOK — LISTEN

There will be a hot dog supper at Floyd church Saturday night, September 7th. Everybody is invited to come and bring some one with you. For the benefit of the church.

CLANTON METHODIST CHURCH

Dr. A. E. Middlebrooks, Minister

If you have been out of church and Sunday school during the summer months, why not start back next Sunday? There are classes for all ages and groups each Sunday morning at 9:45. If you are not attending the morning and evening worship services in the church, you are missing a great deal. At 11:00 and 5:00 you will enjoy good singing and pipe organ music and the beauty of an auditorium with a worshipful atmosphere. The minister will speak at both services

Attend some church Sunday. Don't let yourself drift along and get in the habit of staying away from church. You will soon get to the point that you do not want to go to church. "If you let yourself go, you are gone. Why not say:

I'll go to church next Sunday
Through heat or cold or rain,
Uniting in the worship
Of Him who rose again.

I'll go to church each Sunday
To welcome others there;
I'll listen to God's Holy Word,
And lift my heart in prayer.

I'll go to church all Sundays,
Join in His songs of praise;
And count His Holy Sabbaths
As my most happy days.

CARD OF THANKS

I wish to give many thanks to the friends and neighbors for all of their help and kindness through the sickness and death of my dear father. And I want to thank Rev. J. R. Cost and Rev. W. S. Cox for their kind words that were spoken to us all.

Thanking Mr. Marvin Jackson and Mr. Lorenza Sanders and the rest for the good songs that were sung. Let us all try to preach our funeral just as papa did. He is gone but not forgotten.—Katie Chandler.

YOUR CHILD AND THE SCHOOL

By Dr. ALLEN G. IRELAND
Director, Physical and Health Education New Jersey State Department of Public Instruction

Hobby Horse

To ride a hobby horse is becoming quite the stylish thing to do. And not to do it may be indeed a serious matter.

Look at it in this light. Where are the jobs for the rising generations? What are the boys and girls leaving school going to do? Where are they going? What will satisfy their natural eagerness for life, activity, and adventure? Facing that problem brings more than a little worry. It should and does give cause for concern.

The only solution facing the school is to go into the hobby business seriously. Give those restless hands and idle minds something to do, something interesting, appealing. Radio making. Dramatics. Music. Art. Sports. Clubs. The list is long. Ask help of your local or county library or state department of education. Write to the National Recreation Association or the Leisure Time Institute, both of New York City.

Education takes place on the playground as well as in the classroom. Dr. Ireland explains how in his next article.

MONTGOMERY CLUB HELD ITS MEETING AT MITCHELL DAM

The Montgomery Exchange Club held its weekly meeting at Mitchell Dam Thursday afternoon of last week, with a dinner at 6:00 p. m. The wives of the members accompanied their husbands. The program of the afternoon consisted of an inspection of the Alabama Power Company properties, also a musical program which provided for the dinner hour. Homer Spiva, club president, presided at the meeting.

National Air Progress Observance

Clanton Asked to Take Part In Nation-Wide Movement This Winter

Civic organizations, business and private interests of Chilton county will be asked to participate in a national "Air Progress" observance period scheduled for September 23 to Navember 1, 1935, it was announced today by Chairman Dr. V. J. Gragg of the local committee of the National Aeronautic Association. A nation-wide series of demonstrations will be staged under the sponsorship of the N. A. A. to bring about a keener appreciation of aeronautical advancement in America on the part of the public. Preparations are under way to promote local campaigns in 1,000 cities throughout the country.

"During the period of "Air Progress" we expect to stage airport demonstrations, furnish speakers who will talk on aviation subjects before luncheon and serviec clubs, arrange attractive window displays in retail stores, and release special pblicity," states Dr. Gragg. National radio broadcasts and other features are being arranged through N. A. A. headquarters in the nation's capital. I feel sure that all business and private interests as well as civic organizations in Chilton county will want to cooperate with us in making this educational movement a success. Our complete program will be announced shortly."

Some time between September 23 and November 1, at Troy, Ala., Burr R. Reeves, sheriff of Pike county, will head a committee to dedicate the new airport. This airport was completed through the use of PWA and CWA funds. The event will include both speaking and an air program. Definite dates for dedication have not been set.

Hayden Brooks is chairman of the National Air Carnival to be held at Birmingham October 5th and 6th. Saturday, the 5th, will be Army, Navy and National Guard day. Sunday, the 6th, will be Commercial day. Army and Navy flying teams from various air posts will take part in the air program. There will be stunt pilots and parachute jumpers on the program Sunday.

WHO IS CLANTON'S MOST POPULAR BABY?

The winner in the Baby Contest that is being sponsored by the Women's Missionary Society of the Clanton Methodist Church will be announced next Wednesday evening, September 11th, at the Wadesonian Theatre.

Showing at the theatre on this date will be one of the most interesting pictures brought here in some time, "Stranded," starring Kay Francis and George Brent.

Intense interest is being shown in the selection of Clanton's mast popular baby, and those in charge of the contest are urging everyone to get behind their choice and do everything possible to make him winner next Wednesday night.

CENTRAL BANK IDEA FOUND UNSUITABLE

Authorities Say Conditions in the United States Differ From Those in European Nations.

Central banking was twice tried in America with the First and Second Banks of the United States, covering the intervals from 1791-1811 and from 1816-1836. Both these institutions were abolished because the credit control they exercised became unpopular and the question of their continued existence became a political issue.

Realizing that this country is many times the size of Europe, where central banks are common among the nations there, and that therefore it cannot be financially serviced from a single central institution, the Wilson administration profited by this knowledge and our own experience of the past and devised the Federal Reserve System with twelve regional banks.

Diversified Interests

The Northeast is still predominantly manufacturing in character. The South still looks to cotton and tobacco as its main products. The Middle West yet largely relies upon grain and livestock for its buying power. The Pacific Coast continues to be almost a separate economic unity. It is therefore held by many authorities that complete centralization of banking control in Washington would not best serve these greatly diversified interests of the United States.

It is held to be essential that banking policies should be an expression of the varied viewpoints, a representation of the vast and particularized needs of the different sections of the country and coordinated with the contrasting seasonal stages occurring in so great an expanse of territory.

Private Ownership Favored

Recently there have been heard expressions favoring government ownership of the stock of the Federal Reserve System as a method of central control. Of all the central banks now existing there are only four whose stock is owned by their governments. The stock of the Bank of England is privately owned. Likewise it was provided that the stock of the newest central bank, that of Canada, which was organized only after a most exhaustive study had been made of all central bank experience and practice, should be privately owned.

BANKER-FARMER TEAMWORK GROWS

By DAN H. OTIS
Agricultural Director, American Bankers Association

At a recent conference of a bankers' agricultural committee the following incident was related: Said a railroad executive to a newly appointed agricultural agent, "If you are called upon to advise a man or a community in the choice between two crops, one of which produces large tonnage with low profits, and the other large profits, but low freight tonnage, always advise the crop that offers the greatest profit to the producer. Because if a community is economically healthy, railroad tonnage will take care of itself."

D. H. OTIS

This is sound philosophy from the standpoint of agriculturally minded bankers also. It is gratifying to be able to report that an increasing number of bankers have the above vision. Our reports show that there has been a 65 percent increase in banker-farmer activities over the entire country this past year in aid of profitable farming.

A Sound Credit Program

Many bankers are teaming up with county agents on a long-time constructive agricultural program. Together they are making a steady pull for results that will confer lasting benefits upon their communities.

Sound farming is the basis of sound credit. Both the banker and the farmer are helped by intelligent credit extension. The best results are obtained when both talk intelligently about the advantages and dangers before entering into a credit program. Banks can not be made successful by acquiring farms through foreclosure routes. It is much better to bring about conditions where it is possible for the farmer to repay the loan which reflects the creation of new wealth in the community

On the Basis of Facts

For years bankers have encouraged farm accounting in one form or another. The American Bankers Association has been in the front ranks in furthering the national movement for farm inventories and credit statements In these times of uncertainties and adjustments credit judgment must be based on facts. Farmers have been misled and some ruined by unwise credit They as well as the bankers, must consider facts.

The farm inventory is a necessary factor in understanding the farm business and in establishing and maintaining a good credit rating. The reasons for a farm inventory are many.

NEW LOVEMAN STORE TO HAVE MANY CONVENIENCE FEATURES

Comfort of Public and Employes Adequately Assured—Continuation of NRA Hours Carried Over Into New Store.

With the opening of the new Loveman, Joseph and Loeb Department Store in Birmingham, around the middle of October, Alabama will boast the South's finest and most modern retail establishment.

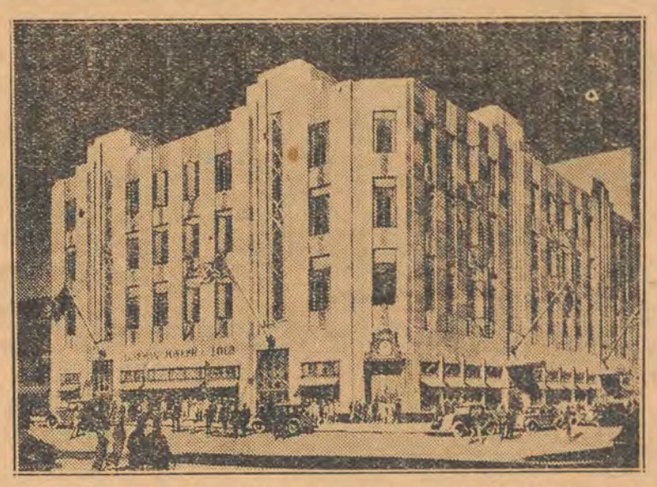
Scores of innovations will be introduced in the new building, features seen for the first time in the South, most of which are designed to increase shopping comfort and convenience for the public, and better working conditions for the store's hundreds of employes.

Designed to increase ease of movement from the first to the second floors is a modern escalator, or moving stairway, the firs to be installed in the Southeast. This will be supplemented by a battery of quiet, swift elevators to all floors.

Twelve-month air conditioning—the first year round system in the South—will be installed. This plant, the same as that in the huge Rockefeller Center in New York City, is scientifically arranged to avoid the sudden changes of temperature experienced in many of the temporary (hot weather) installations.

Rest-rooms for the public will be splendidly equipped—large, and comfortably furnished, increasing the popularity of Loveman's as the place to meet your friends while in Alabama's largest city.

Separate rest-rooms for employes will be the finest of their kind in the South. A feature of the new Loveman's is the installation of separate splendidly equipped hospitals—one for white employes, and one for colored employes. This is in line with the policy of Mr. Joseph H. Loveman that it is the duty of modern retailers to care for employes as painstakingly as for the public.



"I am one," said Mr. Loveman recently, "who greatly regrets the official passing of NRA. So far as this institution is concerned we hope and intend to hold for our employes all the gains made in wages and working conditions under NRA. It is our intention to continue these conditions in our new building, as we have since the beginning of NR..."

Visitors to Birmingham will find the new Loveman's one of the showplaces of the South. Constructed of Alabama steel, and concrete, finished in Alabama limestone, and equipped with fixtures furnished by Alabama manufacturers it will stand as a monument to Alabama energy, and initiative—an institution as truly representative of our State as the Jones Valley bed-rock on which it is erected.

PLEASANT GROVE
JEMISON

Mr. Carl Dawson was the dinner guest of his aunts, the Misses Dulcie and Delia Champion Monday.

Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Champion and Erschel Spivey went to Birmingham last Thursday. Mrs. Champion went to a specialist for her throat. He advised an operation soon.

Mr. J. D. Wright and Mrs. J. A. Wright visited the Misses Champion Thursday p.m.

Mr. and Mrs. Johnnie Trott were guests of her father and family Sunday, Mr. and Mrs. H. T. Campbell and family.

Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Ray were guests of his sister and family, Mr. and Mrs. John Davenport Sunday.

Messrs. Dalton and Sanders Champion spent a while with their aunts, Misses Dulcie and Delia Champion Tuesday night.

Mrs. Alice Childress and son and daughter, Mattie and Charlie, visited her sister and family, Mr. and Mrs. Jim Miskelley Sunday p.m.

Miss Olis Davenport spent Saturday night with her brother and family, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Davenport.

Mrs. Carl Dawson and little son, Jimmie, spent last week with her sister and family, Mr. and Mrs. Tom Childress. She also spent a day with the Misses Champion.

MRS. OSMOND GRANT HONORED AT RECENT SHOWER IN CITY

Honoring Mrs. Osmond Grant, a recent bride, Mrs. Jimmy Taylor was hostess last Thursday afternoon at a shower at her attractive home, when more than a hundred guests were present.

As the hundred-odd guests arrived, they were greeted by the hostess and the honoree, who were in the receiving line. The bride was beautiful in an outfit of white lace with navy blue accessories, and Mrs. Taylor wore a gown of ice green satin.

Mrs. Aaron Dennis met the guests at the door and presented them to the receiving line. Presiding over the bride's book was Miss Alma Allen. After registering, the guests were conducted thru the home and shown the gifts by Mrs. Dennis and Miss Willie Maude Kelley, sister of the bride.

The living room was decorated in a color scheme of green and white, which was carried out in the refreshments served. White asters, gardenias, zenias and clematis added charm to the beautifully decorated rooms.

Before her recent marriage, Mrs. Grant was Miss Delilah Kelley and one of the city's most popular young ladies.

SPEECH RECITAL TO BE HELD AT HIGH SCHOOL NEXT WEEK

The Women's Missionary Society of the Clanton Baptist church is sponsoring a recital at the Chilton County High School next Monday evening, September 9th, featuring Miss Alice Polk and her expression pupils.

Assisting in the presentation will be Miss Katheryn Foss, of Thorsby, who will render several solo numbers. The program will consist of readings, musical numbers, monologues, dialogues, and a one-act play.

Taking part on the program will be: Jean Mullins, Pearl Henley, Julia Nell Parrish, Mary Francis Atkinson, Anne Maddox, Ruth Jones, Betsy Jones, Suan Powers, Joyce Bates, Needra Ann Miller, Jimmy Walker, Junior Watts, Harry Williams, Billy Murphy, George Bates, Bill Winston.

Friend: "Has your son's college education been of any value?"

Father: "Oh, yes; it cured his mother of bragging about him."

Many a June bride has found out by now that it isn't the way a table is dolled up that makes a hit with a man, but the way it is loaded down.

Mr. and Mrs. Bill Davenport and son, and daughter, Robert and Lucille, Misses Mary Lee Compton, Velma Price and Lucille Adair and Mr. Cleo Cofer were Sunday dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. Tom Childress.

Mrs. Ida Bellenger and sons, of Cleveland, Ala., were guests of their daughter and sister and family, Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Miskelley for a few days this week.

Mrs. E. C. Davenport visited Mrs. H. T. Campbell Sunday p.m.

Messrs. John and Bernie Davenport spent a whilt Sunday with their brother, Frank.

Miss Edith Davenport and little brother, James Frank, are spending the week with their aunts, the Misses Champion.

Mrs. Carroll gave her Sunday school class a party Saturady p.m., which was a very pleasant affair to the Juniors.

THE WHOLE WORLD

These two headlines appeared recently in adoining columns of a financial page:

"Hog slaughter Smallest Since 1935, During June."

"Destroy 1,013,000 Bags of Coffee."

In the United States men who like to drink coffee have been killing baby pigs to keep up the price of pork. In Brazil men who like pork chops have been destroying coffee, 13,757,000 bags of it since June, 1931.

Brazil has been cutting down coffee trees to make way for cotton crops, planted because the United States has been plowing under cotton in order to keep up the price and thereby creating better markets for our Brazilian competitors.

John Armstrong Chandler, who first asked "Who's looney now?" died the other day, an old man. But he lived to find that the answer to his query is: The whole world.—Manchester Union.

One hears speeches from South Carolinians defending the New Deal but the fact that the national debt has passed the highest point in the peace time history of the country, that it is twenty-nine thousand millions of dollars and increasing about four thousand millions a year, is not mentioned.—Charleston News and Courier.

It is said that New Deal investigators are going to sound out sentiment in the country on changing the Constitution. We suggest that they start in Georgia by letting the people take a vote on the question of the absorption of state rights by the government at Washington.

NATIONAL AFFAIRS

(By Frank P. Litschert

With the breakdown of the conference of Great Britain, France, and Italy, called in an effort to prevent war between Italy and Ethiopia by promising Mussolini certain concessions at the expense of Ethiopia without consulting her about it, there have come in the newspapeds of the world luriad headlines about the prospect of a war between Italy and Abyssinia, followed perhaps by a world conflagration. It has been pointed out that the war will be hard to localize. Nobody knows what Hitler is going to do, and fear is expressed that he may seize the opportunity to annex Austria to Germany while Mussolini is otherwise engaged. This might well bring in other nations. Then there is Jugo-Slavia to be considered. Although France is a friend to Italy she is an ally to Jugo-Slavia. The little Serb nation has long cast covetous eyes on Italian territory on the eastern shore of the Adriatic. If she seized the opportunity to get it while Mussolini was away in Africa, and especially if she did so with the passive or active aid of Hitler, France would be embarassed and there might be another world crisis. And so on, down the line of diplomatic possibilities.

France is said to be in a painful position because of her friendship with Italy and Great Britain's hostility to Mussolini's empire. France must choose the lesesr of two evils and has chosen to stand with Great Britain because she badly needs British support against Hitler. There is no reason however for the disinterested observer to feel particularly sorry for France in her painful position, because she brought the embarrassments on herself. Let us stop for a moment to consider how it all started. France needed Italy's support against Germany. To get this she promised Mussolini that he could go as far as he liked toward despoiling Ethiopia, without French interference. France even made a few arrangements with Mussolini, especially in regard to railroads, to smooth the way for him. Now, when Mussolini gets busy and the British lion roars, France suddenly finds herself in a painful position.

It is of course rather easy to understand Mussolini's anger with France and Great Britain at this particular time. These two nations long ago grabbed what they wanted in Africa and have held on to it, increasing their holdings from year to year. Now they seemingly obect to Mussolini's doing the same thing. Of course three wrongs do not make a right, any more than two do, but it is possible nevertheless to understand why the French and British hypocritical talks about peace and humanity have enraged Mussolini. We can understand this rage whether we sympathize with Italy or condemn it in its present imperialistic action.

But information of more particular interest comes to Americans from Europe. It is said that if war actually comes, Great Britain will seek to propagandize us into supporting her position with some of the choicest propaganda that has come to these shores from abroad since the good old days of "fighting the war to end war" and "fighting to save democracy". Herbert L. Matthews, Paris correspondent of the New York Times, in a copyrighted dispatch to that newspaper predicted recently that the British pressure would come through diplomatic political and press channels for the purpose of lining up American public sentiment with the British attitude.

The American people as individuals can of course have their own opinions about foreign conflict which takes place. But we certainly do not want the United States as a government and ourselves as a nation involved in the controversy. So it will pay us, no matter what the diplomatic or the propaganda pressure from abroad may be, to keep our shirt on, whether it be a black, brown, a white or a sport shirt. We helped fight one war for democracy and won it. And we haven't got over the bad effects, even yet.

MORE UNEMPLOYMENT

Eighteen months have passed since President Roosevelt announced his first plan for reducing unemployment by four million. This was in November, 1933, when the New Deal measures were just beginning to take effect. He promised the reduction during the winter. The nation still had faith in the president and took him at his word when he explained that the removal of the curse of unemployment was one of his principal objectives. Since that date more than $5,000,000,000 has been spent by the federal government for relief work and more than $9,000,000,000 (including the former sum) for "relief and reconstruction."

At the end of October, 1933, two weeks before the President announced his plan to the relief workers, the number of unemployed, as estimated by the National Industrial Conference Board, was 9.645,000. The latest figures (for May, 1935), published by the same organization, show that there are now 9,711,000 unemployed in the country.

What does this mean? That the effort to reduce the number of unemployed by four billion begun in November, 1933, has been a complete failure, and that there are today more unemployed in this country than there were at that time. Furthermore, the expenditure of billions of dollars, much of which was intended to speed up employment, has failed completely to achieve the promised objective. True, it has helped keep these unemployed in food and shelter. That, however, is a palliative, not a remedy. However desirable on humane grounds, it has not speeded up recovery.

Why? The answer makes unpleasant reading for the New Dealers. Dean Donham of the Harvard Business School has rephrased it in remarking that the NRA prolonged the depression. It would have been even more accurate had he said that the combination of restrictive experiments called the New Deal had prolonged the depression. Certainly since the New Deal measures came into effect business men throughout the country have been handicapped and repressed by incessant governmental interference and by the ever-present fear of new oppressive measures dictated by political expediency. This is why business recovery has been slow. This is why unemployment has not decreased—this and the basic defects in the system of relief administration which, in so many cases, have made it more attractvie for men to "go on relief" than to go back to work. Is the fight on unemployment to be regarded as merely another one of the administration's many broken phomises?—New York Herald Tribune.

THE SUPPLY OF PIGS

Dame nature and the laws of supply and demand seem to be playing hob with the AAA farm programs just now. Rising food prices and scarcity of supply have brought about some backtracking by the Brain Trusters who have in charge the duty of regulating the American farmer and his activities. The latest announcement is that 5,200,000 acres will be returned to wheat production next year and that plans are to be announced for increasing pig production. As usual, the weather and the laws of nature and economics will have to be disregarded by the national planners, to a considerable extent at least.

Secretary Wallace is quoted as stating that the price of pork, which is now reaching famine proportions, would be even higher if it were not for the hog control program. This sounds suspiciously like a confession of failure since the hog control program was put into effect to increase the price of porkers. Of course the Brain Trusters in talking about the high price of pork and how they are not to blame, conveniently forget about the processing tax and what it is doing to the consumers just now. Unfortunately the voters in Rhode Island recently couldn't be induced to forget.

The Secretary of Agriculture sounds an optimistic note in stating that the price of pork will decline when the spring pigs get into the market. But those who have traveled the country over are none too optimistic about the supply of pork which will come from the spring pigs. It is perhaps true that more will come into the market, from now on. But it will be coming in a great part from alien farms. Hog raising of other countries may easily reap the benefit of a market of which American growers cannot take advantage of because of the previous program of destruction.

For example, a Universal News dispatch in the Washington, D. C., Times recently quoted the U. S. Commerce Department as stating that American purchases of foreign pork in the first six months of 1935 have jumped more than 350 per cent above the imports of the first six months of 1934. Continuing, the dispatch says:

"Cashing in on the administration's pig slaughter program, which today leaves the United States facing an acute meat shortage and housewives battling soaring prices, foreign marktes have jumped their pork sales to this country to 3,077,934 pounds in the first half of the year. This compares with 733,600 pounds imported in the first six months of 1934, an increase of 2,344,334 pounds.

"In the single month of June, reports of the Commerce Department disclosed, more foreign pork flowed into the United States than in the first half of last year. June imports are given at 802,404 pounds, compared with 97,178 in the same month a year ago, a rise of 705,226 pounds."

When this pork from spring pigs appears in the market it will be interesting to note whether it comes from American farms or in good part from alien hog raisers. Canada is just across the border and Canadian farmers and stockmen have a good laugh coming whenever our official agricultural farm experts are mentioned.

A DANGEROUS MAN

A repot comes from Missouri that minister, "who believes that God helps those who help themselves," has persuaded several hundred persons to go off the relief rolls and engage in a cooperative enterprise of raising and canning fruit and vegetables.

Such men are clearly dangerous in any community. They would favor private initiative, foresight and pride in one's own achievements. They would even lessen taxes by removing persons from relief who would also pay taxes on their cooperative property.

That sort of leader is dangerous to the present preferred system of gimme, gimme, now so strongly established in social life. If he is not promptly suppressed Americans may again become self-reliant and prefer work to charity.

The social security bill of Congress ought to provide for the imprisonment of any who prefer wages to doles. They are rapidly becoming "back numbers."—Dallas Morning News.

It is a fine thing to be a gentleman, but it is an awful handicap in an argument.—McPherson, Kansas, Republican.

MAN IN THE MOON

PRETTY SMART

The move made last week by the ruler of the Ethiopian government was a pretty smart one, I think. Haile Selassie, the ruler, said to be a straight descendant of wise King Solomon and the Queen of Sheba, is pretty wise. Threatened with a war with Italy, the Ethiopian ruler began casting about fo some way out of the controversy.

Ethopia is rimmed around by lands belonging to other goovernments of the world. That side of his country next to the would-be invader, Mussolini, or rather, next to the adjacent Italian possession, Selassie ceded to the English and American governments for 75 years, to exploit the vast oil and mineral resources of the region as they see fit. Selassie probably figured that if Mussolini had to lead his army into Addis Ababa, the Ethiopian capital, through land ruled by England or America, he might stop his intention of conquest of Ethopia. He knows that the Italian dictator will have to cross land belonging to another country to get to him, if these governments will accept the concessions.

In short, Selassie was willing to give the oil and mineral rights of half of his kingdom to stay out of war. If this was his manner of reasoning, and the plan goes through and forestalls a war for his country, I think we'll admit that Selassie really was the son of wise King Solomon, and had a great part of Solomon's wisdom passed on down through the generations to him.

The only catch in the plan is that America and England don't want the concessions, especially so if they entail any chance of bringing on the enmity of a major power like Italy. True, the American government and every one of its citizens would be glad to see the war clouds blow over, but the World War taught us a lesson about playing in other people's back yards, and we still remember Americans was voiced by one man who told that lesson. I think the sentiment of most me: "It's going to take a heck of a lot more than oil and minerals to get me to shoulder a pack and rifle and rush off to get in a scrap. I'm willing for the Ethopian oil and minerals to stay where they are. Italy can have 'em so far as I am concerned."

THE NEW ROAD SYSTEM

A few days ago I talked over the matter of the late proposed road bill with Representative Cox. As you know, an agreement was reached with our Commissioners Court, whereby the bill was withdrawn. This agreement was a compromise, in which Mr. Cox obtained practically the same results he would have had the bill gone through. I don't know, of course, who prompted the original drafting of the bill, or whether the motives immideately behind its drafting were political o not. But according to the explanation of the new agreement, as given by Mr. Cox, it should be a good one—if politics can be kept out of its execution. I really believe it is the intention of the officials to keep politics out of it. However, just as in every other office of its kind, it is entirely possidle and highly probable that graft will eventially creep in, even if it does not enter at the beginning. Here is how it works, so far as the upkeep of the roads is concerned.

A road supervisor, skilled in the building and upkeep of roads will be picked out by the commissioners, who will retain the right to "hire and fire" any time they believe he is incompetent. This engineer will have the power to pick the best men for the jobs of road building and maintenance, regardless of politics. Mr. Cox believes his monthly salary will be less than half of that now paid to commissioners "for supervising public roads." In addition, Mr. Cox believes the roads will have more expert supervision. Here alone, Mr. Cox figures the county will be saved a neat sum. Too, inasmuch as the supervisor will be better trained as to materials and construction than any commissioner could be, he believes the supervisor can save the county several thousand dollars yearly. He believes that the best trained man for any job is the cheapest man in the long run, no matter what his salary.

Besides all this, Mr. Cox says he is in favor of voting the commissioners a straight salary. They would be directly resuonsible to the people, the supervisor would be responsible to the commissioners court, and the men who work on the roads would be responsible to the supervisor, and would be picked by merit alone. As stated before, if politics can be kept out of it, it looks like a pretty god plan.

10 CENTS OR 12

The farmers are a bit confused over the complicated manner in which this year's cotton business is being handled. Last year there was a flat loan, with no strings tied to it. That was when the officials felt that they had an iron grip on the farmers. Now they can begin to see the hand writing on the wall. Government agents are getting the farmer's side of the business, and farmers are letting it be known in no uncertain terms, for the most part, that they will have no part or parcel with any more "signing up." Officials feel that their grip is loosening—that farmers are slipping out of control.

Day after day, if one sits around where cotton is handled, he may hear something like this: "I'm done signing. I'll get nothing if I don't sign, and I'll get nothing if I do, so I'll just stay out." Another says: "I'd rather make a bale of cotton than to do the running around necessary to sell it." Another man says: "I could hardly sign my name when all this started, but now I'm an expert on writing, I've signed my name so many times. I reckon that is about all I get out of it all." Another: "Well, they've got us hog-tied—we had just as well sign up again. If we don't, they'll bear down and make things as hard for us as they can." Another: "It's ,the biggest mess I have ever heard of. I don't know what to do."

Here is the low-down on the whole program. The government will lend you 10 cents on your cotton, with the understanding that you will get two cents more if you sign up for next year. That two cents a pound is being held as a club over the heads of farmers to try to force them into signing up again.

The government doesn't buy your land for you. It doesn't pay the taxes for you. It doesn't buy your fertilizer. It merely stands by, tells you how little you can raise, how little you can sell, what you can sell it for, etc. These petty officials can set a price on your cotton, but they have not even attempted to set a price on the things you buy. In the latter case we think they are doing right. Why not let the government govern, and let business attend to business. The two can't mix.

THE WOODPECKERS

The New Dealers, as they peck away at the problems that beset the nation, remind me of a story I once heard about a woodpecker.

A woodpecker sat high on the side of a giant oak. Every few secoonds he would cut loose pecking at the side of the tree in air-hammer style. He would hammer away with all his might for a few seconds, and then fly around the tree to see why it didn't fall and what was holding it up. He was doing all he knew how to do to bring the giant oak down, but was getting no sesults. Finally he decided he was not big enough for the job and gave it up.

When the present Democratic officials set about to end the depression in short order, they went at it in true woodpecker style. They went to work with a woodpecker bill on a whale of a job. They drew up codes, they made childish laws, set up whimsical rules and regulations and systems. They gave themselves all the power they knew how to muster, and pecked away with all might and main, and then sat back to watch the big tree fall. And when not even one little measley acorn fell as a result of all their mighty work, they can't seem to understand.

They have just about worn out their bill, and have not even shaken the depression oak, let alone knocked it down. We wonder if they will be as wise as the woodpecker, and step aside to let some bigger power than they have a try at the job.

We maintain that the natural course of events, together with sound and reasonable and time-proven methods is the only way to whip the depression. We maintain that the oft-mentioned American "rugged individualism" is the only way out. We can no more lift ourselves out of our economic troubles by artificial methods than we can lift ourselves out of a mud-hole by our boot straps. It just can't be done, that's all—and the sooner we have officials that realize this, and are willing to use tried and proved methods for progress, the better for all of us.—Man in the Moon.

FINE FOR CANADA

Due to its inability to control Mother Nature the AAA in Washington seems to have gussed wrong again on the wheat business. Wheat acreage, according to announcement, is to be curtailed only five per cent next year against a proposed fifteen per cent. Thomas Furlong, writing in the Chicago Tribune, points out that the AAA last spring made a switch in wheat plans and rescinded the order for a curtailment of production after winter wheat production had been cut down fifteen per cent. But the change in order came tardily. Many farmers found it too late in their locality in increase wheat acreage, and government agencies were slow in making necessary seed wheat available. Then Nature intervened again, and now we have another change in AAA plans.

But, as Mr. Furlong points out, the changing of the 1936 curtailment from fifteen per cent to only five per cent didn't come until after Canadian wheat commenced flowing in quantity into the United States over the tariff wall. Coincidentally a cargo of 160,000 bushels of foreign wheat was being unloaded in Milwaukee for a Chicago milling concern when the change in plans was announced. Only two weeks before that time it was intimated that the fifteen per cent reduction would "stick". Mr. Furlong adds:

"There is nothing the AAA can do to increase supplies during the current season. A shortage of high quality milling wheat exists and the country is expected to draw on Canadian stocks throughout the year."

Here then we have the story in brief. The farmers in the United States cut down wheat production at the insistence of the AAA which does not take weather hazards into consideration. A change in plans comes too late to remedy the situation and Canada, which has plenty of wheat for sale, while there is a shortage among American farmers, will reap the benefit. With importations of wheat and grain coming into the United States over our tariff wall, the State Department officials are busy drawing up reciprocal treaties lowering our duties in order to increase exports by American farmers. Yes, the world is sure upside down. Especially that portion of it confined georgraphically within the limits of the United States.

A DISCREDITED SLOGAN

The introduction into the Rhode Island campaign of the slogan, "Forward with Roosevelt!" helped to precipitate the Democratic debacle of Tuesday.

The voters of Rhode Island do not want to go forward with Roosevelt. They are sick and tired of the New Deal, whether national or state.

The "forward" march of the national administration is a flat failure. And more than that if persisted in it would involve us in grievous new follies and dangers.

The word "forward" as applied to the Roosevelt program is a misnomer. The nation has not been going forward under the Brain Trust. It has forsaken sound principles of government and economics and trailed off into a fanciful winderness.

"Back to common sense" is a good slogan from this time on. And "back" in this sense implies the truest advance.—Providence Journal.

WASTE PAPERS

Every student of American public affairs, no matter whether he favors state planning or does not favor it, ought to pause for a moment to indulge in a whimsical sigh, and a thought on the mutability of human affairs.

According to the Associated Press, the NRA Blue Eagle, of fame and General Johnson, has come now officially to be regarded as just waste paper, so far as the Post Office Department is concerned.

The dispatch adds that an order has been issued that "all NRA material be removed from bulletin boards, that re-employment agreements, certificates and similar materials be forwarded to state heads and all other NRA material be destroyed or disposed of as waste paper."

Those who remember the enthusiasm of the Blue Eagle campaign when the insignia appeared on stickers for automobiles, and as window decorations, when apparently succesful efforts were made to rouse for it something like the enthusiasm of the Liberty Bonds of the World War days, may be pardoned if they now stop to think about the uncertainty of the future of human activity. The Supreme Court spoke and the Blue Eagle became waste paper. We were told that our national prosperity and our future well being depended upon it. It has gone. Yet there are some who have the temerity to say that business is better. As Cicero would soy, "O tempora, O mores!" Or was it Cicero?

Viscount Snowden, British statesman, wants Uncle Sam to block what he calls the coming World War. We knew they would try to get us in on it sooner or later.

It is said that there are 15,000 skeletons in the closets of the University of Kansas. That's better than Washington, D. C., could do on its palmiest days.

We are willing to bet that no tax-the-rich program will get Uncle Sam as much money in 1935 as it would have in the good old horse and buggy days of 1928.

It begins to look now like some of the old-fashioned Democrats may organize a new Palmer and Buckner party, after the vintage of 1896.

A lot of Republicans are pretty chesty about the Rhode Island result but they ought to remember that that $4,800,000,000 hasn't been thrown into high gear yet.

It is said that Great Britain will consult the United States in case of war between Ethiopia and Italy. Just so they don't ask to borrow any men or money.

When Doc Townsend gets his old-age pension bill through, "Darling, I am Growing Old" won't be such a sad song any more.

What's all this criticism of the boll weevil? Isn't it cooperating with the AAA in reducing the yield of cotton? And it doesn't charge any processing tax.

Will Rogers was a great American and his loss will be mourned by all true Americans. Perhaps as good a tribute as can be paid to his patriotism and sound sense is to remind ourselves of the fact that he not only loved his country but appreciated the wisdom of the policy of our avoiding and mixing in the afairs of Europe and of attending to our own business.

THE FOLLIES OF 1935

Only the Beginning of What the Supine 14th Congress Has Accomplished

(An Editorial in The Atlanta Georgian)

With Congress only recently adjourned, no one knows just what and how much mischief has been put upon the statute books nor how much the country has been hurt.

With Congress off the scene, it may be possible to take an account of stock.

This is the task of the next few months.

The people will gradually learn what has been done to them as well as for them.

And one of the first things that will engage the attention of the people is that we are now importing necessities such as meat, corn, wheat, live hogs and cattle, which formerly we had no occasion to import.

That the so-called "stabilization" of the prices of food and other necessities of life, which the brain-trusters and the Department of Agriculture, under the lead of the White House, have spent billions to achieve, has not been achieved at all.

That the cost of living is at an unprecedented peak, far outstripping the wages of the workers.

And that these follies have not only sacraficed our foreign markets, but have opened our domestic markets to the producers of the world, while our own producers languish in idleness on the dole, and the New Deal carries the blight of its regimentation and forced restrictions even to the tiniest potatoe patch in the land.

But this is not all that we shall learn.

It is only the beginning of the understanding, we shall some day reach, of the blight that is being inflicted upon this fair land in the name of "government."

EVERYBODY PAYS TAXES

"Don't Kid Yourself."

(An Editorial in The Atlanta Georgian)

Everybody pays taxes, though only a few know it.

The man who thinks that because his income is small he gets off without defraying the cost of his government, is living in a fool's paradise.

Your contribution to the brain-trusters, boon-doggers and others in the various governments under which you live thus runs up—if you are an average man with an average job—to about $173 a year.

Better turn that over in your mind before you congratulate yourself that the spending spree at Washington doesn't hit YOU.

BILLY BARGER, PHARMACIST, AT ALRED DRUG COMPANY

Mr. Billy Barger, pharmacist, of Birmingham, took up his duties at Alred Drug Company September the first, succeeding Jack Davis, who recently went back to Greenville.

Mr. Barger has had fifteen years experience as a druggist, for some time being associated with the Alley stores, of Birmingham. He comes here most highly recommended as a druggist of extraordinary ability.

He is a fellow who impresses one at the very beginning that he is courteous, considerate, and thoroughly understanding of the art of transacting business with people in a happy and pleasant manner.

We didn't find out his age. Neither do we remember just now the color of his hair or whether he has false teeth. But those little details are unimportant for our purpose. The fact that he is not married assures him of a most thorough scrutiny by everyone who may be interested in determining his various little traits of personality, habit and disposition which are so little, yet might mean so much.

We welcome Mr. Barger to Clanton. He will like our city and our people. We will like him. He is with a good business. Alred Drug Company is "The Home of Quality," and has been for the past thirty years or so. Clanton is a good place to work, to play, to live, and make a living.

Billy may not appreciate or understand the spirit in which this is written. But everybody else will, and he will before he stays here a year.

Dr. Lawrence To Have New Office

Workmen are engaged this week in construction of another office building in Clanton. It is being made out of the old J. C. Jones store between Dief's Service Station and the new postoffice, on First Avenue.

The old wooden structure which has occupied the lot for several years, is one of the oldest buildings in Clanton. It was built by Judge Callen in the early days of Clanton, first being located on Main Street (Second Avenue). Later it was moved from Main Street, and placed about the center of Block 10, under a group of giant oak trees.

There it remained for several years, being used as a bottling plant, blacksmith shop, warehouse, and other different things. When brick buildings began to crowd block 10, the old building was moved to its present location, where Mr. J. C. Jones built an addition to it ten years ago.

Present plans provide for a new and permanent foundation for the ground work of the new office structure, a solid brick front, designed along modern and attractive lines, and a brick veneer wall all around the building.

Mr. Reid Mullins, who is in charge of the construction, states that the east half of the building has been leased to Dr. C. O. Lawrence, who will install a suite of offices just as soon as the building is completed. Other applications have been received for office space in the west side of the building, but Mr. Mullins could not state who the occupants will be.

It is understood that the plans of Dr. Lawrence provide for the arrangement of office, consultation rooms, and rooms for patients in his part of the building. He will be equipped to fully care for his patients, offering nurse and hospital care for those who may need it after treatment. Dr. Lawrence expects to get into his new location some time soon after the first of October.

RAINER-MARTIN MARRIAGE

Mr. and Mrs. J. O. Rainer, of Verbena, Ala., anounce the engagement of their daughter, Annie Lee, to Freeman P. Martin, of Clanton, Ala., formerly of South Carolina, the wedding to be an event of October.

UNCLE REMUS BLOWS IN FROM A SERIES OF VACATION TRIPS

"Uncle Remus," from the sage of Shoults, way over on the west side of the county, overlooking Oakmulgee, blew into Clanton Tuesday morning on No. 2, fresh from a series of vacation trips which he has enjoyed since "laying by time."

"I have just been frollicking around for a few weeks," he said, "since I got done laying by. First I went to Talladega County and spent a while with my boy who is in charge of the C. C. C. Camps. It was delightful up there on top of the highest mountain in Alabama.

"From there I came back by home, and on to Palm Beach, Fla., where I enjoyed several days with my daughter and her husband. I was getting along fine until the tropical storms began to lash at the shore. That made me want to seek higher ground.

"So here I am, refreshed by the ocean breezes, and anxious to get back home and start gathering my crop. They tell me I have a good crop, and I am anxious to see it. By the way, do you know if anybody from over my way is in town?"

It was Commissioners Court day, and Uncle Remus took his seat on the courthouse steps to wait until Clint Atchison got through worrying about how to vote on the airport expansion proposition.

By this time, no doubt, he is at home on the edge of Oakmulgee, scratching his fingernails on the cotton burrs.

DIEF HAS LEASE ON PART OF NEW MULLINS BUILDING

Mr. L. E. Diefenderfer has taken lease on a space in the new Mullins Building fronting on the highway.

When interviewed about his plans Dief said: "I have leased the building, but am not yet ready to state my plans for the use of it."

Jesse Frank Foshee has gone to the University of Alabama, where he will become a member of the football team of this year.

INTERESTING BALL GAME SET FOR SATURDAY AFTERNOON

The high school park in Clanton will be the scene of an interesting baseball game next Saturday afternoon, when Lay Dam will go up aginst the Power Company team from Montgomery. It will be called at 3:00 o'clock.

This game will be sponsored by the Executive Board of Chilton County High School Parent-Teacher Association. Admission, 10c and 15c.

Sidney and Grady Junior Reynolds left last Sunday to take up their studies at the University of Alabama.

FINANCING FORESTRY

Montgomery. — Why the Federal Government should spend some eight million dollars in Alabama on forestry and State park projects under the direction of the Commission of Forestry is a question frequently asked of the Commission. The President had directed that before the allocation of such projects the State must guarantee the maintenance of the works, structures and improvements built by the CCC upon State park lands and upon State and private forest lands. It was well known throughout the commonwealth that the State funds available to the Commission per acre of forest land amounted only to about one twenty-eighth of the average of that at the disposal of other states having forestry departments in effect as long as or longer than that of Alabama.

The answer to the question lay in the prospect and final enactment of the Toomer Bill in the State Legislature. For many years the State Forestry Fund comprised only the license fees derived from the forest industries. The amount thus available became less and less from year to year until it no longer furnished the basis of a guarantee of maintenance of improvements built by the CCC. However, the Toomer Act added limited receipts to the total bringing the latter to a minimum sum that enabled the Commission to render the required assurance.

Upon the signing of the Toomer Act on February 5, 1935, the continuance of existing projects and the granting of new ones that had been held in abeyance were approved by the cooperating agencies of the federal government. None of the additional receipts allocated under the Toomer Act have as yet been utilized, but the passage of the Act has been accepted by the Federal departments as evidence of the good faith of the State in its intention to provide the necessary maintenance and future administration of the eight million dollars' worth of CCC projects under the supervision of the Commission.

CARD OF THANKS

We wish to take this opportunity to thank our many friends and relatives for their kindness while our daughter, Mildred, was in the hospital recovering from injuries received by a truck on the 6th day of August.

Especially do we thank Dr. Marcus, Dr. Gragg, the nurses at the hospital and Martin and Sons. May the Lord bless them is our prayer.—Mr. and Mrs. Jim Popwell and family.

$300,000 GIVEN MAXWELL FIELD

Work to Start Soon on Improvements At Army Air Corps Tactical School

Work will be started soon on $300,-000 worth of improvements at Maxwell Field, Army Air Corps Tactical school, it was announced Saturday by U. S. Representative Lister Hill. Representative Hill said he had just been informed by the works progress administration at Washington of approval of a series of projects asked for the air field.

Of the funds, $50,000 has been allocated for an enlisted men's service club building, $40,000 for medical detachment barracks, and the remaining $210,000 for an extensive general improvement program, including runways, drainage work, and repairs and additions to existing facilities through out the reservation.

The awarding of contracts and supervision of work for the projects will be handled by the quartermaster general corps of the war department.

Plans and specifications were prepared in advance, and a definite announcement of arrangements for the work should soon be forthcoming, Representative Hill said.

BROWN NAMED HEAD OF STATE REHABILITATION

Mr. and Mrs. Andy Cleckler and child and Mrs. Essie Rhodes were treated last Saturday night for minor inuries sustained in an automobile wreck.

Clyde Bradberry was hurt by falling from a truck last Saturday night. He was given first aid treatment at the hospital, after which he was discharged and went home.

MUCH DROUTH DAMAGED CORN GOOD FOR SILAGE

Auburn, Ala.—Much upland corn that has been damaged by dry weather can be converted into silage by use of trench silos, advises J. C. Grimes, head of the animal husbandry department of the Alabama Polytechnic Institute.

With the approach of fall and winter, farmers having ten or more head of cattle should put away a considerable quantity of silage for use during the winter months. Trench silos, which can be constructed at a very low cost, are highly recommended as an economical way to preserve such roughage as corn and sorghum. Many farmers in all sections of the State have used such silos with succes during the past two or three years, Mr. Grimes states.

A trench silo is nothing more than a well-drained hole in the ground in which the silage is packed similarly to the manner used in silos which are constructed above ground. Winter feed, it has been found, is kept in good condition under ground at a very small cost.

Detailed instructions as to how to construct a trench silo are given in a circular which can be secured from county agents or by writing the Alabama Experiment Station, Auburn, Alabama.

EIGHT 4-H CLUB GIRLS WILL BE GIVEN TRIPS

Auburn, Ala.—Eight Alabama 4-H club girls will be given trips to the 14th National Club Congress to be held in Chicago, November 29 to Dec. 7 this year, announces Miss Elizabeth DeLoney, state girls' 4-H club leader. The girls will be given the trips because of outstanding achievements in health, bread making, food preservation, food preparation, style, and general achievement work. The names of the winners of the trips will be announced in Montgomery on October 5th.

IDLE ACRES SHOULD BE PLANTED TO PINES

Auburn, Ala.—"Now is the time to begin to plan for the replanting of those idle acres on the farm", says D. J. Weddell, assistant professor of forestry at Auburn. "The planting season does not begin until late in December but it is very necessary to have the seedlings ordered before that time."

Mr. Weddell recommends slash pine for planting in the southern half of the State and loblolly pine for the northern half. The slash pine should be planted 8 feet by 8 feet apart and the loblolly pine planted 6 feet by 6 feet.

W. D. DUNLAP DIED SUNDAY

Mr. W. D. Dunlap, age 76, died last Saturday afternoon at his home in Selma. Burial was at Highland Monday, with Spigener in charge. Funeral services were conducted by Rev. A. E. Trice.

Mr. Dunlap, generally known among his many friends as "Uncle Billy," was a former citizen and longtime resident of Chilton county. He lived in the Highland community until moving to Selma a few years ago.

He is survived by his widow and 5 Scroggins, Selma; Mrs. Julia Ward, Clanton; Mrs. Nancy Williams, Selma; Jim and Huey Dunlap, of Selma.

UNKNOWN NEGRO DIED AT HOSPITAL AFTER INJURIES

A negro man, whose name and identity were unknown at the time and still remains unsolved, was picked up last Friday night by Spigener's ambulance about 5 miles south of Calera. He was unconscious, apparently having been struck by a passing automobile or fallen from a truck.

When placed in the Central Alabama Hospital, it was found that he was suffering a serious fracture of the skull. Without even becoming conscious, he died about one o'clock Monday morning. Burial was provided Monday in the negro cemetery of Clanton at the expense of the county.

CANE CREEK

Rev. E. A. Norris has accepted the care of our church for the remainder of this year. He will be here next Saturday, September 7th, and Sunday following, to preach for us. We will have services on the second Sunday as usual. We urge our members to come.

Sunday school at 10 o'clock Sunday morning and preaching following.

Rev. H. D Durbin preached for us last Saturday night and Rev. W. H. Wilson Sunday. We were glad to have them with us; visitors are always welcome.

SANDWICH - ICE CREAM SUPPER

There will be a sandwich and ice cream supper at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Vaughn McKee on Saturday night, September 7th. There will be cakes also. Proceeds will go to Mt. Nebo church. Don't forget the date.

AGE 90—PICKS 100

Mr. J. S. Jones of Clanton Route 4 is 90 years old and picks 100 pounds of cotton a day—some days more than 100. Not many men in Chilton county of Mr. Jones's age can pick that much cotton. He is not satisfied unless he is at work.

BOBBY DEAN FRASER

Little Bobby Dean Fraser, four-months-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Elliot Fraser, of South Clanton, passed away on Monday afternoon at St. Margaret's Hospital in Montgomery.

The little body was laid to rest in Samaria cemetery on Tuesday morning at eleven o'clock with Bro. Jones, of Thorsby conducting the funeral.

We will all miss little Bobby Dean's sweet smiles and general presence in our home. But we know that God always knows best and we must submit to His divine will in all things.—The Family.

Game and Fish News

Montgomery, Ala., Aug. 31.—Dove shooting in Alabama and other Southern States will begin and end 10 days earlier than originally provided for in the 1935 hunting regulations, the U. S. Biological Survey has advised I. T. Quinn, state commissioner of conservation.

Approved in a proclamation by President Roosevelt, the new amendment to Federal regulations makes dove season September 21 to Jan. 5, in Alabama, Georgia, Mississippi, Louisiana, Florida, Tennessee, North Carolina, South Carolina, Kentucky, Virginia, Delaware, Maryland, Arkansas, Oklahoma, Texas, New Mexico, Arizona and California.

Formerly set to open on October 1 and close on January 15, the season was changed to equalize privileges of dove hunters throughout the country, following numerous protests from the Southern States, the bureau explained. Laws prohibiting October and early November dove shooting in the interest of upland game birds resulted in a practically closed season on doves in some states under the original provisions of this year's Federal regulations.

The President's proclamation also included amendments to clarify regulations that inadvertently made restrictions not intended. One of the provisions corrected would have made 4 p.m., the daily closing time for waterfowl hunting, apply also to the shooting of rails (other than coot), woodcock, doves, and band-tailed pigeons. The new amendment provides that these birds may be hunted from 7 a.m. until sunset.

A second correction will make it possible for hunters in blinds or legal floating craft to hunt within 100 feet of natural vegetation that may be some distance from shore. The original provision limited hunting to areas within 100 feet of vegetation continuous with the short, a degree of restriction found unessential to the regulation's purpose of preventing open-water shooting of the diving ducks, which have been found to be more seriously depleted in numbers than other species.

Motorist (dining at a small town hotel): "Why does that dog sit there and watch me all the time?"

Waitress: "You've got the plate he usually eats from sir."

Wife (examining new skunk fur): "I don't see how a beautiful fur could come from such a foul-smelling beast."

Husband: "I don't ask for thanks, but I would like some respect."

Foreman, (to small son of workman who has met with accident): "When will your dad be fit for work again?"

Boy: "Can't say for certain, but it won't be for a long time."

Foreman: "What makes you think that?"

Boy: "Cos compensation's set in."

MARS HILL MEETING

The summer revival at Mars Hill will begin Saturday night, before the second Sunday, September 7th. Rev. J. N. Green of Jemison will do the preaching. The services will continue into the week with services twice daily—at 11:00 o'clock and 7:30.

MANY EDUCATIONAL EXHIBITS AT ALABAMA STATE FAIR

Birmingham, Ala.—Colleges and schools throughout the State of Alabama are busy these days working on exhibits which they will present to the public in the educational department at the Alabama State Fair to be held at Birmingham for six days and six nights from September 23 to 28.

Dr. Walter B. Jones, State Geologist, assisted by Mr. David L. DeJarnette, Curator of the Alabama Museum of Natural History, will be in charge of the University of Alabama exhibits, which promise to be some of the outstanding exhibits of the Educational Department.

SINGING IN DETROIT

Word comes to us that Mr. Floy Devaughn is in Detroit, Michigan, singing for a revival meeting. He has been up there for a couple of weeks, and will likely be there a week or so more, or longer.

Floy is the son of Prof. W. M. Devaughn of Poplar Springs, and is one of the most promising young singers of the county. He is a graduate of Chilton county high school, and has attended the Vaughan musical institute at Lawrenceburg, Tenn. He has been teaching singing schools for the past two years.

Two Sentenced To Hard Labor

Cases in Non Jury Circuit Court Wednesday Last Week

At the conclusion of the non-jury term of the Circuit Court last week, Judge Glover sentenced two defendants to do hard labor for fines and costs.

Dewey Cummings, on a charge of violating the prohibition law, was sentenced 20 days for the fine, 55 days for the cost, and 30 days additional punishment.

Jack Wright, on a conviction for decoying away a child, was sentenced 44 days for the cost and 92 days for additional punishment.

Appeals were entered by two defendants convicted in the court.

Morris Williams, on a charge of trespassing after warning, was found guilty and fined 5 and cost. Appeal was taken by the defendant, and his appeal bond was set at $250.

Leonard Henley entered appeal from a conviction on the charge of malicious injury to an animal. His fine was $25 and cost. Appeal bond was set by the court at $300.

A WARTY SQUASH-GOURD

Mr. Alphus Jones, of Corinth community, brought to The Union-Banner Saturday a rare specimen of squash, which is thought to have mixed about fifty-fifty with a gourd. Mr. Jones said that there was a gourd vine and a squash vine growing side by each. All the gourds and squashes appeared normal on each vine except one on the squash vine. This was a knotty-surfaced formation with some knots colored like the squashes and some colored green like the gourds. It bears every indication of a complete crossing between the two plant families. It may be seen at The Banner ofice.

POST OFFICE ASKING FOR BIDS ON WOOD

Acting Postmaster Hosea Downs announced this week that the Post Office Department is asking for bids on firewood, including kindling, dry pine, etc.

Bids are also being asked on laundrying towels for the post office. All specifications and instructions are contained in a bulletin posted at the post office in Clanton, Mr. Downs stated.

FARMER'S RALLY

Many prominent speakers will be there. Everyone is invited.—Lonnie L. Cobb, County Secretary.

VAUGHAN QUARTET IN CONCERT HERE THURSDAY NIGHT, SEPT. 5

It will be welcome news to their many friends and admirers here to learn that the Vaughan Quartet from Lawrenceburg, Tenn., will appear in concert at the high school auditorium in Clanton on Thursday night, September 5th, at 8 o'clock. The appearance is made under the auspices of Circle No. 1 of Clanton Baptist W. M. S., and an admission charge of 15c and 25c will be made.

This bunch of singers has the reputation of being the best Mr. James D. Vaughan has ever sent out from his institution. Most of the personnel has been to Clanton before in other quartets, and the fans here will recoznize them as being an assemblage of real artists in their line. They are: Palmer Wheeler, first tenor; Keifer Vaughan, second tenor; J. T. Cook, baritone; Jim Waites, bass. Mr. Brock at the piano.

MODERN BEAUTY SHOPPE WILL MOVE TO NEW MULLINS BUILDING

Mrs. W. C. Robinson, proprietor of the Modern Beauty Shoppe, announces that she has secured a location for her shop up stairs in the new Mullins building, at the corner of second Avenue and Seventh Street.

She said she expects to move to the new location about the tenth of this month. The Beauty Shop will occupy the two rooms in the front of the building, second floor, facing second Avenue.

U. S. HAS TROUBLE SELLING NEW BONDS

Washington, Aug. 29.—The treasury today reported its first difficulty during this administration in floating a government bond when only $85,592,000 of tenders were received for an offering of $100,000,000.

The offering consisted of four-year one and one-half per cent bonds for the federal farm mortgage corporation, made last Monday. They were sold on a competitive, or auction basis, to the highest bidder.

Treasury officials could not recall a siminlar instance. The closest approach was said to have occurred last August when an issue of $150,000,000 of Home Owners Corporation bonds was floated in three series. While two of the series were over subscribed, and offering the three-year series fell $2,000,000 shy of the requested total of $50,000,000.

EXAMINATION FOR POSTMASTER AT VERBENA

To fill the vacancy in the position of postmaster in Verbena, Ala., salary $1,100, the United States Civil Service Commission has announced, at the request of the Postmaster General and in accordance with an order of the President, an open competitive examination.

THE UNION-BANNER HAS COPY OF COTTON JOURNAL

The Union-Banner has on hand a copy of the International Edition of The Cotton Trade Journal, published at New Orleans. This is one of the most comelete coverings of the cotton and textile situation of the world that we have had the pleasure of looking over.

There are covered such interesting subjects as "Governmental," "Trade Views," "Foreign Growing Countries," "Foreign Consuming Countries," and a vast amount of other material touching on the vital questions of the day relating to cotton.

The Union-Banner would like for every cotton farmer in Chilton County to look over this edition. Anyone wishing to examine it and read it may do so by calling at The Banner office.

Chilton-Shelby Series Is Tied Up

Deciding Game to be Played At Maplesvile Sunday September 8

The Chilton-Shelby All-Star series of baseball games is now tied at three games each.

On Wednesday, August 28, Chilton defeated the Shelby team 7 to 2 on the Clanton field.

On Thursday, the game was again played on the Clanton field, Shelby winning by the count of 10 to 2

On Friday the Chilton team went to Columbiana and won from Shelby in a hot 10-inning game, 4 to 3.

Then on Sunday, September 1, the two teams met at Maplesville, Shelby winning the first quite handily, 5 to 1. Shelby came from the short end of a 5 to 1 count in the fourth inning of the afterpiece, scoring 8 runs in this frame, on 7 hits and 2 errors. This was a 7-inning game, Shelby winning, 11 to 6.

On Monday the two teams tied up again, Chilton winning this close one, 5 to 4.

The seventh and deciding game will be played at Maplesville next Sunday afternoon, the game beginning promptly at 3:15. Several fans of the two teams are expected to be present from both Shelby and Chilton counties, as well as other adjacent counties.

The Chilton team is one of 20 members picked from the 196 players participating in the recent Central Alabama Baseball Tournament, which was played at Clanton.

The Shelby team is one of like number picked from the six teams comprising the Shelby County League.

CITY GAVE $1,500 FOR THE AIRPORT

County Has Failed To Accept Offer of Co-operation Last Week

Reconsidering its action of last Tuesday night in refusing to co-operate with the County Commissioners in developing the community center at the airport, the City Council last Thursday night voted to participate with the county in the maximum amount of $1,500 for this development.

Whereupon the County Commissioners, at a meeting Friday, failed to act on the proposition, after having sent the Probate Judge to the City Council to plead with that body to put up one-fourth the cost against the county's three-fourths.

The story of the community center agitation of the past two weeks as it appears since passing into the background, might be termed a more or less hot subject that nobody wished to hold and nobody wished to throw down. But somebody had to hold it or drop it, and the Commissioners are still holding it.

Some weeks ago the federal government set a dead line by which all projects under WPA must be on file. Further development of the airport and community center in connection with it, was found to require a minimum of 32 more acres of land.

The airport committee made repeated requests of the Commissioners to buy the land, so the way would be clear to ask W. P. A. for the additional developments, chief of which was desired the county-wide community center.

After consideration of the question for several days, the Commissioners finally determined to propose to the City Council that they would go ahead with the purchase of the land, provided the City would pay one-fourth the cost. This was estimated at $400, and the city refused to appropriate it.

Mell Martin, on behalf of the Kiwanis Club, then offered to lay $200 of the $400 on the table, if the Council would put up $200. There was no action on this proposal.

The next day Mr. Martin and Mr. Leo Thompson went among the business people of Clanton and raised donations for the whole $400, with $5 to boot, and offered it to the Council Thursday night as the part the Commissioners were asking the City to pay. But immediately a resolution was adopted pledging the City to co-operate with the county to the mixmum amount of $1,500 in developing the the community center.

The Commissioners Court, in session again Friday, took up the matdiscussed it at some length, but did not act upon the proposal of the city to co-operate.

airport and the community center.

It is pointed out that this development was being proposed under the Works Progress Administration, and not the Public Works Administration. Under WPA the sponsors of a project were not required to put up any definite portion of the cost of a development. The government could practically grant the whole cost, so long as the sponsors particiated in furnishing property upon which to make the improvements.

Some who have followed this procedure closely venture the estimation that in failure to provide the necessary land for development of a community center, Chilton County has lost what would have ultimately been the expenditure of fifty to seventy-five thousand dollars here by the Works Progress Administration.

Milt Tolbert Show Saturday Night

The old timers from Dothan are on the road again, with everything new but the name. Milt Tolbert tent theatre is coming to Clanton for one engagement—Saturday night, September 14th. This will be welcome news to the many friends of that organization, which used to make this territory every fall until the state license was made prohibitive four or five years ago.

Mr. Billy Wagoner, the advance man, was in Clanton last Thursday puting up signs, arranging for advertising, etc. He stated that they had an entirely new outfit, new scenery, larger tent, better seats, and everything.

The entertainment consists of a feature vaudeville acts, including: Jona's Twins, celebrated night club entertainers — big-time vaudeville dancing act.

Sebee Hayworth, the south's funniest red-headed toby, is a real comedian; and Miller and Leighton will do a comedy musical act. Billy Ferguson, whom you have seen before, will be the black-face comedian again.

Ray Sliker and his Mid-Nite Serenaders will be on hand. This is a red-hot jazz band.

Ladies Free: One lady admitted free with each adult ticket. Not a pass or two ladies on one paid ticket.

Doors open at 7 o'clock; show begins promptly at 8. The show will go on rain or shine.

Mrs. Frank Callen and Children motored to Selma and spent last Thursday.

They will have on display at all times in the Fox Building a complete showing of these items, and invite their friends and customers to come to see them.

NEW BOARD OF PUBLIC WELFARE

Appointments Made By Commissioners Court At Recent Session

On last Friday afternoon, September 6th, the Commissioners Court, the Mayor and Council of each incorporated town in the county, and the County Board of Education held a joint meeting for the purpose of discussing joint participation in the new Public Welfare Program, and naming of members to serve on the Board.

The meeting was called to order by Judge J. Lee Smith, who asked that Miss Meroney explain the new program to the meeting. After the plan had been explained and discussed, it was pointed out by Judge Smith that the County is now spending about $1,008 for various welfare activities within the county, and that there are 88 women in the county who were formerly cared for by the relief administration, but must be cared for by the county now until some other plan is worked out for them.

Mr. Varney Wyatt, speaking for Thorsby, expressed the willingness of the Town of Thorsby to participate in the program, and suggested that Mrs. Charles Howard be appointed to serve on the board.

Mr. S. J. M. Webb, speaking for the County Board of Education, suggested that Mr. Luther E. Little, County Superintendent of Education, be named to represent the County Board of Education on the Board of Public Welfare.

Mr. Little explained that the Board of Education would pay for the services of an attendance worker and assistant to the Director of Public Welfare, as in the past, and that they are now contributing to the County Health Deartment the amount of $500.

The meeting was adjourned and the Commissioners Court went into session to appoint members to serve on the new Board of Public Welfare. The members appointed were: S. L. Gibson, Verbena, Mrs. C. N. Parnell, Maplesville; Mrs. Charles Howard, Thorsby, G. C. Walker, Clanton; Sam Pate, Thorsby; Luther E. Little, Clanton; Judge J. Lee Smith, Clanton.

CLANTON CHILD, TURNING TO STONE, IS VICTIM OF PETRIFICATION MALADY

Slowly "turning to stone" may be the terrible fate facing pretty little Dorothy Snyder, 6-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Mason Snyder, whose home is between Clanton and Samaria church.

Already the child's plump little body is becoming "hard like a plaster cast," acording to members of her family; and several physicians, consulted about the strange affliction, have expressed the belief that she is suffering from myositis ossificans, or some similar disease, which eventually will result in the complete petrification of her body.

Perfectly normal all of her life, the first symptoms of anything unusual in the child was noticed by her parents a few weeks ago. A hardness developed about her neck, but it had been only a short time since her tonsils had been removed and they supposed that this condition was due to the tonsilectomy.

After the condition showed signs of spreading, physicians here were consulted and a partial diagnosis revealed symptoms of petrification. Later she was taken to specialists in Montgomery, with the result that similar diagnoses were made. Little hope is held for recovery in these cases, physicians declare. Although often many years elapse before the entire body is petrified, the chances of cure are few.

So, instead of going to school for the first time this year, as would be the normal procedure for a six-year-old girl, Dorothy will stay at home and slowly lose the use of her body, as the horrible fate changes her tender flesh into stone.

Her legs and the lower part of the child's body seems unaffected so far, but already her arms are stiffening. Even her winning little smile has gone, and in its place is seen "a frozen-looking expression." When the affected part of her body is pinched or pricked with a pin, she can feel it but says that it does not pain her. Her skin is dry and of a spongy firmness.

W. C. Warrick spent Friday in Montgomery.

THE CONSTITUTION OF THE UNITED STATES

Much has been said during past weeks, and is still being said, about the Constitution of The United States. The Union-Banner is glad to be able to publish this important document in full. The time is made more opportune by the fact that next week, September 16th through the 21st, has been set aside all over the country as Constitution Week, and next Tuesday is Constitution Day in Alabama.

This issue of The Union-Banner should be carefully preserved by everyone, as The Constitution is something that we should all be more acquainted with and to which we might want to refer constantly. Preserve this issue of The Union-Banner.

MRS. ROSS TO OPEN HER KINDERGARTEN SEPT. 16th

Mrs. L. C. Ross announces that she will open her kindergarten in her home, west Second Avenue, on next Monday, September 16th. All parents wishing to enter their children should get in touch with Mrs. Ross either in person or by telephone.

Mrs. C. T. Oliver of Tuscaloosa left Thursday after a few days visit to friends in Clanton.

Gragg Appreciates Name of Airport

But Would Have Preferred Further Development By County

Editor Union-Banner:

It is in order, and gives me pleasure, to express my thanks to the Commissioners Court for bestowing on me the honor of naming our little flying field for me. I also want to thank those who suggested this, among whom are members of the Kiwanis Club, both our county papers, and others, especially Mr. Victor Norris.

However, I want to say frankly that I would, a thousand times over, rather our Commissioners could have seen their way clear to have added more land to this field, and provided a county-wide community center, including a large community house, a fair ground for our farmers, an athletic field for those who like games, and a pool for those who like to swim. I say that I would a thousand times over preferred this for our farmers and our boys and girls than to have it named for me.

This place was not selected by me. The land did not belong to my friend John Smith, nor to anybody's cousin Francis, Marion or Aunt Sallie Brown. It was the land selected by Mr. Hoppins, of the Department of Commerce, Washington, D. C., who spent a whole day looking over land for miles all around Clanton. He said it was an ideal place and he is the man who selected Montgomery airport as well as hundreds of others all over the United States.

The American Legion's Committee selected it. It was the choice of our farmers, led by Mr. Fant. It was the choice of our Educational Department, led by Mr. Little, and it was the choice of both of our county papers representing both old political parties.

It was level land, supplied with plenty of good fresh running water at all times, situated about the proper distance from town, near the county seat, and almost in the geographical center of the county and state; and the Federal Government stood ready to give us many thousands of dollars to develop it and offered to let us have this under the Works Progress Administration which required so little of us locally as to be practically nothing.

However, no use crying over "spilled milk". It is gone now and we would better forget that and look forward, hoping there will be another time coming.

Again thanking all, I am yours for better things for all.—V. J. Gragg.

Republicans Ask Rest For Industry

'Rest Cure' Demanded Instead of a Mere Breathing Spell

Washington, Sept. 9.—The Republican national committee says industry wants "a complete rest cure"—not just a "breathing spell" assured by President Roosevelt.

Referring to the president's exchange of letters with Roy Howard, publisher, the committee said in its weekly pamphlet yesterday the letters "breed fear instead of inspiring calmness."

At St. Charles, Mo., Senator Dickinson (R-Iowa) told a party gathering that the administration's course "can only end in national disaster." He saw the prospect of "crushing taxes and a standard of living likely to be lower rather than higher for the future."

Col. Frank Knox, Chicago Daily News publisher who has been mentioned as a possible Republican presidential candidate, said in Boston that "it would require more than verbal assurance to bring about that restoration of confidence which is essential to permanent recovery"

Col. Knox said that because of the new deal's "repudiation" of "the platform upon which the democrats appealed to the people and upon which they won their election the mere promise of the president is by no means sufficient."

Former Senator James A. Reed of Missouri, speaking at Chicago, described the "breathing spell" statement as "the baldest admission that the communistic government in Washington has had its hands at the throat of American business."

To senate democratic leader Joseph T. Robinson, who commented on the state at Little Rock, Ark., the president's letter "indicates that the program for counteracting the depression is substantially complete."

The Republican national committee's pamphlet said the exchange of letters "more likely was designed to afford Mr. Howard a freshly laundered alibi for keeping his newspaper chain narrowly partisian in its support of the president and give it an excuse in advance for advocating renomination for election."

"There is nothing in the president's letter," it continued, "to which the confidence of men of affairs can make fast. He reiterates the fundamental fallacy of the new deal—that is impossible to distinguish between recovery and reform.

"Because of that blind obsession, the Roosevelt administration, in the name of reform, unloosed forces destructive of our sound and legitimate economic structure, which made it impossible to have business recovery and which are justifiably accountable for the hostility and fright which Mr. Howard himself admits now pervade the world of business, finance and industry."

MARTIN MEMORIAL SERVICES TO BE AT OLD BETHESDA SEPT 29

Announcement is made by J. Mell Martin that the annual Martin Memorial services and family reunion is being planned at Old Bethesda, near Equality, for Sunday, September 29th.

Full details of the program will be published between now and the 29th, Mr. Martin said.

The farmer's Educational and Cooperative Union of America will hold their County meeting and rally at New Salem, two miles southeast of Thorsby the second Saturday in this month, September 14th.

Many prominent speakers will be there. Everyone is invited.—Lonnie L. Cobb, County Secretary.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter J. Patrick, of Billingsley, Ala., announce the engagement of their daughter, Eula Inez, to Herbert E. Nichols, of Jacksonville, Ala., the wedding to be an of September.

TIRED!

I'm tired, oh, so tired, of the whole New Deal,
Of the juggler's smile, and the barker's spiel,
Of the mushy speech and the loud bassoon,
Tired of all our leaders' croon.

I am tired of the tax on my ham and eggs,
I'm tired of paying toll to political yeggs,
Tired of Jim Farley's stamps on my mail.
Tired of my shirt with the tax shortened tail.

I'm tired of the farmers goose-stepping to laws,
Of millions of itching job-holders' paws,
Of fireside talks on commandeered mikes,
Of passing more laws to stimulate strikes.

I'm tired of the daily increasing debt,
I'm tired of promises not to be met,
Of eating and sleeping by government plan,
I'm tired of forgetting the forgotten man.

I'm tired of every new brain trust thought,
Of the ship of state turned into a yacht,
I'm tired of beating the courts by stealth,
And terribly tired of sharing the wealth.

I'm tired and bored with the whole New Deal,
With its juggler's smile and its barker's spell,
Oh, Lord, out of all thy available men,
Please grant us a Cleveland or a Coolidge again.

ONE FINED FOR PARKING OVERTIME ON 7th STREET

The first case for violatin of the recently-enacted parking limit ordinance on Seventh Street was on the docket of Mayor's Court Monday morning. The defendant was assessed a fine of $1 and costs by Mayor Jones.

The ordinance restricting parking on Seventh Street (the Highway) through Clanton was enacted only a few weeks ago, at the request of the business concerns in that area between Dief's Service Station and Teel's Service Station.

A limit of one hour parking is prescribed between the hours of eight a.m. and 6 p.m., with provisions for fine and penalties for violations.

HUEY P. LONG IS SHOT TO DEATH

Louisiana Senator Is Victim of Assassin's Bullet In State Capitol

Baton Route, La.—Senator Huey P. Long, 42, the farm youth who wanted to make "every man a king" and gained unprecedented power in Louisiana, died Tuesday, the victim of an assassin.

The self-styled "Kingfish," political "dictator" of Louisiana and possible candidate for president next year, died at 4:06 a.m., Tuesday. His family and close political associates were at his bedside.

His death left his powerful machine, which controls practically every office in the state, without a directing head. There is no "dictator" to take his place.

While his leaders held conferences to decide what steps to take, the senator's death gave courage to his opponents, whose split into several factions had aided Long's ascent to power.

There was sadness here, the seat of the Long government. Friends and enemies alike expressed regret at his death, the sole topic of conversation in every Baton Rouge household. Many intimate with the senator showed marks of tears.

Fourteen members of the One Hundred Forty-First Field Artillery, Louisiana National Guard, from New Orleans under Capt. Edward P. Benezech, were ordered here as a guard of honor. Later a company of infantry here was given like assignment.

The 14 artillerymen had been held in the New Orleans barracks as a precautionary meause after Long was wounded.

The versatile Long, dictator of Louisiana, and a potential presidential candidate in 1936, succumbed after a valiant battle surrounded by his family and close poltical associates.

Long was shot by Dr. Carl C. Weiss, Jr., eye specialist of Baton Rouge, in the statehouse as Long was walking along a corridor after leaving the House of Representatives, which was in special session.

CONTEST CASES ARE DISMISSED

Republicans Abandon Efforts To Expose Absentee Ballots

Chilton County's three election contests ended last Friday when Percy M. Pitts, attorney for the contestants, appeared before Circuit Judge, Arthur Glover, and entered a motion for dismissal of the three cases.

Recording of the rocedure that ended what had threatened to be one of the longest drawn-out legal fights ever staged in this county, was made in the Circuit Clerk's office, the entire costs being charged to the contestants.

Growing out of last November's general election, when an almost comlete Democratic ticket was elected here for the first time in nearly half a century, W. G. Culp, Akins I Collins and H. A. Harris, Republican candidates for the offices of Tax Collector, Tax Assessor and Circuit Clerk, respectively, filed suits contesting the election of T. L. McKee, A. D. Martin and J. C. Pattillo, Democrats. Pattillo, Democrats.

Mr. Patillo assumed the affairs of the Circuit Clerk's office last January. Mr. McKee and Mr. Martin will take their offices October 1st this year.

In a statement Monday, attorney Percy M. Pitts, for the contestants said: "The contest was instituted by Mr. Culp, Mr. Collins and Mr. Harris, in the hope that they would be able to disclose alleged irregularities in the manipulation of the absentee ballots. After considerable procedure before the court with reference to absentee ballots, it was indicated by the court that a ruling would be entered refusing us the privilege of going into the legal test of the absentee ballots, because evidence had been introduced to show that the absentee ballot box is not now in the same condition it was left by the election oficers.

"Therefore, since the case of the contestants was based primarily upon the test of the legality of absentee ballots, and it appearing that we would be denied the privilege of making the tests in the courts, the contestants concluded that the main grounds of their legal fight would thereby be removed, and that a dismissal of the suits was the best course to take."

As to the possibility of any change having been made in the absentee ballots, Mr. Pitts would not comment further than to say that, since the election, the absentee box has been in possession of both Democratic and Republican custodians, with about an equal time for each.

POSTOFFICE AND BANK TO MOVE IN ABOUT 2 WEEKS

Your reporter set out Monday with the idea of finding out what time the postoffice and the Peoples Savings Bank would move into their new buildings. We thought a little information on those subjects would prove interesting to our readers.

Going to the bank to interview Frank Callen, we found Hosea Downs, also, just fresh from a conference with Frank, about the same subject the reporter was interested in.

"We have just settled, indefinitely, that very question. "Frank and I have been besieged bu numerous inquiries of late, wanting to know when

County Farm Agent's Notes

Compiled by J. W. Fant, County Farm Demonstration Agent for Chilton County

PLANT OATS EARLY AND TREAT SEED FOR SMUT

Auburn, Ala.—Oats should be planted early and the planting seed should be treated with a formaldehyde solution to prevent smut, advises J. C. Lowery, extension agronomist.

Experiments show that early-planted oats produce almost twice as much as do late-planted oats. Sow 2 to 3 bushels of turf or Red Rustproof strains.

Mr. Lowery says that oats smut can be controled very easiy and cheaply by treating the planting seed as follows:

1. Buy a one-quart atomiper-type sprayer from a drug or hardware store. (Cost about 50 cents).

2. Get from a drug store one pint of formaldehyde (40 per cent) solution for each 50 bushels of seed to be treated. (Cost about 50 cents).

3. Pile oats to be treated on a clean floor, canvas, or in a tight wagon bed.

4. Pour formaldehyde from the bottle into the sprayer, fill the bottle with water and pour it into the sprayer.

5. While the oats are being shoveled from one pile to another give one good squirt of the solution to each shovelful of oats as they are moved.

6. Round up the treated pile of oats and cover with bags which have been sprayed inside and out with the solution in order that the formaldehyde gas may be retained and penetrate the entire pile.

7. Leave the oats covered five hours, or over night.

FUMIGATE WEEVILS TO PROTECT GRAINS

Auburn, Ala.—Prof. J. M. Robinson, head of the entomology department of the Alabama Polytechnic Institute, is advising farmers to treat their stored corn, beans, and peas against weevils.

"Fumigate seeds by placing in airtight containers and treat with carbon disulphide, he said. Half a cup full is sufficient to treat a barrel of seed. Place liquid in a shallow receptacle on top of seed pile and close container to make it airtight. Allow to remain for one to two days."

FARMERS SELLING COTTON URGED TO KEEP RECORDS

Auburn, Ala.—Alabama cotton producers who sell their cotton immediately are urged to obtain and keep sales slips from buyers so as to be sure to have adustments sales records on which the government will be able to make adjustment payments under the new loan payment plan.

Government officials are at present working on printed forms for farmers to use but until these are available producers are urged to kee a complete record in order that the forms may be properly filled out when available.

Lesson for September 15

TIMOTHY

LESSON TEXT—II Timothy 1:1-14.

GOLDEN TEXT—Give diligence to present thyself approved unto God, a workman that needeth not to be ashamed, handling aright the word of truth. II Timothy 2:15.

PRIMARY TOPIC—The Boy Timothy.

JUNIOR TOPIC—A Missionary in the Making.

INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOPIC—Training for Service.

YOUNG PEOPLE AND ADULT TOPIC—Training in Home and Church.

Timothy's training would be the proper training for every child. In the measure that such training be given there would be a more abundant supply of Christian workers.

I. Timothy's Parentage (Acts 16:1).

His father was a Greek and his mother a believing Jewess. On his mother's side at least, he had a godly ancestry. Usually the influence of the mother makes the son. A pious mother and a pious grandmother were back of Timothy.

II. Timothy's Training (II Tim. 1:5; 3:14,15).

A wise and faithful mother and grandmother carefully nurtured him in God's Word. Through this training, he knew the Scriptures from his childhood. The faith which came to him from his grandmother through his mother did not come through the laws of heredity, but through careful training and teaching. Grace is not received by the laws of heredity. The factors involved in his training were a godly ancestry, a home where God was feared, and a diligent study of the Scriptures.

III. Timothy's Call (Acts 16:1-3).

While on his second missionary journey in company with Silas, Paul found Timothy at Lystra near Derbe. Perhaps he had been converted on Paul's first missionary journey, but, hearing a favorable report of him by the brethren, Paul circumcised him so as not to offend the Jews because his father was a Greek. This was not contrary to the decision of the Jerusalem council. It was a case where conciliation could be made without compromise of truth.

IV. Timothy's Character.

1. Of a retiring disposition (II Tim. 1:6). He had received a gift from God at the hands of the apostles, but it needed to be stirred up; that is, fanned into a flame. Such a temperament would mature in touch with a great personality like Paul.

2. Courageous (II Tim. 2:1-8). Having been stirred up, he was freed from the spirit of fear and deliberately identified himself with Paul in his suffering and trials.

3. Faithful. He continued in the difficult field of Ephesus during many years. He was the only man of the needed fidelity to minister to the Philippians (Phil. 2:20). The secret of his faithfulness in such a position was his fidelity to the Word of God.

V. Timothy's Ministry.

1. As fellow missionary with Paul (Phil. 2:22).

2. As pastor of the church at Ephesus. Here he labored for many years, tactfully meeting the difficulties of that great church. The Christian minister must believe in the Scriptures as God's Word and be able to rightly divide them so as to meet the need of those who hear him.

VI. Paul's Farewell Message to Timothy (II Tim. 1:1-14).

1. Personal relationship (vv. 1, 2). Timothy was Paul's spiritual son, therefore a peculiar love went out to him. This strong affection was a vital factor in influencing Timothy's life.

2. Paul's deep interest in Timothy (vv. 3-5).

a. Prayer for him. While a prisoner in a lonely dungeon, he thinks of Timothy and prays for him.

b. Longed to see him. This reveals the vital reciprocal affection between Paul and Timothy, and also Paul's inner self. He was intensely human.

3. Gives Timothy Earnest Counsel (vv. 6-14).

a. To stir up the divine gift within him (vv. 6, 7). To stir up means to fan into flame. Enthusiasm of the Christian worker has a tendency to wane and, therefore, needs to be constantly stirred up.

b. Be not ashamed (vv. 8-12). He must be willing to suffer affliction for Christ's sake.

c. Hold fast the essential truths of the gospel (vv. 13, 14). This means the fundamental truths of Christianity, including the incarnation, atonement, resurrection, and coming again of Jesus Christ. These doctrines have been committed to God's servants as precious deposits. Servants of Christ are charged with the solemn obligation of guarding them as the shepherd guards his sheep or the soldier that which has been committed unto him.

Two Rules

There are two good rules which ought to be written upon every heart. Never believe anything bad about anybody, unless you positively know that it is true. Never tell even that, unless you feel that it is absolutely necessary, and that God is listening while you tell.—Van Dyke.

Judgment

I have learned to judge of men by their own deeds; I do not make the accident of birth the standard of their merit.—Hale.

Mrs. J. Hance Alred spent Monday in Birmingham.

If you feel tired, run-down, nervous and out of sorts

—there is usually a definite reason for this

Now let's reason sensibly.

Don't try to get well in a day . . . this is asking too much of Nature. Remember, she has certain natural processes that just cannot be hurried.

But there is a certain scientific way you can assist by starting those digestive juices in the stomach to flowing more freely and at the same time supply a balanced mineral deficiency the body needs.

Therefore, if you are pale, tired and run-down . . . a frequent sign that your blood-cells are weak—then do try in the simple, easy way so many millions approve — by starting a course of S.S.S. Blood Tonic.

Much more could be said—a trial will thoroughly convince you that this way, in the absence of any organic trouble, will start you on the road of feeling like yourself again. © S.S.S. Co.

S.S.S. TONIC makes you feel like yourself again

RURAL ELECTRIFICATION

Birmingham, Ala., Sept. 4.—in connection with the Company's rural electrification program, Mr. T. W. Martin, President of Alabama Power Company, today, made the following statement:

"On May 22nd last, we filed with Mr. Morris Llewellyn Cooke, Rural Eelectrification Administrator, Washington, application for approximately $1,400,000 with which to contsruct 850 miles of rural lines in Alabama. This application is still pending. Meanwhile the company has begun construction of approximately 400 miles of these lines at an estimated cost of $555,000, located in 37 counties in the State, and they should be completed within a period of seven to nine months. The company is now serving rural customers in every county in the State except two, and the present construction is merely an extension of the program on which the company has been engaged in its effort over the past fifteen years to extend electric service to rural areas of the State."

NATIONAL TAX-EXEMPTION CERTIFICATE POOL OPEN

Auburn, Ala.—On September 4 the regular 1935 national pool in Washington began receiving surplus cotton tax-exemption certificates from growers throughout the country.

E. L. Deal, manager of the pool, states that the certificates will sell for a price representing 5 cents per pound of cotton. He also advises the growers to get in touch with county agents or cotton assistants in cotton adustments if interested in obtaining or disposing of certificates.

THE 1935 COTTON LOAN PROGRAM

The government is offering a 10c loan on cotton to the producers who signed 1935 Cotton Acreage Reduction Contracts, and in addition is offering a subsidy payment which virtually guarantees the producer 12c per pound on his 1935 cotton crops.

If a producer sells his cotton on the open market he should get a bill of sale to present as proof that he sold on a particular date. The subsidy payment will be the difference between the average price on the 10 spot markets of the south and 12c on the day the producer sells his cotton. The price received for the cotton does not necessarily have anything to do with the subsiday payment, for example: A producer sells cotton in Clanton for 10.25c per pound. The average of the 10 spot markets will probably be about 10.35c which would mean that the producer would receive as a subsidy payment the difference in 10.45 and 12c per pound in addition to the 10.25c he received when the cotton was sold.

A producer may borrow 10c per pound on his cotton but he would not make application for a subsidy payment until the cotton is sold. If the producer sells his cotton after making the loan the subsidy would be based on the average price on the 10 spot markets on the day he sold and not on the day he made the loan.

The question as to whether to borrow the 10c or to sell on the open markets is asked frequently. This is a problem for each producer to solve. If cotton should get to 13c within the next 6 months, it would be profitable to borrow, and of course the higher the price goes the more profitable it would be.

The whole government program is based on a control program for 1936 and everyone who borrows 10c or makes application for subsidy payment will be required to sign an agreement to cooperate in a 1936 Crop Control Program.

SINGING AT PLEASANT VALLEY

The singing society met at Pleasant Valley on Last Sunday afternoon. The singing was called to order by the chairman at 2:30 o'clock. Prof. C. M. Billingsley was elected as chairman of the society for the next year.

Directors for the afternoon were as follows: Marshall Burkhalter, J. M. Williams, Arthur Williams, Marvin Huett, I. D. Huett, J. W. Devaughn, Leonard Weldon, C. M. Billingsley, J. E. Varner and Forrest Huett.

Two special numbers were rendered, which were thoroughly enjoyed by everyone.

Pianists for the afternoon were Prof. C. M. Billingsley and Prof. J. E. Varner.

We had a large crowd and some real good singing. We cordially invite each and everyone to come back and be with us on each second Sunday afternoon. Visitors are always welcome.

Miss Gertie Fiquette is spending this week in Birmingham and Gadsden.

JEMISON CHAPTER OF F. H. A. HAS LARGEST ATTENDANCE AT MEETING

With much dignity and pride, six girls from the Jemison chapter of F. H. A. attended the first state meeting at Alabama College, Montevallo, on August second and third. These girls, Vesta Smith, Frances Gore, Melba Patton, Annie Louise Spencer, Muriel Killingsworth and Clara Thomas, Payne, having received Third Degree in their local chapter, received their State Degree in the Future Homemakers Association.

The membership pins which they obtained were very interesting and attractive. Each pin was designed with a house symbolizing the structure of a home and a spinning wheel representing the activities that go on within it.

The qualifications necessary for attending this meeting were:

1. To have satisfactorily completed at least one semester's work beyond the Second Degree.

2. To have made outstanding success in her program of work in home projects and in school projects.

3. To have made a valuable contribution to the home life of the family.

4. To have shown leadership ability through participation in the general activities of the school.

5. To have taken an active part in some community activities including some that contributed to better home and family life.

6. To have an average of B for all high school work.

7. To have earned at least $10.00 or its equivalent and have on deposit in a bank or otherwise productively invested.

8. To become familiar with parlimentary laws as shown by passing a satisfactory test in parliamentary procedure.

9. To be able to lead a 20 minute discussion or demonstration.

The total attendance of the state meeting was only twelve.

JEMISON F.H.A. SELECTS CAMPUS BEAUTIFICATION AS PROJECT

It was a group of happy girls that gathered on September 4th, at 10:45 a.m., to attend the first F. H.A. meeting of the school year.

The meeting was called to order by the president, Muriel Killingsworth. The club discussed various objectives for the ensuing year. The following objectives were selected:

1. Do more work for publicity.

2. Continue to encourage wholesome recreation.

3. Adopt a year book.

4. Continue campus improvements.

Plans were made immediately to sell ice cream to buy a lawn mower, winter grass seed, and fertilizer. The club made plans to coperate with the agricultural boys to put out more shrubbery.

The officers and committeemen are as follows:

President, Muriel Killingsworth, vice president, Estelle McCarty; secretary, Francis Gore; program chairman, Estelle McCarty, Vesta Smith and Vera Burnette; social chairmen, Annie L. Spencer, Agnes Bean, Florene McCary and Antionette Traywick; publicity chairmen, Clara Thomas Payne, Lena Dee Conway and Addye Jayne Curry; year book, Melba Patton and Frankie Earl Langston.

STATE GAME NEWS

Montgomery, Ala., Sept. 17.—The Perry County Rod and Gun Club recently was organized at Marion with an initial membership of close to 100 sportsmen, the State Conservation Department announces.

The meeting was held at the county courthouse and the members elected G. R. Johnston, Marion, as president; Robert Woodson, Uniontown, vice president; and N. B. Mason, Marion, secretary-treasurer.

Following organization the club members were addressed by J. M. White, field assistant of the Department of Conservation, and Charles R. Wiant, superintendent of the Federal Fish Hatchery at Marion.

The club favored a proposal to hold its meetings in various parts of the county and deferred appointment of standing committees until its next session.

Montgomery, Ala., Sept. 10.—Commissioner of Conservation, I. T. Quinn, has promised Alfred E. Smith that he will furnish some animals native to Alabama for the zoo in New York City's new Prospect Park which is nearing completion.

The Alabama Commisioner received a letter the other day from the "Happy Warrior" stating that the zoo would be one of the most complete in the United States and suggesting that some animals native to this state be contributed.

He said the Alabama Conservation Department would be given full credit for the donation on a bronze tablet to be placed on the cage containing the animals. Commissioner Quinn advised that he would endeavor to supply the animals, but did not state what type or species he would collect.

Misses Hazel and Louise Gore and their mother of Birmingham were visiting in Clanton Monday.

School Of Beauty

We are going to conduct a school to train those who wish to learn, the very best and latest methods in Beauty Culture. If you are interested in this work, see us. You will find it profitable to study here, in adjoining room to shop where work is being done. It gives you an opportunity to learn the practcal phases of beauty culture as well as theory.

All Experienced Teachers

Your teacher will be a man who has spent years studying beauty culture. But perhaps even more important, he has also had years of experience in the best beauty shops of the country.

We honestly believe that there is no place where you could get better training than we are prepared to give. There is no longer any excuse for you to go to the expense of attending some school away from home, when you can secure the best training right here in Clanton. Come in and let's talk the matter over. It places you under no obligation.

NEW LOCATION

Upstairs Front, New Moore Building

When we learned about the plans for the New Moore Building, we immediately began making arrangements for the Upstairs Front Offices, for they are ideally suited for a beauty shoppe location. Now, that they are finished, we believe you will agree with us that nothing so nice has been in Clanton before.

We have done everything to assure you absolute comfort while having work done here. "Attractiveness" is our motto. You are already familiar with the high grade work we do; now, visit our new place and let us show you how really attractive we have made our new place.

Extra Special

To show appreciation of our regular customers, we have a plan to give them one dollar's worth FREE Services when they have traded a definite amount with us. You positively do not pay more than regular price at any time, and the extra service is absolutely FREE.

New Machine

We believe it fitting as we go into our new location to bring to Clanton the very latest development in Permanent Waving machines, which is the Royal Patricia, New Low Heat machine that guarantees no pulls and no burns. Absolute comfort, light, and ideal for children's waves.

Boxing and Wrestling At Local C C C Camp

Commander Percy M. Pitts, of Chilton County Post, American Legion, announces that an arrangement has been made with Lieutenant Strickland, of the Clanton CCC Camp, whereby a series of wrestling and boxing bouts will be held at the camp under auspices of the local Legion Post. The date of the first engagement has been tentatively set for Friday night, September 20.

Facilities for the events will be provided at the camp, and the boxers and wrestlers will be selected from the enlisted personnel of the camp. There are said to be a number of good amateur boxers and wrestlers in the camp, and they promise to put up some really interesting shows.

Another added feature to be worked out is a series of matches between picked boxers and wrestlers of this camp with similar teams from other CCC Camps of the State. When the program is developed along this line, it will provide during the winter months a number of high-class and warmly contested events.

Commander Pitts and Lieutenant Strickland are very anxious to work out this program and carry it on through the winter as a means of providing entertainment for the many fans who enjoy this kind of sport. Further details will be announced as they are perfected.

REFUGE NEWS

As we come to the close of this associational year and also the last service which I will hold as pastor this coming Saturday and Sunday, being the regular meeting days, will take this means to request that all membesr be present if possible.

We haven't announced a home coming, but I hope that all members and former members will make a special effort to come. Remember the date, next Saturday and Sunday, at 11 a.m.

BILLINGSLEY SCHOOL OPENS

The Billingsley school will open at 9:00 o'clock, September 16th. Every body is invited to be present. Mr. C. E. Stapp, of Selma, will speak to us. Also Mr. H. M. Doster, of Prattville, if the legislature is not in session.

The children and bus drivers should bring lunch for the school will be in session all day.—J. D. Griffin.

The Farmer's Income Tax

Since we have hard much discussion about the justice of an income tax, especially in higher brackets, I want to discuss the "New Deal's" to say that it has not been my purpose to criticize this administration pose to critize this administration through the public press until now, however, I have felt the pressure of the unjust hand crushing me down into bondage and poverty.

I plowed up my coton; I have signed every paper they stuck under my nose; I sold the government my cotton and have done everything that an ordinary slave would do, and yet I find myself drudging under the least freedom and the greatest taxes I have ever witessed. Some people would contend that the farmer pays no income tax; this I will leave for you to decide.

The farmer who has an allotment of two bales of cotton will be permitted to sell this amount tax free, but if he should raise the third bale, he must pay fifty per cent of it to the government in taxes.

This tax is called by the government a "processing tax," however, this tax is directly on the farmer's income and is nothing less than an income tax. The southernfarmer's income is largely from cotton, and the government will collect hundreds of thousands of dollars in the form of taxes this year from the South's icome.

New, it should clearly be seen that every farmer who buys gin certificates in order to sell his cotton, is paying an income tax.

The government used the word "processing" instead of the word "income," in order to keep the farmer from knowing just what kind of taxes he is paying.

I wouldn't mind paying an income tax on my cotton and other farm products if it were on the national and State income basis. The State or natioal government will exempt the income from wages or profit of a married man from two to five thousand dollars, according to the number in his family. When the income exceeds the specified amount, the individual pays only five per cent of his income. But look at the little one-and two-bale cotton farmer, with possibly eight or ten in his family, having to pay half of his income, above two or three small bales of cotton.

This is what the government has done for the forgotten man, and I think it is time for us farmers to quit signing our names to every paper that comes around.

The government is lending ten cents per pound on cotton, and will lend an additional two cents per pound, provided we will sign away our rights for next year. This, I have not made up my mind to do.

I have heard many farmers express themselves against the present cotton program and say that they are not going to sign up for another year. This. I think, is the wisest thing to do.

The inconsistency of the New Deal is showing up in every phase of industry and it is time that the American people should demand the return to souder economic principles.

The authors of the AAA program realize its failure, but haven't the courage to admit it. So, the farmers of the South and West should tell Secretary Wallace to keep his contracts in Washington, fire all the help required in the reduction program, stop collecting all of these farm income taxes and give us a breathing spell next year.—Yours for Freedom. —W. L. Sanders.

There's lots of room in the FORD V-8

EVERY ONE who steps into the Ford V-8 for the first time is surprised at its roominess. There's exceptional seat room, leg room and head room in all body types — the whole car gives you a feeling of substantial size.

The Ford gives you extra body room because of the compact design of the V-8 engine — an exclusive Ford feature at a low price. This V-8 engine takes up less space in the hood and permits more of the car's length to be used for passenger comfort. Many a car selling at a higher price does not give you as much interior room as the Ford V-8.

Rear seats are wide and restful . . . three people can ride comfortably in the front seat of the Fordor Sedan, Fordor Touring Sedan, Convertible Sedan and Phaeton, and in the Coupes and Roadster. The seat of the Ford V-8 Roadster is 52 inches wide. A ride in the Ford V-8 will show that it combines unusual body room with fine-car performance, safety and comfort.

"GABBY" TIFFIN AT TROY

James "Gabby" Tiffin has entered Troy Normal School at Troy, Ala. "Gabby" likes his sports, and is especially good in football, baseball, basket ball and boxing.

While at Chilton County High School he won first honors in the first three named sports, and prospects are bright that he will make good at Troy.

The Troy Teachers take on Spring Hill College of Mobile in Cramton Bowl, Montgomery, on the night of September 20, and recent reports are that Tiffin will very likely see service in this game. He has been assigned the fullback position on the Troy Squad.

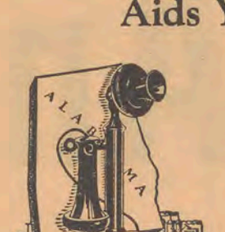
How A. T. & T. Ownership Aids Your Service



THERE is no mystery about the fact that the Southern Bell Telephone Company is owned by the American Telephone & Telegraph Company, and that the Western Electric Company is the manufacturing branch and supply agent of the entire Bell System.

The Bell System set-up is a natural one. It was not created by artificial means. It was created by the evolution of telephone service over a period of fifty years, as there developed a need for the various units.

This relationship has made possible the extensive and unequalled telephone service which Alabama enjoys today.

A striking illustration of its economy and value was seen when Birmingham, Alabama's local and long distance service was severely crippled during the disastrous fire of March, 1934. While the fire still raged, equipment, apparatus and supplies were on the way to Birmingham by truck and by train from Western Electric warehouses in Atlanta, New Orleans, Louisville and more distant points. Skilled Western Electric installers and other workers were rushed from all sections, even as far away as Pittsburgh.

The entire resources of the Bell System were placed at Birmingham's disposal and except for this the service would have remained crippled and the public greatly inconvenienced for many weeks.

As a result of Southern Bell's relationship with the Bell System, Birmingham's service was restored in record-breaking time and in an orderly and economical manner.

It is this coordination of effort and resources that has made Alabama's telephone service so valuable and dependable and such an important factor in the welfare and happiness of the people of this great State.

PLEASANT HILL

We are sorry to say that we have several in our community on the sick list. We hope for them a speedy recovery.

It has been quite a while since we have been able to give a write up from Pleasant Hill, nevertheless, we are still moving along fine with our Sunday school and B. T. U. We had a goodly number out at Sunday school last Sunday. We were glad to have the visitors with us, especially those who took part in our Bible studies. We invite each of you to come back again. To those who didn't come out last Sunday, we missed you and we hope that you will be with us next Sunday. Folks, we miss a blssing every time we fail to go to church. Our neighbor can't go for us. So, let's go ourselves and put something in our church and I am sure that we will get something out of it. May each one of us stop and think what the church is, and then if the church is wrong, get self out of the way and see if our churches won't be right.

Next Saturday night, Sunday and Sunday night are our regular preaching dates. We are expecting a wonderful message from our pastor, Rev. W. E. Robinson, so let's everyone be on time at each service. We will also have communion services Saturday night. Let's everyone remember these services and try to do our part, and don't forget prayer meeting nxt and den't forget prayer meeting next Thursday night and singing next Suntation to be with us.—Reporter.

BOB JONES COMMENTS ON HERE AND HEREAFTER.

I am an aviator. I enjoy flying. When I came down from my first solo my instructor asked, "How did you like it?" "Fine," I told him. Of course you did," he replied. "You acted the fool and I was not there to tell you about it." That is true of human nature. We like to be patted on the back, but we don't want anybody to tell us when we are fools, yet everybody needs someone to tell him when he isn't doing right. I wonder what we could do with each other if we were perfectly frank. We tell a preacher we enoyed his sermon when we didn't. We tell folks we have had a nice time and we know we are lying. The psalmist said, "I said in my haste, all men are liars." Somebody has said, "He need not have been in a hurry to say it. If he had taken his time it would have still been true". The hardest thing on earth is to be perfectly sincere, perfectly frank, and perfectly honest. "Honesty is the best policy." That is what they tell us. But if a man is honest because it is the best policy, then he is not honest but selfish. A man ought to be honest because it is honest to be honest. It does pay to do right but we ought to do right because it is right to do right.

"I always keep my Bible on the center table," a lady said to the writer one time. "I fell safe when the Bible is in the house." That savors of superstition. There is no virtue in a cross on the church and there is nothing about the Bible in the house that can keep you from harm. The Bible can only do us good when we read it, the influence of the Book in our lives proves it to be the Word of God. If men doubt a promise in the Bible, let him try the promise. If men wonder whether Jesus Christ can save, let them turn their lives over to Him and find out. They tell us that this is a scientific age and ask us to demonstrate everything. I recommend to my readers that they turn themselves over to Jesus Christ and His Lordship and find out if He is what He claims to be. He said He was able to save unto the uttermost all who come to God by Him. He said He is able to keep us from falling and to present us faultless in the presence of His glory. He says that having been tempted He is able to succor these who are tempted. You don't believe it? Well, try Him and find out. All who have ever put Him to the test have testified that He can do everything He promised to do. If this universe would produce a greater God than Jesus, I would not know what to do with Him. I say, "My Lord and my God."

ITCHING SORE SCALY

SCALP

DRY BALD PATCHES CRUST

Most scalp troubles involve a parasite of some kind—a living organism that causes infection with resulting itch, scales, crust, thin and falling hair. Here, at last, is a treatment that not only destroys the parasite but helps repair the damage done. It is Dr. Porter's Antiseptic Healing Oil and it works wonders in correcting scalp and skin troubles. Stops itch almost instantly. Softens and removes crust. Cleanses and stimulates the whole scalp, making it white and wholesome and promoting growth of new hair.

Dr. Porter's Antiseptic Healing Oil is made by the makers of Grove's Laxative Bromo Quinine and is sold by all druggists at 30c and 60c with guarantee of satisfaction or money back.

BARNEY OLDFIELD TO RACE AT ALABAMA STATE FAIR

Barney Oldfield, World's greatest auto racing driver, the first man to drive an automobile at a mile-a-minute speed; Ab Jenkins, speed king that drove a farm tractor over the salt beds of Utah at a speed of 68 miles an hour; Ted (Suicide) Elders, introducing the most sensational high-jumping horse act ever presented to the American public in which he jumps over an automobile with two horses; Zacchini, the human cannon ball who is shot out of a cannon to a heighth of 125 feet in the air; The "Fascinations of 1935" a musical revue with a company of one hundred singers, dancers and comedians; Al Sweet's famous band that played at the "Wings of a Century" at the World's Fair, Chicago; The Royal American Shows midway which is the largest midway in the world, taking over forty double length railroad cars to transport their equipment consisting of fourteen thrilling riding devices and 24 sensational side shows; United States Department of Agricultural Exhibits; State Government and county exhibits; University, College and School exhibits are among the many features that await the crowds attending the big Alabama State Fair to be held at Birmingham for six days and six nights from September 23 to 28.

Workmen are busy at the State Fair grounds putting the finishing touches on the new 140 feet by 120 feet steel building which is being erected to take care of the additional exhibits to be seen at the fair this year and everything is being placed in readiness for the big opening day.

The first day of the fair, Monday, September 23rd, will be children's day and on that day all Alabama School Children will be admitted free.

YOUNG FOREST TREES AVAILABLE THIS FALL

Montgomery.—A total of 848,449 tree seedlings will be available this fall for timber growing in Alabama, says Col. Page S. Bunker, State Forester. The greater portion are for restocking pine lands, there being on hand for distribution 264,920 longleaf seedlings, 247,916 slash pine, 93,222 loblolly and 6,120 shortleaf pine. Other species are 105,690 osage orange, 86,545 black locust, 38,495 black walnut, 4,428 bald cypress and 1,113 red cedar. A few of the osage orange seedlings are three years old and have reached an average height of 42 inches. The bald cypress are from 20 to 42 inches in height. Most of the trees are quite small, averaging less than 10 inches.

The seedlings can be secured by tree planters at $2.50 per thousand for slash pine, and at $2.00 per thousand for all other species, f.o.b. Livingston, Alabama. While shipment will not be made from the nursery until about November 15, extending through March 15, in order to secure the desired quantity of the species preferred applicants should contact the State Forester at Montgomery at a very early date.

Application blanks, on the reverse side of which will be found the regulations governing the distribution of seedlings, as well as other pertinent information, will be furnished on request. Shade and ornamental stock are not available for private planting, it not being the purpose of the State to compete with commercial nurseries who are in a position to furnish such trees.

IN MEMORY OF MR. W. D. DUNLAP

On Saturday morning, August 30, God called from us our loving father. He suffered so long with such pains. All was done for papa that loving hands could do, but the Lord giveth and the Lord taketh. But papa, your empty chair is sitting there. Your corner looks so lonely. Our home is sad, so sad.

I cannot help but weep and mourn for, papa, you are gone, forever gone. The years you spent with us were sweet. The time was full of love. I am going to live the life you lived, papa, so I can meet you in heaven above. One who dearly loved you, Mrs. L. L. Williams.

IT'S A GIRL

A fine baby girl was born to Mr. and Mrs. Bill Fiquette on September 1st, whom they have named Sue Ann.

Health Hints

Contrary to general opinion, the bite of the Black Widow Spider is not extremely dangerous nor often fatal. Undoubtedly some deaths have been due to unwise treatment by non-medical friends. As in snake bite, alcohol by common belief is supposed to be a soverign remedy. It is the worst possible medicine in both spider and snake bite. See a physician if bitten by either.

In 1934 there were 192 deaths from suicide in Alabama, acording to complete records just compiled by the State Health Department at Montgomery. This was seven deaths per 100,000 population, slightly higher than the receding year. Of the 192 deaths from this cause 171 were white and only 21 negro. From these figures it is seen that suicides are rimarily a problem of the white population.

Rabies vaccine which is very generally used in Alabama for individuals who have been exposed to 'mad dogs" is made from the brains of rabbits which have been innoculated with the virus of rabies. It was originally prepared by Pasteur in the last century and has been the means of saving many lives from this dread disease. The people of Alabama are saved thousands of dollars annually by the fact that the vaccine is manufactured in the State Health Department Laboratories.

Reports of epidemics of poliomyelitis (infantile paralysis) in several states have brought many inquiries to the State Health Department regarding the prevalence of the disease. Dr. J. N. Baker, State Health Officer, answers that "There has been no material or alarming increase of infantile paralysis in Alabama during the year of 1935. The number of cases compare favorably with the expected number of cases per year."

COUNTY SINGING CONVENTION HERE FIRST SUNDAY OCTOBER

Prof. O. L. DeVaughn, chairman of the Chilton County Singing Convention, announces that the fall session of the convention will meet at the courthouse the first Sunday in October and Saturday night before. The night session will begin at 7:30 o'clock and the Sunday session will begin at 10:00 o'clock. The help and co-operation of all the singers of the county is solicited.

A number of prominent out-of-the-county singers and quartets have been invited, and it is expected that this will be one of the best singings ever held in this part of the State. The night session this spring was exceptionlly good, and it is hoped that the same will be the case this time. Everybody remember the date and don't arrange to go any other place.

HIGHLAND NEWS

Our Sunday school attendance was very small last Sunday, but we had a good Sunday school and we hope to have more next Sunday. We are going to elect teachers and officers for another six months at this place Sunday and we urge all Sunday school members to be present. We need your help, and we again ask that you be sure and come.

Next Sunday afternoon is our regular singing afternoon. We invite all singers and lovers of music to come and be with us. We enjoy having visitors at any time.

The death angel visited the home of two of our members week before last and called them to their eternal home. We are very sorry to lose these members, Uncle Billy Dunlap and Mrs. Mack Baker, but we feel that our loss was Heaven's gain. We all hope to meet them in a better world some day.

POSTOFFICE AND BANK TO MOVE IN "ABOUT TWO WEEKS"

Your reporter set out Monday with the idea of finding out what time the postoffice and the Peoples Savings Bank would move into their new buildings . We thought a little information on those subjects would prove interesting to our readers.

Going to the Bank to interview Frank Callen, we found Hosea Downs, also, just fresh from a conference with Frank, about the same subject the reporter was interested in.

"We have just settled, indefinitely, that very question," said Hosea. "Frank and I have been besieged by numerous inquiries of late, wanting to know when we are going to move. We have decided that the best and most easily applied answer is to tell them all in about two weeks; and that is all we can tell you."

CARD OF THANKS

We wish to express our most sincere thanks for the many deeds of kindness and sympthy shown in any way by our friends during the recent illness and death of our husband, Robert Davis. We wish to especially thank the 41 who met at our home on September 4th and gathered almost 2 bales of cotton by 10:30 o'clock, May the Lord richly reward each of you is our earnest prayer.—Mrs. Velma Davis, Clanton, Rte. 2.

MR. ELLISON THANKS FRIENDS

Editor Union-Banner:

Please allow me space to express to my friends and neighbors my most sincere thanks for their many acts of kindness and assistance shown during the recent illness of my wife. During the time she was in the hospital my friends were most generous and sympathetic, and we wish them to know that our appreciation of same is unbounded.—F. A. Ellison.

Welding

. . . the best way to make a perfect union of two pieces of metal is by welding them together.

. . . and the best way to get a more pleasing flavor and a better taste in a cigarette is by welding together the different types of tobacco . . .

That is just what we do in making CHESTERFIELD Cigarettes—the three types of mild ripe home-grown tobaccos, that is tobaccos grown in this country, are welded together. Then they are welded with aromatic Turkish.

When these tobaccos are welded together you get a combined flavor which is entirely different from any one type of tobacco.

It is this welding of the right amounts of the right kind of tobaccos that makes CHESTERFIELD a milder and better-tasting cigarette.

SHAW AND WATSON REUNION

On Sunday, September 1st, the Shaw and Watson families had a family reunion in honor of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Shaw's 58th wedding anniversary. The children of Mr. and Mrs. Shaw were hosts to th occasion, assisted by the grand children. The affair was an out door gathering at the beautiful country home of their oldest daughter, Mrs. Anice Cobb, Jemison, Ala.

As the guests entered the lovely grove they were directed to convenient parking grounds, after which they were met by the welcoming committee, who escorted them to a stand where they were courteously registered by Miss Gladys Mae Cobb, assisted by Mrs. Lesta Lucas. By 11:30 a.m. more than 100 guests had been registered. At noon the 40-foot table, which had been previously arranged diagonally across the grove was filled to over-flowing.

The lunch having been carefully spread by the lunch committee, consisting of Mrs. W. G. Shaw, Mrs. H. V. Shaw, Mrs. Ruth Cobb, and Mrs. Geneva Cobb, with Miss Mary Lane Cobb and Mary Vay Shaw having charge of plates, cups and forks. The lunch was served cafeteria style. A lemonade stand being placed near the table with Mr. James Cobb, Mr. Gerald Cobb and Mr. Leo Shaw in charge, assisted by Mr. Clyde Lucas and Mr. Ira Stevens.

Mr. Earl Cobb, Mr. H. V. Shaw and Mr. W. G. Shaw, assisted the various committees while the table was yet prepared and each one ready to be served.

The principal speaker for the day was introduced, Rev. John T. Martin, of Brent, Ala., a life-long friend of both families. Mr. Martin spoke for several minutes with everyone listening most earnestly and attentively while he mentioned many things concerning the past and present generatons. There being now living 5 generations. Thanks were then returned by Mr. W. H. Shaw.

The afternoon program was in charge of Mrs. Ira Stevens, who read the family history, dating back to 1812. A lengthy bue humorous reading was given by Miss Mary Lane Cobb, followed by a short talk by Mr. W. H. Shaw in which he expressed his appreciation for the number that had come from various places, and a vote was then taken to make this an annual gathering on the same day and place. This was most heartily approved by Mrs .W. H. Shaw, who was next to speak. A couple of songs were sang by little Christine Cobb, and several quartets and modern hymns were sung by Mr. and Mrs. Leo Shaw, Mrs. Carrie Shaw and Mr. Henry Godfrey and others. The music arrangements were in charge of Mrs. Carrie Shaw and Mr. Leo Shaw. After the conclusion of the program a social hour followed and every one was formally or informally introduced by telling where they came from to attend this function. The following places were represented with various numbers from each:

Clanton, Calera, Montevallo, Blocton, Brent, Birmingham, Counce, Tenn., Oneonta, Pinson, Bessemer, Wetumpka, and Cullman.

Refreshments was served throughout the day and the delightful breeze together with the hospitality and cordial welcome extended to all made it a perfect day of pleasure for every one present. Then as the evening sun hid itself behind the trees each one realized that the parting time had come and good byes were heard from every one until another year.

CONSTITUTION of the UNITED STATES

The Constitution originally consisted of a preamble and seven Articles, and in that form was adopted on Sept. 17, 1787, by a majority of the 55 delegates from 12 states which had begun its deliberations at Philadelphia on May 12 of that year. Rhode Island sent no delegates. Of the 65 chosen by other states, 10 did not attend. Of the delegates in attendance, 16 declined or failed to sign.

Under the language of the Constitution itself (Article VII) ratification by 9 states was sufficient for its establishment "between the states so ratifying the same." New Hampshire, on June 21, 1788, was the ninth state to ratify. But the government did not declare the Constitution to be in effect until the first Wednesday in March, 1789.

The signers of the original Constitution, by virtue of their membership in Congress, were:

Geo. Washington, President and deputy from Virginia. New Hampshire—John Langdon, Nicholas Gilman. Massachusetts — Nathaniel Gorham, Rufus King. Connecticut—Wm. Saml. Johnson, Roger Sherman. New York—Alexander Hamilton. New Jersey—Wil. Livingston, David Brearley, Wm. Patterson, Jona. Dayton. Pennsylvania—B. Franklin, Robt. Morris, Thos. FitzSimons, James Wilson, Thomas Mifflin, Geo. Clymer, Jared Ingersoll, Gouv. Morris. Delaware—Geo. Read, John Dickinson, Jaco. Broom, Gunning Bedford jun, Richard Bassett. Maryland—James McHenry, Danl. Carroll, Dan. of St. Thomas Jenifer. Virginia—John Blair, James Madison, Jr. North Carolina—Wm. Blount, Hu. Williamson, Richd. Dobbs Spaight. South Carolina—J. Rutledge, Charles Pinckney, Charles Cotesworth Pinckney, Pierce Butler. Georgia—William Few, Abr. Baldwin. Attest: William Jackson, secretary.

The Constitution was ratified by the thirteen original States in the following order:

Del. (Dec. 7,1787), unanimous; Penn. (Dec. 12, 1787), 43 to 23; N. J. (Dec. 18, 1787), unanimous; Ga. (Jan. 2, 1788), unanimous; Conn. (Jan. 9, 1788), 128 to 40; Mass. (Feb. 6, 1788), 187 to 168; Md. (Apr. 28, 1788), 63 to 11; So. Car. May 23, 1788), 149 to 74; New Hamp. (June 21, 1788), 57 to 46; Va. (June 26, 1788), 89 to 79; N. Y. (July 26, 1788), 30 to 27; No. Car. (Nov. 21, 1789), 194 to 77; R. I. (May 29, 1790), 34 to 32.

(Vermont, by convention, ratified Jan. 10, 1791; and Congress, Feb. 18, 1791, admitted that State into the Union.)

The Constitution of the United States is divided into seven Articles, supplemented to 1934 by twenty-one Amendments. The text follows, with Preamble:

THE CONSTITUTION

PREAMBLE

We the People of the United States, in Order to form a more perfect Union, establish Justice, insure domestic Tranquility, provide for the common defence, promote the general Welfare, and secure the Blessings of Liberty to ourselves and our Posterity, do ordain and establish this Constitution for the United States of America.

ARTICLE I.

Section 1. All legislative Powers herein granted shall be vested in a Congress of the United States, which shall consist of a Senate and House of Representatives.

Section 2. The House of Representatives shall be composed of Members chosen every second Year by the People of the several States, and the Electors in each State shall have the Qualifications requisite for Electors of the most numerous Branch of the State Legislature.

No Person shall be a Representative who shall not have attained to the Age of twenty five Years, and been seven Years a Citizen of the United States, and who shall not, when elected, be an Inhabitant of that State in which he shall be chosen.

Representatives and direct Taxes shall be apportioned among the several States which may be included within this Union, according to their respective Numbers, which shall be determined by adding to the whole Number of free Persons, including those bound to Service for a Term of Years, and excluding Indians not taxed, three fifths of all other Persons. The actual Enumeration shall be made within three Years after the first Meeting of the Congress of the United States, and within every subsequent Term of ten Years, in such Manner as they shall by Law direct. The Number of Representatives shall not exceed one for every thirty Thousand, but each State shall have at Least one Representative; and until such enumeration shall be made, the State of New Hampshire shall be entitled to chuse three, Massachusetts eight, Rhode-Island and Providence Plantations one, Connecticut five, New-York six, New Jersey four, Pennsylvania eight, Delaware one, Maryland six, Virginia ten, North Carolina five, South Carolina five, and Georgia three.

When vacancies happen in the Representation from any State, the Executive Authority thereof shall issue Writs of Election to fill such Vacancies.

The House of Representatives shall chuse their Speaker and other Officers; and shall have the sole Power of Impeachment.

Section 3. The Senate of the United States shall be composed of two Senators from each State, chosen by the Legislature thereof, for six Years; and each Senator shall have one Vote.

Immediately after they shall be assembled in Consequence of the first Election, they shall be divided as equally as may be into three Classes. The Seats of the Senators of the first Class shall be vacated at the Expiration of the second Year, of the second Class at the Expiration of the fourth Year, and of the third Class at the Expiration of the sixth Year, so that one third may be chosen every second Year; and if Vacancies happen by Resignation, or otherwise, during the Recess of the Legislature of any State, the Executive thereof may make temporary Appointments until the next Meeting of the Legislature, which shall then fill such Vacancies.

No Person shall be a Senator who shall not have attained to the Age of thirty Years, and been nine Years a Citizen of the United States, and who shall not, when elected, be an Inhabitant of that State for which he shall be chosen.

The Vice President of the United States shall be President of the Senate, but shall have no Vote, unless they be equally divided.

The Senate shall chuse their other Officers, and also a President pro tempore, in the Absence of the Vice President, or when he shall exercise the Office of President of the United States.

The Senate shall have the sole Power to try all Impeachments. When sitting for that Purpose, they shall be on Oath or Affirmation. When the President of the United States is tried, the Chief Justice shall preside: And no Person shall be convicted without the Concurrence of two thirds of the Members present.

Judgment in Cases of Impeachment shall not extend further than to removal from Office, and disqualification to hold and enjoy any Office of honor, Trust or Profit under the United States: but the Party convicted shall nevertheless be liable and subject to Indictment, Trial, Judgment and Punishment, according to Law.

Section 4. The Times, Places and Manner of holding Elections for Senators and Representatives, shall be prescribed in each State by the Legislature thereof; but the Congress may at any time by Law make or alter such Regulations, except as to the Places of chusing Senators.

The Congress shall assemble at least once in every Year, and such Meeting shall be on the first Monday in December, unless they shall by Law appoint a different Day.

Section 5. Each House shall be the Judge of the Elections, Returns and Qualifications of its own Members, and a Majority of each shall constitute a Quorum to do Business; but a smaller Number may adjourn from day to day, and may be authorized to compel the Attendance of absent Members, in such Manner, and under such Penalties as each House may provide.

Each House may determine the Rules of its Proceedings, punish its Members for disorderly Behaviour, and, with the Concurrence of two thirds, expel a Member.

Each House shall keep a Journal of its Proceedings, and from time to time publish the same, excepting such Parts as may in their Judgment require Secrecy; and the Yeas and Nays of the Members of either House on any question shall, at the Desire of one fifth of those Present, be entered on the Journal.

Neither House, during the Session of Congress, shall, without the Consent of the other, adjourn for more than three days, nor to any other Place than that in which the two Houses shall be sitting.

Section 6. The Senators and Representatives shall receive a Compensation for their Services, to be ascertained by Law, and paid out of the Treasury of the United States. They shall in all Cases, except Treason, Felony and Breach of the Peace, be privileged from Arrest during their Attendance at the Session of their respective Houses, and in going to and returning from the same; and for any Speech or Debate in either House, they shall not be questioned in any other Place.

No Senator or Representative shall, during the Time for which he was elected, be appointed to any civil Office under the Authority of the United States, which shall have been created, or the Emoluments whereof shall have been encreased during such time; and no Person holding any Office under the United States, shall be a Member of either House during his Continuance in Office.

Section 7. All Bills for raising Revenue shall originate in the House of Representatives; but the Senate may propose or concur with Amendments as on other Bills.

Every Bill which shall have passed the House of Representatives and the Senate, shall, before it become a Law, be presented to the President of the United States; If he approve he shall sign it, but if not he shall return it, with his Objections to that House in which it shall have originated, who shall enter the Objections at large on their Journal, and proceed to reconsider it. If after such Reconsideration two thirds of that House shall agree to pass the Bill, it shall be sent, together with the Objections, to the other House, by which it shall likewise be reconsidered, and if approved by two thirds of that House, it shall become a Law. But in all such Cases the Votes of both Houses shall be determined by Yeas and Nays, and the Names of the Persons voting for and against the Bill shall be entered on the Journal of each House respectively. If any Bill shall not be returned by the President within ten Days (Sundays excepted) after it shall have been presented to him, the Same shall be a Law, in like Manner as if he had signed it, unless the Congress by their Adjournment prevent its Return, in which Case it shall not be a Law.

Every Order, Resolution, or Vote to which the Concurrence of the Senate and House of Representatives may be necessary (except on a question of Adjournment) shall be presented to the President of the United States; and before the Same shall take Effect, shall be approved by him, or being disapproved by him, shall be repassed by two thirds of the Senate and House of Representatives, according to the Rules and Limitations prescribed in the Case of a Bill.

Section 8. The Congress shall have Power To lay and collect Taxes, Duties, Imposts and Excises, to pay the Debts and provide for the common Defence and general Welfare of the United States; but all Duties, Imposts and Excises shall be uniform throughout the United States;

To borrow Money on the credit of the United States;

To regulate Commerce with foreign Nations, and among the several States, and with the Indian Tribes;

To establish an uniform Rule of Naturalization, and uniform Laws on the subject of Bankruptcies throughout the United States;

To coin Money, regulate the Value thereof, and of foreign Coin, and fix the Standard of Weights and Measures;

To provide for the Punishment of counterfeiting the Securities and current Coin of the United States;

To establish Post Offices and post Roads;

To promote the Progress of Science and useful Arts, by securing for limited Times to Authors and Inventors the exclusive Right to their respective Writings and Discoveries;

To constitute Tribunals inferior to the supreme Court;

To define and punish Piracies and Felonies committed on the high Seas, and Offences against the Law of Nations;

To declare War, grant Letters of Marque and Reprisal, and make Rules concerning Captures on Land and Water;

To raise and support Armies, but no Appropriation of Money to that Use shall be for a longer Term than two Years;

To provide and maintain a Navy;

To make Rules for the Government and Regulation of the land and naval Forces;

To provide for calling forth the Militia to execute the Laws of the Union, suppress Insurrections and repel Invasions;

To provide for organizing, arming, and disciplining, the Militia, and for governing such Part of them as may be employed in the Service of the United States, reserving to the States respectively, the Appointment of the Officers, and the Authority of training the Militia according to the discipline prescribed by Congress;

To exercise exclusive Legislation in all Cases whatsoever, over such District (not exceeding ten Miles square) as may, by Cession of particular States, and the Acceptance of Congress, become the Seat of the Government of the United States, and to exercise like Authority over all Places purchased by the Consent of the Legislature of the State in which the Same shall be, for the Erection of Forts, Magazines, Arsenals, deck-Yards, and other needful Buildings;—And

To make all Laws which shall be necessary and proper for carrying into Execution the foregoing Powers, and all other Powers vested by this Constitution in the Government of the United States, or in any Department or Officer thereof.

Section 9. The Migration or Importation of such Persons as any of the States now existing shall think proper to admit, shall not be prohibited by the Congress prior to the Year one thousand eight hundred and eight, but a Tax or duty may be imposed on such Importation, not exceeding ten dollars for each Person.

The Privilege of the Writ of Habeas Corpus shall not be suspended, unless when in Cases of Rebellion or Invasion the public Safety may require it.

No Bill of Attainder or ex post facto Law shall be passed.

No Capitation, or other direct, Tax shall be laid, unless in Proportion to the Census or Enumeration herein before directed to be taken.

No Tax or Duty shall be laid on Articles exported from any State.

No Preference shall be given by any Regulation of Commerce or Revenue to the Ports of one State over those of another: nor shall Vessels bound to, or from, one State, be obliged to enter, clear, or pay Duties in another.

No Money shall be drawn from the Treasury, but in Consequence of Appropriations made by Law; and a regular Statement and Account of the Receipts and Expenditures of all public Money shall be published from time to time.

No Title of Nobility shall be granted by the United States: And no Person holding any Office of Profit or Trust under them, shall, without the Consent of the Congress, accept of any present, Emolument, Office, or Title, of any kind whatever, from any King, Prince, or foreign State.

Section 10. No State shall enter into any Treaty, Alliance, or Confederation; grant Letters of Marque and Reprisal; coin Money; emit Bills of Credit; make any Thing but gold and silver Coin a Tender in Payment of Debts; pass any Bill of Attainder, ex post facto Law, or Law impairing the Obligation of Contracts, or grant any Title of Nobility.

No State shall, without the Consent of the Congress, lay any Imposts or Duties on Imports or Exports, except what may be absolutely necessary for executing its inspection Laws: and the net Produce of all Duties and Imposts, laid by any State on Imports or Exports, shall be for the Use of the Treasury of the United States; and all such Laws shall be subject to the Revision and Control of the Congress.

No State shall, without the Consent of Congress, lay any Duty of Tonnage, keep Troops, or Ships of War in time of Peace, enter into any Agreement or Compact with another State, or with a foreign Power, or engage in War, unless actually invaded, or in such imminent Danger as will not admit of delay.

ARTICLE II.

Section 1. The executive Power shall be vested in a President of the United States of America. He shall hold his Office during the Term of four Years, and, together with the Vice President, chosen for the same Term, be elected, as follows

Each State shall appoint, in such Manner as the Legislature thereof may direct, a Number of Electors, equal to the whole Number of Senators and Representatives to which the State may be entitled in the Congress: but no Senator or Representative, or Person holding an Office of Trust or Profit under the United States, shall be appointed an Elector.

The Electors shall meet in their respective States, and vote by Ballot for two Persons, of whom one at least shall not be an Inhabitant of the same State with themselves. And they shall make a List of all the Persons voted for, and of the Number of Votes for each; which List they shall sign and certify, and transmit sealed to the Seat of the Government of the United States, directed to the President of the Senate. The President of the Senate shall, in the Presence of the Senate and House of Representatives, open all the Certificates, and the Votes shall then be counted. The Person having the greatest Number of Votes shall be the President, if such Number be a Majority of the whole Number of Electors appointed; and if there be more than one who have such Majority, and have an equal Number of Votes, then the House of Representatives shall immediately chuse by Ballot one of them for President; and if no Person have a Majority, then from the five highest on the List the said House shall in like Manner chuse the President. But in chusing the President, the Votes shall be taken by States, the Representation from each State having one Vote; A quorum for this Purpose shall consist of a Member or Members from two thirds of the States, and a Majority of all the States shall be necessary to a Choice. In every Case, after the Choice of the President, the Person having the greatest Number of Votes of the Electors shall be the Vice President. But if there should remain two or more who have equal Votes, the Senate shall chuse from them by Ballot the Vice President.

The Congress may determine the Time of chusing the Electors, and the Day on which they shall give their Votes; which Day shall be the same throughout the United States.

No Person except a natural born Citizen, or a Citizen of the United States, at the time of the Adoption of this Constitution, shall be eligible to the Office of President; neither shall any Person be eligible to that Office who shall not have attained to the Age of thirty five Years, and been fourteen Years a Resident within the United States.

In Case of the Removal of the President from Office, or of his Death, Resignation, or Inability to discharge the Powers and Duties of the said Office, the Same shall devolve on the Vice President, and the Congress may by Law provide for the Case of Removal, Death, Resignation or Inability, both of the President and Vice President, declaring what Officer shall then act as President, and such Officer shall act accordingly, until the Disability be removed, or a President shall be elected.

The President shall, at stated Times, receive for his Services, a Compensation, which shall neither be encreased nor diminished during the Period for which he shall have been elected, and he shall not receive within that Period any other Emolument from the United States, or any of them.

Before he enter on the Execution of his Office, he shall take the following Oath or Affirmation:—"I do solemnly swear (or affirm) that I will faithfully execute the Office of President of the United States, and will to the best of my Ability, preserve, protect and defend the Constitution of the United States."

Section 2. The President shall be Commander in Chief of the Army and Navy of the United States, and of the Militia of the several States, when called into the actual Service of the United States; he may require the Opinion, in writing, of the principal Officer in each of the executive Departments, upon any Subject relating to the Duties of their respective Offices, and he shall have Power to grant Reprieves and Pardons for Offences against the United States, except in Cases of Impeachment.

He shall have Power, by and with the Advice and Consent of the Senate, to make Treaties, provided two thirds of the Senators present concur; and he shall nominate, and by and with the Advice and Consent of the Senate, shall appoint Ambassadors, other public Ministers and Consuls. Judges of the supreme Court, and all other Officers of the United States, whose Appointments are not herein otherwise provided for, and which shall be established by Law: but the Congress may by Law vest the Appointment of such inferior Officers, as they think proper, in the President alone, in the Courts of Law, or in the Heads of Departments.

The President shall have Power to fill up all Vacancies that may happen during the Recess of the Senate, by granting Commissions which shall expire at the End of their next Session.

Section 3. He shall from time to time give to the Congress Information of the State of the Union, and recommend to their Consideration such Measures as he shall judge necessary and expedient; he may, on extraordinary Occasions, convene both Houses, or either of them, and in Case of Disagreement between them, with Respect to the Time of Adjournment, he may adjourn them to such Time as he shall think proper; he shall receive Ambassadors and other public Ministers; he shall take Care that the Laws be faithfully executed, and shall Commission all the Officers of the United States.

Section 4. The President, Vice President and all civil Officers of the United States, shall be removed from Office on Impeachment for, and Conviction of, Treason, Bribery, or other high Crimes and Misdemeanors.

ARTICLE III.

Section 1. The judicial Power of the United States, shall be vested in one supreme Court, and in such inferior Courts as the Congress may from time to time ordain and establish. The Judges, both of the supreme and inferior Courts, shall hold their Offices during good Behaviour, and shall, at stated Times, receive for their Services, a Compensation, which shall not be diminished during their Continuance in Office.

Section 2. The judicial Power shall extend to all Cases, in Law and Equity, arising under this Constitution, the Laws of the United States, and Treaties made, or which shall be made, under their Authority;—to all Cases affecting Ambassadors, other public Ministers and Consuls;—to all Cases of admiralty and maritime Jurisdiction;—to Controversies to which the United States shall be a Party;—to Controversies between two or more States;—between a State and Citizens of another State;—between Citizens of different States;—between Citizens of the same State claiming Lands under Grants of different States, and between a State, or the Citizens thereof, and foreign States, Citizens or Subjects.

In all Cases affecting Ambassadors, other public Ministers and Consuls, and those in which a State shall be Party, the supreme Court shall have original Jurisdiction. In all the other Cases before mentioned, the supreme Court shall have appellate Jurisdiction, both as to Law and Fact, with such Exceptions, and under such Regulations as the Congress shall make.

The Trial of all Crimes, except in Cases of Impeachment, shall be by Jury; and such Trial shall be held in the State where the said Crimes shall have been committed; but when not committed within any State, the Trial shall be at such Place or Places as the Congress may by Law have directed.

Section 3. Treason against the United States, shall consist only in levying War against them, or in adhering to their Enemies, giving them Aid and Comfort. No Person shall be convicted of Treason unless on the Testimony of two Witnesses to the same overt Act, or on Confession in open Court.

The Congress shall have Power to declare the Punishment of Treason, but no Attainder of Treason shall work Corruption of Blood, or Forfeiture except during the Life of the Person attainted.

ARTICLE IV.

Section 1. Full Faith and Credit shall be given in each State to the public Acts, Records, and judicial Proceedings of every other State. And the Congress may by general Laws prescribe the Manner in which such Acts, Records and Proceedings shall be proved, and the Effect thereof.

Section 2. The Citizens of each State shall be entitled to all Privileges and Immunities of Citizens in the several States.

A Person charged in any State with Treason, Felony, or other Crime, who shall flee from Justice, and be found in another State, shall on Demand of the executive Authority of the State from which he fled, be delivered up, to be removed to the State having Jurisdiction of the Crime.

No Person held to Service or Labour in one State, under the Laws thereof, escaping into another, shall, in Consequence of any Law or Regulation therein, be discharged from such Service or Labour, but shall be delivered up on Claim of the Party to whom such Service or Labour may be due.

Section 3. New States may be admitted by the Congress into this Union; but no new State shall be formed or erected within the Jurisdiction of any other State; nor any State be formed by the Junction of two or more States, or Parts of States, without the Consent of the Legislatures of the States concerned as well as of the Congress.

The Congress shall have Power to dispose of and make all needful Rules and Regulations respecting the Territory or other Property belonging to the United States; and nothing in this Constitution shall be so construed as to Prejudice any Claims of the United States, or of any particular State.

Section 4. The United States shall guarantee to every State in this Union a Republican Form of Government, and shall protect each of them against Invasion; and on Application of the Legislature, or of the Executive (when the Legislature cannot be convened) against domestic Violence.

ARTICLE V.

The Congress, whenever two thirds of both Houses shall deem it necessary, shall propose Amendments to this Constitution, or, on the Application of the Legislatures of two thirds of the several States, shall call a Convention for proposing Amendments, which, in either Case, shall be valid to all Intents and Purposes, as Part of this Constitution, when ratified by the Legislatures of three fourths of the several States, or by Conventions in three fourths thereof, as the one or the other Mode of Ratification may be proposed by the Congress; Provided that no Amendment which may be made prior to the Year One Thousand eight hundred and eight shall in any Manner affect the first and fourth Clauses in the Ninth Section of the first Article; and that no State, without its Consent, shall be deprived of its equal Suffrage in the Senate.

ARTICLE VI.

All Debts contracted and Engagements entered into, before the Adoption of this Constitution, shall be as valid against the United States under this Constitution, as under the Confederation.

This Constitution, and the Laws of the United States which shall be made in Pursuance thereof; and all Treaties made, or which shall be made, under the Authority of the United States, shall be the supreme Law of the Land; and the Judges in every State shall be bound thereby, any Thing in the Constitution or Laws of any State to the Contrary notwithstanding.

The Senators and Representatives before mentioned, and the Members of the several State Legislatures, and all executive and judicial Officers, both of the United States, and of the several States, shall be bound by Oath or Affirmation, to support this Constitution; but no religious Test shall ever be required as a Qualification to any Office or public Trust under the United States.

ARTICLE VII.

The Ratification of the Conventions of nine States, shall be sufficient for the Establishment of this Constitution between the States so ratifying the Same.

In Convention Monday September 17th 1787.

Present The States of New Hampshire, Massachusetts, Connecticut, Mr Hamilton from New York, New Jersey, Pennsylvania, Delaware, Maryland, Virginia, North Carolina, South Carolina and Georgia. Resolved,

That the preceding Constitution be laid before the United States in Congress assembled, and that it is the Opinion of this Convention, that it should afterwards be submitted to a Convention of Delegates, chosen in each State by the People thereof, under the Recommendation of its Legislature, for their Assent and Ratification; and that each Convention assenting to, and ratifying the Same, should give Notice thereof to the United States in Congress assembled.

Resolved, That it is the Opinion of this Convention, that as soon as the Conventions of nine States shall have ratified this Constitution, the United States in Congress assembled should fix a Day on which Electors should be appointed by the States which shall have ratified the same, and a Day on which the Electors should assemble to vote for the President, and the Time and Place for commencing Proceedings under this Constitution. That after such Publication the Electors should be appointed, and the Senators and Representatives elected: That the Electors should meet on the Day fixed for the Election of the President, and should transmit their Votes certified, signed, sealed and directed, as the Constitution requires, to the Secretary of the United States in Congress assembled, that the Senators and Representatives should convene at the Time and Place assigned; that the Senators should appoint a President of the Senate, for the sole Purpose of receiving, opening and counting the Votes for President; and, that after he shall be chosen, the Congress, together with the President, should, without Delay, proceed to execute this Constitution.

By the Unanimous Order of the Convention

Go Washington Presidt

W. Jackson Secretary

AMENDMENTS.

Articles in addition to, and Amendment of the Constitution of the United States of America, proposed by Congress, and ratified by the Legislatures of the several States, pursuant to the fifth Article of the original Constitution.

ARTICLE I.

Congress shall make no law respecting an establishment of religion, or prohibiting the free exercise thereof; or abridging the freedom of speech, or of the press; or the right of the people peaceably to assemble, and to petition the Government for a redress of grievances.

ARTICLE II.

A well regulated Militia, being necessary to the security of a free State, the right of the people to keep and bear Arms, shall not be infringed.

ARTICLE III.

No Soldier shall, in time of peace be quartered in any house, without the consent of the Owner, nor in time of war, but in a manner to be prescribed by law.

ARTICLE IV.

The right of the people to be secure in their persons, houses, papers, and effects, against unreasonable searches and seizures, shall not be violated, and no Warrants shall issue, but upon probable cause, supported by Oath or affirmation, and particularly describing the place to be searched, and the persons or things to be seized.

ARTICLE V.

No person shall be held to answer for a capital, or otherwise infamous crime, unless on a presentment or indictment of a Grand Jury, except in cases arising in the land or naval forces, or in the Militia, when in actual service in time of War or public danger; nor shall any person be subject for the same offence to be twice put in jeopardy of life or limb; nor shall be compelled in any criminal case to be a witness against himself, nor be deprived of life, liberty, or property, without due process of law; nor shall private property be taken for public use, without just compensation.

ARTICLE VI.

In all criminal prosecutions, the accused shall enjoy the right to a speedy and public trial, by an impartial jury of the State and district wherein the crime shall have been committed, which district shall have been previously ascertained by law, and to be informed of the nature and cause of the accusation; to be confronted with the witnesses against him; to have compulsory process for obtaining witnesses in his favor, and to have the Assistance of Counsel for his defence.

ARTICLE VII.

In Suits at common law, where the value in controversy shall exceed twenty dollars, the right of trial by jury shall be preserved, and no fact tried by a jury, shall be otherwise reexamined in any Court of the United States, than according to the rules of the common law.

ARTICLE VIII.

Excessive bail shall not be required, nor excessive fines imposed, nor cruel and unusual punishments inflicted.

ARTICLE IX.

The enumeration in the Constitution, of certain rights, shall not be construed to deny or disparage others retained by the people.

ARTICLE X.

The powers not delegated to the United States by the Constitution, nor prohibited by it to the States, are reserved to the States respectively, or to the people.

ARTICLE XI.

The Judicial power of the United States shall not be construed to extend to any suit in law or equity, commenced or prosecuted against one of the United States by Citizens of another State, or by Citizens or Subjects of any Foreign State.

ARTICLE XII.

The Electors shall meet in their respective states, and vote by ballot for President and Vice-President, one of whom, at least, shall not be an inhabitant of the same state with themselves; they shall name in their ballots the person voted for as President, and in distinct ballots the person voted for as Vice-President, and they shall make distinct lists of all persons voted for as President, and of all persons voted for as Vice-President, and of the number of votes for each, which lists they shall sign and certify, and transmit sealed to the seat of the government of the United States, directed to the President of the Senate;—The President of the Senate shall, in the presence of the Senate and House of Representatives, open all the certificates and the votes shall then be counted;—The person having the greatest number of votes for President, shall be the President, if such number be a majority of the whole number of Electors appointed; and if no person have such majority, then from the persons having the highest numbers not exceeding three on the list of those voted for as President, the House of Representatives shall choose immediately, by ballot, the President. But in choosing the President, the votes shall be taken by states, the representation from each state having one vote; a quorum for this purpose shall consist of a member or members from two-thirds of the states, and a majority of all the states shall be necessary to a choice. And if the House of Representatives shall not choose a President whenever the right of choice shall devolve upon them, before the fourth day of March next following, then the Vice-President shall act as President, as in the case of the death or other constitutional disability of the President.—The person having the greatest number of votes as Vice-President, shall be the Vice-President, if such number be a majority of the whole number of Electors appointed, and if no person have a majority, then from the two highest numbers on the list, the Senate shall choose the Vice-President; a quorum for the purpose shall consist of two-thirds of the whole number of Senators, and a majority of the whole number shall be necessary to a choice. But no person constitutionally ineligible to the office of President shall be eligible to that of Vice-President of the United States.

ARTICLE XIII.

Section 1. Neither slavery nor involuntary servitude, except as a punishment for crime whereof the party shall have been duly convicted, shall exist within the United States, or any place subject to their jurisdiction.

Section 2. Congress shall have power to enforce this article by appropriate legislation.

ARTICLE XIV.

Section 1. All persons born or naturalized in the United States, and subject to the jurisdiction thereof, are citizens of the United States and of the State wherein they reside. No State shall make or enforce any law which shall abridge the privileges or immunities of citizens of the United States; nor shall any State deprive any person of life, liberty, or property, without due process of law; nor deny to any person within its jurisdiction the equal protection of the laws.

Section 2. Representatives shall be apportioned among the several States according to their respective numbers, counting the whole number of persons in each State, excluding Indians not taxed. But when the right to vote at any election for the choice of electors for President and Vice President of the United States, Representatives in Congress, the Executive and Judicial officers of a State, or the members of the Legislature thereof, is denied to any of the male inhabitants of such State, being twenty-one years of age, and citizens of the United States, or in any way abridged, except for participation in rebellion, or other crime, the basis of representation therein shall be reduced in the proportion which the number of such male citizens shall bear to the whole number of male citizens twenty-one years of age in such State.

Section 3. No person shall be a Senator or Representative in Congress, or elector of President and Vice President, or hold any office, civil or military, under the United States, or under any State, who, having previously taken an oath, as a member of Congress, or as an officer of the United States, or as a member of any State legislature, or as an executive or judicial officer of any State, to support the Constitution of the United States, shall have engaged in insurrection or rebellion against the same, or given aid or comfort to the enemies thereof. But Congress may by a vote of two-thirds of each House, remove such disability.

Section 4. The validity of the public debt of the United States, authorized by law, including debts incurred for payment of pensions and bounties for services in suppressing insurrection or rebellion, shall not be questioned. But neither the United States nor any State shall assume or pay any debt or obligation incurred in aid of insurrection or rebellion against the United States, or any claim for the loss or emancipation of any slave; but all such debts, obligations and claims shall be held illegal and void.

Section 5. The Congress shall have power to enforce, by appropriate legislation, the provisions of this article.

ARTICLE XV.

Section 1. The right of citizens of the United States to vote shall not be denied or abridged by the United States or by any State on account of race, color, or previous condition of servitude.——

Section 2. The Congress shall have power to enforce this article by appropriate legislation.——

ARTICLE XVI.

The Congress shall have power to lay and collect taxes on incomes, from whatever source derived, without apportionment among the several States, and without regard to any census or enumeration.

ARTICLE XVII.

The Senate of the United States shall be composed of two Senators from each State, elected by the people thereof, for six years; and each Senator shall have one vote. The electors in each State shall have the qualifications requisite for electors of the most numerous branch of the State legislatures.

When vacancies happen in the representation of any State in the Senate, the executive authority of such State shall issue writs of election to fill such vacancies: Provided, That the legislature of any State may empower the executive thereof to make temporary appointments until the people fill the vacancies by election as the legislature may direct.

This amendment shall not be so construed as to affect the election or term of any Senator chosen before it becomes valid as part o. the Constitution.

ARTICLE XVIII.

Section 1. After one year from the ratification of this article the manufacture, sale, or transportation of intoxicating liquors within, the importation thereof into, or the exportation thereof from the United States and all territory subject to the jurisdiction thereof for beverage purposes is hereby prohibited.

Section 2. The Congress and the several States shall have concurrent power to enforce this article by appropriate legislation.

Section 3. This article shall be inoperative unless it shall have been ratified as an amendment to the Constitution by the legislatures of the several States, as provided in the Constitution, within seven years from the date of the submission hereof to the States by the Congress.

ARTICLE XIX.

The right of citizens of the United States to vote shall not be denied or abridged by the United States or by any State on account of sex.

Congress shall have power to enforce this article by appropriate legislation.

ARTICLE XX.

Section 1. The terms of the President and Vice President shall end at noon on the 20th day of January, and the terms of Senators and Representatives at noon on the 3d day of January, of the years in which such terms would have ended if this article had not been ratified; and the terms of their successors shall then begin.

Section 2. The Congress shall assemble at least once in every year, and such meeting shall begin at noon on the 3d day of January, unless they shall by law appoint a different day.

Section 3. If, at the time fixed for the beginning of the term of the President, the President elect shall have died, the Vice President elect shall become President. If a President shall not have been chosen before the time fixed for the beginning of his term, or if the President elect shall have failed to qualify, then the Vice President elect shall act as President until a President shall have qualified; and the Congress may by law provide for the case wherein neither a President elect nor a Vice President elect shall have qualified, declaring who shall then act as President, or the manner in which one who is to act shall be selected, and such person shall act accordingly until a President or Vice President shall have qualified.

Section 4. The Congress may by law provide for the case of the death of any of the persons from whom the House of Representatives may choose a President whenever the right of choice shall have devolved upon them, and for the case of the death of any of the persons from whom the Senate may choose a Vice President whenever the right of choice shall have devolved upon them.

Section 5. Sections 1 and 2 shall take effect on the 15th day of October following the ratification of this article.

Section 6. This article shall be inoperative unless it shall have been ratified as an amendment to the Constitution by the legislatures of three-fourths of the several States within seven years from the date of its submission. [The text followed above is that of the 'Literal Print' edition issued by the Department of State in Washington, D. C., 1933.]

ARTICLE XXI.

Section 1. The eighteenth article of amendment to the Constitution of the United States is hereby repealed.

Section 2. The transportation or importation into any State, Territory, or Possession of the United States for delivery or use therein of intoxicating liquors, in violation of the laws thereof, is hereby prohibited.

Section 3. This article shall be inoperative unless it shall have been ratified as an amendment to the Constitution by conventions in the several States, as provided in the Constitution, within seven years from the date of the submission hereof to the States by the Congress.

Amendments.—In the Constitution as originally adopted, slight provision was made for the guaranty to the individual of a sphere of liberty not to be encroached upon by the Federal Government. To remedy this defect, the first Congress after the adoption of the Constitution passed and submitted to the States for ratification a series of ten Amendments, which were duly ratified and declared in force on Dec. 15, 1791.

The Eleventh Amendment was passed in 1793, and declared in force Jan. 8, 1798.

The Twelfth Amendment was added in 1803, and from then until the time of the Civil War no others were adopted.

The Thirteenth, Fourteenth and Fifteenth Amendments were embodied in 1865, 1868 and 1870, respectively, as part of the Government's Reconstruction policy, securing to the liberated slaves the benefits of citizenship.

The Sixteenth (Income Tax) and Seventeenth (Election of Senators) Amendments were adopted on Feb. 25 and May 31, 1913, respectively.

The Eighteenth (Prohibition) Amendment came into force on Jan. 16, 1920.

The Nineteenth (Woman Suffrage) Amendment was adopted on Aug. 28, 1920.

The Twentieth ("Lame Duck") Amendment: Ratification formally announced Feb. 6, 1933.

The Twenty-first (Prohibition Repeal) Amendment was adopted Dec. 5, 1933.

A proposed Child Labor Amendment, passed by both Houses of Congress in 1924, had (by July, 1933) been rejected by 24 States and ratified by 15.

History.—The first official draft of a plan for the formation of the Federal Government was submitted to the States for ratification in 1777, under the title "Articles of Confederation." The ratification of every State was required to put the government into effect, and in 1781 this had been secured. The government thus established consisted of a legislative department only. Practically the sole powers of the government were the carrying on of foreign relations and the determining of peace and war. The government proved to have insufficient power even to enforce upon the States treaty obligations with foreign governments.

The Constitution, as finally drafted, represented three great compromises: (1) between a national party and a State sovereignty party, by providing for a much stronger Congress than the one under the Articles of Confederation which the Constitution replaced, and for a Federal executive and judiciary which had not existed before—but reserving to the States or to the people "powers not delegated to the United States . . nor prohibited . to the States" (Tenth Amendment); (2) between a large State party, which wished legislative representation based on population, and a small State party, which organized slowly in the Convention and repeatedly threatened to break it up, and which wished all States to have equal representation—by a bicameral legislature, with a lower house in which representation was based on population, and an upper house representing the States as States; and (3) between the slave States and the free, that, for direct taxation and for representation, only three-fifths of the negroes should be counted, but that fugitive slaves should be returned by one state to another, and that the importation of slaves should not be prohibited before 1808.

MAPLE SPRINGS

The services, both Saturday and Sunday, were very well attended. The church re-elected Bro. Carroll as pastor for another year. Mr. Elbert Bowles was elected as church clerk.

They are going to meet next Sunday morning at 10 a.m. at the church for the purpose to re-organize our Sunday school. Both our Sunday school and B. Y. P. U. have been dead for quite a time. Be at the church Sunday morning at 10 o'clock. All visitors are invited to come. We will appreciate your attendance and help.

Mr. Joe Lonsford spent a while Sunday night with Messrs. Arnold and Ottis Glenn.

Mr. Ottis Glenn motored to Marbury Saturday night.

Don't forget to come Sunday morning at 10 o'clock and help organize our Sunday school again.

ISABELLA SCHOOL NEWS

On Monday morning, September 2, teachers and students again assembled around the Mulberry church for temporary school quarters. They are, of course, handicapped by the loss of the school building, but in a general way work is being done very creditably, and a genuine school spirit is visible in all students enrolled.

The beginning day showed a very good attendance of all students enrolled last year, together with many new faces. We are indeed glad to welcome new students, and will endeavor to make the work as pleasant for them as possible until we are again permitted to enter the new high school building with modern equipment, and placed on a level with other schools.

Our building is still a dream to be realized, as there has not as yet been a stone laid or a plank squared. Yet faith in school leadership has not waivered, and we feel sure that a new building is just around the corner. We invite any student who is not as yet in school to visit our school, and enroll with us where possible.—A. D. Durbin.

is the time to have your child's eye sight tested
Have your children been complaining of dull headaches? Do they have to hold a book within a few inches of their face in order to read? If they do they should have their eyes tested at once. See that they are physically fit for school work. Poor eyesight has caused many a failure. Don't let it happen to your child.

It is inaccurate to say that the national debt has reached a new peak of 29 billion dollars. Peak nothing; it's a new stratosphere.—Indianapolis Star.

A NEW MYTH

The old myth of the inexhaustability of government resources and credit has been supplanted. Now it is the resources of the taxpayers which the administration obviously believes bottomless.

Congressional appropriations for the present session crossed the $8,000,000,000 mark the other day when the second deficiency appropriation bill was passed; a third deficiency bill is a certainty because of large authorization bills now on the way to passage. Congress earlier made a pretense of keeping within the "budget," which itself was expanded until it seemed it would cover every possible contingency; but now even the pretense is apparently to be abandoned.

The eventual intention is to load all these expenditures on the taxpayers' shoulders, as soon as next year's campaign is out of the way. These heavy costs mean only one thing —repaymtnt over a long term of years, in sweat and blood. Every worker will have a correspondingly heavier burden for years to come.—Los Angeles Times.

NATIONAL AFFAIRS

(By Frank P. Litschert

Once more the question of the recognition of the Soviet Russian government has come to the forefront. It has been placed in the limelight by the protest of the American State Department which notified Moscow officially that we do not like the recent activities of the Third International at the Red Capital and that evidence is at hand which shows the Russian government has not kept its promise it would have no part in any agitation against the government of the United States. The reply of the Moscow government was what might have been expected. It denied having anything to do with the Third International.

Those who were led, by pro-Russian propaganda, to believe that our recognition of the Red government would usher in a new deal in international affairs, that Red propaganda in this country would cease, and our trade relations with the communists grow by leaps and bounds must now know how badly they were fooled and how sadly they were mistaken. There is, of course, no point in repeating the old bromide, "I told you so," but it must be admitted that those who opposed Russian recognition at the time the treaty was drawn up, have had their judgment vindicated in every particular.

These anti-recognitionists pointed out that communist agitation in the United States would increase rather than decrease after Russia was recognized. They predicted also that there would be no increase in Russian-American trade brought about through the treaty. Both of these prophecies have turned out to be true. Anti-American agitation has not ceased. There is proof of this not only in communist demonstrations all over the country but in the protest of the government against activities of the Third International in the very capital of Russia. The best proof of the fallacy that we would see hundreds of millions in goods in Russia after recognition is furnished by the figures of the Department of Commerce. Even worse, the Russians are rubbing it in by stating we cannot expect them to buy more from us unless we extend them credit—in other words, lend them money with which to buy. The trade treaty entered into by Secretary Hull with the Soviet government promises to be another big disappointment.

Of course the reply of the Russian officials that the Soviet government has nothing to do with the Third International is the veriest bunk. Many of the prominent officials of the government attended the meetings of the International and took part in them. Nobody in Russia dares think out loud, or print a single declaratory sentence against the wishes of the government. To do so means imprisonment, at least. To say then that the Moscow government could not regulate the Third International so far as its plottings against the United States government are concerned, is the merest twaddle. Some of the Moscow apologists have said that we ought not complain because there is a great deal of anti-Russian propaganda in the United States. But there is no campaign here directed to overthrowing the Russian government or telling the people of that country what sort of government it ought to have or ought not have. It is purely defensive, aimed at stopping attacks on the American government here. The Moscow allies are plotting and preaching against American constitutional government here in America. Plotting or agitating against the Red government would not be permitted for a moment. This clearly shows the weakness of the analogy.

At any rate, no matter whether we break off diplomatic relations with Russia or not, this alien communist movement in America promises to be a big issue in the campaign next year. While both major parties may be expected to declare against Red plotting against our government, the question of Russian relations is very likely to have an important influence in the choice of candidates over the country.

BEGINNING OF THE END

The first congressional district of Rhode Island is a typical combination of industrial and agricultural communities, with the former much more populous. It is dominated by textile workers, and one section of it, the city of Woonsocket, on the northern border, was the secret of wild rioting during the textile strike.

These mill workers have had a full opportunity to see and feel the effects of the processing taxes which the AAA exacts. They have had time to ponder the cold advice of Secretary of Agriculture Wallace that they turn their hands to the making of pre-fabri- this majority of 21,000 last year with little efened belts for the fulfilment of administration promises. The waste and aimlessness of the New Deal have become apparent to them. The waste and aimlessness of the New Deal have become apparent to them. The almost unbelievable vote shows their convictions as to the whole performance.

Congressman Condon, Democrat, obtained ating racial element in the state and a resifort. A reduction of the maority by a quarter or a half would have been a serious setback for the New Deal, an omen of disasters to follow elsewhere. The complete rout of the Democrats and the triumph of Mr. Risk are therefore a major development.

It is made more impressive by the fact that the Democratic candidate, Antonio Prince, is a French Canadian, a member of the dominating racial element is the state and a resident of Woonsocket, one of the oldest and strongest centers of French Canadians. The Republicans went to the little village of Saylesville for their representative. The voters obviously laid aside all racial and religious consideration and voted on the basis of their own, their state's and the national welfare as affected by the New Deal. Nothing but intense hostility to it can explain the remarkable victory of Mr. Risk.—Boston Herald.

MILLS AND MILLIONS

The treasury is deeply concerned about the problems of change-making in those states which have sales taxes based on a percentage of the purchase price. Rather than permit the distributor to charge his customer a full cent additional, to cover a sales levy of less than that amount, some of the states have been considering the coinage of fractional money for local circulation. The treasury rightly objects that such action would be unconstitutional exercise of the congressional power to coin money and regulte the value of money thereof. Hence it proposes to satisfy the demands of the states in question by urging the passage of a law authorizing the federal government to manufacture half-pennies and mills.

This official eagerness to protest consumers from losing the fraction of a cent is in ludicrous contrast with the administration's open-handed method of disbursing billions of dollars of public funds obtained through taxes and loans. Indeed, there is excellent material for the pen of a satirist in the solemn conferences now in progress between representatives of the Treasury and of Congress over coins, it appears, has already been settled by the form of the bill authorizing the issuance of midget money. The form of the projected President Roosevelt. This is a pity. It would have been a swell subject for a boon-doggling competition.—Washington, D. C., Post.

SOAKING THE SHAREHOLDER

One of the real fundamental facts about all plans for "soaking the rich" by taxation is that the method is seldom successful. In the first place, so many tax costs are passed on to the poor consumer that it is difficult to say just where the tax burden is finally placed. Again, when it comes to the so-called giant-like and rich corporations of the country it is true that after all soaking the "octopus" is really soaking the thrifty little man. For practically all of the great corporatioons of the country are owned by hundreds of thousands of stockholders, many of them in the humblest walks of life. The fact was vividly illustrated recently in a statement on current tax legislation by Alfred P. Sloan, Jr., head of the General Motors Corporation. In part, Mr. Sloan said:

"If we are to assume, and we have a right to assume, that one of the underlying motives is to 'soak the rich,' the question arises, whether the rich are the only ones to be really soaked? For example, General Motors Corporation, representing a market value of $1,700,000,000, is owned directly and indirectly by some 415,000 stockholders. Holdings of more than 150,000 of these stockholders represent amounts of ten shares or less, involving a maximum investment of $350 each. The largest American business corporation, with a stockholder list of approximately 670,000, is stated to have no stockholder whose holdings are even equal to one per cent of the total. This is quite generally true of American 'business bigness.' The facts are that the savings of the masses are importantly represented in the stock-holding interests of our large business enterprises. The stockholder lists of hundreds of big corporations show that such stock investments have become a secondary savings bank. The fact that a corporation has a large income does not mean that all its stockholders have large incomes. The fact that any corporation has a small income does not mean that its owner or owners have small incomes."

Too often the fellow who talks about soaking the rich does not know the fundamental principles of American economic life. He is seeking the votes of the little fellow rather than trying to help him.

"There's plenty of wealth but a rotten distribution of it." Clarence Darrow is quoted as saying. It is also true that a lot of fellows make a pretty rotten effort at trying to earn and save their share of it.

A woman was taken off a train at Battle Creek while throwing money out the window. It was not decided whether to hold her for impersonating a government official.—Salt Lake Tribune.

We are of the opinion that if Mussolini sends an Italian army into Ethiopia he will find that it is no mere cotton picking job he has embarked on.

An Iowa farmer is reported to have found $10,000 in his corn crib. Wonder if there had been an AAA agent around there recently?

Some inventor has perfected a magnetic mop but it won't be of much use unless it will pick up collar buttons.

Some fellows are beginning to wonder whether prosperity so long just around the corner, hasn't been run over by a truck carrying government employees.—Topeka State Journal.

A Missourian quoted in the Valley Falls Vindicator tells about a neighbor who sprinkles his potato plants with relief flour instead of poisin. He says the potato bugs ate the flour and then sat down in the shade and starved to death waiting for more flour.—Greenville, Kansas, Sentinel.

GRAGG FIELD

I am glad to see the Clanton airport named Gragg Field. I believe the honor is a due one to Dr. V. J. Gragg, the air pioneer of Clanton. There is no one who can be named who has worked so tirelessly as he to make the airport at Clanton a reality instead of a dream.

When the question of projects arose in connection with the CWA, PWA, and other governmental agencies, Dr. Gragg put in his application for an airport for Clanton along with the first projects submitted. He spent his own money, met boards and officials, pleading for his pet project, and finally was rewarded by seeing work started on actual construction of the landing field.

Just as there must be pioneers in any new enterprise, there had to be one in Clanton's connection with the new air idea. We believe the air is the coming mode of travel, and in the near future the town without an airport will be as much a backwoods town as one would be now if built without a railroad or a highway. Dr. Gragg could see further than lots of us, along this line. He could look into the future of plane travel, interested as he was, and see that the time is not far distant when our town will need an airport, and he went to work for it. He is Clanton's air pioneer, the least honor that we could show him is to name the flying field after him, that generations to come may know the zeal with which he worked and peered into the future, which will be their present, foresaw their needs in transportation, and labored for them.

On, March 1, 1934, this column carried an article in which I suggested that the flying field be named Gragg field for the above reasons, and again I wish to state that the hon- of the field's name has been placed correctly. Dr. Gragg deserves this honor, at least, for his untiring work in getting this great future need for this town.

OUR NATIONAL CREDIT

Since the government opened its giant spending spree a few months ago much has been said and written about it, both for and against it. We have maintained that it was bad policy, and that it would eventually strain the credit of the nation, if not break it.

Our political opponents have accused us of adopting a "sour grapes" attitude on the question, contending that there was no danger to the national credit. Of course there was nothing we could do about it but wait and see whose opinion would prove correct.

The time has now come when we can take inventory and settle this all-important question, in part, at least.

A few days ago the government offered a batch of its bonds for sale, using the same procedure as has always been used in the past. This procedure is as follows: The government sells bonds at par value, 100 cents in the dollar, and the buyer depends on the interest rate for his profit, with no discount from the face value of the bonds.

When the for sale sign was put on the bonds mentioned above, there were no buyers at par, whereas, in the past, every issue has been oversubscribed. This is the first time in the history of the nation that its bonds could not be sold at par. Think of that —the first time in all our nation's financial history! Buyers offered to buy them at a substantial discount from face value, but not at par.

The situation is the same as if you had been borrowing at a bank, giving your note, and then all at once the bank decided that you had just about borrowed to the full extent of your ability to pay, and should demand something more than your note. If that should happen to you, you would have a faint idea that your creditor was a little afraid of your credit, wouldn't you? The government is nothing more than a collection of individuals, and the same rules apply as far as money matters are concerned. Again we submit that the recent spending orgy has brought Uncle Sam closer to the brink of bankruptcy than he has ever been before, and offer the above evidence as good proof. What do you think?

THE BRIDLE IS OFF

From time to time for months and months, control and meddling with the nation's business was retarding the return of prosperity. Business has been cramped by federal supervision, confidence has been held back by uncertainty as to what the government might decree in the business world. Business men were afraid to invest as they would have liked to do, for the future was not clear for them. We have contended that when the government took its restraining hand off business, an immediate upward trend would be the result.

One day last week the president "pulled the bridle off," so to speak, giving business a free hand. The Supreme Court had already pretty nearly done that little trick by outlawing the NRA, but business could yet see a possibility of the skillet-licking congress passing another rule with the same force as the NRA, but with the wording to keep it in the Constitution. But with the president's "breathing spell" last week, business felt that it might feel reasonably free and the immediate result was astounding to business men, themselves.

Stocks and bonds jumped the limit, some of them reaching higher levels than had been realized since the governmental curb was put on business. Feverish buying of all kinds of securities came to liven a securities market that had been comparatively dull for months. Prices of commodities and raw stocks jumped And we predict that a wave of building and investment will come with the next few weeks that is without parallel during the present administration. We have contended that if business be placed back on its own resources, new blood would flow into it, and the past few days since the "breathing spell" goes to prove that contention correct.

Again we say, as we have said so many times—"give America's 'rugged individualism' a chance, and the country will come back in spite of the New Deal, and not because of it". The New Deal is at its rope's end. We predict a wave of enthusiasm and confidence and new life, which will do more to bring this country back to normalcy than all the New Deals and NRA's that can be drawn up. And if the future proves us wrong, we will be honest enough to be the first to admit it. Wait and See;

WHAT OF THE AAA?

What NRA and governmental meddling did to business in general the AAA manipulation did to the farming industry. Governmental curbs and checks on farming, together with the meddlesome bureaus and boards set up to handle farming have retarded it rather than helped.

Free Americans resent being told what they can do with the land they sweat to acquire, and on which they pay taxes. A myriad mass of bureaus, with their maze of technical agreements, has left farmers in a daze.

When farmers signed their farm contracts, certain allowances were set out in them, regarding the amounts farmers could raise. But there was a technical "joker" clause in each of them, which gave the board of control and the AAA administration the right to "adjust" these allowances whenever and in any degree they saw fit. So far as the farmer was concerned, he might as well have signed a blank paper, with all allowance and stipulations to be filled in later at the will and pleasure of some nincompoop drawing a government check, and at the beck and call of the AAA administration. In short, when a farmer signed an AAA agreement, he put himself at the mercy of people who knew not near so much of farming and its attendant troubles as the farmer, himself.

Inasmuch as he was dealing with the government, most farmers were confident that they would be "treated right", and that the figures their contract carried would be authentic. But they were not long in waking up along this line . . . The very first thing was an "adjustment program", in which all allowances were cut down. Then, and not until then, in most cases, did farmers realize just what that adjustment "joker" really meant. But they know now, and a wave of resentment is growing among them.

The Supreme Court killed the NRA, and is as sure to kill the AAA, for they are both drawn up with the same idea and intent in mind—to make of America an autocracy. The only difference is that the NRA dealt with one group, the AAA with another. With governmental interference out of the way, business is showing more life, and when AAA is taken off the farmers' necks their condition will improve, too. When farmers raise so much cotton until it is unprofitable they will stop raising it. Why not treat farmers with as much consideration as other lines of business. Remove the AAA!—Man in the Moon.

POTATO BUREAUCRACY

The latest American article of food to be regimented by Secretary Wallace's AAA is the humble potato. According to the latest legislation on the subject, a potato quota is to be imposed by the Secretary of Agriculture on the three million farmers who raise the popular and essential tuber. The regulation is said to provide that after December 1st, of this year, potatoes to be sold by the farmers must be packed in regulation government containers to which will be attached tax stamps or tax exemption stamps. The purpose, of course, is to prohibit the farmer from selling more than his quota of potatoes. If he does so he will have to pay a tax which will amount to practically the value of the potatoes.

The legislation opens up a broad avenue of potato bootlegging but any person who sells or buys bootleg potatoes will be subject to a fine of not more than a thousand dollars. For a second offense he may get a jail sentence of not more than a year. This is something new. Not even in the bluest Volstead days was a man fined or sent to jail for buying liquor. It was the seller who might suffer. Apparently, to buy bootleg potatoes will be a criminal offense even if it was not criminal to buy bootleg potato whiskey.

The potato crisis is said to have been brought about by the fact that many Southern farmers whose cotton acreage was curtailed, planted, by government expert advice, potatoes instead. This dropped the potato price over the country because of the increased supply and now it is necessary to regiment potatoes as well as cotton. And so on and on into the night.

Just how potato growers and potato users are going to like this new example of government regulation when they find out about it remains to be seen. But it is already evident that the regimentation will not be so popular. For example, all twelve of Indiana's congressmen voted against the regulation and Representative Pettengill, a prominent Democratic congressman of the Hoosier state, is quoted as saying, "A man with a garden patch ought to have freedom to market a few potatoes without first asking the permission of some Washington bureaucrat."

"Potatoes are the poor man's food," he added, "and the staff of life in thousands of homes. With the rising cost of living there ought to be at least one staple not affected by an artificial scarcity. I voted against the bill, being opposed to penalizing Indiana growers and consumers at one and the same time. In Indiana we grow less potatoes than we consume. But, notwithstanding this fact, our growers will be given a quota that will reduce the bushels of potatoes they will be permitted to sell, and our consumers will be forced to buy more potatoes outside the state and at a higher price. There should be a limit to Washington running everything.

"No one with a garden patch would be exempt if he sold or swapped a bushel of spuds to a neighbor. This is driving a free horse too far. Of course all persons may grow potatoes for their own needs, but they won't be permitted to sell a surplus without Washington telling them how many they can sell under their quota."

AN ALBERTA PEACH

We may be thankful for one thing. All of the "fall guys" are not in the United States. In the province of Alberta, Canada, a legislative election was won recently by an ultra-New Deal organization known as the Social Credit League. It is said that the League won nearly all of the sixty-three legislative seats, a few being distributed among the regular parties.

The Social Credit League is headed by a combination evangelist and school teacher. All adult citizens are to get a "credit dividend" of at least $25 a month, to be paid out of the "state creditor house, where an entry of $25 in credit is to be made each month in each credit book possessed by an adult. A wife is entitled to $25 a month as well as her husband.

This sounds almost as good as some of the "share the wealth" plans which have originated in our United States, including fancy prospectuses of alleged oil and gold mines. There ought to be a general flocking of indigent households from all parts of Canada into Alberta.

Most charts and analyses of economic conditions in Canada indicate that the Dominion is pulling out of the depression faster than most countries, much faster even than the United States. But eveidently that isn't enough.

All of those editorial humorists in our country who have been disposed to poke fun at Doc Townsend and his old age pension plans, had better take a second thought. The plan will not work economically but it has political potentialities. If you don't believe so, send for a copy of the tabulation of the official vote in Alberta in the August election.

Out of the $4,000,000,000 work relief fund it is said that only $2,000 has been allotted to Louisiana and that is to study the winter habits of the boll weevil of Louisiana. We trust there is nothing personal in this toward Huey Long on the part of the Brain Trust.

If the public wants to know just where all the public money has gone that has been spent in the past two years what a fine chance the mystery story writers are going to have.

HARD TO DOWN THE EAGLE

General Johnson used to intimate that the Blue Eagle was a tough old bird, and would be hard to down. We are beginning to believe him. In spite of the fact that the Supreme Court decision invalidating the NRA is now a matter of history we are told that there are still nearly 4,00 persons on the payroll of the department erstwhile symbolized by the Blue Eagle. It is said also that several hundred NRA employees will be given jobs indefinitely enforcing the law which would require manufacturers or contractors doing business with the U. S. government to maintain the rules of the old NRA codes. The Baltimore Sun, one of the leading Democratic newspapers of the East, succinctly refers to the situation in the following language:

"The taxpayer, squirming a good deal at present and aware that he is going to squirm violently when the government settles down to paying its bills instead of borrowing, will not be overly happy in reading the report that 3,746 persons are still on the payroll of the defunct NRA at a cost of approximately $800,000 a month.

"But the thing that realy ought to make the taxpayer yell is the statement that, in the event of the enactment of the Walsh bill, 1,000 NRA employees will be retained to administer the measure. The Walsh bill is the measure that would have federal departments include in their contracts a requirement that the supplying manufacturer or contractor abide by the wages and hours provisions of the old NRA code for his industry. Why on earth are 1,000 employees needed to enforce such a law? Do not the department exercise some general supervision over work done for them? Are the men employed on their contracts deaf and dumb that they may not complain if wages and hours provisions are violated? Do they have no labor spokesmen? And are no district attorneys to prosecute violations?

"Of all the examples of bureaucracy, intrenched and in full flower, there are few to exceed this proposal to retain 1,000 employes of the NRA to enforce the Walsh bill if enacted."

The reason the AAA doesn't hold any grass roots conference is that it plowed the grass under.

Old Ike Buttonoff found a cool spot in front of the bank yesterday afternoon which had also been found by a bunch of the town's noble critics. He said he heard one of the fellows complaining that he had to walk down to the relief office to get his government food yesterday. "He said his old woman took the family car to Wichita yesterday to get the auto radio fixed," snorted Ike.—Augusta, Kan. Gazette.

"HISTORY IS THE BUNK"
If You Don't Study It

(An Editorial in The Atlanta Georgian)

Young Mr. James Roosevelt, son of the President, was not very happy in two recent political utterances.

In one he poked fun at the grass root Republicans for raising the issue of state's rights at Springfield, where Lincoln is buried.

"The Republicans are as muddle-headed as ever," opined son James. "Any party that will raise the states' rights issue at the shrine of Abraham Lincoln shows that it is not thinking any more clearly than it did several years ago.

The sad truth is that Lincoln was a life-long believer in states' rights, was elected president on a platform pledged to respect states' rights, and did his utmost to preserve the rights of every state as long as it remained in the union.

Young Mr. Roosevelt also credited Thomas Jefferson with being one of the authors of the Constitution. Jefferson was in France when the Constitution was written and had no hand in writing it whatever.

Apparently Mr. Roosevelt did not specialize in American history at Harvard.

Big Double Circus Has Vast Program

The world's newest big show, the Cole Bros.-Clyde Beatty Circus, fresh from a five year European tour will exhibit in Montgomery on Tuesday, September 24.

The No. 1 advertising car, the first of three in advance of the Colossus of all amusements, is now in this vicinity. Billposters, bannermen, lithographers, radio men and press agents are heralding the great event, and soon everyone will be planning for a gala visit to the world's largest "big top", the center of the biggest canvas city ever assembled to thrill, entertain and amuse a great and discriminating populance.

Traveling on three trains of double-length steel railroad cars, the giant of super-circuses will bring 1,080 people. 812 menegarie animals, five herds of elephants and 500 horses.

Pre-eminent features is Clyde Beatty, trained wild animal exhibition. Beatty is acknowledged to be the greatest wild animal trainer of all time.

There are 400 performers including the famous Nelson family of acrobats; the Imperial Harolds; the Flying Thrillers; Allen King and his cage of fury; Harietta, the famous equestrienne, and 60 internationally celebrated and beloved clowns. The Cole Bros.-Clyde Beatty horse fair has become a feature amazing in its appeal thorughout the North American continent.

The big holiday will be ushered in with an immense street parade at 11 a.m. Upwards of 500 horses, three score of elaborately carved and gilded allegorical floats and tabeleau wagons together with many cages and open dens of Clyde Beatty's animals will be seen in the precossional. There will be five herds of elephants and two caravans of camels from the great desert. Five bands and two steam calliopes will furnish music. Doors to the menegarie open at 1 and 7 p.m. The big show will start at 2 and 8 p.m. All seats are provided with foot rests

S. S. CLINIC AT FRIENDSHIP

The county-wide Sunday School clinic of the Chilton County Association will meet at Friendship church Tuesday, September 24th, beginning at 9 o'clock and running all day. Three state speakers are listed on the program.

All Sunday schools in the Chilton county association are supposed to be represented.—H. D. Durbin, Chairman.

Mrs. George Wyatt underwent a serious operations at St. Margaret's Hospital, Montgomery, last Saturday morning. Late reports say that she is getting along fine, however.

TAXES — TAXES — TAXES

To help the multi-millionaire.
Tax the people, tax with care,
Tax the farmer, tax his fowl,
Tax the dog, tax his howl.
Tax his hen and tax her egg
And let the blooming mudsill beg.
Tax his pig, tax his squeal,
Tax his shoes, run down at heel.
Tax his horse, tax his lands,
Tax the blisters on his hands.
Tax his plow, tax his clothes,
Tax the rag that wipes his nose.
Tax his house, tax his bed,
Tax the bald spot on his head.
Tax the ox and tax the ass,
Tax his Henry, tax his gas,
Tax the road that we must pass
And make him travel over the grass.
Tax the cow, tax the calf,
Tax him if he dares to laugh.
He is but a common man: so
Tax the cuss just all you can,
Tax his bread, tax his meat,
Tax the shoes clear off his feet.
Tax the pay roll, tax the sale,
Tax his hard-earned paper kale.
Tax his pipe, Tax his smoke,
Teach him the government's no joke.
Tax their coffins, tax their shrouds,
Tax their souls beyond the clouds.
Tax all business, tax the shop,
Tax their incomes, tax their stocks,
Tax the water, tax the air,
Tax the sunlight of you dare.
Tax them all and tax them well,
Tax them to the gates of hell.
But close your eyes so you can't see
The coupon clipper go tax free.

MALARIA

Speedy Relief of Chills and Fever

Don't let Malaria tear you apart with its racking chills and burning fever. Trust to no home-made or mere makeshift remedies. Take the medicine prepared especially for Malaria—Grove's Tasteless Chill Tonic.

Grove's Tasteless Chill Tonic gives real relief from Malaria because it's a scientific combination of tasteless quinine and tonic iron. The quinine kills the Malarial infection in the blood. The iron builds up the system and helps fortify against further attack. At the first sign of any attack of Malaria take Grove's Tasteless Chill Tonic. Better still take it regularly during the Malaria season to ward off the disease. Grove's Tasteless Chill Tonic is absolutely harmless and tastes good.

Grove's Tasteless Chill Tonic now comes in two sizes, 50c and $1. The $1 size contains 2½ times as much as the 50c size and gives you 25% more for your money. Get bottle today at any drug store.

HOW TO SELECT GOOD SEED CORN

Selection of a supply of good seed corn is an important October job for every Alabama farmer.

Careful selection on the farm will give a corn that is superior to varities grown in some other sections under different soil and climatic conditions. Selection should be done both before and after harvest. Before harvesting go through the field and select seed ears, keeping in mind the following points:

1. Select for vigorous stalks as shown by superiority over surrounding stalks. Do not select stalks that are good because of extra space or other favorable conditions. Select stalks of medium height that do not break.

2. Select for two or more ears per stalk and preferably with ears turning down. Use both ears from a stalk.

3. Select ears with shucks extending well over tips. Good shuck covering affords considerable protection against weevils.

4. Select ears from stalks which are free from disease.

It is necesary to select many more ears than will be needed for planting for these should be reselected after harvesting. In this last selection the following points should be kept in mind:

a. Select ears having smooth, hard, dense, heavy and relatively large grains.

b. Select long, heavy ears, with not too many rows of kernels.

c. The shuck and cob should be clean and show no discoloration.

d. Preferably the ears should be well filled out. This character, however, is of minor importance.

e. Store seed corn so that it will be protected from mice and insects.

CLANTON METHODIST CHURCH
(Dr. A. E. Middlebrooks, Pastor.)

Last Sunday was a great day in church attendance. The morning service had the largest crowd in several months. If you were not present last Sunday do not miss next Sunday.

Sunday week has been designated by the Board of Christian Education as Rally Day. Let's make it a real RALLY DAY for both church school and all the church services. Vacation time is over and you are settled down to work again. Remember the church is waiting for you. Put it first in your thoughts and plans. Join Stanley High and others in saying:

"I pledge myself to give as much financial support to the work of the church—and give it as promptly—as I give to any other organization.

"I pledge myself to spend as much time on the work of the church as I spend in the work of any other organization.

"I agree to accept no responsibility in any undertaking that I am not ready to accept in the undertakings of the church."

Keep the habit of going to church and then you will want to go. If you allow yourself to develop the non-church-going habit you will not want to go to church. "If you let yourself go you are gone."

GO TO CHURCH SUNDAY!

Mrs. J. Watts Moore Entertains Clanton Study Club

The first meeting of the Clanton Study Club was held last Friday afternoon at the home of Mrs. J. Watts Moore. For this occasion the home was effectively decorated in baskets and vases of fall flowers.

Mrs. Nancy Jones, the new club president, presided over the meeting. After the thirty minutes of business meeting a most interesting program was enjoyed. The program for the afternoon was on current events.

Roll call was answered with some current event. Mrs. L. C. Warr had as her subject "Current Topics." After which a music selection was given by Miss Katherine Foss and Miss Jane Roberts.

A delicious salad plate was served by the hostess to her guests at a late hour. The members of the study club are as follows:

Mrs. Barney Burnett, Mrs. Bert Inzer, Mrs. J. E. Gowan, Mrs. J. P. Hayes, Mrs. J. W. Hayes, Mrs. Grady Heflin, Mrs. Dan Hogan, Mrs. W. E. Huddleston, Jr., Mrs. N. S. Johnson, Mrs. John D. Mullins, Mrs. J. R. Mullins, Mrs. O. L. Reynolds, Mrs. Norman Roberts, Mrs. Barney Roberts, Mrs. L. C. Ross, Mrs. J. M. VanDerveer, Mrs. L. C. Warr, Mrs. Horsley White, Mrs. Hugh Jones, Mrs. M. F. Jones, Mrs. T. C. McSwain, Mrs. J. Watts Moore, Mrs. M. L. White, Mrs. P. D. Wilson, Mrs. J. A. Hester.

The next meeting will be October 4th, with Mrs. John D. Mullins as hostess.

Mrs. J. Hance Alred Hostess

Mrs. J. Hance Alred entertained her bridge club on last Wednesday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock. The spacious living room was decorated in fall flowers and two tables were arranged for bridge.

After a series of games high score prize prize was received by Mrs. N. S. Johnson.

A delicious salad plate was served the following: Mrs. Jno. Deramus, Mrs. H. M. Simpson, Mrs. Frank Callen, Mrs. Jno. Armstrong, Mrs. N. S. Johnson, Mrs. Grady Reynolds, Mrs. L. F. Gerald, Mrs. Jas. Wade, Mrs. Arthur Johnson and Mrs. C. T. Oliver of Tuscaloosa were tea guests.

ALABAMA STATE FAIR

Birmingham, Ala., Sept. 12.—This Dixie City will again be host to sanctioned championship automobile racing when an outstanding field of drivers from every section of the nation meet on the Fair Grounds oval at the Alabama State Fair, Birmingham, for two days on Tuesday, September 24, and Saturday, September 28th.

Appearance here of Barney Oldfield, former king of the Speedways, will add considerable color to the Birmingham races. Oldfield will give a demonstration of the driving skill which made him known as "America's Speeding." In addition, he will serve as an official.

Gus Schrader, winner of the 1934 dirt track championship has entered the races along with a number of other famous drivers.

Manager P. T. Strieder of the Alabama State Fair announces that the International Motor Contest Association, sanctioning body of all major dirt tracks in the country, has received an official sanction of the races here.

Charlie Green, of Detroit, is the latest of the interpid speedmen to file an entry for the Birmingham auto race classics scheduled for Tuesday, September 24, and Saturday, September 28, at the Alabama State Fair in Birmingham.

A consistent money-winner over the dirt tracks and speedways that flank Detroit, Indianapolis and Chicago, the Michigan speed star will come to Birmingham with an excellent background of accomplishments over the speed lanes.

While the Detroit throttle pusher has hardly gained a reputation as a sensational pilot, his consistent string of second and third place wins have placed him in the class of sure money winners and he is looked to figure prominently in the six-event speed program carded for the Alabama State Fair, September 24 and September 28th.

SINGING AT PRATTVILLE

A card to The Union-Banner from Mr. H. G. Carter, of Prattville, says: "Please extend to the singers of Chilton county an invitation to attend an all-day singing at the courthouse in Prattville the third Sunday in September, the 15th. No public dinner will be served, but some of us will have enough to divide. Come and bring all the singers you can."

MRS. MARY MIMS BITTEN BY MAD DOG LAST SUNDAY

Mrs. Mary Mims, wife of Ocie Mims, of Clanton Route 2, who lives in the Temple Community was bitten by a mad dog last Sunday afternoon.

The dog, a Collie, had been kept enclosed for sveral days, and when released, sprang at Mrs. Mims, who suffered several deep lacerations on her left wrist. Immediately after, the dog bit one of her own puppies, and then left the house, her jaws drooling in true "mad dog" fashion.

Mr. Mims killed the dog and its head was carried to Montgomery. A laboratory report read: "Positive for rabies".

Mrs. Mims will take the rabies treatment, under the direction of Dr. V. J. Gragg.

CONSTITUTION WEEK SET

Gov. Bibb Graves has issued a proclamation designating the week of September 15 as Constitution Week and September 17 as Constitution Day and urged that the anniversary of the completion and signing of the constitution of the United States be appropriately observed by the citizens of "the noble commonwealth." He said the completion and signing of the constitution "marks the greatest event in American history and the greatest political event in the world history."

Mr. Luther Bean, clerk in the Clanton postoffice, went to Woodlawn Hospital, Birmingham, last Tuesday, where he underwent an operation for the removal of his appendix.

MODERN BEAUTY SHOP MOVED

Among the occupants of the new Moore Building, which stands on the well-known Mullins Corner in Clanton, will be The Modern Beauty Shop, one of the city's newest business establishments.

Announcement was made this week by its operator, Mrs. W. C. Robinson, that the shop will be in its new location within the next few days, by this week-end at least, and with the installation of additional equipment, among which is the new Royal Patricia permanent waving machine, Mrs. Robinson declared that the service available at this establishment will be without superior.

Removing from the present location, west of the highway, the expert staff which has been responsible for the recognition won by The Modern Beauty Shoppe in so short a time will be retained, Mrs. Robinson stated. The new Royal Patricia permanent waving machine will be an innovation in beauty culture in the section, it is believed.

MISS BALDWIN AND MR. MACLAWRINE ARE MARRIED

The marriage of Miss Betty Sutton Baldwin, daughter of Mr .and Mrs. B. J. Baldwin, of Mountain Creek, to William S. MacLawrine, of New Orleans, formerly of Fitzpatrick, Ala., was beautifully solemnized on Saturday evening at 8 o'clock, at the family's home, Eidelweis.

The groom is the son of Mrs. Louis MacLawrine and the late Mr. MacLawrine.

The bride entered with her father by whom she was given in marriage. She wore a lovely gown of bridal satin made on princess lines. The neck line, "V" in front, was finished with a small Elizabethan collar in the back.

A reception followed the ceremony. The bride's table was laid with a rare lace, and was centered with the tiered wedding cake, embossed in white roses, and valley lilies. Garlanding the center piece were georgeous pink dahlias. Pink tapers in antique silver candelabra were end pieces on the table.

Wedding candies filled silver comports on the table, and the small cakes and molded ices were in bridal symbols.

We know how to wash, starch, and iron a shirt to please husbands. Laundered well and packed so they will keep well in dresser drawers adds life to shirts and collars.

Prominent Citizen Passed To Reward

W. H. Conway Died At Home At Jemison Monday Night

William Henry Conway, age 80 years, died Monday night at his home in Jemison, following an illness of weeks and declining health of many months. Death was not unexpected by the members of the family who had been constantly keeping vigil at the bedside.

An oustanding citizen of Chilton county, W. H. Conway had the distinction of being the first man in Alabama to serve as county farm agent. He held this position for Chilton county for ten years and established an unprecedented record in this line of work.

A leader for many years in the Republican Party in Chilton county, he was widely known. Always he was in the forefront of all movements for the progress and betterment of the county. His interest in political, governmental and educational activities was always keen.

In 1908, Mr. Conway was named county farm demonstration agent for Chilton county. Connected for many years with the Farmers' Alliance, a cooperative farm organization, his interest in the problems confronting the farmers of Chilton county was paramount.

It was about this time that through a cooperative movement, shared by the county and federal government, funds were secured for the employment of a local farm demonstration agent, and Mr. Conway was selected by popular choice. He served from 1908 to 1918. The value of protecting lands from erosion by the installation of proper terracing was one of the chief features of his program.

Inaugerating a "Live At Home" idea he increased the yield of foods and feeds in this county manifold. For the first time in the history of the county, corn was shipped to northern markets. At that time, little was known of cover crops, but Mr. Conway spent much effort teaching farmers the composition of various fertilizers and aiding them in selecting the types most suitable to their farms.

After the establishing of extension work and the employment of a county agent through this administration, he was an enthusiastic supporter of the program. He was also considered a leader in the Republican ranks for many years, serving at one time as county commissioner.

Surviving him are his widow; four sons, W. G. Calera, C. C., Dr. A. A. and E. F. Conway, all of Jemison; four daughters, Mrs. Susie Middlebrooks, Mrs. Nat Smith, Mrs. W. J. Vinzant, all of Jemison, and Mrs. Bertha Burnett, Titus; and two sisters, Mrs. John Simms, Greenville, and Mrs. Fannie McWhorter, Goodwater.

Funeral services were held Tuesday afternoon from the Union Grove Baptist church with the Rev. W. P. Lowery and Rev. R. M. Honeycutt officiating. Burial was in the church yard cemetery with Spigener Funeral Home in charge.

Additions Are Being Made To Elmore's

Will Occupy Second Floor of Building Across Alley To The South

In order to meet the demands of a steadily growing business, and to be prepared for a much larger growth in the future, a program of extensive additions and improvements is being perfected in the offices of the V. J. Elmore Stores, at the home office in Clanton.

For this purpose Mr. Elmore has leased the entire second floor of the Upchurch Building, except that portion occupied by Dr. J. E. Edgar. The Upchurch Building is directly at the rear of the Elmore's Store, and a connecting passage has been installed between the two buildings extending across the alley.

Arrangements of the office space provides one large room for the purchasing department; another for the accounting department, a smaller room for clerks and stenographers, and the front room will be the private office of Mr. V. J. Elmore.

In addition to the improvements of the office quarters, Mr. Elmore states that he is spending about $3,000 for installation of a steam heating plant that will serve both the present store and the new office quarters.

From the home office here Mr. Elmore directs the business of a chain of about fifteen five and ten cent stores in as many towns in Alabama. The growth of the Elmore business has been steady over a period of several years, and the many friends of Mr. Elmore are gratified at his success.

Clanton feels a proper measure of pride in the fact that our city is the home of the business of V. J. Elmore, which carries the name and fame of our city all over the State of Alabama.

Mrs. Starling Hand left this week to make her home in Wetumpka with her son, Mr. Cornelius Hand.

DR. DONOVAN NOW IN ARTHUR JOHNSON BLDG

Dr. H. T. Donovan has now moved his office into the Dr. Arthur Johnson building next to the city hall. His office hours are 9 to 11 a.m. and 2 to 5 p.m. Sundays by appointment only.

Complete equipment for the removal of tonsils has been installed, and Dr. Donovan expects to do an extenstive practice in this line of work. Miss Alma Allen will be Dr. Donovan's assistant.

CASES TRIED IN MAYOR'S COURT

A total of five cases were tried in Mayor's Court, before Mayor C. Fenn Jones Monday of this week. Two were for public drunkenness, who paid their fines and costs. One was for violating prohibition law, and was acquitted on account of lack of sufficient evidence. Two cases for disorderly conduct were tried and fines imposed in both cases.

FEAR THAT CITY PAVING STREET WILL HAVE TO BE AAANDONED

In conversation with Mayor C. Fenn Jones Tuesday of this week, he expressed likelihood that on account of the general hold-up on federal aid projects that the city paving of residential streets in Clanton could not be put through, as per the line-up previously launched.

However, Mr. Jones stated, that the architect in charge has sent a man to Washington in the interest of the project to make every effort to get the undertaking approved. Mayor Jones expects a verdict the latter part of this week.

ALL DAY SINGING AT JEMISON HIGH SCHOOL

There will be an all day singing at Jemison High School building Sunday September 22. Everybody has an invitation. Come and bring your 1935 song books and a well filled basket.—T. V. Mims.

F D R Rapped By Colonel Roosevelt

Says Sacred Oath Broken, Taken With Hand On Holy Bible

McClure, Pa.—In a direct attack, Col. Theodore Roosevelt Sunday labeled President Roosevelt a "faithless" public officer.

Addressing a rally of Snyder County Republicans, the New York party leader declared, in speaking personally of the president:

"You have been faithless. You have usurped the functions of Congress, hampered the freedom of the press, removed men from quasi-judicial bodies for political purposes and striven to concentrate in your hands dictatorial powers.

"You have urged Congress to pass laws that you knew were unconstitutional. You said in advocating one of your measures: 'I hope your committee will not permit doubts as to constitutionality, however reasonable, to block the suggested legislation.

"You have broken your sacred oath taken on the Bible.

"We, the American people, believe our constitution is our bulwark against dictatorship and mob rule. You will hear from us in 1936."

The issues in the '36 campaign, Col. Roosevelt said, "are far too grave for a division on mere party lines."

The present administration, he said, "when it came into power, decided it would remodel the United States from top to bottom. For the last two and one-half years a planned and sustained effort has been made to subvert entirely our theory of the government of the United States. . . . .

"The psychology of fear had spread through the nation."

Then, Col. Rosevelt said, "came the turning point. Then came the moment when American liberty reasserted itself through the NRA decision of the Supreme Court. Never since the Declaration of Independence has a body of Americans taken a more momentous stand."

SOVIET TROOPS ARE DROPPED FROM SKY IN WAR MANEUVER

Kiev, Sept. 15.—Soviet military strategists dropped an army from the sky Sunday as they practiced their latest war maneuvers—mass landing of fully equipped troops with parachutes.

The air was darkened with jumpers bearing rifles and sub-machine guns. They landed behind "enemy" lines, formed ranks quickly and bore down upon an opposing airdrome.

Whole regiments, landing from the skies, succeeded in capturing the airdrome as a base from which to advance overland to attack the main "enemy" forces from the rear, they were met by a quickly mobilized defense force which, with the aid of tanks and armored trains "annihilated" them.

The sky army dropped from squadrons of big transport airplanes, each of which carried 30 jumpers. Gripping their rifles and sub-machine guns, the soldiers leaped one after another, pulled their ripcords and floated slowly to land. Once on the ground they freed themselves from their parachutes, which they abandoned on the field.

The landing was effected in daylight and was caught by a battery of cameras. One of the pictures showed 358 jumpers in the air at once.

This Is Constitution Week

[EDITORIAL]

The reverence of the people of the United States is this week turned toward that document—the Constitution of the United States, of which Wm. Ewart Gladstone, said: "The American Constitution is, so far as I can see, the most wonderful work ever struck off at a given time by the brain and purpose of man." These were the identical words of that illustrious English statesman, published in 1878.

Last week The Union-Banner published the Constitution in full. Get up your last week's paper and read it. The preamble tells us that it was established "To form a more perfect Union, establish Justice, insure domestic Tranquility, provide for the common defense, promote the general Welfare, and secure our Blessings of Liberty to ourselves and our Posterity, do ordain and establish this CONSTITUTION for the United States of America."

The Constitution was signed by George Washington as "The President and Deputy from Virginia," and by other old-fashioned Americans such as Benjamin Franklin and Alexander Hamilton. It is the source of wisdom, and we should study and reverence such a document written and signed by such able, patriotic and God-fearing men.

The Constitution is not old-fashioned and rigid. It is applicable to twentieth century needs. It is elastic. It can be changed, but ouly carefully, slowly, with strict precautions. Read the Constitution again and see what changes, if any, could be made to better it. Decide if you would like to trade it off for something concocted from the half-baked ideas of college brain-trusters and contriving politicians.

Therefore, The Union-Banner today says with Daniel Webster one hundred years ago: "Let us stand by the Constitution as it is, and by our country as it is, united and entire; let it be a truth engraven on our hearts; let it be borne on the flag under which we rally in every exigency, that we have one country, one Constitution, one destiny."

WATER METERS IN CLANTON NOW WORKING 100 PER CENT

The report is released from the office of the Mayor of Clanton that the water meters in the city have all been put into working order, and an accurate check-up can be made on the water actually used in every home.

For the past few weeks about a hundred meters have been factory rebuilt or replaced with new ones, the cost amounting to about $250.00. But Mayor Jones likes to keep accurate track of what he is connected with, hence his work in straightening out the water meter business.

One meter in the city, Mr. Jones stated, had not been read for six years, but merely a minimum charge had been placed against that residence every month. There were a number of similar cases; but the old meters have been dug up and repaired or replaced with new ones. Br. Jones states that he is glad that now the water users of the city will get what is coming to them and that the city, likewise, will get pay for the water actually used.

FARMERS OF PIKE HOLD AAA PROTEST

Fill Troy Courthouse To Hear Speakers Score Cotton Allotment Plan

Troy, Ala., Sept. 14.—Pike County farmers filled the courtroom to capacity here today to hear speakers assail the Government's cotton control act as it is being administered. A temporary organization of the United Cotton Growers Association of Pike County was made permanent with M. Bibb Folmar, the temporary chairman, as president. J. Clint Wilks was elected secretary and J. J. Starling, treasurer.

State and local allotment boards, functioning under the Bankhead Act, were criticized, and leaders of the movement urged the cotton growers to "shower" Alabama senators and Congressman Lister Hill of the second congressional district with letters and telegrams, protesting the treatment they have received at the hands of these boards

One resolution adopted condemned in its entirety the Bankhead act as it is being administered. Another resolution by O. S. Austin and directed to the U. S. Department of Justice asked for an investigation of every cotton contract in Pike county. Several other resolutions expressing the sentiments of the farmers towards the AAA crop control program were passed. One of these put the farmers on record as favoring abandonment of the production plan unless a "fairer and more equitable adjustment can be made of allotments to farmers of Pike County."

Tim S. Faulk, of Geneva County, formerly of Pike, the principal speaker, denounced the whole "new deal" set-up and appealed to the farmers to urge their representatives in Congress "to be let alone." The speaker disapproved of the entire cotton control act as it is being administered.

The former State senator accused Mr. Roosevelt of efforts to create jobs paying good salaries for "yes men" who would be subject to his call.

The temporary organization was set-up at a meeting last Monday. Farmers from every part of the county turned out for Saturday's demonstration. They especially were protesting against the payment of tax on cotton. It was charged that allotments had not been made on a fair and impartial basis in this county.

Hugh Bradley, local attorney, was selected to act as legal adviser to members of the new association who wish to carry their protests beyond the county authorities.

A board of directors including all beat committeemen named at Monday's meeting, together with J. J. Starling, Hubert Sellers and John Dallas Howard, was named to work with the officers in their efforts to bring about an amicable solution of the cotton allotment situation.

C. C. H. S. DEFEATS VERBENA HIGH IN PRACTICE GAME

Football at C. C. H. S. opened with a victory in their first practice game with Verbena last Friday afternoon.

Chilton High warriors battled their way to a 19 to 0 decision notwithstanding the hot weather. Although the jinx day was on, the hard working Tigers convinced the visitors that they want to play football with spirit and agressiveness.

The defensive line work of Wilson, Mims and Captain Frank Hogan was outsanding and the hard-hitting, ever-alert Reynolds boys with Parrish and Gillispie showed they also enjoyed the privilege of playing football.

The outstanding beacons on defense were Robinson and Williamson, with Johnson, Marler and Williamson on offense showing great promise in their respective positions.

The Tiger schedule is almost complete and their lot will be a hard one. So give the boys your time and support and you will enjoy watching their growth.

WILDCAT VETERANS OF CHILTON COUNTY TO MEET SEPT. 22nd

The Wildcat Division Veterans of Chilton County will meet in County Reunion on Sunday, Sept. 22nd, at 2 o'clock p.m., New Exchange Hotel, in Clanton.

National and State officers of the Wildcat Veterans Association will attend and have interesting messages for the comrades.

Everyone of the over 100 Wildcat Veterans of the county are cordially invited.

South Bulwark Of Americanism

Huddleston Says Section Will Not Compromise With Defeatists

Birmingham, Ala., Sept. 13.—Democracy has not gone from America, but it is threatened, and those who would not surrender the heritage handed down by their fathers must fight to retain it, Congressman Geo. Huddleston said in an address before the Birmingham Real Estate Board, in Mary Bearden's Tearooom Thursday.

He said there are sections of the country whose background of old world philosophy may prevent them understanding what Americanism is, but not so here in the South, where the traditions of the founders of the country have been handed down from generation to generation.

He said there were defeatists during the World War, who would have compromised, and there are defeatists now in time of peace who have not the heart to carry on, who would surrender Democracy to fascism and communism.

He deprecated the talk of wealth distribution, saying he would have none of it, and he did not believe the people of America would stand for such a policy.

Mr. Huddleston said Birmingham survived a worse depression when she was much smaller and went on to a greater city, and that she will come through this one and march forward.

"No man or set of men," he said, "can prevent recovery, or prevent this country from going forward to the destiny carved out for her. Democracy will live. The men of the South will never surrender to a dictator; they will adjust themselves to conditions and carry on the fight for democracy.

The Board adopted resolutions in respect to the memory of W. B. Leedy, member of the board for many years.

Mr. Huddleston was introduced by John Dearborn, who presided in the absence of President Charles P. Marx.

R. W. TAYLOR BUYS OUT WADE GROCERY & MARKET

A recent business transaction of importance in Clanton occurred when Mr. R. W. Taylor, proprietor of Clanton Wholesale Grocery Co., bought out the business establishment known as Wade Grocery and Market.

In the future the place will be known as Taylor Grocery and Market, and it will continue business in the same location and along the same general lines as it has been operating in the past. Mr. Taylor announces that he will make some improvements however, which will add to the appearance and render it a still more desirable place to trade.

Mr. Floyd Irvin has been employed as manager of the store. Mr. Irvin comes to Clanton from Verbena, where for the past 8 years he has been with Gulledge Brothers. Mr. Irvin spent several years with the Deramus establishment in Verbena before going with Gulledge. He also worked two years in Birmingham as store manager for Southern Grocery Stores. His broad experience renders him thoroughly capable of handling this business here in Clanton.

Mr. Irvin, with his wife and two small sons, will make their home in Clanton as soon as they can find a suitable house to live in.

EXTRA MILLIONS FOR PERMANENT WORKS POSSIBLE

Public Housing Setup, With Allotment Reduced, May Get Assistance

Washington. — A possibility that President Roosevelt will ask the next Congress to appropriate more millions for permanent public works was discussed in informed circles Saturday.

Neither confirmation nor a denial that he had been assured the president would follow such a course could be obtained from Secretary Ickes, the public works administrator.

But other officials, striving to read between the lines of the presidential order setting aside the bulk of remaining work relief funds for temporary work under Harry L. Hopkins' jurisdiction, thought it highly probable Congress would be asked for more money to salvage some permanent PWA projects.

It was pointed out that, since the $4,000,000,000 works program was announced last winter, many communities had been encouraged to develop PWA projects which have little apparent chance to qualify for any of the $4,000,000,000.

One type of public works mentioned particularly as likely to be included in any new appropriation was public housing. The original work relief allotment for this purpose was cut $100,000,000 by the president Friday, this amount being made available instead for other PWA projects which can be started by Dec. 15.

To be financed out of the $1,250,000,000 remaining unallotted from the work relief fund, Mr. Roosevelt said at his press conference, permanent public works projects will have to meet these rules:

1. Contracts must be let on or before Dec. 15.
2. The projects must be completed in a year.
3. They must be in an area where there are sufficient persons on relief to provide the workers.
4. They must abide by the work relief requirement calling for wages at the average annual rate of $850 per man.

While these rules were regarded as giving Ickes an opportunity to qualify some of the public works which Hopkins previously had thrown out, officials felt a good many others which they considered desirable would be unable to meet them.

Favor for further unemployment relief appropriations was read by some observers into the president's recent assertion at Hyde Park that, even if industrial production were resumed immediately at the 1929 level, industrial eficiency has increased to a point where only 80 per cent of the 1929 man-power would be employed.

ROBERT TEEL'S GRAPES

For fear that Robert Teel has missed telling a few people in the county about his grape vine, the Union-Banner will publish it for the benefit of the remaining few.

Mr. Teel has already gathered a large crop of fine blue grapes from his vine, and now two more nice bunches have grown out and look as if they might mature and ripen before the season goes against them. Mr. Teel says that they are exceedingly fine grapes.

Mr. Teel is an expert at selling papers and buying cross ties, but he is a farmer as well. Besides his vineyard, he raises chickens and popcorn.

COUNTY SINGING CONVENTION HERE FIRST SUNDAY OCTOBER

Prof. O. L. DeVaughn, chairman of the Chilton County Singing Convention, announces that the fall session of the convention will meet at the courthouse the first Sunday in October and Saturday night before. The night session will begin at 7:30 o'clock and the Sunday session will begin at 10:00 o'clock. The help and co-operation of all the singers of the county is solicited.

A number of prominent out-of-the-county singers and quartets have been invited, and it is expected that this will be one of the best singings ever held in this part of the State. The night session this spring was exceptionlly good, and it is hoped that the same will be the case this time. Everybody remember the date and don't arrange to go any other place.

Farmers Rap AAA At Midway Meeting

Says Public Deceived By The Erroneous Reports of Farmers Approval

Midway, Ala., Sept. 13.—The Agricultural Adjustment Administration and its plan of administering the Bankhead Act and other crop control measures were denounced in strong terms recently by a group of Bullock county producers who held what some of them called an "indignation" meeting at Midway. Secretary of Agriculture Wallace also came in for censure by the protesting farmers who assembled Thursday night at the Midway High Schoool building.

From this meeting emerged the American Cotton Growers Association, organized, it was announced, primarily to protect the interests of the small cotton farmer of the South. A. Lewis, who was elected president of the Association, was in Montgomery Friday and announced that its goal was to enlist 20,000 cotton growers "standing shoulder to shoulder for a common cause by Jan. 1, next."

Similar mass meetings, Lewis said, were being planned in other counties. Unless the existing AAA program is altered so as to appease the protestants, he predicted a collapse of the crop control machinery and a wide rebellion among cotton producers.

Complaints against the manipulation and administration of the Bankhead Act this year were said to have been the chief target of the Bullock county farmers. Mr. Lewis said cotton growers of his section were keenly disappointed at the failure of the AAA to exempt the small farmer up to two bales, tax free. Unequal distribution of gin certificates was also charged up to the agricultural authorities at Washington.

"There were other complaints also that inspired the meeting with determination to act without delay upon what was thought to be the best plan to stop further taxation of the cotton grower," Mr. Lewis asserted.

According to Mr. Lewis, farmers who participated in the protest meeting favored continuance of cotton control by the Government, but he said they were bitterly opposed to paying any tax to have their cotton ginned. "Let the AAA reduce acreage as much as it desires, but it should not impose a heavy tax on cottoon growers who join the control program," he said.

Mr. Lewis added that it was the belief of the Midway meeting that "the desires and welfare of the farmers as a whole had been ignored by Mr. Wallace and that the AAA press agents had deceived the public by claiming Southern cotton producers were enthusiastically behind the Bankhead Act."

He further stated those attending the meeting were heartily in accord with the thought that a more practical and satisfactory method of crop control could be worked out for the coming year without heavy taxation.

State Legislature Over; Cost 300 M

Made 400 Laws; Revenue Problem Is Shelved Till 1936

The 1935 Legislature—termed by by Gov. Graves "the most cooperative in the State's history"—stands in adjournment after having written more than 400 new laws on the statute books at a cost of nearly $300,000 to the taxpayers.

The long session that began on Jan. 8 came to its close at 1:55 a.m. Saturday with a handful of tired officials, clerks and reporters on hand to watch the assembly pass into history after a hilarious night session of singing, funmaking and fond farewells.

Political observers were unanimous in their opinion that the chief characteristics of the Legislature were its willingness to carry out the 'new deal' program of the Governor, and its persistency in abiding by the "dry" victory in the Feb. 26 prohibition referendum.

A precedent was set as the Legislature called sine die adjournment at the end of the 49th legislative day, nstead of using the last and 50th day.

The close of the session showed total expenditures to date of $282,115, with a conservative estimate of $8,000 additional for expenditures to be incurred during the next six weeks as the clerks prepare the permanent journals.

These expenditures included $39,000 drawn as "expense" money by the law-makers under the Arnold act passed during the session which indirectly raised the pay of members from $4 to $6 daily, and withstood a test in Montgomery Circuit Court. The "long recess" from Feb. 8 to April 30 cost $28,889.

The Legislature witnessed the introduction of 1,518 bills of which more than 400 were enacted into law. The House dropped 1,084 bills into the hopper, while the Senate introduced 434.

Six proposed amendments to the State constitution were submitted to the voters for a special election on Dec. 17, all local in character except the Davis amendment to exempt from frachise tax the withdrawable shares of stock in building and loan bodies.

Mr. A. A. Jackson Writes of H. Long

Editor Union-Banner:

I notice one writer has asked the questions through the public press, What is the difference in Huey P. Long's dictatorship in Louisiana and President Roosevelt's dictatorship in the United States?

I think I have the answer and here it is: Huey P. Long was made dictator of Louisiana by the people of Louisiana and dictated and had laws passed that honored the poor classes in the state of Louisiana.

President Roosevelt was made dictator of the United States by the congress and senate of the United Staes and dictated and had laws passed that favored the well-to-do-classes and detrimental to the poor classes.

I think I have plenty of proof to back up the answer to the writers question.

I want to say the assassination of Huey P. Long is deplorable and should be denounced by the public press instead of being encouraged and making a hero of the assassinator.

Shame on some of the outstanding writers of the press who would make a hero and have a monument built at Washington to the honor and memory of an assassinator.—Respectfully A. A. Jackson, Lomax Ala.

UNIVERSITY NEWS

University, Ala., Sept. 18.—Registration of students at the University of Alabama was virtually completed Saturday, and scholastic work had begun in earnest for all students. Classes for freshmen began Friday; only a few late comers remained to be registered at the end of the week. Dormitories and fraternity houses were full, and sorority houses hummed with the preparations for the official "rush week" which began Saturday. A program for the orientation of new students to the campus was put on by the University Y. M. C. A., under the direction of Ted Ledeen, Robertsdale, president.

A number of new professors and instructors have been added to the faculty of the University of Alabama. Some come as replacements, while others will carry work created by needed expansion of departments. In the College of Arts and Sciences, 18 new faces will be seen.

Dr. Walter B. Jones, State Geologist, announces that the Alabama Geological Survey and the State Museum of Natural History and the departments of geology and biology at the University are all cooperating in sponsoring a number of exhibits for the Alabama State Fair in Birmingham, September 23-26.

The exhibits include one featuring a collection of fluorescent Alabama minerals, another including specimens of live reptiles to be found in Alabama, and a third containing samples of minerals found in the states natural resources. Members of the departments sponsoring the exhibits will be on hand to explain and make demonstrations.

ISABELLA HIGH SCHOOL

The Senior Class of Isabella High Veazy was elected class president; A. School met September 13, 1935, to elect their class officers. James D. Headley, vice president; Frances Sexton, secretary and treasurer; Arvella Scarbrough, class reporter; Arvilla Wright, Andrew Jones, Sara Calfee and Maxine Oden, social committee.

The class chose purple and gold for their class colors, carnation for the flower and "The Elevator to Success is not running; Take the Stairs," for their motto.

MR. AND MRS. JOE CALLOWAY PROUD PARENTS OF YOUNG SON

Mr. and Mrs. Joe Calloway are the proud parents of an eight and one-half pound boy, born last Saturday night at the Central Alabama Hospital The youngster has been named John Raymond. Both mother and baby are doing fine.

If you feel tired, run-down, nervous and out of sorts

—there is usually a definite reason for this

Now let's reason sensibly.

Don't try to get well in a day . . . this is asking too much of Nature. Remember, she has certain natural processes that just cannot be hurried.

But there is a certain scientific way you can assist by starting those digestive juices in the stomach to flowing more freely and at the same time supply a balanced mineral deficiency the body needs.

Therefore, if you are pale, tired and run-down . . . a frequent sign that your blood-cells are weak—then do try in the simple, easy way so many millions approve — by starting a course of S.S.S. Blood Tonic.

Much more could be said—a trial will thoroughly convince you that this way, in the absence of any organic trouble, will start you on the road of feeling like yourself again.

CENTER HILL NEWS

Just a few lines to let the folks know that we people at Center Hill are still alive. It has been some time since there has been any news from this place. The reason is I am just a sorry reporter.

We still have preaching here every second Sunday and Sunday night. Sunday school every Sunday at 9:30, except on preaching days, then it is Sunday school at 10 and preaching at 11. Prayer meeting every Wednesday night.

Rev. Paul Oden was with us last Wednesday night and showed his pictures and made a fine talk after prayer meeting. Wish we could have Bro. Oden with us every Wednesday night.

Some people from here attended the revival meeting at Mars Hill last week and reported a good meeting.

Several from this place attended the singing at Lomax Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Alton Cobb left Monday for Troy, Ala., where Alton will enter school. We are sorry to say that Miss Mildred Cobb, who was to accompany them was detained on account of being sick. We hope for her a speedy recovery. She will enter school just as soon as she is able to make the trip. We glory in these young folk's spunk and wish them success in all their undertakings.

Miss Pauline Lessley is recuperating at her home here after spending three weeks in Woodlawn Hospital, where she underwent a serious operation for appendicitis.

Several from here went to Mars Hill Sunday afternoon to the singing and reported a good singing. The best afternoon singing that had been for some time.

Mr. and Mrs. William Price are the proud parents of a fine boy that made his arrival here last Tuesday. They have named him John William.

Mr. and Mrs. Louis Gillespie and children of Clanton spent Tuesday with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. B. L. Cobb.

Mrs. Zula Johnson of Texas and Mississippi has been visiting her brother and family, Mr. and Mrs. W. I. Lessley.

Mrs. Laura Dawson and children of Calera spent part of last week with Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Childress.

Mr. and Mrs. Green Sims of Sylacauga visited his parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. N. Sims, Sunday.

Mrs. Mattie Hicks and children and Miss Lorene Gwenn of Oak Grove were the dinner guests of Mrs. John W. Collins, Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Golder Gothard spent Saturday night ith his sister, Mr. and Mrs. Frasier Cofer, at Mars Hill.

Miss Cozueca Barnes spent last week in Ensley and Birmingham.

Mrs. Dollie Rasberry of Union Springs spent the week with Mrs. Ola Barnes.

Ben Tom Haynes will have charge of prayer meeting next Wednesday night.

Mrs. Lake Thompson and Mrs. Austin Barnett visited Mrs. B. L. Cobb for a while Monday morning. Mrs. Nancy McGraw returned with them to spend a few days with her niece, Mrs. Barnett.

The ladies of this community gave a surprise miscellaneous shower Saturday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Joe Cobb for the pastor of our church, Rev. Maurice Hodgens, who will attend Howard College again this year. He received many gifts than can be used by him during the year. Those present were Mesdames Ola Barnes, Dollie Rasberry, Juanita Garner, Ruby Cobb, Ann Ray, Thelma Gothard, Lelia Cobb, Mattie Cobb, Ida Ray, Viva Corey, Misses Mable Cobb, Lorene Ray and Berney Dean Cobb. Several others sent gifts.

Mr. and Mrs. Willie Shaw and son Sidney, of Providence, were the Sunday afternoon guests of Mr. and Mrs. V. T. Cobb.

Leo David spent last week with his sister, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Corey.

We are sorry to say that Mrs. Mary Price, better known as Grandma Price is not doing so ell as we would like. We hope she will soon be better.

Mr. and Mrs. John W. Collins had quite a crowd of company Sunday.

Miss Sister Price is not improving any. She has been on the sick list for some time.

There won't be any singing here next Sunday afternoon, on account of the all day singing at Jemison.

LEGAL NOTICE

As provided by law, notice is hereby given that we have completed the construction of our Chilton County Project No. NRS 268-B (1935), and that same has been accepted by the State Highway Department subject to thirty days maintenance. GAY GLITTERING MIDWAY FOR ALABAMA STATE FAIR

On its second trip to Birmingham for the annual Alabama State Fair to be held at the State Fair Grounds from September 23 to 28, The Royal American Shows—the World's largest midway—are bringing a finer group of amusement equipment and a larger army of entertainers even than year ago when these attractions made their debut at the State Fair.

There are 24 high class tent theatres, 17 thrilling riding devices and nearly 1,000 performers, artists, managers and laborers with the attractions this season. The equipment is being transported on a special train of more than 40 double-length railroad cars which will arrive in Birmingham on Sunday, September 22nd in emple time to 'set up' for the opening of the State Fair on Monday, September 23rd.

Outstanding in the midway's attractions this season are Raynell and her gang, in "Carioca"; a large group of World's Fair freaks who were starred by the famous "Ripley's Odditorium" at a Century of Progress in Chicago; the "Streets of Paris", "Carver's Hippodrome" with its world famous high diving horses, the "World's Fair Lion Motordrome"; "Cotton Blossom Minstrels" and a number of others.

BIRTHDAY DINNER

The family of Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Watson gathered at his home last Sunday in celebration of his sixty-third birthday. All his family of seven children and their families were present except one daughter, Mrs. E. A. Baltzer, of Akron, Ohio.

They began to gather at the home about ten o'clock, enjoying a few hours before a bountiful dinner was served. Thanks being returned by Mr. Jim Dunlap of Selma. The table was beautifully arranged, centered with the birthday cake, holding sixty-three pink candles, surrounded by fern and pink rose buds.

Those of the children present were: Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Cox and family, Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Carroll and family, Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Watson and son, all of Clanton, R. V. Watson, of Akron, Ohio, Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Hampton and two sons, and Mr. Theron Watson of Maplesville.

The invited guests for dinner were: Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Kelley and children of Clanton, Dr. Vincent Ward of Clanton and Mr. Jim Dunlap of Selma.

There were four generations present. These being Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Watson, their daughter, Mrs. W. H. Carroll, granddaughter, Mrs. Alvire McCary, great granddaughter, LaFay McCary.

Between four and five o'clock the relatives began to leave, each one wishing Mr. Watson many more happy birthdays.

SACRED HARP SINGING HELD AT NEW HARMONY CHURCH

A large crowd enjoyed a splendid singing last Sunday at New Harmony church, Lomax. This event was a success throughout the day.

The opening song was sung by the chairman, M. C. Jackson, followed with prayer by Rev. Cox. The chairman appointed T. J. Miller, Virgil Crocker, and J. B. Williams as program committee for the day.

Those taking leading parts during the morning session were A. A. Jackson, J. W. Jones, M. C. Jackson, Joe Jackson, C. P. Ratliff of Perry County, W. L. Sanders, T. J. Miller, J. J. Lecroy of Montgomery, Miss Irene Williams of Tallassee and Mrs. Geo. Stewart of Perry County. One hour was given for lunch and there was plenty for all.

The chairman sang the opening song after noon hour, after which the convention went into a business session. Election of officers were: T. J. Miller chaiman, T. C. Jackson, vice-chairman, and Myrtle Jackson, secretary, for next year. Cane Creek church was granted our convention for next May.

Those directing during the afternoon session were: G. B. Cooper, J. B. Williams, of Tallassee, Mr. Akers of Sylacauga, Virgil Crocker of Perry County, J. M. Williams, Ellie Shirley, T. C. Jackson of Sylacauga and Mr. Spearman of Wilsonville.

There were lots and lots of class singers with us which were very good singers besides the fine directors we had from the several counties represented. The convention extends many thanks to our visiting singers from the different parts of the country. We wish to say to the lovers of the sacred music, we appreciated your presence also. It made us all feel good to see such a large crowd of people at New Harmony. The convention extends many thanks to the friends and neighbors in and around New Harmony community who were so good to help by bringing out dinner.—Myrtle Jackson, Secretary.

Prof. James Arfeltz Mullins, of near Cullman, was in these parts the first of this week, attending the bedside of his sister, Mrs. Joe Bone, of Fairview ommunity. Mrs. Bone, formerly Miss Carrie Mullins, is critically ill. Prof. Mullins returned to his home Tuesday afternoon.

All-Weather Flying Is The Aim Of Air Commerce Bureau

"Safety of all who fly is the primary concern of the Bureau of Air Commerce and recent developments of air navigation aids are rapidly eliminating the hazards of bad weather flying," says Chairman Gragg, of the Clanton Committee of the National Aeronautic Association. "The only weather that is dangerous to aircraft is just as dangerous to trains, boats and automobiles—the kind of weather that makes it impossible to see where you are going. Blind-flying equipment is making air transport the safest mode of travel."

The Federal Airways System now comprises 20,769 miles of lighted air routes which stretch into practically every section of the country. Along these routes are 1,841 lighted beacons operated by the Bureau of Air Commerce and spaced approximately 10 to 15 miles apart. At intervals of every 50 miles between airports, intermediate landing fields have been established on every airway route, clearly identified with green and white lights which mark runways and boundaries.

Another important contribution to the safety of air travel is the dissemination of weather reports. The bureau operates 12,739 miles of teletypewriter circuits and weather reports are sent over these circuits every hour. Forecasts for airway routes are furnished every four hours by the United States Weather Bureau which enables pilots to know weather conditions all along their route before taking off.

Recently, Bureau of Air Commerce pilots have successfully tested the new blind approach system and steps are now being taken to install this landing system at important air line terminals. More than 150 successful blind landings have been made during the past year.

Pilots flying on the Federal Airways System, under conditions of poor visability, are accurately guided on their courses by the radio-range beacons established and maintained by the Department of Commerce. The radio compass has been perfected as a means of giving pilots a definite indication of their position when flying under adverse visibility conditions, and also as a homing compass to guide them to their destination when flying through fog, regardless of whether they are flying between points located on or off the airways. Now, any radio station may be used as a guide voice simply by turning the knob of the radio to the station desired, and steering the plane in such a direction that the radio-homing-compass indicator needle clings to zero. The needle swings to left or right in accordance with the trend of the plane, the idea being to maintain the needle exactly on the zero mark.

Well, I read in a daily paper, one day this week, where the Russians are putting it over in a big way in flying. Dropping a whole army, equipped with rifles and machine guns, behind the lines of the enemy by flying over and jumping with parachutes. Those Russians are doing things. Authorities tell us they have eight million parachute jumpers while the United States have only around twenty thousand pilots and a handful of 'chute jumpers.

Well, maybe our folks will wake some day. Don't you imagine some of them would think they were "seeing things" if they could behold those Russians dropping from the sky by the thousands?

However, thinking about our local affairs here, I don't mind our loss of a good large field so much as I grieve about the loss of our county-wide community center. I believe the time will soon come when the government will provide good flying fields at reasonable distances apart. However, we may not be a lucky locality, and most probably will not because we have shown so little interest.

So far as the community house is concerned, I suppose it is lost forever; and also is the turning loose by the Federal Government, of an amount of probably fifty or seventy five thousand dollars to our folks needing it if we had asked for that much. But I, for one, am willing to help donate funds to buy the proposed land adjoining the field, for the purpose of furnishing a place for a fair ground for our farmers and an athletic field for our boys and girls, and grown ups as well. I, if I have to borrow it, will be one of twenty men to donate $100 each for theis purpose. That will buy the land and have some left. What say you, let's have a county-wide community center anyhow.—V. J. Gragg.

FORMER CHILTON COUNTY GIRL INJURED IN AUTOMOBILE WRECK

Montgomery, Ala., Sept., 15.—Miss Ruby Thomas, 211 May Street, a daughter of Police Officer R. M. Thomarm when she was crushed in the cab of the truck driven by Howell. She was taken to St. Margaret's Hospital where surgeons performed a skin-grafting operation. It was believed that she would be confined to the hospital for a week or longer.

Howell, according to officers Rutherford and Miller, who investigated the accident, received several severe lacerations on the arms and chest as well as numerous bruises. Miss Louise Pole, and Miss Lillian Howard the latter of 312 North Decatur Street, received severe bruises. How ell and Misses Poole and Howard were permitted to leave the hospital last night.

JAMES (A GREAT CHRISTIAN LEADER)

LESSON TEXT—Acts 15:1-21; James 1:1-17

GOLDEN TEXT—Blessed is the man that endureth temptation; for when he hath been approved, he shall receive the crown of life, which the Lord promised to them that love him.—James 1:12.

PRIMARY TOPIC—What James Tells Us to Do.

JUNIOR TOPIC—James' Motto for Juniors.

INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOPIC—How to Meet Life's Tests.

YOUNG PEOPLE AND ADULT TOPIC—The Message of James for Today

Three individuals by the name of James are mentioned in the New Testament. In all probability this James was the brother of the Lord and the writer of the Epistle which bears his name.

I. James Presiding at a Church Council (Acts 15:1-21).

1. The controversy in the church at Antioch (vv. 1-5). A most difficult problem confronted the church, threatening its disruption into a Jewish and Gentile division. It was not a question of the admission of the Gentiles into the church. That had been settled some years before when Peter received Cornelius and his household. The question now was, on what ground could they be received? Should Gentile believers be required to keep the Mosaic law as a condition of salvation? In order to settle the matter, Paul and Barnabas were sent to Jerusalem for the decision of the mother church.

II. The Deliberation of the Council (vv. 6-21).

1. Peter speaks (vv. 6-11). He argued that God had borne witness to the acceptance of the Gentiles by giving the Holy Spirit to them as unto the Jews. Since God had not put a difference, it would be folly for them to do so.

2. Paul and Barnabas rehearsed their experience (v. 12). They told how that God had set his seal of approval on the preaching of salvation by grace through faith.

3. The argument of James (vv. 14-21). He took the fact declared by Peter and showed how it harmonized with prophecy (Amos 9:11-15). He showed that the reception of the Gentiles was not in conflict, but in harmony with God's plan. He made clear God's plan as follows:

a. To take out from among the Gentiles a people for his name (v. 14). This is what is now being done by the calling out of the church.

b. After the church is completed, Israel will be converted and restored to their land by the Lord himself at his return (vv. 16, 17).

c. This will be followed by the conversion of the world through the agency of converted Israel (v. 17; cf. Rom 11:15). Having shown that there was no conflict with the Scriptures rightly divided, he gave his judgment that the Gentiles should not be troubled with the things that are Jewish, but should be warned against the perils of heathenism, such as meat offered to idols, fornication, and blood.

4. The decision (vv. 22-29). The mother church unanimously endorsed James' recommendation. They sent a letter stating the decision of the conference. This decision was duly delivered to the church at Antioch and was received with rejoicing.

II. James Giving Counsel to Christians (James 1:1-17).

1. Concerning trials (vv. 2-17).

a. The Christian's attitude toward them (vv. 2-4). They were to meet them joyfully because of their beneficial effects. Trials reveal fidelity, and by their effects develop the grace of patience.

b. The Christian's supreme need in these trials (vv. 5-8). It is wisdom to meet them intelligently. He makes clear that the source of this wisdom is in God and that the means of gaining it is asking in faith, and the very liberality of God is the guarantee that the needed supply will be provided.

c. The rich and the poor are sharers alike in affliction (vv. 9-11). Frequently the poor man thinks that the rich are free from testings, whereas they are usually more severely tested.

d. The blessed reward of enduring the testing (v. 12). The one who faithfully endures the temptation shall be awarded the crown of life.

e. The source of temptation (vv. 13-17). Temptations spring out of human desire. They do not come from God. Sin is not necessarily the desire, but the gratifying of it improperly. When one is thus led away by his natural desires, sin is conceived which brings forth death. In such case, sin is the gratification of a right desire in a wrong way.

Life

Life is not so complex if we do not persist in making it so. We need faith; we need to be brave, to keep the corners of the mouth turned up and not down. And after all it is only a step at a time.—Ralph Waldo Trine.

Affliction

Much of what a man tells you in the hour of affliction, in sudden anger, or in any outpouring of his heart, should be sacred. In his craving for sympathy he has spoken to you as to his own soul.

WORLD'S NEWEST BIG SHOW TO BE NEAR HERE

The world's largest circus, travelling on three trains of double length steel railroad cars, with 1,080 people, five herds of elephants, 812 manegerie animals and 500 horses, will exhibit in Montgtmery on Tuesday, September 24 and throughout this section, plans are perfected for the attendance of every man, woman and child—so it seems—at one of the performances.

Everybody wishes to see the Cole Bros.-Clyde Beatty Corcus this year. Recently returned from a triumphal five-year tour of Europe, and it is a foregone conclusion that the whole world's largest tent, seating 10,000 persons, will be filled to the last chair, afternoon and night. Six rings and stages and the hypodrome track, to say nothing of the vast maze of the earth's most foremost arsenic talent—400 acknowledged kings and queens of daring grace, skill and incredible ability. Fifty clowns will project ten times that number of mirth waves. Countless new foreign features and innovations new to America are introduced on the gigantic program of the World's Newest Big Show this year. Clyde Beatty's gigantic trained animal exhibition will be presented in the main performance.

Throughout circus day the three gigantic tented stables of the Cole Bros.-Clyde Beatty organization will be open to the public free of charge. Here lovers of fine horses may view at random hundreds of the world's most handsome thoroughbreds. Perfect specimens of almost every strain will be found in the big show's big free horse fair which also includes a congress of tiny shetland ponies to delight the little folks.

One of the largest, finest and most costly street parades will be seen at 11 o'clock a.m. Hundreds or horses, five herds of elephants and two caravans of camels from the great desert will be seen. In the picturespue line of march will be more than three score elaborately carved and gilded allegorical floats, tableau wagons and open dens and cages displaying the Clyde Beatty manegerie. Doors to the open at 1 and 7 p.m. The big shows start at 2 and 8 p.m. General admission seats are provided with comfortable foot rests.

COTTON REPORT

There were 1,224 bales of cotton, counting round as half bales, ginned in Chilton County, from the crop of 1935 prior to September 1, 1935, as compared to 85 bales ginned to September 1, 1934.

Get Rid of Malaria!
Banish Chills and Fever!

To conquer Malaria, you must do two things. (1) Destroy the infection in the blood. (2) Build up the blood to overcome the effects and to fortify against further attack. There is one medicine that does these two things and that is Grove's Tasteless Chill Tonic! The tasteless quinine in Grove's Tasteless Chill Tonic destroys the malarial infection in the blood while the iron builds up the blood. Thousands of people have conquered Malaria with the aid of Grove's Tasteless Chill Tonic. In addition to being a noted remedy for Malaria, it is also an excellent tonic of general use. Grove's Tasteless Chill Tonic is pleasant to take and contains nothing harmful. Even children like it and they can take it safely. For sale by all drug stores. Now two sizes—50c and $1. The $1 size contains 2½ times as much as the 50c size and gives you 25% more for your money.

PLEASANT GROVE
JEMISON

We are sorry that we can't make a good report about the sick folks, but it seems that they are still no better. We hope that they will soon show signs of recovery.

Among the visitors to Mr. George Spivey's home Sunday was his nephew, Mr. Leo Spivey of Thorsby and Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Davenport.

Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Marcus and little son, Aldene were the week end guests of her home folks, Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Wright.

Mrs. John Davenport and children were visitors of the Misses Champion and Mrs. Martha Wilson Sunday afternoon.

Mrs. W. E. Miskelley had as her guests her sister's little girls from Birmingham.

Mr. and Mrs. H. T. Hodgens spent Sunday with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Miskelley.

Miss Olis Davenport was the Sunday guest of the Misses Willie and Lovena Campbell.

Mr. and Mrs. Charley Spivey visited his brother and family Sunday afternoon, Mr. and Mrs. George Spivey.

Next Sunday is our regular preaching day, and also the day set apart for calling a pastor and electing officers for our church. May God help us to select wisely through prayer.

The Rev. Maurice Hodgens and Miss Lois Jones were in our community Sunday afternn. They visited Mrs. Martha Wilson and George Spivey and families.

Mr. W. Z. Hodges was called to the bedside of his father, near Roanoke, Ala., the first of this week. The elder Mr. Hodges, 85 years old, is said to be critically ill.

Mrs. Bernice Pennington of Birmingham is visiting her brother and sister, Harman Broadhead and Miss Cleo Broadhead, at West End, Clanton.

Glad To Get Our Breath, Mr. President

[AN EDITORIAL]

President Franklin D. Roosevelt announced last week that "This basic program . . . . . has reached substantial completion and a 'breathing spell' is here—very decidely so." This statement was made by the president in reply to a request by Roy W. Howard of the Scripps-Howard Newspapers that Mr. Roosevelt "Smoke out the sinister forces seeking to delude the public into believing that an orderly modernization of a system we want to preserve is revolution in disguise."

We all hope that our president will carry out this assurance that he makes to the business and industrial interests and all laboring people of the country. If the forces at Washington will stop their experimenting with business, cut down on the useless and extravagant spending of government money, begin to lay off some of the alphabetical bureaus and cut down on the number of those drawing from the public treasury, then we may really look for a return of confidence and a consequent immediate rise in business, the like of which we have not seen in recent years.

Business is ready to come out of the crack, and it will come out if the scare-crows are taken down and a clear horizon is shown them in the way of future possibilities.

It is indeed time for Mr. Roosevelt to take off the brakes—in fact that was about the only thing he could do; because the Supreme Court had already about taken all the steam out of the engines that were turned against the natural course business and industry over the land were trying to travel in. When the NRA was invalidated two months ago, business at once began to pick up, even in months that normally were supposed to be slack. The court decisions against the AAA considerably loosened its grip, and thus was let loose a very noticeable flow of increased business and confidence. About the only thing that stood in the way of real prosperity returning was word from the president that he and his forces would step aside and let it come in. Since he has very belatedly and reluctantly taken this step, we may look for things to pick up right along. As we said above, business is ready to come back—it has been waiting several months for a chance. Let's all hope that it is given this chance.

The thing that now stands like a mountain staring us in the face is the huge number of employees on the mushroom growth of the federal government. Since March, 1933, 165,000 men and women have been added to the federal payroll. making a total of about 730,000 civil employees drawing government checks. It will be a hard job for those in power to prune down this list. There will be lots of squawking all down the line. But it has got to be done. Will they do it before the election, or will politics predominate consistency and thus serve to hold back the on-flow of industrial progress which the people of the country are so ready for? It will be better for those even on the goverenment payroll—in the long run—if the pruning hook is used promiscuously. It will be infinitely better right now for the nation in general for the public payroll to be cut till it really hurts. If the rise in taxation towering in in front of us like an unsurmountable sierra is removed, or is made to noticeably diminish, then we will really have accomplished something toward stable recovery. That 25 per cent reduction which Mr. Roosevelt promised before he was elected, but which was superseded by a rise in expenses greater than we have ever experienced, would at this time be a great boost to conditions. But can they do it, and if they could, would they? The course would be difficult, but it would be wise—in fact it is expedient and even necessary. We have got to come to it before we recover very far.

Then, there is the mountain of unemployment, practically as large as it was when the present regime took charge in March, 1933. We had promises of substantial reductions, but we have not realized them. The reason unemployment is still a big factor is that private industry over the country, due to uncertainty and lack of confidence in the future, did not venture forward. The government has been experimenting too much.

While the patient was sick with typhoid fever the doctors and nurses at Washington decided that while they had him down and he was too weak to offer any resistance they would remove his tonsils, which were perfectly sound; take out his appendix, which had never bothered him; treat him for aenemia, which he had never had; graft on an extra leg and arm or two, and some other unnecessary and unheard-of appendages. So much doctoring was done until the patient could not recover, because he was not treated much for the typhoid, but was done everything else to imaginable with the hopes of making an entirely new creature out of him. It is indeed welcome news that the head doctor, Mr. Roosevelt, has consented (although he had to be forced to give in) to let the patient stand up once more and catch his breath. It is hoped that no more anaesthetics will be administered and that no more experiments will be made with the patient, but that nature will be permitted to take its course, thus letting him grow into a healthy being again.

We only want good old America as it really is and as it has been since our forefathers bled and died for it. We love its traditions and we want them perpetuated. Let's just cure its ills and let it be normal. That's all we want.

ALABAMA STATE FAIR

Birmingham, Ala., Sept. 12.—This Dixie City will again be host to sanctioned championship automobile racing when an outstanding field of drivers from every section of the nation meet on the Fair Grounds oval at the Alabama State Fair, Birmingham, for two days on Tuesday, September 24, and Saturday, September 28th.

Appearance here of Barney Oldfield, former king of the Speedways, will add considerable color to the Birmingham races. Oldfield will give a demonstration of the driving skill which made him known as "America's Speeding." In addition, he will serve as an official.

Gus Schrader, winner of the 1934 dirt track championship has entered the races along with a number of other famous drivers.

Manager P. T. Strieder of the Alabama State Fair announces that the International Motor Contest Association, sanctioning body of all major dirt tracks in the country, has received an official sanction of the races here.

Charlie Green, of Detroit, is the latest of the interpid speedmen to file an entry for the Birmingham auto race classics scheduled for Tuesday, September 24, and Saturday, September, 28, at the Alabama State Fair in Birmingham.

A consistent money-winner over the dirt tracks and speedways that flank Detroit, Indianapolis and Chicago, the Michigan speed star will come to Birmingham with an excellent background of accomplishments over the speed lanes.

While the Detroit throttle pusher has hardly gained a reputation as a sensational pilot, his consistent string of second and third place wins have placed him in the class of sure money winners and he is looked to figure prominently in the six-event speed program carded for the Alabama State Fair, September 24 and September 28th.

NATIONAL AFFAIRS

(By Frank P. Litschert

No matter what the final outcome of the dispute between Italy and Ethiopia happens to be, the quarrel has served to point to the world one undisputable fact that the people of the United States do not desire to be involved in any more European wars. Great Britain has taken the lead among the European powers in seeking to checkmate Italy, and since Britannia controls most of the world's channels by which international news is disseminated, there has been a great deal of anti-Italian propaganda. We have been told that the world is threatened with a brand of Roman imperialism and that something ought to be done to stop it.

Without going into the question of the merits of the quarrel, it is a noteworthy fact that American analysts of the situation have been disposed to look at it with a more detached state of mind than was the case back in World War days. A great many writers have very properly reminded us that any disagreement between Ethiopia and England on the one hand and Italy on the other, is none of our quarrel. They have pointed out that Great Britain is concerned not with the fate of the poor Abyssinians and their independence, but with the fact that complete Italian victory may threaten not only British influence in the region of Egypt, but even the all-important trade routes to India. If we interfere, therefore, it is said that this will not really be in the interests of African liberty but in the interest of British foreign trade. All of which is true, and we ought to understand that the fight, if one comes, will not be to make the world safe for democracy but make the Mediterranean and the Red Sea safe for commerce between Great Britain and the Indies. Because of this purely economic interest on the part of John Bull, and in view of the fact that he does not seem particularly anxious to go into any proposed mess unless Uncle Sam can be induced to do the "mopping up," a great many observers have expressed the belief that at the last moment Great Britain, through the friendly offices of France, will come to terms with Italians and that Haile Selassie will be left hanging on a limb, from which he can remove himself only by his own efforts.

Be that as it may, at this moment no man can guess the outcome of the affair, it remains undoubtedly true that the American people are failing to get excited over this proposal to help protect the interests of a European government in Africa or Asia. Another indication of this state of mind can be found in the recent neutrality resolution passed by Congress. This was undoubtedly, as the President stated, a laudable effort to keep us free of international quarrels. Whether it will be effective or not remains to be seen. It will take more than a resolution of the kind already passed by Congress to keep us out of trouble.

Keeping out of trouble isn't as easy as it looks. For example: the resolution, which provides that munitions cannot be shipped to the combative parties, fails to define munitions. And in time of war good and apparently beneficial commodities can be regarded as munitions. If in case of a general war, we should ship food and other apparently "innocent" commodities to a neutral nation, which in turn sold them to a combatant party —at higher prices of course—what would happen then? How would the other combatants take this, and what would we do about it?

Our greatest danger from a neutrality resolution like the one passed is that we may place too much confidence in it and wake up some morning to find ourselves in the middle of things. Keeping out of trouble requires a firm resolution to stay at home and mind our own business, and a skillful way of putting the resolution into effect. In case of a real European war it looks like the only way to do it would be to pile our exports on our own wharves and tell the buyers to come and take them at their own risk. And perhaps even that wouldn't work.

OUR BIRTHRIGHT FOR A MESS OF POTTAGE

We hear much talk of "sovereignty" these days—sovereignty and sovereign rights. What is sovereignty? It is the supreme power. In government it is the final, the highest authority for all laws and rules of conduct.

With Americans sovereignty is a birthright. It is the most valuable thing which belongs to us; our greatest and dearest treasure—the right of us, the people, to rule ourselves.

Sovereignty is not a birthright of all other people of the world. In England, for instance, sovereignty always has reposed in the king or queen. In other nations the sovereign power reposes in a small group or class which rules the other classes. A king obtained his sovereignty because he was strong enough to take it way gack in primitive days and he kept it only because he was powerful enough to hold it—by right of might.

Never since the beginning of time has there been a nation such as ours. We Americans have stood out among the nations of the earth and among the nations of all times as proof of the contention that man is capable of self-rule. We have been an example which has been cited as verification of the theory that individual liberty is a practical thing.

Of late doubts seem to be rising as to that proof. There seems to be a question as to whether we still stand out as a shining example—whether we are yet capable of self-government. There is a tendency toward permitting sovereignty to slip away from us and, once we relax our hold upon it, we are doomed—liberty will be gone.

Magnifying the importance of superficial things, we are disregarding fundamentals. We have selfishly become blinded to the beauty of the forest by the sight of the trees near at hand. By radical grants of our sovereign powers to special governing groups, by being lulled into a false security by the benefits of glowing promise of future benefits and gains, we are in danger of being tricked out of our priceless treasure by confidence men who seek to seek to sell us gold bricks.

We are, in short, on the verge of doing a very silly thing—of selling our birthright for a mess of pottage.—Rockford Register-Republic.

COST OF RELIEF

No one disputes the mounting of public expenditures and the increase in the federal public debt due to the carrying out of the so-called New Deal program planned to pull us out of the depression. One thing which continues to be uncertain, however, is just how much benefit is actually being accomplished. The prime purpose, of course, is to create employment and lessen necessary public relief. It is disconcerting then to note that the number of persons on relief now appears to be greater than it was two years ago in spite of tremendous expenditures made in an effort to remedy the situation. The state of Illinois may be cited as an example.

Arthur Evans, writing in the Chicago Tribune, stated recently that despite all efforts made at Washington toward "priming the pump" there are now more persons on relief in Illinois than two years ago and that the costs of relief, to the public, have greatly increased. Continuing Mr. Evans is quoted as saying:

"In Illinois, $304,471,062 has been spent on the dole of various types (as of Aug 15) in the three and a half years since establishment of the Illinois Emergency Relief Commission. Of this 75 millions has come from the state and 229 millions from the federal government in grants and loans.

"In August the dole had more than a million customers in Illinois. It fluctuates by months. This year one out of every seven or eight persons—men, women and children —in the state has been on the dole. Of those on relief about 40 per cent are children younger than 16 years.

"About 10½ millions a month has been spent on relief this year in Illinois, the expenditures for the first eight months of 1935 being $84,852,536. To indicate the dole's growth, expenditures for the fiscal year ended June 30, 1934, were $78,438,389.

"In August just ended $10,335,434 was spent.

"This money spending machine is operated by 9,045 employes, of whom 3,623 are case workers. The cost of administration over the three years and a half year period has been 10 per cent of the whole, a total of 23 million dollars to August. Two days ago there was an uprising at the commission rooms when Chairman John C. Martin discovered the average administration cost per relief case in swinging upward despite orders to retrench."

Increase in costs of administering relief is undoubtedly due in part to the increase in the price of food stuffs and materials necessary for clothing, etc. This increase in large measure to restriction of production and to the processing tax, important features of the New Deal. In a majority of instances, wages and incomes have not gone up commensurately with this increase in costs.

To get back to figures, as given by Mr. Evans: in January and February, 1933, just before the New Dealers came in, the number of resident families on relief in Illinois was considerably less than in the same months of 1935. By August, 1933, the number of families on relief had naturally decreased, due in part to seasonal influences and the number was 222,262. In August of this year the number was 274,000. The September, 1935, list of destitute families on relief is estimated at 275,000 as compared to 210,000 in September, 1933.

Thus both the number of families and the cost of relief do not make a favorable showing compared with the figures of the same period of two years ago. It is to be hoped that other states can furnish the country with a better picture. But can they? And what is the answer?

Even the ship of state can't look its best when it's all Hull and no bottom.—Philadelphia Sunday Dispatch.

It is said the New Dealers are planning to do something to help the nation's unemployed poets. This is a tough break for the newspapers. The more unemployed the poets are, the better the editors like it.

Farmers in the South who abandoned cotton land are said to have planted the acres in potatoes instead. Now something is going to be done about paying folks for not raising so many potatoes.

John Bull is willing to check Mussolini in Africa if it takes all of Uncle Sam's resources to do it.

It is reported in the newspapers after the Democratic National Convention of 1932 that Governor Al Smith greeted Candidate Roosevelt with the cordial salutation "hello, you old potato." After December, Al, in order to be regular, when he greets his friends will have to say "Hello, you old regimented potato."

MAN IN THE MOON

"WE SHALL OFFER—"

Shortly after the severe body blow administered to the national Republican cause in the election in 1932, it was easy to hear comments such as the following, which I heard: "The Republican Party is dead. There will never be another Republican Party." But more about that later.

A history of the progress of the Unnited States of America, especially so far as modern history is concerned, is very near a history of the doings and management of the nation by the Republican Party. Without qualification, we submit the progress of the United States of America as the greatest which appears upon the pages of the world's history. No one can point to a nation which has ever peopled any part of the face of the globe which grew and prospered so. There had to be a cause for this. It did not "just happen."

Consulting your history, you will find that for the most part, the welfare of the nation has been in the hands of officials who were members of the Republican Party and who believed in its principles of government, and who applied those principles in management of the nation's affairs.

We sincerely submit the record that Republican officials have made while in charge of affairs of national government, even including "those terrible Hoover days". This is the only period to which critics can point under the Republican regime when there was not a veritable horn of plenty poured out upon the land. And, if one wishes to be fair and unprejudiced, he may ask the honest and conscientious economist, no matter what his political affiliations, just what the cause of the depression was, and the reply will be "the backwash from the over-indulgence of the World War era." Your sincere Democrats will tell you that, and have made the assertion a number of times. At all other times, Republican administrations have been "eras of good will and plenty". Your history will prove that.

Again consult your history, regarding Democratic rule, and see what is to be found. It will not take long to find out all there is to know of Democratic rule, for their periods have been few and far between. I challenge any Democrat, from president to constable, to point to one single, solitary Democratic administration when hard times, economic fear and desolation have not stalked the land.

Not many people now living in this country can remember a Democratic administration before Cleveland's regime. Let us begin there, and trace to the present time the Democratic administrations. How many times have I heard "old timers" tell of the "terrible days with Cleveland when we scraped up the salty dirt in the smokehouses where the meat had dripped in years before, and strained water through it to get salt. Times were that tight." Wilson came, and America was plunged into the greatest conflict of modern times, and American people suffered—needlessly—for America should never had a part in this war. The Almighty Provider blessed America with a natural barrier on both sides—two mighty bodies of water— to help us keep back invaders. But our "officials" of the day saw fit to span those barriers, and the American eagle had his wings clipped to an extent that will not be overcome for years, possibly for centuries. We broke our own protective barriers and were punished.

After the "awful Hoover days" came Roosevelt with his New Deal and army of henchmen, and with him and then Americans lost that immortal liberty which was purchased with the blood of the first American patriots of the Revolutionary War for independence. Never in all America's history have Americans been treated as serfs and peons until the present regime came into power. As free men, Americans had no idea what they were voting for in 1932. Indeed, they did not vote for what they received. The platform for which they voted hinted not one word of what was to come. Instead, it set out sane, sensible business plans for the return of the country to normalcy.

Americans voted for a more strict watch on the national purse. They voted for a stoppage of national deficits, and for budget balancing. The Democratic platform of 1932 promised it. That's what our voters wanted. That's what they voted for. And what did they get?

Budgets are more out of joint now than ever in history. The national debt is the greatest in history, and mounting higher every minute. Deficits are greater every year. Bounties are paid for non-production, and—believe it or not—the money with which those bounties are paid, will be paid and is being paid with some of your own tax money, no matter if you are farmer, office man, merchant or factory worker. Somebody has to pay all debts, and don't forget it, you'll pay your share.

We will balance books, so far as administration are concerned, Republican against Democratic, and we are not the least little bit afraid of which side the verdict will fall to. It has been said that "history repeats itself", and we are willing to leave it to your own good judgment whether or not the present set of Democratic officials have kept up the characteristic Democratic habit of raising the devil with things in general, if you will pardon the expression.

From time to time I am asked what the Republicans expect to offer farmers in the place of the AAA and its complex ramifications. When they ask that, they think they have put up a poser that is hard to answer. No easier question could be placed. One able economist, and by the way, a Democrat, has said that "the government could better afford to buy every lock of cotton raised in the country and do its own selling and exporting, than to leave the management of farmers' affairs in the hands of half-baked theorists who don't know the first thing about the problems of farmers and don't particularly give a tinker's damn what becomes of them."

As has been pointed out so many times, the trouble with the AAA is not so much in principle as in practice. In plain words, the AAA could be a boon to farmers instead of a handicap. That handicap is the method of administration of the farmers' business. In the first place, officials are in charge of farm affairs at Washington who wouldn't know a cotton boll from a chestnut burr. Their immediate helpers are in the same boat, and so on down the line to local managers, who for the most part are looking out for No. 1, and their brother farmers can get what they can.

When the Republicans present their plan to farmers next year it will be far different from the present one. According to advance word coming from Republican headquarters, the plan may call for restriction of production in some degree but will be far more lenient than the present. In addition, the plan will offer a system whereby a more friendly understanding with world buying nations will be effected, thereby enlarging our foreign market, with an agreement that when such market is enlarged, production restrictions will be removed entirely. Wanton destruction of produce and livestock will be stopped entirely. At the present time meat raisers are complaining about the prices they are getting, meat consumers are starting boycott campaigns against high meat prices, and we are importing millions of pounds of meat every month.

Republicans contend that the money the government is spending to pay administrators, supervisors, etc., all the way on down to office boys, in the administration of the AAA had better be spent in subsidies to producers, thus allowing consumers a lower purchasing price, and equalizing the price cycle from producer to consumer.

What is more absured than rocketing meat prices to the consumer, while the producer is still getting a bare living price for his raw produce? And even if your cotton price was much better than it is, what good is that if you have little or no cotton to sell?

In short, Republicans still believe that American farmers, business men and manufacurers have sense enough to run their own business, and we believe in taking the government's nose out of it. The Republicans will offer a plan whereby every man is his own master, to do as he will with his own, while the government looks after the more intricate diplomatic affairs of world trade, that the American working man may have a place to sell his goods when they are produced. The job of the nation's people is to produce goods, and the government's job is to provide good government, which includes looking after the best interest of all the people. That setup always has kept America on the high road of success, and we still believe it will do it again.—Man in the Moon.

A POTATO "TEA PARTY"

Regimented potatoes, it is being indicated already, will not be an exactly popular article of diet this fall. This will not be the fault of the potatoes, however, but of the regimentation. Potato growers cannot sell more than a few spuds without putting them in government containers bearing potato stamps or an exemption from stamps. But some potato growers, who are supposedly to be helped by this procedure, are not exactly happy about it. For example, according to a recent International News dispatch from Lambertville, New Jersey, in a famous potato region, farmers have banded themselves together in an effort to defy the new potato control law. Thirty-four of them are reported to have drawn up a resolution to send to Washington stating that they intend to produce such potatoes as they wish and to dispose of them as they deem proper.

The New Dealers put over the potato law in what they termed was an effort to help the potato grower, after they had themselves made a surplus possible through cutting down cotton acreage. Some of the idle cotton land was used to grow potatoes. The result will be regimented potato growers, and a higher price for regimented potatoes to the consumer. As potatoes are now about the only reasonablely priced common article of diet, the new regimentation will be no more popular with the housewives than with the growers, who do not want to reduce their sales and submit to potato control.

The defi of the potato farmers in New Jersey is likened by some to the Boston Tea Party of old. But the regimentation of potato growers could easily be likened to something much more modern—not in the United States but in Russia where all farm crops are regimented and government controlled.

Violation of the potato law carries a penalty of a fine up to $1,000 for the first offense and fine and imprisonment for the second. Because of this, defying the regimenters is going to take some real courage if it is really carried out. But at any rate the guilty potato bootleggers can't be sent to "Siberia."

MORE TROUBLE FOR AAA

Kansas girls paying their way through college by driving wheat trucks to market, thus releasing young men for work in the fields, portend an aggravation of AAA's problem or curtailment, or of increased production, as the case may be this season.

Suppose the girls should organize sufficient voting strength to convince their congressmen that they should be paid a bonus for not hauling wheat to market. Imagine the new complications involved.

According to statistics released by the Automobile Club of New York, 24,933,403 automobiles were listed in the United States during 1934. The total of deferred payments would read something like the national debt.

It won't be long now until they will be wrapping potatoes in tissue paper until they look like select California oranges.

We are informed that only the good old Irish potato is to be regimented and taxed. The Southern sweet potato will remain as unnoticed and plebian as it was before. From now on its growers' slogan ought to be "I yam what I yam."

Well, even if you didn't like Huey Long's eleventh hour filibuster you have to admit he saved the government $110,000,000, which is more than anybody else has saved Uncle Sam in a long time.

HAPPENINGS AFFECT DINNER PAILS

During the past two years industry has grown increasingly afraid of the legislative future. As stone after stone in the Administration's "reform" structure was laid, business men wondered when, if ever, it would be completed—and when they would be able to go about their affairs without a cloud of new and unknown legal restrictions hanging over them. The adjournment of the last Congress was welcomed by industry, of course—but industrial leaders, faced with a new session only four months away, had to at once begin speculating on what was coming next.

It was this view that Roy Howard, publisher of the Scripps-Howard newspaper chain, expressed in his letter to the President.

DEMOCRACY ASSERTS ITSELF

When a paper like the Atlanta Constitution, which described itself as long ardently faithful to the administration, admits it is beginning "to crawl out from under the covers," a situation possibly more menacing to administeration interests is indicated than the long open hostility of Governor Talmadge.

Georgia is aroused by the attempted dictation of Secretary Wallace and some of his subordinates in the federal roads bureau of the state's highway program and over the Wallace ultimatum that the State Highway Board must be reorganized to suit the department. Mr. Wallace scolds the state because a chief highway engineer who was a federal favorite was dismissed and personnel reduced.

The federal roads bureau insists that the state place on its program a $250,000 bridge over the Oconee Creek in the district of Representative Vinson, an administration favorite. There may be no politics in this sort of thing, but it would be hard to convince Georgia. The state officials say that the bridge would require the construction, in a section where all traffic needs are already met, of a $1,200,000 road to give access to the bridge.

The Constitution suggests that if Mr. Wallace is to have his way the state might as well recall its representatives from Washington and turn over the administration of the state to the secretary and those who agree with him. Pennsylvania knows something about attempted dictation by chesty administration subordinates. This time the pain in the neck is Georgia's—Philadelphia Bulletin.

FUNCTION OF GOVERNMENT

No human government is all-powerful. It can do some things well but there are limits beyond which it cannot go without an ultimate autocracy sacrificing the free initiative of the people, according to Dr. Raymond A. Withey, pastor of the First M. E. Church of Holyoke, Mass., who writes on the "Function of Government," in the current issue of the National Republic. In part, Dr. Withey says:

"To many people the government of the nation is an omnipotent power, endowed with such supernatural faculties as to enable it to accomplish almost anything that may be desired. If any especially difficult task needs to be done, they will say: 'Let the government do it.' If any evil seems to be prevalent, they will cry, "There ought to be a law.' Politicians, always seeking for votes, will promise almost anything to get elected, and it has thus come about that governments in general and democracies and republics in particular, are now so loaded down with a burdensome amount of legislation that they are staggering beneath the load. As Herbert Spencer has well said: 'Everyone knows that credulous citizens with a faith in legislation which endless disappointments fail to diminish, have trusted implicity in these law-devised securities, and, not exercising their own judgments, have been led into ruinous undertakings.'

"A government has its proper functions. It can do some things well. There are other things that it cannot do at all. And until men have learned what are the proper duties of government, the pathway of history will continue to be strewn with the wreckage of nations that have fallen because of the attempt to do things beyond their power—the attempt to sail seas too rough for the ship of state.

"The nations of men, like the animate creatures of creation, are subject to that powerful law of 'the survival of the fittest'. and unless a government learns what are its proper functions it shall prove as unfit to survive as shall the eye that persists in continuing to view unshaded the bright sun at noonday.

"A government may prove itself unfit to survive by its failure to do its duty. If it does not protect the rights of its citizens, if it does not give its people the sense of security and confidence, and if it does not prove able to enforce its laws the government shall be cast aside and the power given to another system. By the sins of omission a government may become unfit to rule.

"At the present time governments are in greater danger of attempting too much rather than too little. The many voices clamoring for relief, and the politician seeking to win the favor of these unthinking voters, have caused governments to undertake so much that they have no time or strength to do anything well. They become so troubled about so many things that they have forgotten the few things needful.

"To carry out so many activities, vast bureaus must be established, and many managers employed. Not only does business feel this cold, clammy hand of bureaucracy clutching at its throat, but the government finds itself hamstrung by the very forces it has created. people. But even if only the most capable If the heads of the bureaus happen to be venal, the results are graft and a pillage of the are selected to head important posts the results are not good, for even then the common people are shut away from popular government."

"Social security?" The office-holders, the bureaucrats, have it. In the depth of depression and the height of emergency "Democratic" government hires more people at higher salaries than at any time before in the history of the country.—Charleston News and Courier.

Central Alabama Baseball Tourney

Clanton And Lay Dam Won Championship In Two Brackets

Chilton-Shelby Series Won By Chilton All-Stars

All Statistics Given On This Page

TOURNAMENT SERIES

The Second Annual Central Alabama Baseball Tournament, which began August 12 and ended August 26, was much better than last year's tournament. Baseball of all kinds was included in the more than 20 games required to decide the champions in each bracket.

Out of 16 teams invited to the tournament, 12 entered. There were two brackets. Teams entered in the first bracket were Maplesville, Autaugaville, Plantersville, Randolph, Independence and Clanton, with Clanton finally coming through as champions. In the second bracket, Isabella, Billingsley, Union Grove, Cane Creek, American Legion and Lay Dam were entered, with Lay Dam nosing out for the championship in their bracket. A prize of $50 was paid to champions in each bracket.

Weather was bad during the latter part of the first week of play, which necessitated postponement of a few games. One game was called on account of rain after 4 innings, and went for no game. Another was protested, with the Tournament Board of Control, consisting of John Armstrong, John M. Robinson, and J. Watts Moore, allowing the protest, and this game was thrown out to be played over. One other game was protested, but the protest was not granted.

On Monday, August 12, Autaugaville opened the fireworks with Randolph, Autaugaville taking the game 6 to 4, Powell beating "Pop" Lightsey on the mound. The second game brought a thrilling uphill fight by the Cane Creek club, and a sparkling 9th inning rally in which they scored 4 runs, to beat Isabella 7 to 6.

Tuesday—Plantersville beat Maplesville 7 to 4, and Union Grove beat Lay Dam 8 to 7.

Wednesday—Clanton took the measure of the Independence club in the first one-sided game so far, winning 12 to 3, with 6 bobbles by the Independence boys helping somewhat. American Legion beat Billingsley 7 to 4, although outhit 9 to 8, with 6 Billingsley errors marring the game.

Thursday — Plantersville beat Autaugaville 10 to 7, in the first game of the second play round. The second game of the afternoon was a thriller, Union Grove beating Cane Creek 1 to 0 in the best game played in the tournament so far.

Friday—Randolph defeated Maplesville 4 to 2, putting the latter out of the tournament. The game was played on a wet, soggy field. This game was protested, but the protest was not allowed. The second game, between Lay Dam and Isabella, was postponed on account of wet grounds, and scheduled for Maplesville on the following Sunday. Here it was rained out again, and was finally played on Tuesday morning following, Lay Dam putting Isabella out with an easy 17 to 6 victory.

Saturday—Clanton beat Plantersville 7 to 1 behind the 4-hit pitching of Golson, Clanton getting to R. Thomas for 14 safeties. The second game saw Union Grove hand American Legion a 9 to 6 drubbing, and as the game closed a free-for-all fight among players, umpires and spectators was narrowly averted.

Tuesday — Monday's scheduled games were both rained out, and the schedule was moved up one day. Independence put Autaugaville out with their 11 to 3 victory, and Cane Creek came from behind again to put Billingsley out, 6 to 5, in another thriller which went for 11 innings.

Wednesday—Plantersville put Randolph out 4 to 3, in a 10-inning fray. The Lay Dam-American Legion game was protested and the protest allowed, to be played later.

Thursday—Clanton put Independence out with a 12 to 2 drubbing, Culver beating Longcrier. The protested Lay Dam-American Legion game was played over, with the agreement that play would be stopped promptly at 6:00 o'clock. When time was called at the end of the 5th inning, the count was knotted, 2 and 2, and again the game was called for later play.

Friday—Clanton beat Plantersville 11 to 5 to win the championship in the first bracket. Cane Creek and Union Grove were tied at 4-all after 10 innings, and another play-off was ordered.

Saturday — Cane Creek took the play-off game from Union Grove 8 to 7, with another stirring 8th inning rally which netted 4 runs. The postponed Lay Dam-American Legion game was finally won by Lay Dam, 9 to 3, putting American Legion out.

Monday—Three teams remained in the second bracket, although all had lost a game each. In the day's first game Lay Dam beat Cane Creek 7 to 2, and then came back to beat Union Grove 8 to 7 in a comedy of errors, the Union Grove making 10 costly bobbles. This gave Lay Dam the championship in the second bracket.

ALL-STAR SERIES

Sunday, Aug. 25—A poll of tournament fans had ben taken to select two managers from the 12 entered in the tournament. These managers were to pick two teams of 16 players each for an All-Star series, best 2 games out of 3. The managers picked were M. W. Marcus of Clanton and F. D. Nix of Maplesville. The first two games were scheduled for this day at Maplesville. The team managed by Marcus was known as the Blues, and Mr. Nix's team were known as the Reds. All players were picked from the 196 players entered in the tournament. The Reds won both ends of the Sunday double-header, and put an end to that.

SHELBY-CHILTON SERIES

Tuesday—Arrangements having been made with Mr. John Davis of the Shelby County League, a series of best 4 of 7 games began at Clanton on this day. The teams were made up of 20 players from each county, Mr. Davis's team being picked from teams representing the 6 Shelby County towns making up the Shelby County League. The Chilton team was picked from the 32 players on the Chilton All-Stars teams, and were managed jointly by Mr. Marcus and Mr. Nix. The first game of this series went to Chilton by a 7 to 2 score. Wednesday's game in Clanton went to the Shelby team, 10 to 2.

Chilton went to Columbiana for the third tilt, winning from Shelby 4 to 3 in a hot 10-inning game. The third and fourth games were played as a Sunday double-header at Maplesville on Sept. 1, Shelby winning both games.

On Monday following, Chilton tied the series game count up at 3-all in a hot game at Clanton, winning 5 to 4.

The 7th and deciding game of the series was scheduled for Maplesville on Sunday, Sept. 8, Chilton taking this game 12 to 3, and the series 4 to 3.

REFUGE NEWS

We were delighted to have so many visitors with us at the servies Saturday and Sunday, and we were especially glad to have Bro. Paul Oden to preach for us Sunday morning.

Brother M. Lockhart preached his farewell sermon Sunday night. His subject was "Walking With God." We are all very sorry to have Bro. Lockhart to leave us. He has been mighty faithful in his work with us for the last four years. We hope we are not losing him, as a citizen of our community and a member of our church. We shall see him quite often.

Brother Lockhart has been a member of this community for most of his life. He first joined the church here and it was here that he beban his ministerial work. He in turn has been Sunday school teacher, Sunday school Superintendent, church clerk and pastor. We shall miss him as our pastor, and we trust that he will succeed in his work elsewhere. We invite him back to preach for us any time he can come.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Lumpkin, from Providence, beat 16, were vsitors at church Sunday and they spent Sunday afternoon with Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Johnson.

Mr. and Mrs. Lester Powell, of Walnut Creek, also visited church Sunday.

Brother M. Lockhart and family were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Easterling Sunday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. A. N. Mims and family visited Mr. Mims' mother, Mrs. Nancy Mims, Sunday.

There is to be a reunion at the home of Mrs. Nancy Mims on the first Saturday in Octber, to celebrate her birthday. She wants all of her children, grand children and great grand childrn to be present, and as many other friends and relatives as possible.

While taking a ride Saturday afternoon, Messrs. R. N. Connell and J. R. Connell ran across a large rattlesnake in the road. After killing him they found that he was about four and one-half feet long, and had 11 rattles and a button. All that saw him agreed that he was the biggest one that had been killed around here for some time.

IN MEMORY

At the passing of Mr. William James Gafford, better known as Uncle Bill, Autauga, County has lost one of its best citizens. His cheerful spirit, his friendly disposition won the esteem of all who knew him. Mr. Gafford was born June 29, 1858, and departed this life September 11, 1935.

In the passing of this good man his church, community, friends, relatives and his family have suffered an irreparable loss. His devotion and loyalty to his family is worthy of our emulation. We mourn his passing, but look with hope and joy to that home to which his spirit has gone.

Funeral was held from Big Springs church Thursday with Rev. Bentley officiating. Interment in same church cemetery with Martin in charge.—A Friend.

Mrs. Prather, of Rockford, is spending a few days with her son and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. George McCan.

Thorsby Institute News

Thorsby Institute had its opening exercises Wednesday morning, September 11. Miss Jenkins, principal, presided. Rev. Lawrence Stanley, pastor of the Congregational church, read the scripture and offered prayer. Miss Katheryn Foss, who is the music teacher at the Institute this year, played a piano solo entitled "Vale Lricque" by Poldine. Miss Alice Polk, a graduate of the Institute, gave a reading. Both of these numbers were very much enjoyed. Rev. J. W. Jones gave the address of welcome. Miss Mattingley of Lexington, Ky., who takes Miss McKee's place this year as history teacher, made a few remarks. Mr. Sutlive, who has been a science teacher at Thorsby Institute for several years, spoke for a few minutes on Biology and its relation to life. The other teachers were introduced, after which Mr. Maddox, registrar, gave one of his interesting talks. Rev. E. W. Butler, the treasurer, made a few remarks, after which the Alma Mater was sung. The benediction offered by Mr. Butler, closed the exercises. After a short recess the students reassembled to hear a few rules and regulations.

Friday night the Ladies Guild, of which Mrs. A. Phalin, is president, gave an informal reception to the faculty, students and relatives, alumni and friends of the school. It was one of the most enjoyable evenings the guild has ever given. There was a most interesting program interspersed with games.

Saturday afternoon the faculty and boarding students had a picnic supper on the lawn of the Sutlive's home. Games were played until it was time to return to the Institute for study hall. A very enjoyable time was had.

Mary Maude Knight, who has been living with the Sutlives, became a boarding student at the Institute on Monday of this week.

We wish to thank very much the Ladies Guild for doing so much canning for the school.

The first meeting of the Literary Society will be on October 5th. The program will be given under the direction of Miss Klingelhoefer.

Health of our communiity is some better we are glad to say.

Our Sunday school and B. Y. P. U. are still moving along nicely. We had a large crowd out Saturday night, Sunday and Sunday night to enjoy the real true gospel we had delivered to us by our pastor, Rev. Wm. E. Robinson. We were glad to have the many visitors to enjoy these services with us and we would say to very body that you always have a hearty welcome at Pleasant Hill.

Mr. and Mrs. P. M. Cleckler had as their guests Sunday Mr. and Mrs. Howard Robinson.

Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Champion of Pleasant Grove community, Miss Lurlene Blow spent a while Sunday with Miss Pearlene Martin.

Rev. and Mrs. Wm. E. Robinson were the Sunday dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. O. L. Martin and reported an enjoyable time.

Mr. and Mrs. S. J. Twilley and children are visiting relatives over in Dallas, Go.

Everybody remember our Sunday School every Sunday and come and be with us. You are always welcome.

Singing on Sunday Evening

There were quite a few enjoyed the singing at Pleasant Hill Sunday afternoon. There wasn't so many out, but those who were there seemed to enjoy it. Directors for the afternoon were P. M. Cleckler, A. J. Blow, J. H Driver, Harry Parker, pianists were Miss Jesse Cleckler, Mrs. O. L. Martin and Mrs. Henry Mims.

Don't forget our singing every third Sunday afternoon.

UNITY ASSOCIATION SUNDAY SCHOOL CONVENTION TO BE HELD AT SAMARIA SEPT. 25

The annual Sunday school convention for Unity association will be held at Samaria church on Wednesday of next week. Letters have been mailed to each superintendent in the association requesting that each Sunday school send representatives.

A real treat is in store for those who attend, as Rev. Earl Trent and Mr. and Mrs. Davis Cooper will all appear on the program. All superintendents are urged to present the problems of their respective Sunday schools. These problems are to be discussed and attempts will be made to find solutions to most of them.

Samaria church is located one and one-half milessouth-west of Clanton. All who attend are urged to bring lunch.

The county-wide Sunday School clinic of the Chilton County Association will meet at Friendship church Tuesday, September 24th, beginning at 9 o'clock and running all day. Three state speakers are listed on the program.

All Sunday schools in the Chilton county association are supposed to be represented.—H. D. Durbin, Chairman.

County Farm Agent's Notes

Compiled by J. W. Fant, County Farm Demonstration Agent for Chilton County

NEW POULTRY HOUSE COST LESS THAN $5.00

Auburn, Ala.—By using pine poles, croker sacks and a cement mixture, farmers can construct a poultry house for less than $5.

"If this new house withstands the weather and protects the poultry over a long period as it has during the past six months it will reolutionize the poultry industry and place it in reach of every small farm-home owner, share-cropper, and backyard poultryman," reported officials of the poultry department of the Alabama Polytechnic Institute, in announcing their new finding.

The framework of the new type poultry house consists of small skinned pine poles, while the sides and roof are made of croker sacks stretched tightly over the framing and painted with three coats of a cement mixture to which is added lime, salt and alum. When properly applied the mixture makes a house solidly substantial and absolutely weatherproof.

Detailed information, drawings, blue prints and pictures of the house may be secured by writing the Poultry Department at Auburn.

TWO NEW SOIL PROJECTS APPROVED FOR ALABAMA

Auburn, Ala.—Two new soil erosion demonstration projects have been approved in two Alabama Counties—Butler and Calhoun. These are in addition to the present project in Tallaposa and Chambers Counties.

An allotment of $500,908 has been set aside for the state from the $27,500,000 granted the service from the Works Relief funds. Ninety per cent of the labor to be employed under the expanded state program will be taken from local relief rolls wherever possible. The work in the state is under the direction of R. Y. Bailey, Dadeville.

ALABAMA HAS OVER 4,000 MULE COLTS

Auburn, Ala.—Over 4,000 mule colts are being produced in Alabama this year.

In reporting this large number of colts in the state, county agents reveal that farmers are growing these mules in an effort to overcome the mule shortage that developed during the past few years causing the price of workstock to more than double in price. Several thousand farmers were forced to purchase high-priced stock for making this year's crop.

With between 750 and 1,000 mule colts, Sumter county farmers are leading the state in mule production. Marengo county farmers have 219 colts, while farmers in each of Limestone and Pickens have over 200. Other counties in which county agents report a large number are: Greene, Morgan, Lamar, Cherokee, Macon, Talladega, Butler, Marion, Chilton, Lawrence, Jefferson, Chambers, Calhoun, Randolph, Wilcox, Henry, Barbour, Conecuh, Blount, Clarke, Dale, Montgomery, Lowndes, Walker, Washington, Perry, Geneva, Elmore, Jackson, Cullman, Tuscaloosa, Franklin, Bullock and Mobile.

STATE GAME AND FISH NEWS

Montgomery, Ala., Sept. 18.—The new Sanford act prohibits the sale of bass regardless of where taken, anywhere in Alabama.

This was one of the last pieces of game and fish legislation enacted into law at the regular session of the legislature. The act provided specifically:

"That the sales of bass, commonly called trout or green trout, regardless of where taken, is, by this act, prohibited within the State of Alabama.

The new law also prohibits the use of hoop nets, gill nets, trammel nets and seines in all artificially impounded public waters of the state and in all waters within a mile below any lock or dam constructed on any river or body of public water.

Possession of any of the commercial fishing devices mentioned in the act within a half mile of the waters in which they are prohibited, or on a boat in such waters, will be considered prima facie evidence of violation of the law.

Enforcement officers are authorized to confiscate and hold for evidence any of these fishing devices used or held illegally and upon conviction of the person charged with the violation the nets are to be destroyed.

Violation of any of the provisions of the act is termed a misdemeanor and subjects the violator to a fine of not less than $10 nor more than $50 for each offense.

Mr. Luther Foshee and Mr. J. D. Price made a business trip to Wetumpka Friday.

TUESDAY WILL BE EDITOR'S DAY AT THE ALABAMA STATE FAIR

Birmingham, Ala., Sept. 17.—Tuesday, September 24th, has been set aside as Editor's Day at the Alabama State Fair to be held at Birmingham from September 23 to 28. It is a testimonial to the newspaper editors of the state, whom Mr. P. T. Strieder, Manager of the State Fair feels have played a very important part in making the revived Alabama State Fair the huge success that it was last year and created so much interest in this year's big fair among exhibitors throughout the state.

Wednesday Set As Farmers' Day

The Alabama State Fair will play host to the Farmers of the State on Wednesday, September 25th. On that day special events of interest to the farmers will be staged. The oustanding events of the day will be Harness Horse Races and the Tractor Races. Ab Jenkins, speed king, will be featured in the Tractor Races. Jenkins is konwn as the mile a minute farmer since he established a record for driving a farm tractor at a speed of over 68 miles an hour. Four tractors will take part in the races in which Jenkins will be featured driving one of the Allis-Chalmers tractors.

FARMERS TOLD SAVE CROTALARIA SEED

Auburn, Ala.—J. C. Lowery, extension agronomist, is urging Alabama farmers to save their crotalaria seed to plant next year for improving their soils.

Lowery says that the seeds can be stripped by hand, in which case a man can usually harvest 40 to 50 lbs of seed per day. He also states that the plant may be cut with a knife or pruning shears and the seed thrashed or flailed out.

The seed should be cleaned and carefully stored so that they will get plenty of air to prevent molding.

NEW SOUTHERN PROSPERITY FORECAST SIX NEW FLOUR PLANTS MOVE SOUTH

Memphis, Mobile, Jacksonville, Savannah, Charleston and Norfolk Selected as Locations

Southern business leaders predict a rapid shift in the policy of other national manufacturers in view of the recent organization of Southern Gold Medal Flour Company by General Mills, the nations largest producerof flour and wheat products.

The south comes into its own, as flour business is concerned, with the formation of this new concern. Actual production, sales and distribution are now completely handled in the south by a southern organization. The south has been recognized as an individual market worthy of its own manufacturing and merchandising facilities. With General Mills having taken the lead in establishing Southern Gold Flour Company for this purpose, it is to be expected that other national manufacturers will see the wisdom of this course and also establish separate organizations to serve the south. Such a move will naturally increase employment in the south as well as increase the quality and service on the manufactured products.

Aside from the increase in employment, there are numerous other advantages for the south to enjoy. These come from the actual operation of the new plants.

Briefly, Southern Gold Medal Flour Company affords all the advantages of General Mills buying power and production capacity for the south in a practical way. General Mills has milling plants in every important wheat growing area in the United States.

Health Control Methods Told

Tuberculosis Can Be Controlled! Although this is accepted as true by those interested enough to inform themselves on the subject, much remains to be done before this statement can be changed to Tuberculosis Has Been Controlled!"

To briefly review control measures already being employed in Alabama, one of the first that comes to mind is the traveling Chest Clinic maintained by the State Health Department. This clinic is operated by experts in the field of tuberculosis and is for the purpose of aiding physicians in the early diagnosis of the disease. Through early diagnosis the case is given a far greater chance of recovery, and a source of infection to others is discovered that can in many instances be isolated and thus prevent further spread. This clinic will be in Chilton County in the offices of the County Health Unit on October first and second. Cases referred by physicians will be X-rayed and if the X-ray indicates trouble will be given a complete examination.

Although the measures discussed the work of local health unit as members of the unit visit cases of tuberculosis and endeavor to instruct the family as to methods of spread of the disease and ways and means of preventing this spread.

And there are other valuable control measures being carrien out by various agencies, such as the distribution of instructive literature, research as to better methods of prevention and cure, etc.

Although the measure discussed above are showing results as evidenced by a decreased number of deaths from tuberculosis there is still far too great a number of people dying from this preventable disease.

Perhaps no single step would prove of more benefit in advancing the cause of tuberculosis control than an aroused and informed public—a public that realized the great need for sanatoria for the isolation and treatment of cases of tuberculosis; that realized the insidiousness of the disease in it's onset, and subsequently the greater need for periodic physical examinations; that was willing to take an active interest in helping to stamp out this most damaging and widespread of all major infections.

In thinking along these lines one can not help thinking of the great amount of good that could be done by a well organized and active Anti-Tuberculosis Association in Chilton county. Through well planned exhibits in some unused show-window the subject of tuberculosis control could be better brought before the public. Through the sale of Christmas seals funds for supplying much-needed sanitary sputum cups to the cases of the disease throughout the county, and possibly for building tuberculosis cottages, could be made available. And in many other ways this group could help control tuberculosis.

If you are interested in forming an Anti-Tuberculosis Association in Chilton county express this interest to the County Health Officer. The Clanton post of the American Legion has already expressed such an interest, and with others joining in the organization of a worth-while group would be assured.

Mr. and Mrs. Sam Powers and little daughter, Suan, spent the week end with relatives in Birmingham.

CLANTON METHODIST CHURCH

Remember that Sunday is Rally Day. Let us double the attendance in every class and the preaching services. Be sure and come to church Sunday.

At the vesper service Sunday at 5 p.m., Dr. D. P. Slaughter will speak and the fourth session of the quarterly conference will be held. Let all officials have their reports ready. Some of us are quite a bit behind in the payment of our pledges. Now is a good time to catch up and then the closing of the year will not have the strain that usually comes. Help yourself and your church by paying up now. Your steward will be to see you this week. If he should miss you send your check to the treasurer, Mr. Otto Jones.

The Board of Christian Education and the Workers Council met after prayer meeting Wednesday night and completed plans for the church school staff organizatin for the new year that begins October 1. When the new year begins, our church will be as well organized as any church in the conference.

Be at church Sunday. Let the rally day spirit stir you and join you fellows. Summer time is over. Fall is here. Renew your loyalty and determination to be at church every Sunday.

Is this true of you?

I forgot my church in the summer time,
As I lazily lay in bed.
While the faithful few had my work to do,
I was spiritually dead.

I forgot my dues in the summer time,
When He needed them most of all,
While my cash was spent, I was pleasure-bent,
Just off duty for God till fall.

Got along without spiritual food;
I forgot my soul in the summer time,
While my Lord on high sent me blessings, I
Showed Him naught but ingratitude.

Now is the time to begin anew. Attend church Sunday.

WEINER ROAST

The intermediate Sunday school class of Oak Grove went to Moonlight Valley Thursday night, September 12, on a weiner roast.

Those present were as following: Misses Loy Mae and Elora Glass, Roberta and Gladys Satterwhite, Ruby Lee and Ruth Cobb, Willie Frank and Willie Jean Northcutt, Dorothy Deese, Mary Jim Sutley, Messrs. Joy Lee Martin, Walter Hicks, Richard Killingsworth, Herlen Cobb, Lelon and Paul Northcutt and Sam Collins. The chaperons were Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Northcutt, Mr. and Mrs. Lester Northcutt and Mrs. Anice Cobb.

Several games were played while waiting for the fire to burn down so the weiners could be roasted. While the weiners were roasting songs were sung and riddles were told. After a few hours of playing games, singing, roasting weiners, twenty-three tired people returned home for a good night's rest.

BOB JONES COMMENTS ON HERE AND HEREAFTER.

When the writer had a conference with the Chamber of Commerce in Cleveland, Tennessee, relative to moving the Bob Jones College from Florida he explained to the representative citizens who were assembled in mass meeting that first of all the Bob Jones College is a Christian College. He explained that the scholastic standards of the college are as high as those of any other institution, but that the college above everything is really Christian.

There is no other way to run a Christian school. Whenever a church school of any kind of religious school begins to compromise and lower its religious standards and tries to make us with the world and satisfy the demands of worldly people, then that school is doomed as a Christian institution. It may exist as a school but not a Christian school. This nation today is filled with religious schools that had to quit. The reason is these schools did not stay Christian. Many of our church colleges have tried to copy the world. One of the leading church colleges has recently opened smoking rooms for girls and it allows worldly things that the church to which the school belongs opposes. That school is no longer Christian. Yet, people are raising money for it.

"Why do you keep Dr. Blank as president of your church college?" I inquired of a minister one day. "The reason is he can get the money. He is not orthodox; he is not spiritual, but he has access to funds". What a confession that was. We need money, so we shatter the faith and wreck the spiritual lives of young people FOR MONEY. If the young people of this nation must lose their faith—if they must become rationalists, behaviorists, and atheists, then for heaven's sake let private institutions and state schools do the work. God pity a church school that goes into the business of producing human wrecks.

THE TEXAS CENTENNIAL

Dallas, Texas.—The State of Alabama has pledged its aid to the Texas Centennial exposition in establishing its $300,000 Museum of History which will be an outstanding feature of the $15,000,000 show which opens here next June.

Director Walter B. Jones, of Alabama Museum of Natural History at the Uuiversity of Alabama at Tuscaloosa, has written Texas Centennial Exposition officials pledging a loan of specimens from the splendid Alabama institution. Probably the loan will be of vertebrate fossils, for which the Alabama Museum is famed.

Managing Director, Walter D. Cline, of the Texas Centennial Exposition has accepted Alabama's generous offer.

Mr. C. P. Retherford, of Montevallo, was in Clanton Tuesday night.

OUR CLASSIFIED ADVS.

If you want to buy anything or want to sell anything, don't fail to look over the column of classified advs. in the The Union-Banner. You will find it on the back page every week, and you might find just the thing you have been looking for. And, too, it might not be a bad idea for you yourself to advertise that extra wagon, cow, or plow stock which you have no use for. Somebody else might want it bad enough to pay your price. Use and read the Banner's want adv column. It will pay you.

OBITUARIES — IN MEMORY

It becomes necessary for us again to call attention to the fact that we make a charge of one cent per word for all obituaries over 150 words published in The Union-Banner. So, if you want an obituary, or in memory article, published about a departed friend or relative, it must be confined to not over 150 words, or else money order for the remainder should be included if sent by mail, as outlined above.

If obituaries are sent in containing over 150 words and no money accompanies same, it will be either omitted entirely or, if possible, condensed to come within the requirement, and published.

THE UNION-BANNER.

BANKERS COMMENT ON BANKING ACT

NEW YORK.—Belief that "on the whole the Banking Act of 1935 is an acceptable piece of legislation," and that the new law is "basically sound and merits confidence on the part of banks," is expressed by the American Bankers Association through its Special Committee on the Banking Act of 1935 in a communication sent to all banks in the United States with an annotated copy of the law.

"Although many extreme measures pertaining to banking were introduced during this session, none of those which threatened serious danger to sound banking prevailed," the committee says. "We believe that on the whole the Banking Act of 1935 is an acceptable piece of legislation.

"The bill affords a practical plan of operation for the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation, and the Assessment of 1/12 of one per cent is as low as seemed practicable at this itme. While some of the provisions of Titles II and III will not be entirely satisfactory to various groups of bankers, it must be borne in mind that legislation of this sort is inevitably the result of compromises and adjustments, but we feel that the new law is basically sound and merits confidence on the part of the banks.

"In a number of sections of the act provision is made for rules and regulations to be hereafter formulated by the Federal Reserve Board, the Comptroller of the Currency and the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation. Obviously until such regulations are issued, the full import of this law and its effect upon bank operations cannot be definitely known."

The special committee consists of: President R. S. Hecht of the Association, Chairman of Board Hibernia National Bank, New Orleans, Louisiana; First Vice President Robert V. Fleming, President Riggs National Bank, Washington, D. C.; Second Vice President Tom K. Smith, President Boatmen's National Bank, St. Louis, Missouri; Winthrop W. Aldrich, member Committee on Banking Studies, Chairman of Board Chase National Bank, New York; Ronald Ransom, Chairman Committee on Federal Legislation, Executive Vice President Fulton National Bank, Atlanta, Georgia.

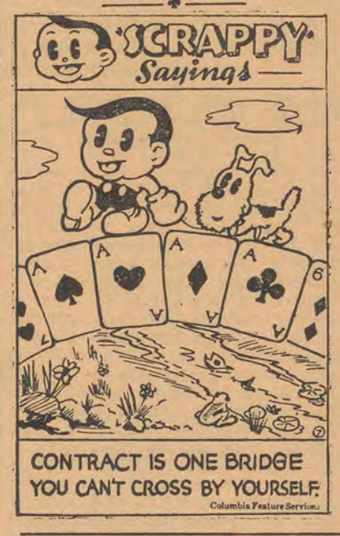
FORMER CHILTON COUNTY GIRL INJURED IN AUTOMOBILE WRECK

Montgomery, Ala., Sept., 15.—Miss Ruby Thomas, 211 May Street, a daughter of Police Officer R. M. Thomarm when she was crushed in the cab of the truck driven by Howell. She was taken to St. Margaret's Hospital where surgeons performed a skin-grafting operation. It was believed that she would be confined to the hospital for a week or longer.

Howell, according to officers Rutherford and Miller, who investigated the accident, received several severe lacerations on the arms and chest as well as numerous bruises. Miss Louise Poole, and Miss Lillian Howard the latter of 312 North Decatur Street, received severe bruises. How ell and Misses Poole and Howard were permitted to leave the hospital last night.

All are employees of Young Ice Cream Company.



WILL BROADCAST FIGHT

Mr. Tom Tiffin of Tiffin Furniture Company announces that their place of business will broadcast the prize fight between Max Baer and Joe Lewis on the night of Tuesday, September 24th. A large loud speaker will be installed in front of the building so that all may hear the returns from the fight. The Tiffins invite you to be their guest that night.

SAYS WAR SOON IS INEVITABLE

It looks as though Mussolini has been kept out of Ethiopia as long as prevailing will do any good. Late news flashes say: "Italy is ready to fight all opposition to gain her ends in Ethiopia. War and war alone will satisfy the Italian nation; she has called an end it the parley, argument, discussian and consultation. Italy is determined that she is not going to be talked out of this war. She fears none—from the smallest to the biggest. Five European powers are deeply concerned over the delicacy of the situation—Great Britain, France, Poland, Spain and Turkey.

Mrs. Jean Wyatt held the lucky number last Saturday afternoon, and won the bed-room suite given away at Mazer's store.

NINE LOCKS TO ONE BURR

Mr. L. A. Wright of the Bethsalem community brought to the Union-Banner office Saturday afternoon a cotton burr from which he picked nine locks of cotton. The variety was Cook's wilt resist.

BOX SUPPER AT FLOYD

There will be a box supper at Floyd church on next Saturady night. The money will go to the benefit of the church. Everybody is invited.

Mr. Ralph Jones, of Birmingham, spent the week end here with his mother.

DIEF SERVICE STATION CLOSES AFTER THIS MONTH

Mr. L. E. Diefenderfer is making the public announcement this week that on October 1st he will go out of the gasoline business. This famous place of business has been running uninterruptedly for the past ten years, and has enjoyed an enviable trade in its line. Many will there be who regret to learn that this business will be no more.

Everything, stock and fixtures are being offered for sale. Mr. Diefenderfer will continue in business, but no definite announcement has been made as to plans yet.

FULL STRENGTH CAMP AT MOUND RESERVATION

Montgomery.—Among the new Emergency Conservation Works propects allotted to the Alabama Commission of Forestry for the work period beginning October 1 is a full strength C. C. C. camp for the Mound Reservation in Southern Tuscaloosa County and northern Hale County, announces Col. Page S. Bunker, State Forester. The Reservation is one of the most outstanding anthropological sites in North America. It is located near Moundville, which takes its name from the Indian mounds on the area, and is easily accessible to tourists and other visitors.

For over a year a side camp from one of the State Park projects has been maintained on the Mound Reservation. The area was regarded as too small to warrant a full strength camp. However, the possibilities of its development and other merits of the project were so ably presented by State Geologist Walter B. Jones, Congresman W. B. Oliver and Col. George F. Baltzell of Ft. McClellan, that the reservation was finally recognized as qualified for a full strength camp. It is expected that camp constructions to accommodate the increased froce will ensue within the next few weeks.

ANNUAL SUNDAY SCHOOL RALLY AT M. E. CHURCH

The annual Rally Day program for the Sunday school of the Clanton Methodist Church is scheduled for next Sunday, according to announcements this week by leaders in the Sunday school.

For many years, it has been an annual custom to stage a rally and put forth extra effort to increase the membership by inaugurating a membership drive at this time.

No elaborate program has been prepared, but instead the regular class work will be carried on as usual. During this week, members of the various classes are urged to contact as many persons not attending Sunday school as possible and persuade them to enroll.

SARAH REBECCA WILSON

Mrs. Sarah Rebecca Wilson, age 84, wife of Wash G. Wilson, died Tuesday night, September 17th, at the family home in Maple Springs community. Funeral services were held Wednesday afternoon at 2:00 o'clock, from the home, conducted by Elders Kelly, Tucker, and Davis. Burial was in Popwell cemetery, Martin and Sons in charge.

Mrs. Wilson, is survived by her husband; three sons, and three daughters, Joseph M. Wilson, Will H. Wilson, of Clanton and Dr. O. E. Wilson of Birmingham; Mrs. John Hayes of Clanton, Mrs. T. H. Patten of Montgomery, and Mrs. A. F. Mims of Birmingham. One half-brother survives—Marion Osborne of Berry, Ala.

WILL DEDICATE NEW POST OFFICE

Kiwanis Club Will Sponsor Program For This Occasion

A dedication program for Clanton's new $45,000-post office building is being planned and will likely be held on or about October 12, according to plans revealed this week by Postmaster H. M. Downs and members of the Clanton Kiwanis Club interested in the idea.

Completion of the building is expected early in October, and the removal of the office from its present location into the new structure will take place immediately after the contractors have released it.

Believing that the people of Clanton should show some appreciation to the government for this contribution toward the city's progress, several members of the Kiwanis became interested in the promotion of a dedication service. At a recent meeting of the club, J. Mell Martin made a suggestion that idea be sponsored by the club, and it received the unanimous approval of all present.

It was referred to the Public Affairs Committee of the club, which began working out the details for the staging of the event. However, complete details of the program are not yet available.

Mayor C. Fenn Jones has agreed to cooperate in the dedication and will speak in behalf of the City of Clanton, it has been made known. Several other brief addresses will be a part of the program. Plans include speeches of appreciation from various civic organizations, churches and county officials.

When completed, few cities in this section of the country will have finer postoffice buildings. In planning it, the architect apparently visualized Clanton several years hence and the structure was built to be serviceable should the city double its present size.

RAID MADE BY CITY OFFICERS YIELDING WHISKEY AND BEER

A raid by local city officers which yielded quite a quantity of bonded whiskey and beer was made Saturday night upon a prominent and well advertised business establishment in Clanton. Four gallons of whiskey and gin, in pint and half-pint bottles, as well as one and one-half cases of beer or near beer, the latter bearing no analysis, were taken. One arrest was made. The case was called up Monday morning in Mayor's court, but was continued until next Monday with the understanding that the defendant settle off between now and then.

MODERN BEAUTY SHOPPE HAS VERY PRETTY PLACE

The Modern Beauty Shoppe, owned and operated by Mrs. W. C. Robinson, which is now located in the New Moore Building, second floor, is one of the most attractive places of business in our city. It is something that we can justly be proud of. Everything is just as clean as a pin, plenty of fine sunlight and fresh air. The equipment is all new and modern in every respect. The new place is not only a beauty shoppe but it is really a beautiful shoppe too. It ought to be able to make our women much more beautiful, apologies to the fairer sex, judging from the beauty of the place in general and the fine equipment to be used on them.

Mrs. Robinson is well pleased with her school of beauty which she is conducting in connection with the shop. Four students have already enrolled, and three more are to come in this week. This department, which is under the personal superivision of Mr. Mills, is thoroughly in line with the rest of the place so far as beauty, cleanliness and equipment are concerned. It ought to be a pleasure to the students to take lessons in such a fine place.

Time To Buy Car Tags Is Extended

Attendants at the office of the Judge of Probate have given out the information that the time has been extended for securing automobile license plates.

A short time ago a rule was passed that the plates must be purchased by October 25th, but the time limit has been moved back to November 14th. That is, you may buy your license plate any time between October 1st and November 14th, both dates inclusive, but midnight, November 14th is the dead line. After that date, license plates bought for cars owned on closing day will also carry a penalty for failure to purchase during the dates above named.

In addition, this year driver's licenses must be purchased. These will run as follows: for car owner—60c; for each additional driver in each family—30c; all truck drivers are resuired to buy a 60c license.

We are informed also that if you own an auto on November 14th and fail to take out a driver's license, you will be barred from driving for the current year.

SHERIFF'S FORCE INVESTIGATED CUTTING SCRAPE NEAR MAP'VLE

Sheriff Hardy and his deputies went over to the community six miles southwest of Maplesville late last Sunday night to investigate a cutting affray which happened earlier in the night at the home of E. L. Bone, where a dance was being held. The officers found that Clarence Hawkins had sustained an ugly lasceration across the side of his neck, and Tip Roper had been stabbed three times in the back. Both had to be cared for by a doctor. No arrest was made.

Other than this, everything pertaining to the officers has been quiet this week, which is much in contrast of last week. Eleven arrests were made last week, all of whom were put in jail. Six were alleged violators of the prohibition laws; one for hunting without permit; one for practicing medicine without license; one for petit larceny; one for assault and battery, and one for driving while intoxicated.

CHEST CLINIC TO BE HELD BY COUNTY HEALTH UNIT

In connection with the tuberculosis control, the County Health Unit of Chilton County announces that a chest clinic will be held at the health office in Clanton on Thursday and Friday, October 3 and 4. This clinic will be held in connection with the State Health Department. Cases referred by physicians will be X-rayed, and if this test indicates trouble, the patients will be given complete examination.

TEACHERS MEET MONDAY, SEPT. 30

37 Schools Of County Will Open Their Doors On Tuesday Morning

Prof. Luther E. Little, County Superintendent of Education, announces that the Chilton Countty teachers Institute will be held at the Chilton County High school building, Monday, September 30th, begining at 9:00 o'clock. Institute attendance is required of all teachers who are to teach in this county this year.

The Institute program will be a series of short discussions of the entire educational program for 1935-1936. Dr. J. M. Kimmey, County Health Officer, and Miss Irene Smi herman, County Health Nurse, will discuss the health program for the year. Mr. J. W. Fant and Miss Ruth Pardue will discuss 4-H Club work for both boys and girls. Miss Icie Belle Cobern will discuss some problems of attendance. The main speaker for the Institute will be Dr. J. A. Keller, State Superintendent of Education. Dr. Keller will give to the teachers his minimum program as was adopted by the recent session of the Legislature. Dr. C. B. Smith director of instruction from the State Department of Education will represent the Alabama Educational Association and discuss with the teachers the problems before the association at this time. A number of colleges will be represented by extension workers and extension classes will be organized offering the teachers of the county an opportunity to further their education.

Schools Open Tuesday

On Tuesday morning, Octber 1st, the remaining thirty-seven schools of the county will open. There will be an addition of 170 teachers in these 37 schools. There will be a total enrollment on the county of around 6,000pupils when the ten schools already running are augmented by those others to open Tuesday morning.

Prof. Little urges that all pupils report for enrollment in the various schools on the opening morning.

DR. CLINT FOSHEE HURT IN AUTO WRECK SATURDAY P.M.

Mr. C. D. Foshee received word Saturday night that his oldest son, Dr. Clint Foshee, was severely injured in an automobile accident near his home in Grand Rapids, Michigan Saturday afternoon about 1 o'clock. Dr. Foshee was carried to the Butterworth Hospital in Grand Rapids. Another telegram was received Sunday afternoon by Mr. Foshee stating that his son was resting well and no immediate danger was anticipated.

AIR SHOW AT BIRMINGHAM OCTOBER FIFTH AND SIXTH

Special attention is called to the big air show to be put on at the Municipal Airport in Birmingham on Saturday and Sunday, October 5th and 6th.

Races, special stunt flying, 'chute jumping, and many other attractions are on the program, to be put on by specialists in their line from all over the country. No admission charge will be made.

Pilots and performers will be present from Maxwell Field, Montgomery, and from Barksdale, La., as well as other air centers.

On Sunday, October 6th, the famed Key Brothers, holders of the world's endurance flight record, of Meridian, Miss., will be present with their plane in which they recently broke all endurance records, and they will perform their interesting and highly dangerous feat of refueling in mid-air.

All aviation enthusiasts of this section are urged to be present.

COUNTY AGENCY WORK AND THE TRIPLE A

[EDITORIAL]

There is, here of late, quite a bit of agitation and unrest among the farmers of the South and even in Chilton county regarding the farm program of the national administration. Those who propose to defend the AAA and all the control methods attempt to hook it up inseparably with the county agency work and the original farm demonstration set-up.

To The Union-Banner the county agent and the A A A should be, and were intended to be, two separate and distinct things. In other words, the people of Chilton county, some years ago, voted on co-operating with the government in the farm demonstration business. This was before the Agricultural Adjustment Administration was ever dreamed of. This paper has always favored the farm demonstration agent; we still believe it has done invaluable service to the farmers of Chilton county. The county agent should be given the co-operation of the farmers, because the county agent idea is a good one and if properly carried out according to the original intentions results in much good to all of us.

But The Union-Banner does not believe that the program as being advocated by the AAA is the best for our farmers. It is too much sibsidizing and monopolizing, and if continued long, the farmers will have absolutely nothing to say for themselves but will have to act altogether at the behest of some government representative. We are afraid that the average man who has been "sold a catch phrase" has little idea of what the New Deal will mean to the nation and to the individual in the future. Even the most skilled economist cannot accurately calculate the future.

We fear that the day is approaching when individual liberty will vanish—when citizens will be at the beck and call of government bureau autocrats, who will order our lives and permit us only to pay a large portion of our earnings for taxes to help them keep up their nefarious racket.

Some say that cotton would drop to five cents a pound within thirty days should the present program be discontinued. This editor fully believes, and he can give substantial reason for his beliefs, that if the AAA had never been heard of cotton today would be selling for fifteen cents a pound, and the farmers could raise all they wanted to. The whole new deal has been a complete fizzle and the AAA part of it is no exception.

In last week's Democratic Chilton County News was published an interview from Judge L. H. Reynolds, Mr. J. Dudley Collins and Mr. J. N. Dennis, in which statements from these men were used in an attempt by this newspaper to substantiate the present Democratic farm program as being administered from Washington. Although the editor of The Union-Banner has the highest and most sincere regard for these gentlemen and their opinions, and although we have fought, bled and died for them in their many past campaigns in the Republican party in Chilton county, yet we broadly disagree with them as their opinions are expressed in the above-named Democratic newspaper. We believe that the farm program of the Democratic party, like all the rest of its pet schemes, is a failure, is unconstitutional, and is fast becoming better known, better understood and more unpopular.

The people who love true America, who fear the all-wise God and believe that He still lives and cares for His people, citizens who revere the Constitution of the United States and cherish the traditions which have made it great, people who believe in individual liberty, freedom of thought and speech, can hardly fall in line with the New Deal and the present trend of things as administered by the Democratic administration at Washington.

The people of America are not going to place their stamp of approval on the present regime. They are going to elect an American as president next year—not a Socialist-Democrat, but a good old-time, honest, straightforward, progressive-thinking Republican, a president that the people will not be afraid of but will have confidence in. Then we will not need any AAA, PDQ or XYZ.

Better Hopes Held For Street Paving

Mayor C. Fenn Jones announces that prospects are growing brighter for the residential street paving project in Clanton. The state authorities in charge of the work are letting out encouraging signs of their interest in the work in Clanton. Certain information regarding the tax value of the city's property since the corporate limit extension has been asked for by State men, and indications are that we still have a good chance of getting our project approved. However, numbers of projects over the State, similar to ours, has been turned down cold.

The water works extension into the newly acquired territory of the city is contingent upon the same conditions as the street paving, Mayor Jones states.

JUDGE REYNOLDS' BARN BURNED SUNDAY NIGHT

The fire department was called out Sunday night about 7 o'clock to extinguish a blaze in the barn of Judge L. H. Reynolds at the rear of his residence.

The building, a three-room board house, was completely in flames when the fire fighters arrived, or at least the bottom portion was. Judge Reynolds had some fine grade dressed lumber stored in the loft of the barn, and that was not seriously injured, inasmuch as nearly all the fire was near the ground. There was nothing on the ground floor of the barn except a sack of corn and some Irish potatoes.

It is thought a certainty that the burning was incendiary, as no other cause can be attributed. The barn was uninsured.

THE HOMEMAKERS SUNDAY SCHOOL CLASS WILL MEET

The Homemakers Sunday School Class will hold an important business meeting at the Baptist Church Friday evening at 3 o'clock. The officers for the new year will be elected. Each member is asked to be present and bring a small picnic lunch for the social hour which will be held after the business meeting.

A & P Tea Company Moved To New Home

The A and P. Tea Company is this morning doing business in their new home in the Moore Building, on the corner of Second Avenue and the Highway. Their motto is "The Finest Food Store in Chilton County."

The store manager, Mr. G. C. Armstrong, is very elated over the new and beautiful location into which he has moved. The spaciousness of the new building will enable him to display his wares and arrange them in such a way as to present real attractiveness as well accessibility to the trade.

Assisting Mr. Armstrong will be Mr. Hershell Mims, who will work full time. Bill Armstrong will help before and after school and on Saturdays. Also on Saturdays they will be assisted by Bill Miner, John D. Thomas and Durwood Robinson.

DR. LAWRENCE EXPECTS TO MOVE LAST OF NEXT WEEK

Dr. C. O. Lawrene announces that he expects to move into his new quarters in the new brick-veineer building next to Dief's service station the last of next week.

This new building, when completed, will be a nice place and one which the doctor and his many friends will appreciate.

TOM McKEE BOUGHT OUT DIEF'S

It has been reported that Mr. T. L. McKee, the incoming tax collector of Chilton county, has purchased the Dief Service Station and will operate same in the future. Mr. McKee hopes that service at the station will not be interrupted but that he will be able to keep it open and running.

Mrs. George Wyatt is back home, after two weeks stay in the hospital in Montgomery. She is improving nicely.

JUDGE GLOVER HERE

Judge Arthur Glover, of Wetumpka, was in Clanton last Thursday for a while to attend to some circuit court matters. No cases were tried—only some technical matters of law pertaining to some cases on the docket.

BIRMINGHAM JAYCEES VISITED MITCHELL DAM

Members of the Birmingham Junior Chamber of Commerce made the second of their bi-monthly industrial trips Sunday, this time coming to Mitchell Dam, on the Coosa River, where barbecue dinner was served and athletic sports and games made up the program.

The Alabama Power Company was host and officers of the Company piloted the Jaycees and company through the plant where hydro-electric power for Birmingham and a large section of Alabama is produced.

Between 60 and 70 members of the Junior organization and their wives made the trip, leaving Birmingham early Sunday morning and returning late in the afternoon.

The next industrial tour will be about the middle of November, the committee announces.

IRVINS MOVE TO CLANTON

Mr. Floyd Irvin with his family has moved to Clanton. They brought their household goods up here Monday from Verbena, and are low living in the old Dr. Arthur Johnson biulding facing Fifth Street between First and Second Avenues.

Mr. Irvin is manager of the newly acquired Taylor Grocery and Market, formerly Wade Grocery. This popular store now belongs to Mr. R. W. Taylor.

SOLDIERS HOME MAY BE CHANGED

Place May Be Turned Into Sanatorium For Tuberculosis

The Clanton Kiwanis Club is endorsing the idea of converting the old Confederate Soldiers Home at Mountain Creek into a sanatorium for the isolation and treatment of tuberculosis. Senator Earle Thomas, club president, announces.

Believeing the institution will likely be closed as a home for Confederate soldiers because it does not serve enough people to make it practical, health authorities hit upon the idea of turning it into a tuberculosis sanatorium.

Dr. J. M. Kimmey, county health officer, and other local physicians are interested in the program. It was recently brought to the attention of the Kiwanis Club, which serves in Clanton largely in the capacity of a Chamber of Commerce, and the club assured its support.

A committee, composed of Senator Thomas, Dr. Kimmey, and Luther E. Little, superintendent of schools, has been appointed to contact leaders of civic organizations in Shelby, Elmore and Autauga Counties in an effort to determine the possibility of making the institution serve an area of three or four counties.

200,000 LEGIONNAIRES TAKE CHARGE OF ST. LOUIS, LOCK, STOCK AND BARREL!

St. Louis, Sept. 23.—The American Legion took over St. Louis today for its 17th annual convention. Unofficial estimates placed the attendance at the highest in the history of the organization which had its birth in this city in 1919. Scores of special trains from all points of the compass rumbled in over the week-end—more than 125 of them—delivering something like 200,000 "buddies" and their ladies.

National Commander Frank N. Belgrano, Jr., of San Francisco, rapped the convention to order in St. Louis' brand new mammoth Municipal Auditorium at 9:30 a.m. That was the signal for four days of deliberations expected to result in ringing declaration of policy on many controversial matters.

A ding-dong battle over the exact shape the soldier bonus proposal shall take was an outstanding probability. To the question of "why?" one had but to point out Congressman Wright Putnam of Texas and Congressman Fred M. Vinson of Kentucky, both here for the convention.

The Legion sponsored the comparativey conservative Vinson bonus bill in the last session of Congress, as opposed to the Patman bill, featured by currency inflation provisions. Both failed of final enartment into law, and in his annual report, Commander Belgrano denounced the inflationists for loading down the bonus bill with a proposal more controversial than the bonus itself.

"The bonus will be passed at the next session of Congress, and actual payments will begin by next March 1," Belgrano predicted.

OPTICIAN FROM OKLAHOMA IS VISITING MOTHER AT THORSBY

The Union-Banner was pleased to meet Dr. G. W. Wright, of Vinita, Oklahoma, who is in our county visiting his mother at Thorsby, Mrs. D. A. Wright, and his brother, Mr. J. D. Wright.

Dr. Wright formerly lived in Coosa county in the Lawson's Mill community near Rockford. He was raised up with our Mayor, Mr. C. Fenn Jones, and Mr. W. D. Spigener. Dr. Wright and his brother visited their old home place in Coosa county Wednesday after an absence from there of forty years.

Mr. D. O. Manning is back from Birmingham, where he has been ill for the past several weeks.

REPUBLICANS WILL MAP FIGHT ON FDR

Executive Board Will Meet In National Capital In Few Days

Washington.—The fury of words over "constitutionalism" and "confidence" intensified this week, but more concrete evidence of the 1936 tactics for and against the New Deal awaits the fortnight ahead.

After months of paper work and speechmaking, the Republican Executive Committee gathers here on Wednesday to plan "early organization" and greater activity. A day or so following, President Roosevelt takes off on the much-planned transcontinental trip and its political opportunities.

A wealth of material is fresh at hand for each side. It is realized that recent develoments portend a campaign based broadly on whether the New Deal is legal, and whether it has helped or hindered recovery.

Little other than Supreme Court sanction or nullification of a wide range of Roosevelt policy before June, or a startling turn by business in either direction, can greatly alter that prospect.

Spicing it are differences within the Republican party over how to deal with the agricultural issue. Because farm states are well represented on the executive committee, next week's meeting will be watched for any consideration of the AAA.

Arguments between the publicity departments of both parties about that extraordinary agency center just now on the "potato control" law. Holding President Roosevelt "directly responsible," G. O. P. headquarters said it is one and the same with the AAA philosophy, justice and economics.

Charles Michelson, Democratic pubblicity director, rejoined Saturday that the administration "had nothing to do with" this law. He reminded that nine out of 15 Senate votes against it were Democratic.

The whole question may be threshed out again when Congress reconvenes.

Demand for changed relief and budgetary policies confront the New Deal with alternatives of political importance, much as Republicans ponder the extent of AAA support. Conceivably the whole direction of the campaigning could be shifted by the party positions when the decisions can no longer be deferred.

By the president's side on his western trip will be Secretary Ickes and Relief Administrator, Harry L. Hopkins. Presumably, through direct contact with the unemployment problems as various states are visited ,an attempt will be made to reconcile their disagreements finally.

CHESTERFIELD RADIO PROGRAM TO START WEDNESDAY, OCT. 2nd

On each Wednesday and Saturday, beginning October 2nd, Chesterfield Cigarettes will broadcast a radio program beginning at 9 p.m. eastern time or from 8 to 8:30 central (our) time. This program will feature Lily Pons, Andre Kostelanetz, Orchestra and Chorus.

This program may be heard over WBRC and WSFA. After November 1st it may be heard over WWL in New Orleans. WLAC at Nashville will also broadcast it.

The Liggett & Myers Tobacco Company invite you to be their radio guests and listen in on these programs.

BUILDING NEW HOME FOR MR. SPUD CALLOWAY ON SELMA RD

Mr. and Mrs. John Funderburk, of Dallas, Texas, are spending some time in Clanton, while Mr. Funderburk is engaged in the building of a new home for Mr. and Mrs. Spurgeon Calloway, on a lot recently purchased from Kin Vinson, on the Selma Road.

Martin Memorial Service Planned

The annual homecoming day and memorial services will be held at the Memorial building, on the site of Old Bethesda, Coosa County, Sept. 29, beginning at 10 a.m., according to published program of J. Mell Martin, of Clanton, son of the late Rev. D. S. Martin, and in whose honor the services will be held.

Harry Herzfeld, of Alexander City, will preside. Some of the features of this meeting will be a sermon by Rev. John T. Nolen, a nephew of Rev. D. S. Martin; a memorial address by Rev. C. J. Bentley, of Birmingham; an address by Rev. Sam Heath, an address by Rev. Judson Martin, a son of Rev. D. S. Martin; and an address by B. B. Martin, of Auburn, a brother of Rev. D. S. Martin, on the subject, "What the Old Church has Meant to Me."

This homecoming and memorial service will bring people from all central Alabama, and it is believed that a thousand people will be on hand. Two years ago the building and grounds were dedicated and incorporated as a perpetual memorial to Rev. D. S. Martin, who spent his life in that community and was pastor of the church for 30 years.

County Farm Agent's Notes

Compiled by J. W. Fant, County Farm Demonstration Agent for Chilton County

THE COLOR OF LEAVES

Montgomery.—The normal color of leaves during the growing season is dependant upon the relative proportion of yellow and green pigments which are present. This proportion determines whether or not the leaf is dark green, yellow green or light green in color. The green pigments, classified as chlorophyll, are directly concerned with the assimilation of carbon dioxide from the air and the manufacture of plant food. Certain exceptions to the usual green of the leaves such as the purplish red leaves of the Purple Beech, may be noted, but nevertheless the green and yellow pigments are present although obscured by a red coloring matter in the outer layer of the leaf.

In the fall of the year, as the plant approaches and attains a period of dormancy, certain chemical changes occur through a break down of the color carrying bodies of the leaf and its pigments. In the case of a mild fall the break down may be gradual with the result that the coloration will be dull, but with a cold fall and early frost the coloration will be vivid. The brown color which follows the bright colors is an after death condition in which brown pigments soluble in water are produced.

DAILY AVERAGE PRICE ⅞ INCH SPOT COTTON FOR PAST 6 WEEKS

The daily average of the prices per pound of middling ⅞ inch spot cotton at the ten designated spot markets for the period August 1 to September 17, inclusive, has been made public by the Agricultural Adjustment Administration.

The daily average price was determined by daily quotations from the ten designated spot markets—Augusta, Dallas, Galveston, Houston, Little Rock, Memphis, Montgomery, New Orleans, Norfolk, and Savannah—to the Bureau of Agricultural Econmics Department of Agriculture.

Producers of cotton who agree to comply with the 1936 cotton acreage adjustment program and who have sold cotton from the 1935 crop will be paid under the Agricultural Adjustment Administration's price adjustment plan the difference between the average at the ten designated spot markets on the day of sale and 12 cents per pound.

For example, a producer who sold his cotton on September 4 would be due a price adjustment payment of 1.55 cents per pound up to the amount of the actual cotton sold but NOT beyond his Bankhead allotment.

On the other hand, any producer who sold cotton from his 1935 crop on any of the days when middling ⅞ inch spot cotton averaged 12 cents a pound or more at the designated markets would NOT be an adjustment payment.

J. W. Fant, county agent, furnishes the daily average of the prices per pound at the ten designated markets as follows:

STAPLE COTTON SHOULD BRING PREMIUM PRICE

Auburn, Ala.—Producers will lose if they sell premium cotton for the price paid for middling ⅞-inch cotton in the belief the price adjustment payment will compensate them for their better grade and stale length, say AAA officials in urging cotton producers to insist upon buyers paying premium on cotton above average in grade and staple length.

"For example," they say, "the average price for white middling ⅞-inch cotton in the 10 spot markets on September was 10.60 cents per pound. If a producer sold on that day the government will pay him a difference of 1.40 cents per pound.

"He would receive this payment of 1.40 cents per pound even if he sold premium cotton on September 10 which brought him 12 cents a pound or more."

ERVIN L. BEASLEY STUDYING LAW AT UNIVERSITY OF ALA.

Mr. Ervin L. Beasley, son of Mr. Henry M. Beasley of Jemison, Ala., is taking a pre-law course through the school of commerce and business education at the University of Alabama.

This young man graduated from the Jemison High School on May 17, 1935, and entered the University on September 11th this year. While in the Jemison school young Beasley made a very distinct and creditable record. He was appointed by the principal, J. A. Peterson, as assembly squad leader in the service club. He served as reporter of the F. F. A. at Jemison for three years. He won first place in the oratory contest in Jemison High School last year.

P. D. B. WILL CONTROL PEACH TREE BORERS

Auburn, Ala.—Farmers are advised to fight peach tree borers with paradichlorobenzene.

"This chemical should be used only on trees four years old or older as it is liable to do serious damage to the young trees," says Julian Brown, extension horticulturist of the Alabama Polytechnic Institute. "Borers on 1, 2, and 3-year-old trees should be controlled by worming. For trees 4 and 5 years old ¾ ounce of the chemical should be used per tree; for 6-year-old trees, 1 ounce; and for very old trees with large trunks, 1½ ounces."

In North Alabama the aradichlorobenzene should be applied October 1-10; in Central Alabama, October 5-15; and in South Alabama October 10-20.

County agricultural agents are in position to furnish detailed information on applying the material to trees.

FARMERS ADVISED TO FIELD SELECT CORN

Auburn, Ala.—Field selecting seed corn and storing it so as to protect it from rats and insects are important jobs which farmers should not overlook at this season of the year, advises J. C. Lowery, extension agronomist.

"Selections should be made both before and after harvest", he said. "Before harvest go through the field and select seed ears, keeing in mind the following points:

"Select for vigorous stalks as shown by superiority over surrounding stalks. Do not select ears that are good because of space of favorable conditions. Select from stalks of medium height that do not break.

"Select for two or more ears per stalk and preferably with ears turning down. Use both ears from a stalk.

"Select ears with shucks extending well over tips.

"Select ears from stalks which are free from disease. It is necessary to select many more ears than will be need for planting, for a re-selection should be made after harvesting."

Mr. Lowery is urging farmers to be certain to store their seed corn where rats and insects will not destroy it.

BUMPER CROP OF PINE SEED GROWN IN SOUTH

Auburn, Ala.—Southern pines have this year produced the best crop of seed in the last 15 years, reports the United States Forest Service, which is urging farmers and the public to cooperate in preventing and controlling forest fires.

"Fire prevention and control will help turn this bumper crop of pine seed to good account in restocking lands now lying idle and unproductive," says the Service.

STATE GAME AND FISH NEWS

Montgomery, Ala., Sept. 25.—The new McPhaul act sharply reduces the cost of the fur-catcher's license in Alabama, but surrounds the taking and shipping of fur-bearers for commercial purposes with airtight restrictions.

The open season for the taking of bears, foxes, opossums, muskrats, minks, weasels, skunks, civet cats, beaver, and otters for their furs, skins and pelts extends from November 20 to February 29.

Written permission is required from the owner before any person may hunt or trap on the lands of another with a gun and dog, or with steel traps.

Montgomery, Ala., Sept. 25.—The State Conservation Department is planning an attractive wildlife exhibit for the Alabama State Fair to be held in Birmingham this week.

The exhibit will be in charge of James M. White, field assistant in the department, and will include an aquarium containing approximately 500 bass and bream from the state fish hatchery at Estaboga; native Alabama quail, a raccoon, some deer and possibly a few squirrels.

COTTON SEED TRUCK CAPSIZED

Shortly after noon last Thursday a truck heavily loaded with cotton seed over turned just south of the Cordrey old mill.

The truck was the property of Burns Goodgame, and was driven by Fonza Bates. Mr. Bates stated that just as he was making the curve south of hte Hawkins home, the stering knuckle came loose and the truck plunged down an embankment.

The trailer body was capsized, dumping the load of cotton seed in the field. Little damage was done to the truck, and Mr. Bates came through without a scratch.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Renfroe Jones of Columbiana were in Clanton Monday of this week. Mr. and Mrs. Jones intend to move back to Clanton soon.

Mr. Marvin Huett of The Union-Banner spent Saturday night and Sunday with his sister, Mrs. Leila Eiland, in Montgomery.

Mrs. Jean Wyatt and little daughter, Inez, attended the Vaughan singing convention in Lawrenceburg, Tenn., last Saturday and Sunday. They stepped off in Birmingham Monday and took in the fair.

Arthur Tippett of Concord communjty returned Friday night from Tuscaloosa, where he spent a month in the Veterans hospital. Mr. Tippett was treated for muscular arthritis.

If you feel tired, run-down, nervous and out of sorts

—there is usually a definite reason for this

Now let's reason sensibly.

Don't try to get well in a day . . . this is asking too much of Nature. Remember, she has certain natural processes that just cannot be hurried.

But there is a certain scientific way you can assist by starting those digestive juices in the stomach to flowing more freely and at the same time supply a balanced mineral deficiency the body needs.

Therefore, if you are pale, tired and rundown . . . a frequent sign that your blood-cells are weak—then do try in the simple, easy way so many millions approve — by starting a course of S.S.S. Blood Tonic.

Much more could be said—a trial will thoroughly convince you that this way, in the absence of any organic trouble, will start you on the road of feeling like yourself again. © S.S.S. Co.

PLEASANT GROVE
JEMISON

Sunday was a wonderful day here. We called our former pastor for another year, the Rev. Maurice Hodgens. Sunday evening we had with us one of our old community boys, who has just started out in the ministry, Mr. Wooley Nix. He preached for us and I believe that the Lord is truly with him. We pray that he may be faithful and do a wonderful work for the Lord.

Mr. Fred Brockman of the police force of Birmingham, and family were guests of his uncle here last week, Mr. Z. Woodley.

Mrs. Jim Woodley and Mrs. Sam Woodley visited their brother, John Samples, last week. He is in the veterans hospital at Tuscaloosa now.

Mr. and Mrs. Vasteen Davenport, who have been in Baldwin County for some time have moved back into this community.

Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Champion and the correspondent visited their sister Mrs. Will Kellum, formerly Miss Mattie Champion of this community, of Bessemer, Saturday and Sunday. She is very ill with cancer. If any of her friends happen to go to Bessemer she would appreciate them calling to seer her. Address, 309, 3rd Ave.

The Spiveys are no bettter and Mrs. Mintie Hodgens is not expected to live but a very short while.

The neighbors worked for Mr. Geo. Spivey Monday.

Mr. and Mrs. Phillip Franklin were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Elzie Carroll Saturday night.

Mrs. Jim Woodley was the guest of the Misses Champion Thursday evening and also Mrs. E. C. Davenport visited them Friday evening.

Mrs. Clarence Marcus and little son, Aldene, spent last week with her parents and brothers, Mrs. J. A. Wright, James and Maurice.

Mr. and Mrs. Erskine Martin were the week end guests of her home folks, Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Wright.

Mr. Frank Davenport was the dinner guest of Mr. and Mrs. T. H. Campbell Sunday.

BETHSALEM NEWS

The singing society of this place met on last Sunday afternoon. The singing was called to order by the chairman, about 2:15 o'clock. We had a large attendance and some real good singing.

We elected the following officers for the coming year: Chairman, C. M. Billingsley; assistant chairman, R. M. Brigance; reporter, Ettie Charles Wilkins.

Directors for the afternoon were as follows: Orbie DeVaughn, R. M. Brigance, Arthur Williams, Ettie Charles Wilkins, Clyde Wilkins, J. W. DeVaughn, J. E. Varner, Cecil Yeargan, Marshall Burkhalter, Elbert Griffin, J. C. Broadhead and Ella Mae Jones. Quartets for the afternoon were arranged by J. E. Varner.

We wish to welcome all visitors and invite each and everyone back every fourth Sunday afternoon. Bring some one else with you.—Reporter.

Editor Union-Banner:

Word has been received in our community that rumors stating that Rev. N. Green, of Jemison, who conducted a revival in our Midway Community Building the last week in August, was run from our community before the revival was over. For the benefit of a large number of people of Chilton County who are members of his churches, we the trustees of the Midway Community House wish to make the statement that this is untrue and the revival was very successful.—Respectfully submitted,, N. Ed Jones, chairman, H. L. Pool, secretary-treasurer, W. N. Campbell.

A GOOD MAN STEPS OUT

When Will Culp turns over the keys to the tax collector's office to Tom McKee Saturday night of this week, a good man will be stepping from the employ of the county into private life. There are not many men in the county who enjoy a more universal admiration from the people in general than Bill Culp.

Starting life as a farmer and singing school teacher, Mr. Culp worked into the part-time job as substitute rural mail carrier, and then worked a year and a half as full time carrier. From that he became deputy sheriff, which position he held for several years. He entered politics in a big way for himself when he announced against Tom Rockett for Tax Collector. He was snowed under twice, but came back again and won. Mr. Culp has served one term in this elective office.

Bill Culp makes too efficient and too good an official for the people of Chilton county to be through with. He will be called upon again; and he will respond in the same pleasing, straightforward, painstaking manner that he has heretofore. The services of a man of his calibre will not be dispensed with.

COLLINS CHAPEL

Rev. Maurice Hodgens will preach at this place on Sunday, September 29th. Everyone has an invitation.

Mr. W. B. Corley, Sr., is reported to be critically ill at his home in West End, Clanton. Mr. Corley has been in declining health for over a year. His recovery is hoped for by his many friends.

BAPTIST INTERMEDIATES TO HAVE SPECIAL PROGRAM SUN.

The Superintendent and teachers of the Intermediate Department of the Clanton Baptist Sunday school are making plans to start the next quarter off with a bang, by making a concerted effort to increase the enrollment and to build up the attendance. The slogan is: "On time every time with a smile."

The officers and teachers will meet each Thursday afternoon for a few minutes to plan the work. The pupils are promised an entertainment such as a picnic, weiner roast, etc., at the end of each six weeks period, provided the attendance is 75 per cent of the enrollment.

The program for next Sunday is:

9:40 Piano music, Miss Colley.

9:45 Song service, Mr. Powell in charge, Clanton Baptist Quartet—Messrs. Jones, Powell, Wyatt and Mims.

10:00 Scripture reading responsively by Mr. Varnell and Dr. Gowan. Prayer by Mr. Powell.

10:45 "Winning Our Way by Friendship," by the Superintendent, Mr. Abrams.

10:10 to 10:40 Lesson study.

FEDERAL PARK IS PLANNED FOR SHELBY AREA

$1,150,000 Project Will Be Located Southeast of Birmingham

Plans for a Federal recreational project costing approximately $1,150,000 and situated in the hills of Shelby County, southeast of Birmingham, Birmingham, were announced here today by E. Todd, of the Recreation Demonstration Projects Bureau of the National Park Service.

The recreational area, as described by Mr. Todd at Federal Bldg., will contain 10,000 acres of land, two large lakes, and will be furnished with 75 cabins, to be rented at nominal cost for vacations of Birmingham's industrial population.

The project would afford jobs for 800 men for from 12 to 18 months, he added.

The area is about 15 miles from Birmingham, off the Montgomery Highway, and about 11 miles by way of the Florida Short Route Highway.

REVIVAL TO BE AT POPULAR SPRINGS NEXT WEEK

Folks, don't forget the revival to begin next Sunday and run through the following week. Rev. J. L. Hand will do the preaching.

The singing Sunday afternoon was very well attended. There were several other singings, and for that season there were not so many singers here, however, the singing was good. We are going to order new books and we are expecting a real good singing next fourth Sunday afternoon. Everybody come.

Services through Sunday were well attended. We gave our pastor a pounding. Many needful things were given which he appreciated very much. Rev. Paul Oden preached on Sunday and Sunday night. After B. Y. P. U., he showed some pictures of Japan. Everyone seemed to enjoy very much.

Remember all services. You are always wecome. Come.—Reporter.

It was reported that the home of Mr. Lomer Giles, near Mineral Springs, was destroyed by fire Sunday.

BIRTHDAY DINNER

On last Sunday a large crowd gathered at the home of Mr. G. W. Nelson to celebrate the birthdays of Misses Zula, Emma, Mable, Mary Nelson, Mrs. Zora Traywick, Messrs. J. I. Bice, J. O. Bice, J. L. Billingsley, John Nelson and Little James Allen Bice.

They began to gather at the home about nine o'clock, enjoying a few hours before a bountiful dinner was spread out in the shade of a small oak grove in front of the home. Thanks were returned by the Rev. E. L. Manning.

Those enjoying the occasion were: Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Nelson and family, Mr. and Mrs. J. I. Bice, Mrs. Minnie Mullins, Mr. and Mrs. L. C. Keen and family, Miss Louise Cox, Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Billingsley, Mr. and Mrs. O. C. Billingsley and family, Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Henderson and family, Mr. and Mrs. Luther Traywick, Mr. and Mrs. J. O. Bice and son, Mr. and Mrs. L. L. Traywick and family, Mr. and Mrs. Vester Bice and son, Mr. and Mrs. Ozie Gray and son.

In the afternoon pictures were taken. Between four and five o'clock everyone began to leave, each one wishing them many more happy birthdays.

OAK HILL NEWS

Our annual revival begins next Sunday night, September 29. Rev. Elliot, pastor of Tarrant City Methodist Epsopal church will do the preaching. Rev. Elliot is one of the best preachers in the Alabama Conference. All denominations are invited to come and worship with us. Pray for the success of the meeting.—E. L. Glasscock.

SANDWICH SUPPER

There will be a sandwich and ice cream supper at the home of Mr. M. F. Childress on Saturday night, Sept. 28th. There will be a pretty girl and an ugly man cake. Everyone come and help out in this worthy cause. The proceeds will go to the benefit of Mt. Carmel church.

SCREW WORM EPIDEMIC STRIKES AUTAUGA HOGS

A heavy loss of hogs in nearby Autauga county through the outbreak of screw worms was reported by T. F. McGehee, of Montgomery, in charge of screw worm control work.

McGehee reported that one farmer lost 75 pigs and blamed the heavy increase of cases on the droppings of pigs and turning of animals into the fields after crops have been harvested.

McGehee warned the producers to watch their animals closely for fresh cuts and abrasions in order to give treatment before the screw worm infestation starts.

No heavy loss has been reported from other sections of the state during recent weeks.

MRS. MARY ABBIE SMITH

Funeral services for Mrs. Mary Abbie Smith, age 70 years, were held at Walnut Creek Church last Sunday at 11 o'clock, Rev. G. B. Golden and Rev. J. W. Enfinger officiating. Spigener was in charge. Mrs. Smith died at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Mattie Snyder, Saturday morning.

AIR PROGRESS SPONSORED BY NATIONAL AERONAUTICS ASS'N

The safety of all who fly is the primary concern of the Bureau of Air Commerce of the Department of Commerce. All regulatory activities of the Bureau as well as the providing of aids and safegaurds to aviation are directed to the end that safety of flight be assured.

Seventy-six inspectors of the Bureau are at work throughout the country enforcing government regulations governing the air transportation of passengers, mail and express. These regulations deal with the airworthiness of aircraft, adequacy of ground facilities and competency of personnel. Scheduled air lines, miscellaneous operators, flying schools, repair stations, airports, and manufacturers of aircraft, aircraft engines, components and accessories are guided by the Bureau's regulations.

The licensing of pilots and aircraft is another Bureau activity directed toward increasing flying safety. The Bureau issues four classes of airplane pilot licenses: Ameteur, private, limited commercial and transport. Experience and training requirements become progressively higher as the airmen advances upward from the ameteur to the transport grade, and his privileges become correspondingly wider. Ameteur and private are non-commercial grades, limfted commercial and transport are commercial licenses. At present the Bureau has on its active list 14,349 airmen, 20,511 student pilots and 7,110 aircraft.

In order to promote safer flying over the nation's airways the Bureau maintains the Federal Airways System consisting of 20,769 miles of lighted airroutes with many additional miles marked for day travel. New routes are under construction which will add 1,115 miles to the system. Along these lines the 1,841 beacon lights operated by the Bureau are spaced approximately 10 to 15 miles apart. At intervals not to exceed 50 miles between airports the Bureau maintains 277 intermedoate airports to provide emergency landing fields. These emergency fields are equipped with green and white lights marking runways and boundaries. At important fields an airway keeper is stationed who is provided with a radio for two-way communication with airplanes. At other fields a radio range beacon is used which gives directional guidance over relatively short distances. An aviator need not depend upon the lighted airways for guidance as radio beacons are provided for use during periods of poor visibility.

An important contribution to the safety of air travel by the Bureau is the disseminattion of weather reports. The Bureau operates 12,739 miles of teletypewriter circuits and weather reports are sent over these circuits every hour. Forecasts for airways routes are furnished every four hours by the United States Weathre Bureau. This service enables a flyer to know weather conditions all along his route before he starts his trip. es that the Chilton County teachers broadcast at frequent intervals to planes in flight.

Stop Chills and Fever!

Rid Your System of Malaria!

Shivering with chills one moment and burning with fever the next—that's one of the effects of Malaria. Unless checked, the disease will do serious harm to your health. Malaria, a blood infection, calls for two things. First, destroying the infection in the blood. Second, building up the blood to overcome the effects of the disease and to fortify against further attack.

Grove's Tasteless Chill Tonic supplies both these effects. It contains tasteless quinine, which kills the infection in the blood, and iron, which enriches and builds up the blood. Chills and fever soon stop and you are restored to health and comfort. For half a century, Grove's Tasteless Chill Tonic has been sure relief for Malaria. It is just as useful, too, as a general tonic for old and young. Pleasant to take and absolutely harmless. Safe to give children. Get a bottle at any drug store. Now two sizes—50c and $1. The $1 size contains 2½ times as much as the 50c size and gives you 25% more for your money.

NOTICE

I have a very fine Jack for service at my place in Clanton. Parties interested are invited to see me for details.

JOHNSON TO ASSAIL NEW DEAL'S FAULTS

Washington, Sept. 20.—Sharply attacking many phases of the New Deal Hugh S. Johnson today revealed plans for taking the stump as a friendly but vigorous critic of the administration.

Soon to retire from his second New Deal post, the General, in an interview, outlined an extended speaking lecture tour for the frank urpose of discussing publicly the "lousy aspects of this administration in the hope that some good will come of it."

He expects to retire as Works Progress Administrator for New York state October 15. He will begin his tour with an address aat the San Diego exposition October 2. After the middle of the month his engagements will take him to the northwest, the Pacific coast, the southwest and the southeast. The tour will be completed about January 1.

In typically picturesque language, Gen. Johnson asserted he was actuated only by "unswerving loyalty to the President and his ideals." He believed, he said, that he could be of service by calling public attention to what he considered the Administration's mistakes.

"I consider it my duty to discuss the lousy aspects of this administration because everybody knows it has made mistakes and is continuing to make them," he said. "I believe it's a wholesome process on the road to straightening things out.

"And I think this is a good time to do it because the fundamental election choice next year will lie between the principles of Hooverism—which means special privilege—and those of Roosevelt, which means social privilege. Public thinking must be confined to the real issue."

Mrs. C. C. Polk, of Hawkinsville, Ala., is visiting her son, Mr. W. M. Polk, Sr., and Mrs. Polk. Mr. George Polk and Mrs. Henry Jones motored down for her Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Horsley White and daughters spent Sunday in Sylacauga with friends.

Mr. Wilson Gibson, of the Macedonia community was a visitor in Clanton Saturday.

UNIVERSITY NEWS

University, Ala., Sept. 25.—A record enrollment of 4,567 students was registered by the end of the fifth day of the regular session of the University of Alabama, according to an announcement made through the office of Dr. George H. Denny, president of the University. In his statement Dr. Denny stated that the figure was reached in spite of the fact that more out-of-state applications had been rejected than ever before. Dr. Denny conservatively estimated total registration for the year at 4,850 students as later registrations are in line with those of previous years.

One thousand and forty of these registered were women students.

The general program for the University Y. M. C. A. for the coming year was announced by Jim Hardwick, state secretary for Alabama colleges and high schools. The program includes church activities, deputation work in state high schools by college leaders, freshmen work, the sponsoring of a Charity Ball and the annual Christmas party.

Several new courses have been added to the cirriculum of the University of Alabama. Major credits of 30 hours are now available for the first time in the departments of journalism and psychology. Other new courses have been added to the curricula of the departments of sociology, political science, romance languages, chemistry and biology.

The Crimson Tide will be minus the service of some of its most dependable players when it meets Howard in the first game Saturday. Riley Smith, stellar quarterback is expected to be out for another week or more with a torn ligament in his leg. The leg is in a plaster cast.

Joe Riley, counted on to fill All-American Dixie Howell's shoes, has also suffered a torn ligament. Other injuries have been sustained by Bill Peters, guard, Ruby Rohrdanz, fullback, and Tarzan White, guard.

BOB JONES

COMMENTS ON HERE AND HEREAFTER.

The writer has been studying for the last few days the discoveries which have been found in the silent centuries, meaning the first three centuries of the Christian era. There isn't any question but that the New Testament and the Old Testament as we have them are the same testaments they had in those silent centuries. The writer is convinced that the modernists have been most unfair and often dishonest when they have taught that the Bible we love now is not the same Bible of the silent centuries. One great writer said that all the Bible except approximately fourteen verses can be found in the writings of the early church.

Recently in my studies I noted where in the early history of the Christian era a Jewess was a party to a suit in court. It so happened that the judge was a Christian. The judge, during an intermission, talked to the Jewess about her soul. The Jewess' brother was a rabbi and he expressed indignation at the judge's trying to make a Christian out of his sister. Thank God there have always been some Christians in all walks of life who were faithful witnesses. The writer knew one prosecuting attorney who in talking to the jury explained the vicarious atonement which Jesus Christ made on the cross. A juror who was a wicked man got under conviction and was converted. The attorney led him to Christ after the court adjourned. We Christian people have many wonderful opportunities to witness if we would only be faithful to our trust. I told a governor friend of mine who is a Christian that if I were in his place I would go as far for Jesus Christ as the Constitution of the State would let me go.

Lesson for September 29

JOHN (THE MINISTER AND HIS PEOPLE)

LESSON TEXT—Third Epistle of John.

GOLDEN TEXT—Beloved, imitate not that which is evil, but that which is good. He that doeth good is of God: he that doeth evil hath not seen God.—III John 11.

PRIMARY TOPIC—A Letter From John.

JUNIOR TOPIC—With Ink and Pen.

INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOPIC—Making Our Church Friendly.

YOUNG PEOPLE AND ADULT TOPIC—A Friendly and Hospitable Church.

I. Personal History.

1. He was the son of Zebedee and brother of the apostle James (Matt. 4:21). The implication is that his father was in easy circumstances, for he had boats and hired servants (Mark 1:19, 20).

2. He was a disciple of John the Baptist (John 1:35-40). This was a most valuable training, for John was a man sent from God (John 1:6). The fiery eloquence of the Baptist no doubt profoundly impressed him.

3. He was called to follow Jesus (Matt. 4:21, 22). He was first called into the relationship of a disciple. As a disciple he came to know Jesus personally.

4. Appointed as an apostle (Matt. 10:2). Having been tested as a disciple, he now is appointed as an apostle (Mark 3:13-19; Luke 6:13-16).

II. His Character.

1. He was reserved. That is, he was decidedly reticent about himself. He speaks of himself as "the disciple whom Jesus loved" and "that other disciple."

2. He possessed a rare gift of penetrative insight. The truths set forth in his writings did not come as a result of reasoned judgment, but of penetrative insight. He was indeed a seer.

3. He was thoroughly masculine. Christian art does him a thorough injustice in portraying him as effeminate. He was intense, vehement in his temperament. He was truly a "son of thunder," as Christ declared (Mark 3:17).

III. Some Instances of Behavior.

1. Intolerance of irregular service (Luke 9:49, 50). There was a certain disciple who seems to have been intelligently witnessing and God had honored his testimony with power to cast out devils. John forbade him because he was not working with them.

2. His righteous indignation displayed (Luke 9:51-56). When Jesus had set his face toward Jerusalem some Samaritans refused to extend hospitality to him. This treatment of his Master so aroused the anger of John and James that they desired to call down fire from heaven to burn them up. This action grew out of John's great love for his Master.

3. John's care of Christ's mother (John 19:25-27). From the cross Jesus beheld his mother and committed her to the tender care of John. The intense love that he had for his Lord would move him to express the tenderest affection for his mother.

IV. His Third Epistle.

This is one of the three private Epistles of the New Testament and gives us a look into the early church life and also a picture of the aged apostle. This Epistle consists of the following parts:

1. The salutation (vv. 1-4). This letter was addressed to Gaius, with the fervent wish that his temporal prosperity and physical health would be measured by the measure of the increase of his spirituality. His supreme joy was to hear that his children were walking in the truth

2. His praise for Gaius (vv. 5-8). This praise was for the hospitality which Gaius showed toward some traveling evangelists. In spite of the opposition of a certain prominent member of the church, Gaius received these preachers into his home. To receive God's messengers into our homes and send them forth on their journey is a deed worthy of God. One of the best ways to help the truth is to show hospitality to its messengers.

3. His condemnation of Diotrephes (vv. 9, 10). The sin of this man was his over-weening self-confidence and arrogance. He loved to have the place of pre-eminence; therefore, for that reason he refused to receive these traveling evangelists and expelled from the church those who had received them into their homes. He even maliciously attacked John the beloved pastor. His spirit of pride moved him to acts of tyranny toward others.

4. His commendation of Demetrius (v. 12). Demetrius was perhaps the bearer of this letter. John gives the assurance that Demetrius was of good report among all men. His life of good deeds proved that he was in fellowship with God.

Joys

We should publish our joys and conceal our griefs.

The worse the passage, the more welcome the port.

Joy and sorrow are next-door neighbors.

Joy which we cannot share with others is only half enjoyed.

Enthusiasm

To have true enthusiasm, we must have faith, assurance, hope, reliance and confidence in our own loyalty and ability.

Mr. Dubb Huddleston spent Saturday in Tuskegee with his parents.

"Weather machines" in the Chesterfield factories keep the heat and moisture at a steady even level . . .

This control of temperature and humidity helps to retain the full flavor and aroma of the tobaccos you smoke in Chesterfields.

And it has a great deal to do with providing the proper working conditions for the employes who handle the tobaccos and operate the Chesterfield machines.

Mild ripe tobaccos and modern up-to-date factories with proper control of temperature and humidity help to make Chesterfield . . .

IN MEMORY OF GRANDMOTHER GILES

On Monday, September 9th, at three o'clock, God, in His great power and wisdom sent the angels of heaven to the home of Mr. and Mrs. F. M. Littlejohn, of Clanton and carried away the spirit of our dear mother and grandmother, Mrs. Jane Giles.

Grandmother lived to the ripe old age of 75 years. She had been failing in health quite a number of years. She leaves to mourn her departure, three children, two sons and one daughter; W. B. Giles of Clanton, G. L. Giles of Birmingham, Mrs. Annie Littlejohn of Clanton, eighteen grand children and eight great grandchildren. A host of relatives and friends.

Everyone who knew her loved her. She was always ready and willing to lend a helping hand. Grandmother isn't dead, she is only sleeping that sweet beautiful sleep.

The remains were laid to rest in the Liberty Hill cemetery with Martin and Sons in charge. Funeral services were conducted by Rev. A. L. Foshee and Rev. J. W. Giles of Birmingham. —Mrs. Gussie Williams, A Granddaughter.

MR. CROWE OUT OF MARKET

Mr. Ira Crowe wishes to announce to his friends that after this week he will no longer be connected with the Taylor Grocery and Market, formerly Wade Grocery. Mr. Crowe says that he will do outside work for a while, as his health will not permit him working inside.

HIGHLAND NEWS

Last Saturday and Sunday were our regular preaching days. Brother Lockhart delivered two wonderful messages which were thoroughly enjoyed by all who were present. There were 68 present at Sunday school and our superintendent made a request for as many as could to be present next Sunday. We have a good Sunday school but still there is room for a great improvement. May we all strive to make it better.—Reporter.

Word is received from Oliver Duke in Veterans hospital, Tuscaloosa, that his right hand has been amputated. Mr. Duke hopes to return home in a few days.

Christian Endeavor News

The members of the Christian Endeavor who did not go to Shelby last Sunday night had their meeting at the fish pool on the Thorsby Institute campus. Lois Rister and Ruth Cosby were in charge of the program.

The subject was "What Welcome Would We Give Christ Today?" Several members had parts and Miss Glasson gave an interesting talk. Appropriate hymns were sung.

Last Saturday night members of the Christian Endeavor Society enjoyed a social at the parsonage. Many interesting games were played. We were glad to have present Miss Davison, Missen Jenkins, Glasson, Ford, Klingelhofer and Fairbank. The social ended with the society singing "Blest be the Tie that Binds," and a prayer by Rev. Lawrence Stanley.

One section of the Thorsby Christian Endeavor Society, consisting of the members of the live in town, went to the Congregational church, at Shelby, Alabama, with Rev. Lawrence Stanley on Sunday evening. These members gave an interesting program, the topic of which was "A Well Rounded Life." Juanita Each and Ruth Primm and Richard Peterson sang "Beautiful Garden of Prayer." There were eight talks given on various phases of the subject, and as each speaker began he placed a colored piece of paper on a circle bearing his topic. After all were through, there was a round circle bearing the colors of the rainbow and that made the chart showing a "Well Rounded Life." After the Christian Endeavor program Mr. Stanley delivered a short sermon.

The above program will be repeated at the Christian Endeavor meeting at the Congregational church next Sunday evening.

THORSBY INSTITUTE NEWS

A week from Saturday night at 7:30 the Helen Keller Literary Society will hold its first open meeting. The public is invited. The admission charge is ten cents, the same as in the past. Miss Klingelhoefer has charge of planning the program. She is using pupils in this year's and last year's Thorsby Institute Bible classes. A very interesting program has been arranged.

The Philomathic club met on Friday and elected as sponsor, Ruth Cosby, and as girls athletic manager, Mary Nelle Pate. The boys athletic manager is Robert Minor. Miss Mattingly is faculty advisor.

The Pushamataha club elected as sponsor, Mary Francis Duke; as the girls athletic manager, Ruth Higgins; as boys athletic manager, Richard Peterson. Miss Ford is faculty adviser.

On October 19 at 7:30 p.m. in the auditorium, Miss Katheryn Foss, music teacher at the Institute, expects to give a voice recital containing pieces used on her graduating recital from Piedmont College. She will be accompanied by Miss Jane Roberts of Clanton. Those who have heard Miss Foss sing will feel that a treat is in store for them. Miss Foss has at present all the piano and voice pupils she can find time for. If a vacancy should occur later, she will notify any on a waiting list, unless they are taking elsewhere. Besides individual pupils she has charge of the girls glee club, which numbers nineteen; two choruses of girls and a group of boys who are interested in singing.

We hope, in October, to be able to start a music club to meet one night a week, spending part of the time in studying about music, authors, etc., and part of the time in singing. There will be a slight charge, probably twenty-five cents a week. If any one should be interested in such a club or class please speak to Miss Foss or to Miss Jenkins. This would probably not include any Institute pupils, but any one in town interested in good music would be welcome. Round notes will be used. If some are not familiar with round notes are interested in such a class, probably some time may be taken to teach them.

As so many Thorsby Institute graduates have attended Piedmont College, Demorest, Ga., and three of Piedmont's graduates are teachers at Thorsby Institute, it might be interesting to know that according to an article in a recent "Northeast Georgian" all of last year's Piedmont graduates have been placed in positions. The college could not fill all the places open to its graduates. Piedmont has made quite a name for itself, particularly in Georgia, in turning out well-trained graduates of high ideals. Often its graduates have been preferred to regular University graduates.

Gentlemen:

The other evening when I came home from my work I walked out into the kitchen and found the maid ironing and putting the ironed clothes on top of the oven of our electric range. We always have biscuits for supper so I knew that our oven must be hot, and I scolded the maid for her carelessness. She merely laughed and said, "Put your hand on the oven, boss," and much to my surprise the outside of the oven was barely warm. Then she said, "Now open the oven door," and there was all the heat in the oven.

My wife had been telling me about how clean and cool an electric range is and I thought that some salesman had just gotten her over-enthusiastic. We agree with you when you say that electricity is cheap in Alabama.

CHILTON HIGH FOOTBALL TEAM GOING TO SELMA

The Chilton County High School football team will open its regular season next Friday afternoon at Selma with the Selma High team.

The Chilton team this year is a bit light, but judging from the practice game with Verbena High here a few days ago, the line has the makings of one of the best Chilton has had in years. They were a stone wall against Verbena's ball carriers.

In the backfield is "Tin Horn" Johnson, triple threat man; Johnson is a line plunger second to none in high school circles, circles the ends well, and is the passing mainstay; he is a good defensive man, also. "Dub" Williamson is the speed merchant of the backfield, can show his heels to most high school players, and is an excellent broken field runner. "Lefty" Robinson lends weight and punch to the ball carrying department. And "Wildcat" Marlar is one of the "scrappin'est" backs to wear the Orange and Blue in years.

We expect to see a good team built at Chilton this year. If you are a football fan, go with the "Tigers" on Friday as they make their first invasion of the season.

ELECTRIFICATION PROGRAM SURVEY IS BEING MADE

For the past several days Mr. J. F. Briskey, from the office of Gordon Persons, director of the State Rural Eletrification Authority, at Montgomrey, has been in Chilton County making extensive surveys regarding proposed rural electric lines in Chilton.

He completed his survey last Monday and turned in his maps and recommendations to the head office on Tuesday morning. Mr. Briskey had the following to say:

"I have worked the surveys in several counties in Alabama, and Chilton has some of the most thickly settled communities I have found anywhere. I shall recommend grant for several of the projects asked for, and am sure quite a few will go through. With the settlements so thick, I am surprised that rural electrification has not been accomplished in Chilton County already."

Mr. Briskey carried with him to Montgomery numerous maps and descriptions of proposed lines, and was highly optimistic in regard to Chilton's chances of becoming an electricially served county in rural districts.

During the broadcast two hundred amateur cameramen will be in the studio taking pictures, the first time a big broadcast has been opened to amateur photographers.

JONAH AND THE WHALE

A Bible story I learned when a youth,
Is a big fish story, but every word truth;
Just listen right good, while I tell you the tale,
How Jonah the prophet was caught by the whale.

Now Jonah had sinned and strayed from the fold,
And a big fish caught him and swallowed him whole;
There's part of the story that's awful sad,
The city of Nineveh had gone to the bad.

The Lord looked down on their wicked ways,
In hope of repentance in forty more days;
The Lord said to Jonah, go preach my word,
To that wicked city that it may be heard.

If they don't repent of their wicked ways,
I'll destroy the city in forty more days;
The Lord called Jonah, old Jonah said no,
I'm a hard shell Baptist, and just can't go.

Those people of Nineveh are nothing to me,
I'm no foreign missionary and never will be;
So he went to Joppa, in the greatest of haste,
And boarded a ship for a different place.

The Lord looked down on the Bible records,
And saw old Jonah running form the Lord,
He set the wind blowing, and endangered the sail,
And the efforts of Jonah were beginning to fail.

The ship was rocking and tossed by the way,
And Jonah was sorry he didn't obey;
Then Jonah confessed that it was caused by his sin,
The crew threw him out, and the whale took him in.

The whale said to Jonah, old fellow don't fret,
I'm sent here to take you out of the wet;
But you are going to get punished for your sin,
So he opened his mouth and Jonah went in.

The funniest sight that ever was seen,
Was Jonah going off in his new submarine;
So the sinners of Nineveh failed to repent,
For the messenger of warning, to them was missent.

On the beds of the sea the whale tried to rest,
He swallowed his food but it didn't digest;
He got mighty restless, and sorely afraid,
He rumbled inside, while the old prophet prayed.

So you see how God's message to Nineveh lays,
In the dead letter office, three nights and days;
The old prophet shut in as tight as a lock,
But things will come open as sure as you knock.

The third day the whale rose up from his bed.
Sick at his stomach, with a pain in his head;
And said to himself, I must have air quick,
For this old backslider is making me sick.

So he winked his eyes and wiggled his tail,
And pulled for the shore to deliver his mail;
He got to the shore, he looked all around,
And he vomited old Jonah clean out on the ground.

Then Jonah thanked God for His mercy and Grace,
And looked at the whale with a great long face;
And said after three days and nights you've found,
A good old fellow is hard to down.

He looked all around with a wistful eye,
And sat down in the sunshine, his clothing to dry;
And thought how much better his preaching to be,
From a whale cemetery, a prophet set free.

After resting himself and drying in the sun,
He started for Nineveh as hard as he could run;
And said to himself, I must hurry and try not to sin,
I'm sure I don't want to get swallowed again.

He arrived in the city about a week late,
And preached from the time he entered the gate;
Till the whole population repented and prayed,
And the great hand of vengeance and justice was stayed.

DEATH OF SENATOR LONG

The assassination of Senator Huey Long has been generally deplored by the people of the United States, and the sympathy for the Louisiana celebrity's family has been genuine. No matter how well they may like or how bitterly they may dislike an individual, our people find something abhorrent, something un-American in assassination. We have generally settled our political quarrels at the polls and not by personal violence.

There has been considerable discussion as to the probable national political effect of the unexpected death of Senator Long. Several theories have been advanced but nobody knows what is before us in a political way. It is very likely that what is to happen in America politically will happen, regardless of the fortunes of any one man. There can be little doubt, of course, that in Louisiana the death of the senior senator will have profound effect. Senator Long has been virtual political dictator of the state and that there will be a reforming of political lines can be taken for granted. Just what the final outcome may be, no man at this time is able to foretell.

While we don't agree in principle with them, the friends of the Soviet Union in the United States may have some reason to feel surprised that Cordell Hull threatens to recall our ambassador from Russia. Maybe Russia did fail to keep the campaign promises made when she wanted recognition. But what is so strange or unusual about failing to keep camaign promises?

A friend of ours wants to trade his 1930 wife in on a 1935 model. He says the paint job is as good as ever.

Bacon a year ago, 15 cents a pound; bacon today, 40 cents a pound and still going up. A rise of 166 per cent in one year. The Roosevelt's Brain Trusters did it—they planned it. There is one of your visible taxes—the kind that smarts.—High Bridge, N. J., Gazette.

NATIONAL AFFAIRS

(By Frank P. Litschert

One of the principal claims of the proponents of the AAA theory of planned scarcity and processing taxes is that it is an effort to give the farmers the benefit of a protective tariff. They hold that the consumer is "taxed" by our tariff in the things that he buys and that he is being assessed by the processing tax, again to give the producing farmer the benefit of higher prices. Without going into the analogy of the protective tarrif and the processing tax, and the analogy is as full of holes as a Florida sponge, one big difference may be cited. The protective tariff does not increase production at home, at the expense of the producers abroad, while the AAA theory decreases production at home, for the benefit of foreign producers, who profit by the scarcity and high prices in America.

But that is not all of the story. It is no longer a theory which confronts us, but a condition—if we are permitted to borrow an expression commonly attributed to Grover Cleveland. What some of the New Dealers seem to forget is that our farm products already have a protective tariff. Planned scarcity and the processing tax in America have so jacked up prices that foreign producers are sending us the produce of their farms over the tariff wall. Whether or not more of this scarcity was brought about by the Brain Trusters or Mother Nature, it is now evident that we are receiving a wide variety of foreign agricultural imports, and that nobody in the United States is getting any benefit from this.

We are no longer as a nation a great exporter of farm products. In fact, we are not now self sufficient in this respect. Certainly we will no longer be a great exporter—with or without Secretary Hull's new treaties—unless we have something to export-The high prices are not doing the farmer as much good as was anticipated because he doesn't have much to sell, either in our markets or in the markets abroad. The foreign producer is getting the breaks, and he certainly is enjoying himself. So as a "protective tariff" for the farmer, the processing tax is a decided washout, despite anything the New Dealers may say to the contrary. It is not keeping out foreign products as a protective tariff is supposed to do. It is, by increasing the price on the home produce, inviting in the foreign article, helping it to jump the tariff wall, which was erected by the "wicked old protectionists" of the Harding, and Coolidge and Hoover days.

In the meantime, let it be remembered that all efforts to increase the exports of our farmers through trade treaties—by letting in foreign goods so that the alien can get money to buy the produce of our farmers, seem decidedly "all wet," in view of the fact that our farmers have little or no produce phich they can sell abroad.

As a matter of fact, every effort has been made by the protectionists to help the American farmer wherever possible. There is no duty on any of the things imported which are used exclusively on the farm. And there is a duty on most products which are raised on the American farm. That this has been effective in many instances is now indicated when scarcity and the processng tax enable the foreigner to pay our tariff and still dump his agricultural wares into American markets. But to call the processing tax a "protective tariff measure" for our farmers when it encourages imports rather than excludes them is just a little thick, to say the least.

A BREATHING SPELL

One of the principal topics of political conversation and debate continues to be the public and economic effect of the exchange of letters between the President and Roy Howard, head of the United Press, in which the chief executive has written that most of his program has been enacted and business may now have a "breathing spell."

The opinion on the soundness and effectiveness of the letter continues, very naturally, to be divided along political lines. Supporters of the administration continue to hail it with satisfaction on the theory that the letter of the President has restored confidence and is a signal for business to go ahead. They predict that everything will be much improved throughout the country in an economic way next year.

Critics of the administration take an opposite view. They point out that the promise to give business a breathing spell will not restore confidence because nobody is yet convinced as to what it means. They add that promises were made in 1932 to balance the budget, maintain the gold standard, cut the public payroll and trim bureaucracy. These promises, they continue, have not exactly been carried out and it remains to be seen what will really be done toward giving business a breathing spell.

Other critics declare that the use of the words "breathing spell" was bad political strategy. They take the view that the employment of these words indicates that the administration has been pummeling business, and admits it now needs a rest. It is pointed out that a prize fighter only gets a breathing spell between rounds, after he has been pounded by an adversary. And he may expect to get more pummeling at the sound of the bell when the breathing spell is over. Now there has never been any public admission on the part of the directors of the New Deal that it has been throttling business. Yet the indication that business is to be granted a breathing spell might seem to indicate that there has been some punishment in the past and that more can be anticipated in the future. Such, in substance, is the view taken by many of the critics of the so-called "breathing spell" for business theory.

Many students of economics have pointed out that business seemed to get better in the United States almost immediately after the Sspremh Court invalidated the NRA, Whether or not this was a coincidence, it has that it was the U. S. Supreme Court which gave business its first breathing spell, and that more beneficial breathing spells may be anticipated this winter from the same source.

Be that as it may, any breathing spell which business is now to get is purely tentative. Congress meets again in January. There will be all sorts of demands from all sorts of interests, for government aid to this, that and the other project. All of which may tend to make Ameriran business a little groggy again. Only the future can tell.

DOES PROPERTY HAVE RIGHTS?

One of the charges frequently made by the so-called liberal against those who disagree with him is that his opponent is seeking to place property rights above human rights, In assertions of this nature he falls into the popular error that there is a distinct division between human rights and the so-called "rights" of property.

As a matter of fact, roperty has no rights. Most property is inanimate of its very nature. For example: an undiscovered continent might be teeming with oil, and timber, minerals and fur bearing animals, but the so-called property has no rights of its own. It remains in its natural state until chance brings the coming of man. Then all things are changed. But what man brings with him are his human rights to develop and to own property.

So there are no real property rights, only human rights. The most precious right which man possesses is his spiritual right, the right to worship God according to the dictates of his own conscience, to enjoy the freedom of his own soul. His next most precious privilege is the right to own his own to do with it as he will so long as he violates neither Divine law nor human rights of others.

Then the next right which is precious to him, the right which shows that he is a civilized being, living in a civilized community, is the right to own and to accumulate property, to use it for his own good, for the good of his own loved ones, of his neighbors and the community. It is the enlightened right to earn and possess the material blessings of life, which the misguided "reformers" often miscall the "property right." This is in fact one of the greatest of human rights and marks the difference between civilization and darkness, between progress and decay.

When a man seeks for selfish purposes to incite those who, due often to their own lack of initiative or industry, have acquired no property of their own, to force the frugal and industrious man to divide with them the fruit of his labors, they usually talk about "property rights" and the necessity to bend these to "human rights." What they are really seeking to do is not to exalt human rights above any so-called property rights but to force a redivision of the accumulated property of the world, and this by no means in accordance with human rights.

A lot of this AAA recovery legislation must have been written by a fellow traveling around in a revolving door.

A survey shows that one half the families living in our large cities own automobiles. Isn't that just too bad? These ignorant, downtrodden tools of capitalism go joy-riding while the intelligent and uplifted proletariat of Russia have to walk.

Well, if we did follow the advice of the pacifist and beat our swords into plowshares just think what the AAA could hire us to do with them.

Women of Hungary wear many petticoats, often as many as twenty at a time, it is said. Why don't the New Deal professors move our textile industry over there?

MAN IN THE MOON

POLITICAL PLEDGES

The editor of The Birmingham Age-Herald must have been attending a revival or something during the summer, for, believe it or not, he has come out in the open for once, and shed the cloak of sypocrisy that has been the policy of that newspaper, as well as others in the state, in regard to political pledges made by standard bearers of the Democratic party in 1932. In an editorial, "Platform Pledges", which appeared in a recent issue of The Age-Herald, an analysis is made of the 29 important pledges given by the Democratic platform in 1932, as well as that editor's idea of hew well they have been carried out. I quote The AgeHerald:

"Of the 29 important planks in the 1932 Democratic platform, 19 have been carried out to an extent sufficient to warrant conclusion that the administration has made an honest effort to redeem its pledges in full. In some cases only a start has been made, but a start that tends toward fulfillment. Of the remaining 10 platform pledges, six have directly violated, and the redemption of the other four is a matter of dispute".

Insasmuch as the Democratic slate of officials were elected in 1932 on a "recovery" platform, let us look over these "planks that have been carried out", as well as the others.

1. Repeal of the 18th Amendment. We leave the answer to your own good judgment as to just how far this has carried the nation on the road to recovery. Personally, I do not believe it has helped one iota.

2. Legalization of beer prior to repeal. We put the same brand on this one as the first. We still can't see how the country is going to drink itself back to recovery.

3. Federal aid to states for relief, and expansion of public works. In carrying out this pledge, the officials have succeeded in building up the biggest national debt in the history of the country, spending more during the first 14 months of the present administration than was required to finance the United States government during the first 124 years of its existence as a nation. Again we leave it to your good judgment as to the degree of permanent recovery that has been effected.

4. Reciprocal tariff agreements (a beginning made). The mention The Age-Herald makes of this pledge is in the exact words as are given above—"a beginning made". These tariff agreements are a far cry from the tariff standards set up by past Republican administrations, and have been managed in such manner to raise a seemingly insurmountable barrier in trade circles between our country and other nations. Although, as The Age-Herald states there has been only "a beginning made", evidence is easy to find that these agreements have proved a collosal blunder.

5. Refinancing of farm mortgages. Investigate the inner workings of the corporation set up by the government, and you will find that the government lends the money for this work to this corporation at a rate of 2½ per cent interest, and the corporation relends it to farmers at 5 per cent. Where does the extra 2½ cents go? If the government is so anxious to remember "the forgotten man", why does he not receive the full benefit of the loan, instead of doing the job half way?

6. Control of crop surpluses (under the AAA). This we honestly believe to be one of the biggest errors made by the present administration. It has made serfs and peons of free born Americans, and the "benefits" derived are far below the discomforts caused farmers through it.

7. Raising of prices of agricultural products above cost of production (through AAA and currency devaluation). Today the prices farmers receive for their products are far more out of ratio with prices they have to pay for articles they must purchase than they were during the poorest of the depression. Even when cotton was 5 cents a pound (although we certainly do not defend this as a fair price for cotton), even then meat was 5 or 6 cents a pound, the best flour was never higher than 60 cents a sack, with other commodities in proportion. Now the poorest grade of white meat is not less than 25 cents per pound, good flour is around $1.25 a sack, etc. On top of all this, the farmers' crop allowance is so restricted that his condition is worse than ever, and he cannot really call his soul his own. His price for his products is doubled, while he pays from two to five times as much for what he buys, and his production is cut in half, in addition. The farmer loses.

8. Conservation and development of nation's power. Inasmuch as private development of water power had already shown itself able to produce far more power than it could sell, we fail to see where the government accomplished anything by further water power development, causing a still larger power surplus. In addition, we fail to see the connection water power and its development has with "recovery", the principal aim the New Deal asserted it had in mind.

9. Publicity on securities. Answer this question for yourself: How much are you interested in knowing how much securities anyone holds, and what these securities are? You know that 999 people out of 1,000 don't give a rap who own securities. Then what good has the publicity on securities done the average man, and in what possible way can this help recovery? The only way this extensive and exceedingly costly survey has helped is to provide governmental tax highwaymen and arch-criminals with a list to work from. It gives the tax officials something to use in the "soak the rich" program, and helps blackmailers, kidnapers, etc., to know just who is the best victim to molest.

10. Federal regulation of stock exchanges. In a manner of speaking, this is a pretty good project, and was needed. Even allowing this, however, how was it helped toward recovery?

11. Release of funds in closed banks, and more rigid supervision of national banks. This is the first real worth while deed done. Even then the job was only half done. Strict supervision over all banks to protect depositors would be the ideal goal, and is absolutely possible.

12. Ending of securities affiliates and firmer control over use of Federal Reserve credit for speculative purposes. We fail to see the use of the government sticking its nose into the business of holding companies, but highly commend the legislation enacted to curb speculation to control prices.

13. Independence for the Phillipines. Quite a commendable move, if the Phillipines can be considered fully schooled in self-government, and the new country will not turn out to be an unprofitable liability.

14. Reforms in administration of justice. Another good move. We believe in justice at all times, and heartily commend the administration for putting "teeth" in the Department of Justice, if this is what this item refers to.

15. Reduction in hours of labor (under the NRA). This, we believe, is the only commendable thing the NRA brought about, and we believe this benefit will continue without compulsory law, since the good of it has been seen and realized.

16. International conference to be initiated on foreign trade, exchange problems and silver. We maintain that this move has been a complete flop. We have succeeded in losing most of our foreign trade, exchange is more out of joint than ever before, and silver has taken the place of gold, the natural and only dependalbe standard of value the world, as a whole, ever has and ever will recognize.

17. Unemployment and old age pensions. A good move if it were a practical one. However, we believe this to be a total impossibility, and a heavy and everincreasing drain on the already overburdened American taxpayer.

18. Regulation of holding companies and of rates of interstate utility companies. As stated before, we fail to see why the government should stick its nose into the business of private finance corporations unless fraud is evident. However, we do subscribe to the idea of having the national government keep an eye on rates, for the sake of justice.

19. Responsibility of the government for human welfare. We fail to see how the nation can sensibly take upon itself the task of looking after every indigent citizen in this country, commendable as the idea might be if it were possible. A much better way to do this would be for the officials to stick to their "recovery" idea. Once recovery is a reality, nearly everyone will be able to take care of himself, and the welfare of these few who cannot will always find a ready hand to help them. What Americans want, as a rule, is a chance to EARN a living—not charity.

Now for a glance at the "direct violations". In scanning these, it will be seen that three of them were among the most important in the whole platform. The three others were important, but it is our firm conviction that the omission of them was the best thing that might have happened, although they were a part of the imposing program.

1. Reduction of government expenses by at least 25 per cent through retrenchments, consolidations, economy and efficiency. This was the main plank in the 1932 platform, and came in for much comment in every campaign speech. Criticism was poked at the Hoover administration for its enormous expense and bureau system. When the present administration went into power, instead of retrenchments an immediate plan was launched to begin a gigantic spending spree, to "spend our way back to prosperity"; instead of consolidation of departments and bureaus. countless new ones were established, each with its set of officials to be paid; this naturally caused the new administration to have to crawfish on its highly touted economy program; and so far as efficiency is concerned, economic experts, without regard to politics, have pronounced the present setup as the most inefficient roster of officials ever to grace (or disgrace) the Capitol. I believe this is the most flagrant violation of a political party pledge to be found in the annals of American political history. If it isn't, thn I'd like for someone to name the occasion which tops it.

2. Balancing of the budget by taxation on basis of ability to pay. This was a direct slap at big business, and the administration took absolutely no notice whatsoever of the well-known fact that taxes ultimately come out of the consumer, and that any special tax imposed, even though put on big business, finally is paid by the man who produces something from nothing. There is no other way around it. If a tax is put on a coal baron, an oil magnate, a big grain dealer, a wholesale cloth goods merchant or manufacturer, or any other one of the many other different branches of business, the business head affected immediately apportions that tax cost out over his production schedule, and again the consumer foots the bill. Isn't that so? But the administration seemed to take no cognizance of proved and undeniable natural rules and effects for the conducting of business. They merely drew up their plans on paper and put them to work, without trying to check them to see if they were practical. As you will know, anyone can draw up a wonderful plan on paper, but making practice pan out with theory is a decidedly different matter. So, instead of balancing the budget, by hitherto unheard-of spending and the installation of a double system of book-keeping the administration has thrown the budget more out of balance than at any time in the history of the nation.

3. Strengthening of the anti-trust laws to prevent monoply, and their revision for the benefit of the small busines man and labor. In the 1932 campaign much was said about the "forgotten man", and so far as any help along the lines this plank in the platform was supposed to effect the forgotten man is still forgotten, only more so.

4. Reducing burden of military and naval appropriations in time of peace. We firmly believe in keeping our national defense up to a standard commensurate with our place in affairs. The United States is the richest country in the world, and greedy old world eyes forever look toward us covetously. Does a bank leave its deposits unprotected? Do you leave your valuables where thieves and robbers may take their toll without you having a chance to protect yourself? You know that the more valuables you have around, or the more money is held in a bank, the stronger is the precaution taken for safety. If this be so—if our country is the richest in the world, then why should we not have adequate protection? Do not misunderstand—I hate war as badly as anyone, yet I firmly believe that adequate protection is absolutely a pressing necessity. In this sense I am glad to commend the present administration for any extra precaution it has taken for national safety. I believe that the better our country is prepared, the better our chance to retain peace. The bully will assault a weakling, but if he has reason to believe that his victim is fully prepared, he will not attack, much as he would like to. Again I commend the administration in increasing our defense.

5. Tariff for revenue only. As a Republican, one who believes wholeheartedly in Republican principles, I again commend the present administration for not reducing the Hawley-Smoot tariff act. America needs a tariff, must have it, to protect our producers and laborers against the import of cheap products, made with starvation wages such as are paid in Europe. We believe in a tariff, not only a "tariff for revenue only", but a protective tariff, to keep safe our higher American standard of living and working conditions.

6. Adherence to the World Court. Our hats are off to those congressmen who displayed grit enough to buck the domineering Roosevelt long enough, and showed a real spark of Americanism long enough to remember "America for Americans", and keep us out of the political hot-bed of Europe.

There are four other campaign pledges the redemption of which The Age-Herald says is open to dispute. Three of these, we believe, have been directly violated, also.

1. Tariff for revenue only. We have the 60-cent dollar, and are off the gold standard, in practice if not in theory.

2. Removal of the government from the field of private enterprise. Through the NRA the administration set about to put all business, from bootblack to steel mill, under direct supervision of the government. In addition, the administration has gone into the "private enterprise" field on several fronts, especially in the power production field.

3. Justice to war veterans. On this question we do not feel that we are competent to judge whether the bonus should be paid at this time. However, we do feel that no better time could be found to pay it, so far as need for the money is concerned. Another thing, interest until maturity date in 1945 would be stopped. Then, no better way could be found to spend a large part of the $4,800,000 recently voted by congress for expenditure. We commend the president for vetoing the "printing press money" bill, however, as this would have been inflation, something we want to steer clear of at all costs.

4. Shorter work week for government employees. Although we consider this measure of least importance, yet we believe it has been violated. While the NRA was forcing big and little business firms to hire more employees and make up more shifts, the increased governmental work kept government employees busy hours after their brothers in private business were out and at home. Why not "practice what we preach"?

In the above we have given our opinion of the extent to which the administration has gone in making good its campaign promises. That opinion is honest—just as we conscientiously see matters. We are just as ready to commend the administration when we believe it has done a good deed as we are to condemn it for what we consider its errors of commission and omission.

We are candid enough to state that, as a whole, we believe the present administration is a farce and a comedy of errors—glaring ones. We believe the personnel of this administration is the weakest that has ever filled the official positions of our government. Further, we contend and can prove that the whole set-up is shot through from head to foot wth flaming Red radicalism, and that the greater part of the errors which have been made are a direct result of this Communistic influence in the administration of the affairs of the nation.

There are some who admit this, yet would excuse President Roosevelt of any blame in this connection. We can't see it that way. The Ppresident was elected and given the most whole-hearted cooperation ever accorded any president, and we contend that he has not been gracious enough to use that co-operation for the good of all, but has abused it for the sake of personal power, as evidenced by the majority of his acts, and has shown a pronounced tendency of desire to such an autocratic position as that held by Mussolini and Hitler in their respective countries. And, we further maintain that, but for the restraining power of the Constitution of the Unted States, which President Roosevelt even now seeks to twist to his whim and will, he would have been able to realize his tyrannical desire to be our American dictator. In this light, we denounce in its entirety the present administration, not because of its professed political affiliations, but rather for its pronounced violation of important parts of party pledges to the American people, and violation of true American principles of government.—Man in the Moon.

THE RIFT WIDENS

No matter whether or not a Jeffersonian organization, with a slate of national condidates, is organized to combat the New Deal party, we are daily getting evidence of the deep rift between the Jeffersonian Democrats and the New Dealers. One of the most outspoken of the Jeffersonian party, for example, has been William R. Pattangall, formerly Democratic Chief Justice of the Supreme Court of Maine. It is a rather interesting point that some of Judge Pattangall's caustic remarks were made in an address before the Woman's Republican Club of his home state. Judge Pattangall charged that the New Dealers restricted farm production below domestic needs so that foodstuffs had to be imported, redounding to the benefit of the alien farmer at the expense of our own, and that at the same time the New Dealers collected from the consumers almost a billion dollars to pay American farmers for curtailing crops.

Charging that the Democratic platform of 1932 had been disregarded by the successful New Deal candidates, Judge Pattangall continued:

"From TVA down or up, every known form of business activity has been subjected to governmental interference or competition."

DESCRIBES PLAN FOR STEPPING UP COWS' NET PROFIT

The "ounce of prevention" is at last being applied successfully to the control of costly cow troubles, according to D. H. Van Pelt, noted authority on Dairying. "Calving difficulties, retained afterbirth, breeding failures, congested udders, lost quarters—all familiar ailments existing in many herds today—can now be just as easily and economically prevented as they have here-to-fore been grudgingly and expensively tolerated." says Van Pelt.

"These unprofitable factors, dairymen readily admit, are the biggest reason why money is lost in handling cows." Van Pelt says. "Take, for example, any one of those trouble makers—such as retained afterbirth—and see just how that affects the condition and producing ability of the cow.

Production Off 30 to 35%

"The energy a cow expends at the time of calving, is energy that is entirely wasted as far as milk production in her lactation period is concerned. If she retains her afterbirth and has to be cleaned, she is off from 30 to 35% in her milk production. That cuts into the profits. As another example, there is udder congestion. Every time a cow has trouble with her udder a pronounced falling off in milk results. That's another loss.

"An unfortunate thing about cow troubles is that always it is the better cows which are afflicted—always the best and highest producers. The reason for this is that the loafers or boarders in the herd are not working hard enough to be afflicted with such disturbances. It's the best milkers that fall prey to them.

"The underlying cause of these cow troubles can be summed up in two words—'inside tear-down'—an unprofitable condition which is due to lack of proper handling of the cow throughout the whole cycle of production and reproduction. In every year of a cow's life there are three distinct periods—the eight weeks just before calving when she should be dry, the four weeks of adjustment after calving, and the forty weeks of maximum milking. It is now known by experience and experiment that in each of these periods, cows require different handling and feeding. When this fact is recognized and followed according to a proven program that's best adapted to each of these periods, the cows will keep in better condition, inside and out, and will not only produce milk more efficiently but will have built up within themselves a powerful resistance to the ordinary diseases and infections that are common in so many herds.

Different Handling Required

"But why a different plan for each of these periods in the year's production cycle, is the question frequently asked. The answer is simple, once the problem is stated. First of all, what must a cow do during the eight weeks just before freshening? She must build the unborn calf—over 62% of the calf is developed in those eight weeks just before freshening. Then she must get herself in condition for normal calving. And finally, she must develop a reserve on which she can draw during her following lactation period. This all means getting in shape so that she will have a strong, healthy udder. These are all big jobs that must be provided for in the feeding of the cow.

"After calving a new picture is presented. The minute a cow freshens or drops her calf she must be given at least four weeks to recover from the strain of calving and get properly adjusted for milking. Her blood stream has to change its flow from the foetus to the mammary system, a major adjustment. During the adjustment period, production must not be forced by changing too quickly to a milk stimulating feed—or the cow will be thrown off her stride before her full strength has been restored and her digestive system has a chance to accept the heavier load. She needs a feed that is especially palatable because she hasn't a particular edge on her appetite and doesn't feel much like eating. The feed should also be sufficiently laxative to work the feverish condition out of her. Then, too, it must be easily digested and strengthening.

For Highest Production

"Clearly then there is a vast difference in the cow's requirements in feed and handling between the dry and adjustment periods. By recognizing these vital distinctions and acting accordingly, any dairyman can easily put his cows in shape for the third period—40 weeks of heavy, profitable milking. In coming into the milking cycle there must be a gradual change to a milking ration. This ration must be balanced and blended to get the cow milking at her best, maintain a steady milk level, and make the most yearly net profit per cow. More than that the feed must furnish her everything necessary in proteins, carbohydrates, and mineral matter so that the cow can keep herself in good shape for many years to come. A proven cow program for accomplishing this can be secured by writing Purina Mills, Educational Division, St. Louis, Mo., and asking for their bulletin 'Profitable Cows'."

TESTS REVEAL HIDDEN HUNGER IN BABY CHICKS

Select Starting Feed With Care, Expert Advises.

It is the lot of every baby chick to come into the world with an inherent urge to live and grow. This mysterious life impulse can best be defined as "hidden hunger," according to C. S. Johnson, poultry nutrition expert.

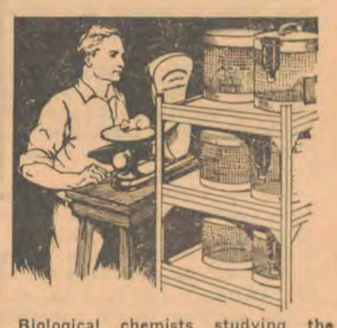
"Hidden hunger, however," Johnson says, "is more than a mere instinctive desire for food. It is far more subtle and complex than that. Hidden hunger is really a variety of distinct appetites, every one of which must be fully satisfied by intelligent feeding every day of that chick's life if it is to grow and develop profitably.

"Vitamin hunger is one appetite. Mineral hunger is another. There's also protein hunger, a hunger for necessary bulk in the ration, a hunger for the varied food materials that build frame, flesh, and feathers. Failure to supply enough material needed to satisfy any one or more of these hidden hungers leaves a chick in a starved condition no matter what quantity of feed it has access to. Chicks are just like children in this respect. A child's stomach can be crammed with food until it becomes pot-bellied, and yet that infant may be suffering from rickets, pellagra, beri beri, or other evidence of undernourishment because of vitamin, protein, or mineral shortage in the diet. There are thousands of such cases of malnutrition in this country every year—children, chicks, pigs, babies of all kinds, getting lots to eat but actually starving because their food doesn't fully satisfy all of those natural hungers.

Discovery and Development

"Only in recent years," says Johnson, "has science come to realize the existence of these hidden chick hungers and to take the proper steps to identify and provide for them in an adequate chick feeding program. For chick nutrition—that is, the intelligent feeding of chicks to supply all their needs—is a comparatively new thing when one considers that the first starting mashes came on the market less than fifteen years ago.

"Before 1910, chicks were usually started on corn bread or a little ground grain, with boiled eggs sometimes added to furnish the protein requirement of the ration. Later oatmeal began to be used and a little clabber milk or cottage cheese included for protein content. With this kind of hit-or-miss feeding the hidden hungers of baby chicks were just partially provided for. The result was that before 1910 not over 50% of the chicks lived, and an average weight of ½ pound per bird at six weeks was considered good.



Biological chemists studying the growth-producing ability of various chick feed formulas by feeding tests on chicks and small laboratory animals.

"In the decade between 1910 and 1920 laying mashes were generally fed to baby chicks. It was not until after 1920 that starting mashes began to be developed. These rations, which did a better job of feeding the hidden hunger appetites of chicks, contributed to raising the average livability to 75%, and chick weight at six weeks to an average of approximately three-quarters of a pound.

Further Improvements

"Intent on further improving these standards of production, nutritional scientists gradually began to study the problems of chick development from the inside out. Not long after 1920, Purina Mills' research and experimental feeding staff started on such a program that was to continue for many years in the pursuit of two important objectives.

CAN YOU BEAT IT?

Saturday, when I arrived at my church at Poplar Springs, some of the brethren informed me that my salary for the year was all in hand and ready to be paid. Then to cap it all, Sunday when I went on the yard quite a number of the brethern and sisters gathered around my car. I wondered what it all meant. When I came to find out they had loaded my car with good htings to eat, and when I got home and unloaded my car there were 23 packages and the thing that I appreciated most was the good letters that accompanied these packages. They expressed their appreciation for my services for these years.

Like David, I said, bless the Lord. Oh my soul and all that is within me, bless his Holy Name. I feel that it brings me under renewed obligations to my people at Poplar Springs.—W. P. Lowery, Pastor.

JEMISON STUDENTS HAVE INTERESTING PROJECTS

What a high school girl does during the summer is a good test of what she has learned in home economics or what kind of homemaker she will be.

Many personal and family problems arise in the life of every girl which cannot be solved in the classroom but which can be solved in the home.

During the school year each girl is required to take three projects relating to three phases of home economics. Where teachers are employed for a longer period than the regular school term a project may be carried on during the summer months, which proves most interesting as well as beneficial to the girl ann her family. To the girl it may mean an extra half unit of high school credit. To the family it may mean more pride and joy in their daughter. The real value cannot be measured.

The following are two very interesting projects:

Can You Can?

Certainly! With the aid of modern labor saving devices, who could not? There has been a great revolution in food preservation since the ancient period in history. Only a few vegetables, scch as onions and cabbage, were known to those ancient people. Today we enjoy a wider selection of foods which enables us to prepare wholesome and appetizing meals.

Let us consider what has brought about such a great revolution. Scientific methods, improved devices, and education are among the most important factors. The steam pressure cooker aided in the preservation of foods in my project. If a pressure cooker is not available, other methods may be substituted. The cold pack method is a desirable means of canning certain foods. As a rule, however, the non-acid foods will not keep quite as successfully. The open kettle method may also be used for certain foods as jellies and jams. The oven method may be used but is probably the least used of all methods. Today klowledge gained in home economics plays an active part.

Summer canning projects aid the home economics girl as well as her family. One June 12, 1935, I began my much enjoyed food preservation project. On this date I canned a number of quarts of home-grown string beans.

Supervised project work was needed. The home economics teacher, with a number of girls who were taking similar projects held spend-the-day meetings. At these meetings food was canned, and talks and demonstrations were given by the teacher.

Later, during the summer, I canned and dried other foods for winter use. Among these were tomatoes, beans, cabbage, soups, figs, pears, berries and grapes. .I canned a total of more than 500 quarts and spent approximately 300 hours on the project.

Through my project I learned a great lesson of thrift in money, in labor and in time. I have also lessened the winter food bill for my family.

My project ended when my teacher placed an "A" on my project blank.—Mary Lane Cobb, Home Ec. II, Jemison High School.

My Kitchen Project

I have always adored a tidy and easily cleaned kitchen and with much fun I did over our kitchen during my school holidays.

This kitchen had not been completed so my first job was to finish some ceiling, put in corner rounds, and face windows and doors. With the aid of my dad we finished these.

My next job was to give the cabinet, four chairs and a table a lye bath. This wasn't so funny, of course, because I used py hands in doing so and it wanted to bite my fingers! My dad and I made a nice little woodbox from some old ceiling, put it on legs, then every thing was ready for painting.

I had a grand time the next day. I used for my prime coat some old left-over grey paint. My next coat was a pretty blue-grey mixed by Miss Newell and me. I had lots of fun painting my furniture, in fact more than other jobs I did.

My linoleum was now to be put down and as daddy and I started this late one afternoon it became a night job. We didn't mind though, because a neinghbor came in and joined us. We also enjoyed some piano and guitar music by a visitor while we worked. To be sure, the very first thing to greet the new linoleum was the stove pipe which came down and kissed her with its dirty mouth. I now had a job of moping the linoleum about bed time. My curtains for the windows are of yellow checked gingham; the linoleum is blue-grey, yellow and brown, and the furniture is a blue-grey.

The kitchen is large enough for all the kitchen equipment at one end and the table and four chairs on the other side. For every day use we eat there, as we prefer it to the dining room.—Emmarene Rasberry, Home Ec. III, Jemison High School.

Interesting Letter From Hawaiian I.

I have just been inspired to say a few words to friends and citizens of Chilton county through the courtesy of your paper. A friend of mine also told me in a letter that I should write a few lines of interesting news from Hawaii.

All the pleasures which are mine here in Hawaii are not necessarily locally acquired, because I read the Chilton County papers with keen interest. It seems that old Chilton is climbing so rapidly that I may feel as a new alien when I return. Hawaii seems to have the same good sirit. Rapid rogress seems to have been a successful determination here for a long time. In likeness to the news of your count, concerning local welfare, Hawaii citizens and inhabitants are boosters and promote all necessary efforts to afford a fascinating life.

Enlisted men highly congratulate the idea of The Union-Banner, which is that soldiers should have the reenlistment bonus. We too, believe it would be the right thing. I'm sure the natives of Hawaii wouldn't be envious about it. They should rather be glad.

September 14, 1934 was the last I saw of Chilton county and Alabama. I spent a few of the following months in New York and various other parts of the States and departed from Brooklyn in February. Most of the following months were spent aboard a ship and in different towns in Panama Canal Zone, then on to Oahu, which is the island on which I have enjoyed every day since my landing at Honolulu, a city of great social interest. After having been on the waves of the deep sea for days, Honolulu is some eye opener. There are many other cities and towns on the island that offer unlimited amusements.

We've often heard very interesting stores about Hawaii including many interesting things different to some of our experiences in the States. As traveling is one of my greatest desires, the predominating one had long been the one to visit Hawaii. Now, I will agree with the many others who have said that the actual exerience of life in Hawaii exceeds the ordinary expectations of peole who spend vacation here. The vast history of Oahu, Hawaii, and the varied other islands of the Hawaiian group has been very interesting to me so far as I've learned. In the near future I expect to get quite a lot more travel and knowledge of all Hawaii than I have yet acquired.

During the past five months I have had the pleasure of being in three wonderful reviews exhibited by the Hawaiian division and Hawaiian department of the U. S. Army, one of which was in honor of General Hugh A. Drum, Commander of the Hawaiian Department. Drum came to Oahu on the same boat I came on. More than fifteen hundred men passed in review for him at Schofield Barracks review field, with various kinds of war equipment shined to perfection. Hundreds of people filled the grand stands to see the rapid progress in the military field.

The last and largest review ever held in Hawaii, was for Congressmen, members of the Bar, and other outstanding characters. The entire department of army personnel was in the parade, which lasted for several hours.

On October 2, there will be another review for Secretary Dern, the Secretary of War. Secretary Dern then exects to make a tour of importance in the Orient. The only reason I believe either of these men's trips are not as pleasant as it might be, is because they don't get to vacate in Hawaii long enough.

If anyone of you are undecided as to the place that you would most enjoy to spend a nice long vacation, consider Hawaii, if you haven't been here before. I am sure you would say that it is as good a place as you would ever wish for.—Sincerely yours, Harold G. Smith, formerly of Isabella community.

REFUGE NEWS

We are very glad to see so much improvement in Sunday school. Our attendance is getting better every Sunday. Every one be present next Sunday and lets get our new books and start the new quarter right.

There is to be preaching service at this place next Sunday night. Bro. W. E. Robinson, our new pastor, is to deliver the sermon. Prayer meeting at 7:00 and reaching at 7:30. Every body be sure and come and fill up the house. Come as early as possible and let's practice up on our singing.

Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Connel visited Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Easterling Sunday afternoon.

Mrs. M. Lockhart and children, Mrs. Nancy Mims and Grady Mims were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. A. N. Mims Sunday.

Everyone remember the reunion to be held at Mrs. Nancy Mims's the first Saturday in October. Everybody come, bring a well filled lunch basket and spend the day.

NEW PASTOR WILL PREACH AT REFUGE ON SUNDAY NIGHT

Our newly elected pastor will preach at this place Sunday night, September 29. We urge a good attendance on the port of the members and any others, to be present.

The ex-pastor desires full cooperation on the part of all members and I pledge my whole-hearted allegiance together with my family in any way possible to further the cause of Christ at this place.—Ex-Pastor, M. Lockhart.

WHAT THE STUDENTS OF ISABELLA ARE DOING

Reporters and cheer leaders for the school were elected this week. The reporters are Frances Sexton and Mary Carr Mims. The cheer leaders are Sara Calfee, Lillian Scarborough, A. D. Headley and Carson Williams. The school reporters ask the cooperation of all the class, and club reporters in this school by each giving the activities of his particular unit to time. The cheer leaders request the the school reporters at the designated cooperation of the entire student body of the High school by their coming out on the campus and helping to give the very best cheers for our football boys.

We are disappointed, along with a number of other schools and communities of this and other states, that we have not been authorized by the P. W. A. to proceed with the construction of our school building. We have not given up, however, and are still hoping the day is not far distant when this long looked for news will reach us. We believe that we could do better work with better quarters, but we believe that we are doing a good grade of work now. Our enrollment is holding up remarkably well under the circumstances, and no student need fear to enroll with us on account of credit for the work done here. All this has been carefully checked with proper authorities.

We still have the Isabella spirit and when the "going" gets hard let's everybody who ever went to school here, or who mey go to school here in the future, cooperate to the end our school may be a bigger and better school than it has ever been.

Every afternoon our football boys are putting in some practice getting ready for the hard schedule which will begin on October 4, at Isabella Our boys will begin by playing the Thompson High school, of Silura.

The schedule for the entire season is as follows: Silura, October 4, at Isabella; Plantersville, October 11, at Isabella; Verbena, October 18, at Verbena; Goodwater, October 25 at Goodwater; November 1 open; Marbury, November 8, at Isabella; November 15 open; Clanton November 22.

Senior 2 Class

President, Edna Earl Tucker, vice-president, Donald Calfee; secretary-treasurer, Frances Mims; reporter, Johnnie Lou Cobern; social committee: Mary Charles Jones, Winfred Lecroy, Robert Calfee. Pragram committee: Donald Calfee, Gladys Turner and Hazel Jones.

AMERICAN CHARACTER MEASURES UP TO TEST

Third Crisis of Depression Shows Traditional Self Reliance, Initiative and Courage Still Typical in United States.

The United States is now in the third crisis of the present depression, "the crisis of character," Dr. Harold Stonier, Educational Director American Bankers Association, said in a recent address before the American Institute of Banking.

"Have the American people quit?" he asked. "Do the American people want something for nothing? Do they believe that wealth can be created by legislation and not by work? There are voices crying in the north, the south and the west, promising something for nothing, in an effort to buy political prestige, with illusive promises of wealth and security which never can be guaranteed in fact.

"We have demagogues preaching class war, who would have us think that any successful person is a sinner and that all poor people are pure. Over a quarter of a century ago Theodore Roosevelt said: 'Distrust as a demagogue the man who talks only of wrong done by men of wealth; distrust as a demagogue the man who measures iniquity by the purse. Measure by the heart, whether the purse be full or empty, partly full or partly empty. If a man be a decent man, stand by him whether he be rich or poor—if he be not a decent man, stand against him. Stand against him in no spirit of vengeance but only in that spirit which will make him act as decent citizens must act if this country is to be and to become what it should.'"

No Basis for Class War

There is no basis for class war in America and "those demagogues are public enemies who preach it," Dr. Stonier said. "It is the propaganda of defeat and despair which is entirely foreign to American life."

Although it has been said that there is evidence of decay in American character, he continued, "I think we must look a little more deeply into the current trends of American life before we pass final judgment on the question of American character. We still have millions of people in this country who are exercising all the traditional self-reliance, initiative and courage which in the past have typified American character."

There are twenty-four million people in this country interested in self improvement through adult education, Dr Stonier said.

Those Who Are Improving Themselves

"They are improving themselves at night in class rooms, in lecture halls, in libraries, in forums, in laboratories in shops and in many other ways," he added. "These people do not make the headlines in our newspapers. They are the quiet, plugging type which has always constituted the bulwark of American character. Soon they will be called upon to speak. Soon we will have to determine this issue which is presented in this crisis of American character. Are we going to follow the demagogues, or are we going to carry on American life for Americans as it has been in the past?

"It is my contention that these twenty-four millions who are today exhibiting courage, faith and hope are giving ample demonstration of American character. American character has been forged on the anvil of adversity during the past three centuries. Over all that time we have been overcoming obstacles, surmounting difficulties, mastering problems, through work, study and personal initiative.

"We are now in an hour of trial—but the spirit of American self-reliance, I am sure, will rise supreme in the end We shall eventually renounce the demagogues and make ourselves more successful individually and more useful to our fellowmen socially. When that time comes this crisis of character will pass away."

Changing Places In Thorsby

There has been quite a few changes in Thorsby in recent weeks, among the business houses, Wyatt Drug Co., started the change by moving from their old stand on the highway one block south of the depot, to an enlarged building on the corner of the highway on Jones Street. Here Mr. Wyatt has much more room and a very attractive drug store with space behind the store for office and prescription laboratory. In the front store there is also a fine soda fountain and tables for serving ice cream, etc. Mr. R. R. Franklin has also made a move from his old stand on the north corner of highway and Jones street to a very attractive new service station just south of Wyatt Drug Company's old stand. This building was put up by W. H. Goodgame. It is quite commodious though, seemingly needing more room in the rear of the building for standing cars, rather than have them stand along the highway.

The next move was made by Astro Wright, in changing his soda fount from the old corner to the building vacated by the Wyatt Drug Co. Mr. Wright has had this building considerably altered to suit his convenience. He will now have a registered pharmacist for putting up prescriptions, Mr. Eunice Chism, who has served for eleven years in the Upchurch Drug Store in Clanton. He has a large soda fount and better conveniences for serving lunches. This place will now be called Wright Drug Company. Besides these moves among the business men there have been some changes among the residents. Mr. A. E. Reagan has sold his pleasant home here and bought a fine home in Clanton. We very much miss Mr. and Mrs. Reagan. Mr. H. W. Reinhardt bought the Reagan home and has moved his family there. Mrs. J. E. Each and daughters, who occupied the house across the street from the Reagan home has moved into the house vacated by the Reinhardt family. And Mr. J. L. Mixson has moved into the house vacated by Mrs. Each. Mr. Erschel Maddox is building himself a home west of the Institute. We hear of other changes soon to be made.

There are no vacant house or rooms in Thorsby and there is a demand for some. It seems as though it might be a wise thing for some one to put up two or three small houses in Thorsby to rent.

BIRTHDAY DINNER GIVEN GENERAL J. W. E. GULELDGE

On Wednesday, September 18th, 1935, at Blue Creek Camp, on Coosa River, was given a birthday dinner, honoring the 89th birthday anniversary of General J. W. E. Gulledge of Verbena and Union Springs.

Enjoying the occasion with General Gulledge were Mrs. Mattie Mims and daughter, Leora, and Miss Evelyn Maddox, of Clanton; Mrs. Nora Stroud and Mr. Harry Duke Gulledge, of Union Springs; Mrs. Atkinson and two children, of Selma, Ala.; Bob Arledge, of Mt. Creek, Ala.; the brothers of the honoree, Mr. F. A. Gulledge, and Miss Bessie Gillmore of Verbena; Mr. Mallie Gulledge of Verbena, and Blue Creek Camp.

The entire day was spent boating and fishing and having a generally jolly good time. All the guests as well as the honoree went home feeling fine after having a most enjoyable outing.

TWO GIRLS SPEND NIGHT IN WOCO LADIES REST ROOM

Something approaching mystery happened at J. E. Easterling's Woco Station Sunday night and Monday morning.

When Ted Littlejohn opened up the station about 5:30 Monday morning, he unlocked the ladies rest room and attempted to push the door open, when the door seemed to strike something soft. Ted gave the door a hard shove and a lady's voice gave out shrill squall, whereupon Ted left the scene rather hurridly, partly to give himself time to collect his wits and partly to get somebody to come and help him see what had happened and what was going to happen.

But in a few minutes a lady's voice from the inside said: "We are dressing and will be out in a few minutes." Shortly two pretty red-headed girls, apparently 19 years old, well dressed, came out of the rest room with a suit case. They told Ted that they had retired early and were getting up early. Without further ceremony they walked down through town toward the highway and the bus station.

Mr. Littlejohn said that he left the filling station about 9:15 Sunday night, whereupon he locked the ladies rest room. There were no signs that the lock had been tampered with; so it must have been that the girls were locked up in there Sunday night. They seemed to have enjoyed their night's abode without ill effects, and left as if they had spent the night in a hotel room. No announcement was made as to where they came from or where they were going.

Lying on the floor where the girls had slept was found a blue celluloid badge a little larger than a quarter bearing the words: "King Swope For Governor." King Swope is a prominent politician in Kentucky.

CARD OF THANKS

We wish to take this means to express our thanks and appreciation for the help and kindness shown during our recent bereavement, the death of our wife and mother, Mrs. W. R. Smith. We also want to thank the kind friends for the beautiful floral offering.—W. R. Smith and Family.

Among those from this section attending the big singing convention at Lawrenceburg, Tennessee, last Saturday and Sunday were Prof. W. M. Devaughn, Prof. Archie Devaughn, Prof. J. B. Hammond of Wetumpka, and Mr. Floy Devaughn from Centreville.

Spirited Teachers Meeting Was Held

Institute Held Here Monday

Schools of County Opened Tuesday

When the roll was called at Teachers Institute, in session at the county high school Monday, 170 teachers answered. This was all of the teachers employed in the county's forty-seven schools with only one exception. There was one absentee.

The Institute was called to order at 9 o'clock with a song, followed by devotional and roll call. Supt. Little made a few remarks, followed by Dr. J. M. Kimmey, county health officer, who spoke briefly regarding the health program for the county the coming year. The next speaker was Irene Smitherman, followed by Miss Icie Bell Cobern, who spoke regarding attendance. Miss Ruth Pardue occupied a few minutes on the program speaking about 4-H club work in the schools.

Dr. J. A. Kellar, state superintendent of Education, came forward with the feature speech of the day, in which he outlined in detail his program for this year's school work in the State. Dr. Keller made a very interesting and encouraging speech, which brought from those present considerable appaluse and commendation. Dr. Keller's speech brought the institute up to the noon hour.

The roll was called again after noon, and departmental meetings were held. The next item was extension work. At this juncture the University of Alabama was represented by Dr. Hocking; Jacksonville by Mr. A. C. Shelton; and Alabama College by Dr. Orr. Dr. C. B. Smith, supervisor of high schools and member of the executive committee of A. E. A., then occupied the floor for several minutes with an interesting and encouraging speech. Business meeting was held.

Prof. Curtis Matthews, of Isabella, was elected president of the county teachers association, and Prof. H. A. Harris vice president. Miss Laura Lamar was elected secretary of the organization.

Everything considered, the Institute was inspiring, interesting and instructive. The spirit of co-operation among the teachers and toward the school work in general was noticeable throughout the day and on every hand. The teachers left the Institute with renewed interest to enter their school work at the various schools of the county on Tuesday morning.

JAMES ALVIN THOMAS DIED

James Alvin Thomas, age 72, died at his home near Verbena last Friday night. Funeral services were held at Verbena Baptist church on Monday, conducted by Rev. Ellisor. Burial arrangements were in charge of Spigener Funeral Home.

Mr. Thomas is survived by two sons, John C. Thomas, Waverly, N. Y., and Mm. N. Thomas, Tucson, Arizona; four daughters, Mrs. A. Y. Williams, Powderly, Ala.; Mrs. Mavis, Verbena; Mrs. G. W. Anderson, Verbena; Mrs. J. C. Anderson, Wetumpka; four sisters, Mrs. Meedy Miller, Rockford; Mrs. F. M. Logan, Rockford; Mrs. Searcy Harman, Oakwood; Mrs. Lula Finch, Birmingham; 21 grandchildren and two great-grandchildren.

BUS LINE FROM SELMA TO CLANTON STARTED

Bus service has been established between Selma and Clanton, making two round trips daily. The bus is in Clanton at the bus station from 7:55 to 8 a.m. and from 4:55 to 5 p.m. One hour and fifty-five minutes is required to make the distance between the two points.

It will be known as the Silver Streak bus, and is owned and operated by Mr. E. W. Lott of Selma. They will use the same place as bus station as the Greyhound buses —Mr. Parker Taylor's place on the highway.

H. B. OLIVER IS THE FIRST 1935 TAXPAYER

News given out at the office of T. L. McKee, new tax collector, is that the first man to pay taxes in Chilton County for 1935 under the new Democratic regime is Mr. H. B. Oliver, of Verbena.

PWA To Build New School Structures

Luther Little, County Superintendent of Education, has received a telegram from Congressman W. B. Oliver, advising him of the granting of a PWA allotment of $27,585.00 for school buildings at Isabella and Collins Chapel. This amount will cover the cost of construction and equipment.

No figures are available as to how the total amount is to be split. According to Supt. Little, these buildings will be frame structures, built by contract, and that construction will begin just as soon as the necessary local preliminaries can be worked out.

Particulars concerning the grant, the buildings, or when they will be completed were not available, but further information will be forthcoming just as soon as PWA authorities give them out.

CHURCH AND S. S. OFFICERS ELECTED A T CLANTON BAPTIST CHURCH SUNDAY

At regular conference last Sunday at Clanton Baptist church, officers for the coming year were elected for the church and Sunday school. Following are the officers for the church: Clerk, Chester G. Mims; Treasurer, D. A. Wingard; Financial secretary, G. C. Harris, Finance Committee, H. S. Shaw, J. R. Mullins and H. T. Pipes; Ushers W. H. Sarter, W. W. Wingard, Tom Kemp, H. T. Pipes, J. S. Thomas, Julius C. Burnett; Pianist, Vivian Gray, associate, Mary Armstrong.

Prof. Luther E. Little was elected General Director of Training Union. The Sunday school officers are: General Superintendent, L. C. Ross; Secretary-Treasurer, T. E. Wyatt; Pianist, Mary Armstrong; Chorister, G. C. Powell.

Four deacons for the church were elected, as well as officers and teachers for the other departments of the Sunday school.

Promotion Day was observed by the Sunday school, in which about 75 pupils were promoted to higher classes.

MRS. WARE IS BACK IN CHARGE OF MATT'S CAFE

"Your old Friend is back again." Mrs. Matt Ware is back in complete charge of Matt's Cafe, after an absence of several months. Mrs. Ware is pleased to be back, and the co-owner of the cafe, Mr. Jimmie Taylor, is pleased for her to be back.

Both Mr. Taylor and Mrs. Ware invite their many friends to come to see them. You are assured a cordial welcome and the most courteous service.

Your attention is called to the free coffee to be dispensed on Friday of this week, October 4th, from 7 to 11 and from 2 to 5. The famous Dixie Club coffee will be brewed and served free during these hours. All are invited to come get a cup full.

Five Persons Hurt In Wreck Saturday Night

Truck and Car Smash-Up In Thorsby Without Any Serious Injuries

Spigener's ambulance was called to Thorsby early Saturday night to bring five people to the hospital. They were injured in a wreck when their car collided with a truck driven by Mr. O. C. Blackmon of, Thursby.

The injured parties were Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Conley, Mrs. Martha J. Conley, Mrs. M. C. McDonald, all of Montgomery, and Mrs. Marie Bruce of Tucon, Arizona.

The wreck happened in front of Franklin Garage, as Mr. Blackmon drove his truck out on to the highway, it was struck by the passing automobile. All occupants of the car were injured more or less. Mrs. McDonald and Mrs. Bruce were so badly injured that they had to stay in the hospital for treatment.

The others were given first aid treatment, and continued their journey to Montgomery Saturday night.

J. R. MULLINS AND SONS OFFERING FREE CHINAWARE

The enterprising store of J. R. Mullins and Sons is offering a very attractive proposition wherein they will give away beautiful chinaware to people who make purchases at their store. Read their big adv. elsewhere in this paper and learn the details of their offer.

Also they wish the public informed that Mrs. Clara Mullins is in their store now every day in the week, and invites her friends to come to see her.

FOUR CLANTON STORES WILL BE CLOSED MONDAY

Four Stores in Clanton, The Leader, Mazer's, The Dollar Store and Ben's Place, announce that they will be closed all day next Monday, October 7th, on account of religious holiday.

SCHOOL CHILDREN NEED BOOKS

There are a number of children in the Grammar School who are unable to buy their books. There will be jars to serve as banks, placed in the drug stores and cafes for the collecting of pennies to help buy the books. The faculty will appreciate the co-operation of the people in filling the jars.

MURRAY-BELL HAS BEEN IN CLANTON 7 MONTHS

Mr. J. D. Bell, of the Murray Bell Hardware Co., after having finished up seven months in Clanton takes a retrospective view and finds that things in general have gone decidedly to suit him and his business. He has enjoyed an increase all along, and such is still the case. Mr. Bell is always glad to show people through his store, and serve them when the opportunity presents itself.

Special mention should be made of a full five-foot rule case of pocket knives, which this store has just put in. Mr. Bell says: "If you want to see a real string of pocket knives, just call around."

This store is continually being expanded to take care of the extra trade demand for more and better hardware all the time. If you haven't already met Mr. Bell, call around and get acquainted with him.

Dr. Albert Keller, of Montgomery, spoke at the teachers Institute Monday.

MODERN PIONEERING IN AMERICA

[AN EDITORIAL]

Here's something about the Democratic New Deal that you haven't read before. There is really so much to bring up about the Democrats these days that an editor scarcely knows where to head in, but this one is too good to pass up. You haven't seen it in the Democratic papers of Alabama. Even the Chilton County News, which is so fair and unbiased that two weeks ago they published an interview from three prominent Republicans of Chilton county, has not enlightened their readers with this. Giving the story a little background, we will start it off like this:

When this nation was young and our men were men and our women were glad of it, the pioneers set out to conquer a wild continent with a rifle, a sack of corn meal and a lack of disposition to dodge a fight with nature, wild beasts and uncivilized Indians. All the help these pioneers received (and they asked for less than that) was a few good wishes from the then federal government, which was not then able to borrow thirty billion dollars and lavish it upon its people. And this attitude of the government in those days must have been a blessing judging from what happens to modern pioneers.

Our federal government recently sent 2,000 pioneers—men, women and children—to settle up and build a hitherto unexplored territory in the Matanuska Valley of Alaska. Theirs was to be modern pioneering, the "brain" work for which was to emanate from Washington. And what do you reckon happened?

These energetic and adventurous pioneers called upon their promoters at Washington for 120 wagons, and instead of getting wagons the brainstormers at our nation's capital shipped them five tons of paper towels. Now, just how would Daniel Boone have taken a joke like that? No doubt he would have wired them right back, "you modern boon dogglers, you can't 'Daniel Boondoggle' us like this and get by with it."

Now, this is a fair example of Democratic efficiency—sending 5 tons of towels when 120 wagons were ordered. This illustrates very well the way Democrats usually fulfill the wishes of their constitutents, what the people ask of them, and even what they promise in heated campaigns. Roosevelt promised us a 25 per cent reduction in governmental expenses, and is that what he gave us? Yes, just about as near as paper towels come to farm wagons. The American people ordered an administration of Jeffersonianism and they have been given a Socialist government pure and simple.

But the above, mixed up as it seems, is not much worse than a lot of other crack-brain stunts this Democratic administration at Washington is perpetrating upon the people of the country under the guize of the New Deal. They have given us the potato control law which threatens every dealer and every housewife with a year's imprisonment and a $1,000 fine if certain conditions are violated in the handling of potatoes. This law is to guarantee a profit to a limited group of potato growers who seek a monoply of the industry.

We have a cotton law which seems to The Union-Banner to be not much ahead of the potato law, in different respects, however. Our farmers were led to believe that they would get 12 cents for their cotton this year, but the government placed it at 9 cents and reluctantly and under fire agreed to raise the government price to 10 cents a pound An additional 2 cents is promised the raisers who will agree to sign up for certain limitations and conditions next year.

Our people are beginning to balk on so much of this "force" and agreement business which they are asked to sign up to, and it is well enough for them to balk against it. We have had quite enough of this signing away of our rights under the guize of getting help from the government, and especially so when such help is very vague and very likely not help at all when it comes down to last analysis. This two cents a pound difference in cotton would this year have amounted to upwards of two hundred thousand dollars in Chilton county. This is a lot of money and would have meant quite a bit of trade for our merchants and business men.

But the greatest rub is the unevenness and unfairness in their allotment machinery. Some men are permitted to sell only a few hundred pounds tax free, when another man just across the road and under about the same conditions is allowed to sell several bales. The New Deal will have a hard time explaining its actions in this unfair dealing with the farmers, which is evident right here in every community in the county.

What the New Deal is trying to do is to hold together the farmers' vote until after the next election. They are willing to sacrifice hard-earned tax money to indirectly buy the votes with and to tie up the people in any way that they can to make it "profitable" for them to vote "right" next year. But we are getting wiser every day. We are finding that these new Democratic tricks are just old Democratic tricks with a new dress on. Underneath they are the same old putrid repulsive and disgusting stinch that Democracy has always dealt out to us. It looks good to start with and even tastes fairly well so long as the thin coat of sugar lasts, but my, how awful when it begins to taste and smell like its real self. It is the same old Democratic rot, and the good people of Chilton county have had quite enough of it, thank you.

"MISS BLUE BONNET" TO BE PRESENTED AT JEMISON SOON

The Jemison P.-T. A. will sponsor a play, "Miss Blue Bonnet," to be presented at the high school building Friday night of this week, beginning at 8 p.m. It is a Sewell production and is directed by Miss Helen Alexander. Plans Being Pushed For Sanatorium at Mt. Creek

Project To Be Submitted To Washington, D. C. Soon

Last Wednesday, September 26, delegates from Shelby, Autauga, Elmore and Chilton Counties went to Montgomery to meet with Drs. Gill and Brown from the Bureau of Tuberculosis Control, of the State Health Department.

An architect was employed to draw up plans for a district tuberculosis sanitarium, these plans to be submitted to Thad Holt, State Administrator of PWA, for use in making application for a federal grant for the sanitarium.

Dr. J. M. Kimmey stated this week that the board was expecting the plans not later than this week. They will then be given to Mr. Holt, who will submit them along with the application for the PWA grant, to the Washington officials.

Further information in regard to the project will be published when released.

1935 C C H S FOOTBALL SCHEDULE

Prospects are brighter this year for a winning football team at C. C. H. S. than was expected. Twenty-five to thirty boys are out for training every afternoon. J. B. Varnell, director of high school athletics, and varsity coah, states that more determined effort on the part of the boys is manifested each day. A splendid spirit is shown and a feeling of pride is registered on the faces of each one as he dons his uniform for the day's practice. When the whistle blows for the beginning of the game this season, you will find that same old Chilton spirit "rearing to go."

Below will be found the schedule:

Billingsley High at Clanton, October 4th.

Wetumpka High at Clanton, October 11th.

C. C. H. S. at Tallassee, October 18.

Peoples Bank To Have Opening Day

Pioneer Financial Institution Will Be In New Home Soon

The new home of the Peoples Savings Bank is completed, and Thursday, October 10th, has been set aside as "Visitors Day". On this day visitors will be shown through this thoroughly new and modern building, permitted to look over its convenient arrangement, its ample protective capacity, and so on.

The Peoples Savings Bank was and is the pioneer financial institution of Chilton County. Its doors opened for business first on December 7th, 1901, with W. E. Holloway as president. In 1904 Mr. W. T. Callen became president, bringing to the institution a wealth of good business sense and experience. The bank worked under this head until 1922, when Mr. Frank J. Callen, son of W. T. Callen, took up and carried on his father's sound principles in supervision of the bank's affairs as its new head.

In 1926, Mr. H. G. Boyd, a banker of much experience, became president, and the well-grounded manking principles, which had become synonomous with The Peoples Savings Bank, continued under the new head.

Again in 1930 the presidency was given to Frank J. Callen, who has held it ever since; and he has continued to carry out the same sound program which has always characterized the dealings of the Peoples Savings Bank.

Early this year officials of the bank decided their facilities were inadequate for present day needs, and set out to make necessary amends. The needed additions have now been provided. Officials feel that they are equipped to give their patrons that high degree of service and safety which has always been the policy of this bank.

Clanton and Chilton County are proud of The Peoples Savings Bank, and fully awake to the important part it has played in the development of the county. "Safe Since 1901" is the slogan of this bank, and no one has ever had a just right to doubt it.

And now the bank's officials want you to be their guest on Thursday, October 10th, and see what they have provided for your financial safety and well-being. They will be expecting you.

W. W. COBERN DIED WEDNSEDAY

Mr. W. W. Cobern, age 62, died at his home at Mt. Creek early last Wednesday after an illness of only a few hours. Funeral services were held at the Mt. Creek Baptist Church Thursday at 11:00 o'clock, with Rev. J. M. Goss officiating. The arrangements were in charge of Spigener Funeral Home.

Mr. Cobern is survived by his widow and his father, G. W. Cobern, of Mt. Creek; nine children, Samuel Cobern, of Clanton; Oscar Cobern, of Sylacauga; Raymond, Horace Ernest Lee, Clinton, and Billy Cobern, of Mt. Creek; Miss Icie Belle Cobern, Mt. Creek; Mrs. H. D. It will be in hte west side of the building. Dr. C. O. Lawrence will be in the other side of the new building.

Miss Meroney will have her office in the west side of the building. also. Miss Meroney and the educational business expects to get moved by or before the middle of this month.

The rooms in the county's building which Supt. Little has been using will in the future be used by county agent Fant and the county health unit. Miss Pardue will continue to occupy part of the old building.

New Tax Officials Take Their Places

The last two officers elected in the Democratic victory last year took office last Tuesday morning.

In the Tax Assessor's office, Mr. A. D. Martin took up his duties, assisted by Mrs. Julius Smith. In addition, Mr. Martin will use his daughter, Miss Ruth Martin, part time. Mr. Martin will be 52 years of age next March 12th.

In the Tax Collector's office, Mr. Thos. L. McKee took up the duties of this office, assisted by Mrs. J. R. Hardy, wife of Sheriff Hardy, and Mr. McKee's son, Thos. D. McKee. Mr. McKee will be 52 years of age on October 29th.

No official in the courthouse could remember the names of the last Democratic officials, nor when they held office.

Mr. Martin replaces Akins I. Collins and Mr. McKee replaces Will G. Culp.

PLEASANT GROVE
JEMISON

We had with us Saturday night and Sunday the Rev. Miller of East Lake. He was formerly pastor of our church and always a very welcome visitor. He preached for us Sunday and Sunday night.

There was a very sad occurrence in our community Sunday. A Mr. Scott stabbed a Mr. Hayes very seriously.

Our friends. the Spiveys, are still no better and Mrs. W. E. Miskelley is in a serious condition.

Mrs. Mintie Hodgens died Thursday night and was buried here Friday evening. She was one of our oldest residents, she was 80 years old. She will be missed very much in the community and by her relatives, but God worketh all things for the best.

Mrs. Will Kellum of Bessemer, a sister of the Champions, is still seriously sick.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Davenport and children, Edith and James Frank, and Mrs. Hill Campbell went to Bessemer Saturday to visit their sick sister, Mrs. Will Kellum. And also Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Champion and sons, Dalton and Sanders, and Miss Alice Childress visited the Kellums Saturday and went to the fair. Then Sunday Mr. Clyde Champion and Mrs. Dovie Dawson and Mrs. Monroe Franklin and little son, Cecil, and Miss Delia Champion went to Bessemer to see Mrs. Kellum, their sister and aunt.

Mr. and Mrs. Algie Compton and baby son, Earl, were guests of his people Thursday night, Mr. and Mrs. Ed Compton and family.

Mr. George Wright of Oklahoma is visiting his mother, Mrs. Drusilla Wright of Thorsby and his brothers and their relatives here. He and his brothers, Messrs. Will Wright, J. A. Wright and J. D. Wright, nephews, James F. Wright and Lewie Wright, all went to their old home place in Coosa county last week and spent an enjoyable time.

Mr. and Mrs. Phillip Franklin and Miss Edith Davenport were guests of the Misses Champion and Mrs. Martha Wilson Sunday.

The Rev. Miller spent Saturday night with the Spiveys and was Sunday dinner guest of Mr. and Mrs. Carroll and spent Sunday night with Mr. and Mrs. Phillip Franklin.

The Hatchers were visitors here Sunday.

Miss Olis Davenport was the guest of her niece, Miss Lorene Davenport, Sunday.

Mrs. J. A. Wright visited the Misses Champion Sunday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. H. T. Hodgens and children, Horace and Arlis, visited her parents Sunday, Mr. and Mrs. Jim Miskelley.

Mr. and Mrs. Johnnie Trott and children, T. J. and Irene, were guests of her home folks Sunday, Mr. and Mrs. T. H. Campbell and family.

Mrs. Dovie Dawson is spending a few days with her sisters, the Misses Champion.

LOWER CROSS ROADS NEWS

The health of this place is well at present.

The musical entertainment at the home of W. M. Smithreman was enjoyed by a large crowd. Those present were Mr. and Mrs. Homer Sewell, Mr. and Mrs. Velman Sewell, Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Sanders and family, Mr. and Mrs. Euel Headley, Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Franklin, Mr. and Mrs. M. T. Smith, Mr. and Mrs. Obie Smith and family, Mrs. Woode of Mississippi, and Forrest Headley. It was greatly enjoyed by all.

Miss Myrtle Smitherman spent Saturday night with Misses Nellie Laura and Eula Sanders.

Misses Nellie and Laura Sanders and R. E. Smitherman spent Sunday afternoon with Miss Myrtle Smitherman.

Miss Eula Sanders spent Sunday with Myrtle Smitherman.

Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Sanders, Mrs. W. M. Smitherman, Mrs. Obie Smith spent Sunday afternoon with Mrs. Carrie Bone, who is very sick.

Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Little spent Saturday with Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Sanders.

Mr. W. D. Warren of Selma is spending a few days with Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Sanders and family.

CARD OF THANKS

We wish to take this means to express our thanks and appreciation to our friends and neighbors for their help and kindness shown us during the sickness and death of our father. We especially want to thank Dr. Franklin, Dr. McNeil and Mrs. Sara Crim for their help.—The Conway Family.

See next week's paper for prices at Annual Shell Sale at Rockett's.

COTTON IS WORTH NO MORE THAN ITS SHORTEST STAPLE

Cotton farmers of the old south are adopting a new system—the one-variety community. Instead of planting "gin run" mongrel seed, farmers in many localities are agreeing to plant one good variety, and no others. The result is a longer, more even staple, and a market price enough better to mean the difference between profit and loss on a crop.

The mixing of seed shortly after the Civil War, when custom gins repraced the private plantation gins, began the gradual deterieration of seed stocks. The planting of better varieties by a few farmers was nullified by mixing the seed at gins and cross-pollination in the field. No cotton is worth much more than its shortest staple.

The one-variety plan has been advocated by the United States Department of Agriculture for the last 25 years. It has been used almost exclusively in the extreme western cotton growing States for about 15 years. Georgia is a good example of an Eastern State which is using the plan successfully. In 1931, three Georgia communities decided to try one-variety cotton production. This year there are about 100 one-variety communities in the state.

One-variety communities have received an extra profit of several dollars an acre—as high as $12 in some cases last year. Georgia—standing next to the bottom in past years—is rising rapidly in quality of cotton grown. The amount of cotton reaching the standard of fifteen-sixteenths inch and longer, has increased 165 per cent since 1931, when the one-variety plan was first used.

OAK GROVE, BEAT 16

We are still having our regular service which is Saturady, Saturday night and Sunday. Our regular preaching times is the second and fourth Sundays in each month. We are glad to tell the people that we have elected our same pastor for another year, Brother Luther Lumpkin. We invite everyone to come and help us. You have a warm welcome at Oak Grove.—Jesse Mitchell, church clerk.

Judge J. Lee Smith and Mr. Grover Walker were business visitors in Montgomery last Wednesday.

GOOD BOXING PROGRAM AT CCC CAMP SATURDAY NIGHT

An extra good boxing program was staged at the CCC camp on last Saturday night, beginning at 7:30. Eight fights were on the card for the night, competition being between members of the Clanton camp and members of the CCC camp from near Weogufka, in Coosa County. All the fighters from the Clanton camp were from points in Florida, and all from the coosa camp were from Mississippi. The Clanton Camp won four fights, Coosa two, and two were draws. Judges were Harris of Wetumpka, J. E. Easterling and Burt Curlee of Clanton, and O'Brien of Mitchell Dam. Refrees were Curlee, O'Brien and Easterling, in the order named, Curlee managing three of the scraps, O'Brien three, and Easterling two.

This was an elimination series of bouts, to determine entries for the district meet to be held at Fort McClellan, Ala. Following is a brief resume of the eight bouts.

The first was between Rose, weight 121, of Crandal, Miss., and Hernandez, 119, of Key West, Fla. This scrap brought in lots of nice footwork, but not so much fighting. However, Hernandez was the aggressor through out the go, and Rose was lucky to get a draw. Refree, Curlee. Judges, Harris, O'Brien and Easterling.

The second was a much better scrap, between Hodgin, 128, of Meridian, and Casado, 124, of Key West. The first round was taken up by the boys mostly in feeling each other out. The second brought lively mixing, however, and Casado was warned to stop his "rabbit punch" tactics. The third round was fast boxing, with Hodgin looking to be in the better condition at the end. Hodgin received the decision over Casado, and a chorus of boos and hisses greeted the decision of the judges. Refree, O'Brien. Judges, Harris, Curlee and Easterling.

The third bout was an extra good one, between Wilson, 137, Meridian, and Hopkins, 136, Miami. Hopkins looked the better boxer all through this scrap, although Wilson got in several good jolts to the head. The decision was easy to reach in this go, Hopkins forcing all the fighting, getting a margin in at least two rounds, and finishing much stronger than his opponent, and was given the decision. Refree, Easterling. Judges, Harris, O'Brien and Curlee.

The fourth bout was a bit slow and stale. This was between Gressett, Colinsville, Miss., 146, and Lott, Miami, with Gressett taking the decision, mostly on account of his agressiveness. Refree, Curlee. Judges, Harris, O'Brien and Easterling.

The fifth was the best of the show, so far. This was between Warren, 147, of DeKalb, Miss., and Lindley, 145½, of Miami. Lindley looked much the tougher man as they stepped into the ring, his swarthy body contrasting sharply with the pink of Warren. Once the milling started, however, Warren quickly demonstrated that he was extra fast on his feet, that he could "take it", and from the ring-side Warren appeared to have a slight advantage in reach. A last round rush by Lindley, in which he landed several solid blows, won him the decision, although both boys finished strong. This was a good scrap, and whipped the fans into a frenzy. Refereee, O'Brien. Judges, Harris, Curlee and Easterling.

The sixth, between Perkins, 154, of Louin, Miss., and Henson, 155, Miami, was the poorest bout of the meet. Very few blows were struck during the whole three rounds, and the bell at the end of the first round the boys still dancing without a single blow having been even attempted. The disappointed fans were chanting in unison for a fight; they didn't like the "tag" game. This was a draw in the decision of the judges, and pretty well represented the opinion of all. One fan yelled: "My dancing lessons cost a dollar apiece, and here I am getting one for a quarter". Refree Easterling. Judges, Harris, O'Brien and Curlee.

The seventh was another good bout, between Sykes, 154, of Meridian, and Arano, of Key West, Arano taking the decision by a narrow margin. This scrap brought together two big scrapping fellows, both getting several good blows as well as showing some nice defensive work. The ripping, snarling Arnao had his opponent almost winded at the end however, with several hard, well-placed body blows. Sykes' nose was a bright crimson, too, although he put up a whale of a good fight. Refree, Curlee. Judges, Harris, O'Brien and Easterling.

The final bout was the best of all, and brought the crowd to its feet time and again as the big fellows slugged away at close range, and several polting blows were swapped in the fierce milling. This was between Pilkington, 170, Meridian, and Alverez, 163, Key West. Pilkington absorbed several blows but demonstrated that he has plenty of stamina. Alverez is a veritable package of dynamite, however, and showed a slight margin in speed which helped him put over those rapid fire head punches. At the end, there was little difference in the two, Alverez being in a little better condition, possibly, and Alvarez took the decision of the judges. Refree, O'Brien. Judges, Harris, Curlee and Easterling.

All the bouts were for three 2-minute rounds each. The third, fifth seventh and eighth bouts were the best of the lot. Of all the scrappers appearing on the card, Arnao looked to be the best. There is a real scrapper in the making. He has the courage, he can take punishment, and believe you me, he can deal it out, too. He is a clean scrapper, clean and fast breaker, is a "weaver", and delivers his piston-like blows with the speed of a rattler. He is as cocky as they come, too, and not once did he seem to be seriously affected in his bout. A lot of conditioning, some expert instruction, and this boy would give somebody plenty of trouble—he has the natural build and stamina for a successful scrapper, and a spirit that will not be beaten.

Watch the papers for announcement of further boxing meets. We understand there will be several scraps at the camp this winter. If last Saturday night is a fair sample of what is to come, Clanton's fight fans are in for a lively winter.

DON'T BLAME MILK IF ITS FLAVOR DOESN'T SUIT YOU

Good milk is pleasant to the taste. When its unpleasant—don't blame the milk.

Milk flavor and odor depend upon what and when cows are fed and the care given milk by the dairyman or housewife. Some feeds effect the palatability of milk. Others have hardly any effect. Proper aeration and cooling of milk, and storing at low temperatures, reduces feed flavors and odors, sometimes eliminating them.

To avoid undesirable flavors many dairymen feed highly flavored feeds after milking. Silage made from corn, alfalfa, sweetclover, or soybeans; and green alfalfa, cabbage, turnips, rape, and kale when fed an hour before milking produce noticable flavors in milk, tests by the United States Department of Agriculture show. Green rye, cowpeas, potatoes, dried beet pulp, and carrots affect milk slightly. Green corn, green oats and peas, green soybeans, pumpkins, and sugar beets show little effect.

Wild onions and garlic in pastures often give milk an objectionable odor and flavor. Cows should be removed from pastures infested with wild onions and garlic from 4 to 7 hours before milking.

ALABAMA'S GRAND CANYON ADDED TO STATE PARK

Montgomery.—DeSoto State Park in northeastern Alabama has been greatly increased in area and natural scenic quality through the acquisition of what is commonly known as May's Gulf comprising the deep gorge of Little River on the bounadry between Cherokee and DeKalb counties. This picturesque territory contains over 1,600 acres and constitutes one of the most unique natural features of the eastern half of the United States.

Negtiations for the acquisition of May's Gulf from the United States Government were started last April by the State commission of Forestry. However, it was not until funds were made available by Governor Graves that the commission was able to close the transaction. Official confirmation of the transfer of title to the land was recently received by the State Forester, and survey parties were at once asigned to the task of marking the boundaries and gathering engineering data for use in preparing plans for development of the tract.

May's Gulf will be administered as a division of DeSoto State Park. As soon as the plans have been made for the improvement of the area in accordance with standards established by the National Park Service it is expected that the project will be approved as eligible for the assignment of a C. C. C. camp for the furtherance of the actual construction work.

CHILTON HIGH BATTLES SELMA HIGH 25 TO 12 DECISION

The inxeperienced hard hitting tigers from Chilton County High school played their annual game with Selma High Friday afternoon to a 25 to 12 score.

The game opened with C. C. H. S. Tigers receiving and defending their east goal. After a couple of thrusts at Selma's line, quarterback Johnson attempted to pass to Parrish, which the alert Selma fellow outwitted and raced 35 yards for the first score of the game.

Eager to get out in front and facing the possibility of losing the service of their quarterback, the Tigers tried to pass their way to equality, but each attempt was thwarted by the ever alert half-back of Selma, who cashed in on the passes that fell short, due to a physical handicap of the Tiger passer.

The second quarter found both teams unable to score. Early in the third quarter Captain Frank Hogan intercepted one of Selma's passes and paved the way for the Tigers' first touchdown. After a series of line plays the passing combination of Ermon Johnson to Jack Gillespie netted the Tigers' first touchdown—the first in several years against Selma.

The Tiger line just did not give to Selma thrusts at any time during the game. In the third quarter, Selma took advantage of another pass and ran the scores up to 25 to 6. With a bulldog spirit and heads up, our boys engineered a beautiful play from the passing combination of E. Johnson to the peerless Gillespie for the most spectacular play of the game. As the whistle blew the ball was on its way to the waiting arms of Gillespie, who tucked it away and raced 25 yards to a goal and C. C. H. S.'s second touchdown.

The C. C. H. S. boys were outweighed to a considerable margin in every department, but they carried the fight to Selma from Whistle to whistle.

The oustanding players on defense were Morgan Reynolds, Emmett Parrish, Durwood Williamson and Captain Frank Hogan.

The starring line-up for C. C. H. S. was: Frank Hogan, captain, center; Morgan Reynolds, R.G. Ted Reynolds, R.T. Emmett Parrish, R.E.; Jack Gillesie, alt. captain, L.E.; Morris, Mims, L.T.; J. D. Jones, R.G.; E. Johnson, Q.B.; D. Williamson, L.H.; Jno. T. Marler, R.H.; Vernon Robinson, F.B.

C. C. H. S. meets the strong Billingsley High school Bulldogs here next Friday afternoon at 3:00 p.m. This promises to be a hard fought game as it is our first time to encounter the Autauga grasscutters. A large crowd of "rooters" are coming from that community acording to reports reaching our school.

How Calotabs Help Nature To Throw Off a Bad Cold

Millions have found in Calotabs a most valuable aid in the treatment of colds. They take one or two tablets the first night and repeat the third or fifth night if needed.

How do Calotabs help Nature throw off a cold? First, Calotabs is one of the most thorough and dependable of all intestinal eliminants, thus cleansing the intestinal tract of the germ-laden mucus and toxines. Second, Calotabs are diuretic to the kidneys, promoting the elimination of cold poisons from the system. Thus Calotabs serve the double purpose of a purgative and diuretic, both of which are needed in the treatment of colds.

Calotabs are quite economical; only twenty-five cents for the family package, ten cents for the trial package. (Adv.)

FARM INCOME DETERMINES INCOME OF THE NATION

As proof of my contention to the relationship of farm prices to business and industrial prosperity, I desire to call to your attenton the result of a careful study recently completed by a promnent statistical economist connected with one of the large Chicago industries. This study reveeals that with each ten per cent change in national farm income, there is reflected a similar change of ten per cent in the total payroll of the nation. A 10 per cent increase in farm income immediately reflects 25 per per cent increase in farm income has reporting cooperations. A ten per per cet increase in farm income has resulted in a 11 per cent increase in distribution of profits in the form of dividends from all enterprises. A ten per cent change in national farm income immediately is reflected in a ten per cent increase or decline in the value of all stocks listed on the New York Stock Exchange. The study reveals that a ten per cent increase in farm income has resulted in 30 per cent increased profits to the U. S. Steel Corporation. It also reveals that a ten per cent change in national farm income is followed by a 14 per cent change in the volume of production of U. S. Steel.

It is particularly interesting to note that a ten per cent change in farm income—whether up or down—is reflected in a 16 per cent change in profits of International Harvester Company; 22 per cent profits in General Motors; 14 per cent in United Fruit Company; 10 per cent in International Shoe Company; 8 per cent change in the profts of packers; ten per cent in the profits of millers and 12 per cent change in the large cotton manuafcturers.

It would seem that nothing more need be said as to the self interest of business and industry in sustaining a fair and stable national farm income. Certainly this can only be accomplished by maintaining reasonable farm prices. Such farm prices can be sustained only by injecting into American agriculture business principles that have long been used in industry—adjust production to the needs and demands of the market. Why so many businesses attack agricultural adjustment is hard to understand as they have so long ago established the same principle in their own business to sustain the prices of their products.

GREATER MEMBERSHIP IS THE MEASURE OF OUR STRENGTH

The strength of the Farm Bureau is in exact proportion to its membership. The gigantic tasks ahead may be mastered if farmers unitedly take charge of their own business and also all public affairs and legislative matters affecting their business. The future of American agriculture depends upon its speaking with a united voice. Every farmer in America should enroll under the banner of Farm Bureau. Together we cannot fail.

Find Out

From Your Doctor if the "Pain" Remedy You Take Is Safe.

Don't Entrust Your Own or Your Family's Well - Being to Unknown Preparations

BEFORE you take any preparation you don't know all about, for the relief of headaches; or the pains of rheumatism, neuritis or neuralgia, ask your doctor what he thinks about it — in comparison with Genuine Bayer Aspirin.

We say this because, before the discovery of Bayer Aspirin, most so-called "pain" remedies were advised against by physicians as being bad for the stomach; or, often, for the heart. And the discovery of Bayer Aspirin largely changed medical practice.

Countless thousands of people who have taken Bayer Aspirin year in and out without ill effect, have proved that the medical findings about its safety were correct.

Remember this: Genuine Bayer Aspirin is rated among the fastest methods yet discovered for the relief of headaches and all common pains ... and safe for the average person to take regularly.

You can get real Bayer Aspirin at any drug store — simply by never asking for it by the name "aspirin" alone, but always saying BAYER ASPIRIN when you buy.

ESTABLISHING CREDIT

By DAN H. OTIS,
Agricultural Director, American Bankers Association

Did you ever approach a bank officer, badly in need of a loan, but confident you were going to get it? That is the feeling and satisfaction that comes to one who has a credit statement containing ample evidence to justify a reasonable loan intended for productive purposes.

D. H. OTIS

Credit is a choice asset which should be established before it is needed. It takes time, thought, hard work and good management to establish one's credit.

When once established it is far too valuable a possession to injure or lose. Many do not know its value or how to use it. Credit does not always insure success. It is a powerful agent. So is dynamite. Plenty of credit is likely to mean plenty of work and worry, and unless used wisely it may do more damage than good.

Farm Credit

Farm credit, the same as credit for industrial or business purposes, when granted or accepted should be for constructive purposes which possess an earning power sufficient to pay interest and to retire the principal within a reasonable time.

"Why," you ask, "is a credit statement so important?" Personal character cannot be too strongly emphasized, but in addition loans must be based on security and evidence of successful operation, which indicate ability to repay.

Bankers, responsible for their depositors' funds, must base their judgment upon facts. The farmer must also consider facts. This is the reason for the annual farm credit statement which includes the farm inventory, plus other assets and minus liabilities.

A Revelation

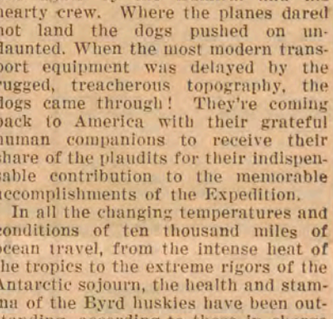
Not infrequently this is a revelation. It shows type of business management and indicates chances for improvement. It makes it possible to discover whether the farm business is being conducted under the rules for safe farming.

It is a guide to the amount of credit that can be used with safety. Through its use it is possible to arrive at a better understanding which may prevent many a restless night and avoid worries and reverses for both the lender and the borrower.

BYRD DOGS WILL BE EXHIBITED IN AMERICAN TOUR

Huskies Made History in Antarctic Explorations.

After more than a year in the far flung, frozen wastes around the South Pole, Admiral Richard E. Byrd's Second Antarctic Expedition is on the way back to civilization, crowned with new laurels of epoch making discovery. The triumphant return started early in February, but it will be May or June before those sturdy adventurers drop anchor in Home Port, U. S. A.



—Morse Photo.
Admiral Byrd, Commander of Expedition.

Returning with them on the long homeward voyage are the vivid recollections of the vast, forbidding and previously uncharted regions that grudgingly and dangerously gave ground before the determined advance of these Polar Pioneers. With them also are more tangible reminders of their unprecedented Antarctic experiences. For if, as Napoleon said, an army marches on its stomach, a Polar expedition unquestionably moves on its dogs—those magnificent canine creatures upon which explorers in frigid lands have always depended so much for the success of their ventures—for their very lives, in fact.

A Long, Long Trail

The vital part played by those hundred and fifty huskies that accompanied Admiral Byrd in his remarkable explorations has been voiced repeatedly by radio, by letter, and by the press of the world in dispatches from Little America. The trail blazing achievements of the powerful dogs that pulled the heavy food and supply sledges over hundreds of miles of icy trek to open up immense stretches of hitherto unexplored country, have been lauded again and again by the Admiral and his hearty crew. Where the planes dared not land the dogs pushed on undaunted. When the most modern transport equipment was delayed by the rugged, treacherous topography, the dogs came through! They're coming back to America with their grateful human companions to receive their share of the plaudits for their indispensable contribution to the memorable accomplishments of the Expedition.

In all the changing temperatures and conditions of ten thousand miles of ocean travel, from the intense heat of the tropics to the extreme rigors of the Antarctic sojourn, the health and stamina of the Byrd huskies have been outstanding, according to those in charge of the dogs throughout the entire itinerary. Frequent reports have praised their fine condition and the way they have stood up and measured up to the severe tasks they have been called upon to perform.

Such strength and staying power are put there by the feed they've been getting—a ration in compressed checker form, developed by the Purina Experimental Kennels at Gray Summit, Mo. The Byrd Expedition selected this food after careful investigation of many dog rations, and took along 100,000 pounds of it to see that the huskies were well fed from the beginning to the end of the long, long trail.

Exhibition Tour Planned

The Expedition has cabled the makers of this dog food that upon the return to America they will be presented with a number of these fine animals as a gift for their experimental feeding kennels, in appreciation of the success of the ration in the Polar venture. These huskies will eventually find a permanent place in the Purina Kennels where, under the best of care and handling, the effects of feeding upon stamina, breeding, and condition will be studied through many canine generations. But before that is done, the dogs will go on an extended exhibition throughout the country. It is planned to display them all over the United States in the feed stores of communities where the greatest demand has developed for this same ration that Admiral Byrd carried with him for his dogs—a ration that has proved it is best for the dog under every feeding condition of house, kennel, or field.

MUSICAL PROGRAMS AT UNION BAPTIST CHURCH

The Alabama State Musical Association will hold a convention at Union Baptist church, colored, Clanton, on Monday night and Tuesday, October 7th and 8th. The program will consist of hand-saw playing, piano solos, vocal solos, chorus singing, preaching, round table discussions, and lots of other interesting numbers.

The SNAPSHOT GUILD

IT'S FOOTBALL TIME

Enlargements of long distance shots will often bring out the "action" detail of a football play (left). A shot from the side lines (right).

HOLD that line! Hold that line! Yes, football season is with us again with its excited, yelling crowds, raccoon coats and joyous celebrations by supporters of the winning team.

What a paradise for the snapshooter! He who goes to the game without his camera is missing a golden opportunity. Pictures of the game, the crowds in the grandstands and informal shots of his classmates and friends will furnish him many hours of pleasure year after year as he looks back through his snapshot album.

There are countless opportunities for interesting, story-telling pictures at football games. All you have to do is use a little imagination. When you are blocked in the traffic and remark to the girl friend, "Gee, look at that line-up of cars and the crowd at the gate," don't stop with that—take a snapshot. Don't be satisfied with stepping out of the car and just snapping a straight line of cars. Stand on the bumper and shoot down on the traffic and crowds. The results will be much more pleasing than the ordinary, conventional view.

The period before the start of the game offers further opportunities for unusual snapshots. For instance, take a picture from the top of the grandstand steps showing the crowds coming up the steps to their seats. A shutter speed of 1/50 of a second will stop the motion of the people as they walk directly toward your camera.

Stand on your seat and take a full view picture of the crowds in the grandstand and as you do this you may see some of your friends seated nearby. Attract their attention and as they wave with a cheery, "Hey, Bill," you can snap another interesting, story-telling picture. Even a chance, "blind" shot over your shoulder may bring unusual and pleasing results.

See today that your camera is ready for action, load it with film and leave for the game determined to get the kind of pictures you will be proud to show your friends.

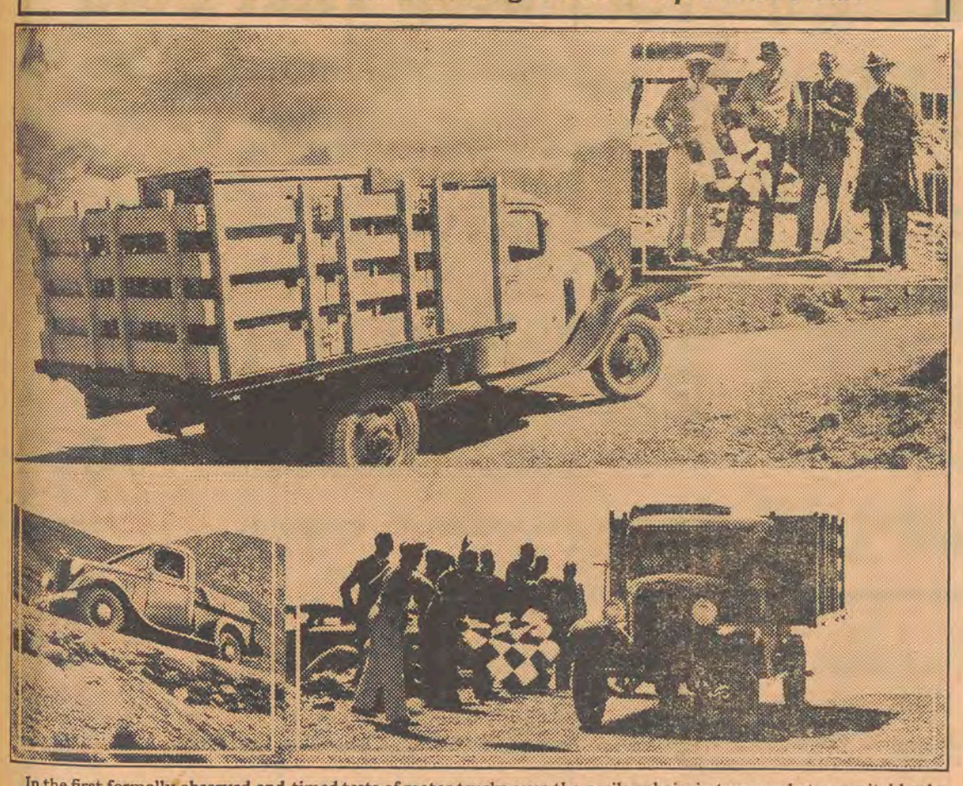
Chevrolet Trucks In Thrilling Tests Atop Pikes Peak



In the first formally observed and timed tests of motor trucks over the perilous hairpin turns and steep switchbacks of the Pikes Peak auto highway, near Colorado Springs, Chevrolet 1½-ton and half-ton trucks demonstrated their power, endurance and efficiency over the course of the annual Labor Day hill climb contest, a distance of 12 miles, 2200 feet, with a rise of 4959 feet from the start to the summit, 14,109 feet above sea level. The upper illustrations show the 1½-ton truck, driven by W. P. Bentrup, on its way to a record of 37 minutes, 52½ seconds, with its full 3000-pound load (it made the run afterward, without load, in 26 minutes, 12 seconds), and the officials at the finish (left to right): Harry Hartz, technical advisor; Robert M. Ross, Detroit Times; Dan Kennedy, Colorado Springs Gazette and Telegraph; and John L. Jenkins, Chicago Daily News. The lower photos show the Chevrolet half-ton truck, which Harry Hartz drove to the summit in 25 minutes, 3 seconds, and the finish of the run of the 1½-ton truck with full load.

THE FAMILY NEXT DOOR

JOHN HEADLEY ENDORSES AAA

From a broken hearted Republican: Well, it is sad news, but it must come. In looking over your editorial in the Union-Banner at what you have to say about the AAA farm program and your idea about it, I want to give you my idea about it too. If you had stayed out on the farm and worked away all of your best days, raising all of the cotton that you possibly could, and then couldn't get by, much less make an honest living, then you would want some help somehow or somehow else; so we are getting help now. By our help thro the rent and the parity payments, also the price of cotton, we are 100 percent better off, with all the luxuries of life, than we were under Hoover or the Hoover administration. You say, oh, I hear so much to the contrary. Yes, out of folks that have not been raising much cotton. Those folks are just mad now because they had not raised much cotton heretofore. We don't pay any attention to them, or you when it comes to the cotton program. Oh, I understand your knocking. You just want to keep us Republicans lined up. Well, you are doing a great work, so just go after it, you can't be beat in the south. Well, I just want to tell you one thing. I am still a Republican, too, but you and the Hoover bunch will have to put up something better than this administration to get my vote in 1936.

You only want us to go back under the old constitution laws and hold to them without any changes being made. Times have changed and I believe in changing the constitution to suit the times, or in other words, amending the constitution so that all can have a decent living and be taken care of You only ask to let's do away with all of this stuff and not receive any of the money, or anything that the government is trying to hand to you. It is all bunk. You will be taxed to death some of these days to pay this money back. Now you know better than that, and you know that we know better. Until the Republicans quit knocking, and try to think up some plan, a better plan than what is just handed down to us, they will stand defeated.

I always have pulled off naked and went hungry to vote for a Republican. But my gray hair taught me better than that. If, and when you put up something better, then I will still vote with you.

One word for our great great president, Franklin D. Roosevelt. Also for our two great Senators who helped to put the cotton program over. Three cheers, also two votes for each in 1936. God help us to remember them.—J. A. Headley, Clanton, Ala., Route 4.

POPLAR SPRINGS

The revival started this week in a big way. Although, the crowds are small sometimes, the services are fine. Thursday night the subject will be "The Unpardonable Sin," and the meeting will close on Friday morning with a flower service. Everybody come and bring your flowers. Let us be much in prayer for these services.

Remember Sunday school and B. Y. P. U. next Sunday. We will meet at 9:30 next Sunday morning have thirty minutes of singing before Sunday school. Come and bring some one with you.—Reporter.

FARMER GIVES VIEWS ON COTTON CONTROL METHODS

Editor Union-Banner:

Will you please allow me space to discuss the present conditions of our cotton control act. Why I come to you is because it appears to me that you are more liberal with your paper than some others I know of.

First, we will take my own case and compare it with a tenant I know of. We will call the tenant Mr. A. He has charge of 40 acres and is allowed nine bales of cotton tax free. Mr. A. praises the cotton control act. He has a large family of 10 or 12 and works two mules.

Now, let's consider my case. I control 100 acres, have 2 mules and am allowed 4½ bales of cotton tax free. I have four families on my place; there are 15 in all including 5 orphan children. These children and their mother have had the cold shoulder turned to them from every branch of the relief office. Why? Because their dying mother refused to sign an obligation to repay what they used.

What is the cause of all this inequality? Of course, it is the 5-year base period,—that is where the whole trouble lies. We all know that our agricultural leaders for the past dozen years have been pleading with the cotton producers to cut their acreage. Some did; others turned a deaf ear to them. As for my part I took heed to their advice and planted 3 acres to grapes, which cut my cotton about half. Two years ago the black root got them and destroyed them. Now I have no grapes and am denied the privilege of sharing with Mr. A in raising cotton. Mr. A. refused to co-operate by cutting his acreage, and is now enjoying a big allowance while myself and thousands of others are nearly left out in the cold, because we tried to help out by cutting our acreage some years ago.

Now, Mr. Farmer, are you going to sign a thing that will likely cause your neighbors to lose their homes? Then if you do, can you get in the pulpit and tell your people that you love your neighbor as yourself. If you do, I will not believe a word of it for there will not be a word of truth in it; and you will be guilty of breaking one of the greatest commandments.

Every person that has a thimble full of grace in his heart will not praise the cotton control act until he sees that his neighbor gets a square deal and an equal chance with himself. I don't blame our president for this unjust act, but our large cotton producers. If my memory serves me right our president told them that he didn't think it would work; but I do blame him for allowing it to be continued as it is. I still have faith in our president. He has done some good things and has been a great blessing to the textile laborers. He has taken them from 11 hours to 8 hours with more pay. His intentions in that were good, but the stretch-out on these 8 hours has been burdensome. In other words, the companies are getting more work for the eight hours than they did for the eleven. That should not be allowed.

I know that it is difficult to give up traditions and enter into a new dispensation, but the peopole are demanding it and all death and hell can't stop it. I realize that we have made a start for a new dispensation and can't turn back now. I also realize that we are lost in the wilderness without a remedy; but it is because of injustice and disobedience.

Now, brother farmer, I am not writing this against the Democrats in favor of the Republicans, for I just as well serve the spirit of gag as magag. Yours for a square deal and not a dirty one.—J. H. Jackson.

ALABAMA INDEPENDENT MERCHANTS ASSOCIATION

Mobilizing its forces in a determined preparedness campaign, the executive committee of the Alabama Independent Merchants Association Saturday issued a general call for a state wide committee meeting to be held in Birmingham Wednesday and Thursday, October 16 and 17 to determine a definite and vigorous course of action in opposition to threatened imposition of a consumer sales tax in Alabama.

Not within the history of the Association's notable stand against the sales tax evil has a more formidable challenge to the enemy been sounded in Alabama, officials announced Saturday.

The Birmingham meeting, to be held at the Tutwiler Hotel with representatives from hundreds of business classifications in attendance, will write a declaration of policy to be made immediately effective from one end of the state to the other, and will feature a full and unbiased explanation of the sales tax in actual operation by some of the most widely known business men and others in the several communities.

The following letter, addressed to the entire membership of the state organization, was made public Saturday by Secretary B. C. Apperson:

"Fellow Merchant:

"It is time to be aroused, danger is eminent. The oppressive heel of a sales tax is again threatening the necks of our people. The tax spenders have a thirst born of a desert for more money. Conscienceless officials and their agents are clamoring for the widow's mite.

"Gov. Bibb Graves has startled a truth loving people. They behold his tragic change on a major pre-election promise. Their idol has fallen. The crash was, in substance, a sales tax demand.

"Experts tell us a sales tax can easily be avoided; that the state can function adequately without it; that economy is the thing most in need of stressing at this time. Also, that Homestead Exemption is a gilded lure intended to net the state spenders more than two for one.

"Competent advisers say the voters at large will swat the Graves sales Tax-Homestead Exemption proposal with complete satisfaction just like killing flies. All they will need is to be informed of its cost to them, and who gets the money.

"Question: What is your attitude toward this issue? Do you favor surrendering to this form of tax gouging, and sit supinely by to watch the fleecing? Or, do you favor a determined and militant resistance—a fight to the last ditch and shouldering your part of the sacrifice? We must have your decision—we want your counsel.

"A statewide committee meeting will be hed Wednesday, beginning at 12:00 noon and continuing into Thursday, October 16 and 17, at the Tutwiler Hotel in Birmingham for the purpose of ascertaining what course the merchants of Alabama want to pursue in this matter. Positively, your officers are not going to speak for you. Momentous importance attaches itself to this meeting. Its decisions, in whichever direction, will carry grave responsibility. You are therefore urged to be present, also to make immediate reply.

Respectfully yours,

Alabama Independent Merchants Association, Inc., N. L. Walker, Pres."

N. A. A. DRIVE REGAINS THE WORLD AIR RECORD LEADERSHIP FOR AMERICA

America's drive to regain world leadreship in the air has brought this country to undisputed first place among the nations of the world in the number of air records held. On March 15th of this year, President Mr. G. McAdoo announced that the National Aeronautics Association will sponsor an effort to re-capture our lost laurels in speed, altitude and distance records, and within six months 21 new air records had either been established or raised by American pilots and planes.

Last March France led the world with a total of 45 air records for lighter-than-air and heavier-than-aircraft, while the United States was a poor second with 32 records. In a series of record-smashing attempts during the past few months, the United States has boosted its total of 46 world air records as compared to 40 now held by France. The latest record breaking attempt of Howard Hughes, California sportsman pilot, raised the world's airplane speed record from 314 m.p.h. to 352 m.p.h. The N. A. A. announces that during the record trials just concluded, American planes have established 7 new world marks, raised the speeds in 6 other events and won back 8 records from other countries. The United States now holds 35 per cent of the total world air records listed by the Federation Aeronautique Internationals and included in this number are airplane speed records with and without loads, amphibian and light seaplane speed and distance records.

"The United States has by no means achieved its final goal in establishing these new world air records", said chairman V. J. Gragg of the Clanton N. A. A. Committee. "National Headquarters advises that new assaults are to be made soon on other existing records and it is believed that these trials will place America well out in front in the field of competitive aviation. This effort to win first place for American aircraft products is just one of the features of the nation-wide effort of the National Aeronautics Association to focus attention on aeronautics during the observance of 'Air Progress.' It is our sincere hope to arouse greater interest and to create a wider acceptance of aviation in all its branches by the American public."

Air Show At Birmingham October Fifth and Sixth

Special attention is called to the big air show to be put on at the Municiual Airport in Birmingham on Saturday and Sunday, October 5th and 6th.

Races, special stunt flying, 'chute jumping, and many other attractions are on the program, to be put on by specialists in their line from all over the country. No admission charge will be made.

Pilots and performers will be present from Maxwell Field, Montgomery, and from Barksdale, La., as well as other air centers.

On Sunday, October 6th, the famed Key Brothers, holders of the world's endurance flight record, of Meridian, Miss., will be present with their plane in which they recently broke all endurance records, and they will perform their interesting and highly dangerous feat of refueling in mid-air.

All aviation enthusiasts of this section are urged to be present.

ITCHING SMARTING CRACKED SKIN
BROKEN OUT PEELING SCABBY

For skin troubles—itch, cracking, smarting and scaling—there is nothing like Dr. Porter's Antiseptic Healing Oil. There may be fancier preparations but nothing that will do the work like this famous oil. It not only destroys the parasites that cause many skin troubles but, at the same time, helps heal the sore and damaged skin.

The most stubborn cases of itching and scaling skin that defy every other treatment usually yield to Dr. Porter's Antiseptic Healing Oil. Try it on your itching or broken out skin and see how effective it is. Dr. Porter's Antiseptic Healing Oil is made by the makers of Grove's Laxative Bromo Quinine and sold by all druggists at 30c and 60c with guarantee of satisfaction or money back.

Mrs. Nancy Mims is on the sick list. We hope she will soon be well again.

Mr. J. R. Connell and family visited inin Ashland Sunday, where Mrs. Connell and baby will spend a few days with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Harris.

Mr. and Mrs. George Thompson and daughter spent Sunday afternoon with Mr. and Mrs. R. N. Connell.

Mr. Tommie Easterling and family spent Sunday afternoon with Mr. J. S. Easterling and family.

Mr. H. H. Mims and children of Sylacauga visited around here the 21st and 22nd of September.

Don't forget the reunion at Mrs. Nancy Mims' next Saturday. Come and bring a nice lunch and spend the day.

Everybody come back to Sunday school.

CLANTON METHODIST CHURCH
(Rev. A. E. Middlebrooks, Pastor)

A special service will be held Sunday morning at 11:00, at which time the teachers and officers of the church school will be formally installed into office. It is hoped that every teacher, superintendent, class president, and all other workers in the Church School will be present for this service. Remember that Sunday is installation and dedication day.

Childhood and youth week will be observed October 13-20 with a program throughout the week. The three age group divisions will have a special program three nights of the week. The closing night, which is Sunday, the Dramatic Club of the church, which has just been organized, will put on a play written especially for childhood and youth week. The public will be invited. Watch for further announcements regarding the detailed program for this week.

During this week the pastor is teaching a city-wide training school in Dothan, Ala. He will fill the pulpit at both services Sunday.

Announcement--

Our new building is completed. Thursday, October 10th, has been set aside for our friends to visit us. Come and see our modern building, look over its convenient arrangement and inspect the modern vault with its five ton steel door now protecting the Peoples Savings Bank and the valuable papers of its customers.

We appreciate the privilege of presenting to our friends this testimonial to the splendid pioneering spirit out of which Clanton and Chilton County grew and to the forward-looking faith which inspires them to continue their work for future progress. We pledge ourselves to work with you. Our new building stands as a monument to the sincereity of our purpose.

Our facilities will, for years to come, enable us to provide adequately for Clanton's expanding needs. What has been accomplished gives us all a vision of what can be accomplished for the Chilton County of Tomorrow. As Chilton County grows, we shall grow.

We want you to visit us every day but we especially urge you to visit us on THURSDAY, OCTOBER 10th.

DIPHTHERIA

There are few diseases that we know so much about as diphtheria. We bacillus; that it is spread largely by discharges from the nose and throat of cases or carriers; that the disease can be diagnosed by means of a throat culture. Also, we have a method of treating the disease and preventing death through the use of Antitoxin. And most important, we know how to prevent the disease through the injection under the skin of a single dose of toxoid.

Yet in spite of this knowledge of the medical profession, that has been repeatedly passed one to the public, we continue to have cases of diphtheria and many young children die yearly from a disease that is preventable.

There were five cases of diphtheria reported to the Health Department by physicians of Chilton county during the month of September. And although there have been no deaths from this disease reported so far this fall, deaths from diptheria, a preventable disease, will occur unless parents can be awakened to its danger, and can be made to realize that through proper preventive measures can be practically wiped out.

All parents should remember these things.

1. Diphtheria is primarily a disease of young children.

2. A single injection of toxoid, given by your family physician or by members of the health unt, will immunize 90 to 95 per cent of children to whom it is given.

3. The best age at which to give toxoid is when the baby is six months old.

4. Toxoid takes about six weeks to three months to establish full protection.

5. A Schick test three months following toxoid will tell whether or not full protection has been established.

6. Diptheria is treacherous in its onset, and the child may not appear acutely ill until the disease is far advanced.

7. Do not delay in calling your physician if your child has a sore throat or is "croupy". He can tell you if the child has dipththeria, and through early use of antitoxin may be able to stop the course of the disease before serious damage results.

GAME AND FISH NEWS

Montgomery, Ala.,—In addition to revising state regulations governing the fur-catching industry, the recently enacted McPhaul bill likewise throws greater safeguardis around the sport of hunting.

One of its most important provisions prohibits the hunting of any bird or animal protected by the state with firearms or headlights between sunset and daylight the following day, the only exception being that headlights may be used in hunting raccoons and opossums at night. These animals, however, cannot be hunted with firearms at night.

The bill requires that all game birds, animals and fish taken or killed in this state must be transported openly and authorizes the confiscation of game illegally transported. It imposes a fine of not less than $50 nor mor ethan $100 and a three-month jail sentence, discretionary with the court, on any person who willfully opposes or resists a game warden in the discharge of his duty.

The act also prohibits hunting within a distance of 100 yards of any public road, public highway or railroad, with the exception of a logging railroad, and provides a fine ranging from $25 to $50 for violation of this section.

Hunting out of season is made a misdemeanor punishable by a fine of not less than $20 nor more than $50, hunting wild turkeys with the aid of a dog is forbidden and a fine of $25 to $50 is imposed on any person who kills a wild turkey hen, doe deer or unanterled male deer.

UNIVERSITY NEWS

University, Ala., Sept. 30.—Student life at the University of Alabama began in earnest last week as a number of organizations elected officers. Class officers for all classes in all schools and colleges were elected, and student committees were appointed by Carl Elliott, Vina, president of the student body. Thirty-five new members were selected for the men's spirit committee and twenty-five for the women's committee. Other organizations were cheduled to take new members and begin work within the week.

Fraternity and sorority rushing to a close with a large number being pledged by members of both classes. More than two hundred girls were taken into sororities, while about three hundred and fifty men students received fraternity bids.

News from the medical school revealed that former medical students have finished their last two years of medicine at other schools and secured positions as interned. Dr. Joe Kipcha, Chicago, worked his way through Rush by playing professional football with the Chicago Bears. He was chosen on the all-professional honorary team a couple of years ago. Dr. Jack Martin, Atlantic City, N. J., has been working on the medical staff of a trans-Atlantic ocean liner.

Frank M. Taylor, Birmingham, was chosen Cadet Colonel of the R. O. T. C. corps this year. Taylor is also editor of the Corolla year book at the University. His staff includes Cadet Lieutenant-Colonel Willard Hodges, Odenville, brigade executive, and Cadet Lieutenant-Colonel Cliff Atkinson, Tuscaloosa, brigade adjutant.

Enterprising University of Alabama students have succeeded in making for themselves on the Tuscaloosa police force. Three students were made part time policemen by the police commissioner, while three others were given work in the fire department.

Station WSM of Nashville, Tenn., will devote a half-hour program to the University of Alabama on November 11, at 9:30 p.m., Central Standard Time. The program will feature the life story of one of the most notable of the University alumni.

The first woman student of all time was registered in the school of engineering when Rose Rabinowitz, Philadelphia, Pa., signed a rgeisrtation card for the engineering school. Miss Rabinowitz also signed up for military training in compliance with requirements of the engineering school, but authorities removed her from the course.

Zeta Beta Tau fraternity and Kappa Kappa Gamma sorority repeated victories in scholarship competition for the year 1934-35. It was the eleventh time out of twelve the sorority had won and the fourth time out of seven that the fraternity had. The Kappa Kappa Gamma average was 2.06 while the Zeta Beta Tau was 2.04, both better than a B average. The school mark was 1.443.

FOOTBALL DRUNKS MAY BE PLACED IN PUBLIC PILLORIES

Montgomery, Ala.,—Public pillories for football drunks is the proposal of Sheriff Haygood Paterson who intends to keep Montgomery foootball games sober if nowhere else in bone dry Alabama.

If the pillory fails, then 25 lashes at the whipping post would do the trick, according to Sherrif Paterson, who once was a football star and sees no reason why attendants should be annoyed by drunken roisterers, aside from the violation of the law.

Sheriff Paterson and conditions at the Auburn-Birmingham Southern game showed a decided improvement but he wants all games 100 per cent free of noisy drunks.

Fines, the sheriff thinks, works a hardship upon the families of drunks, while the pillory or the whipping post would be direct action on the culprit.

Sure Relief for Malaria!

Don't try homemade treatments or newfangled remedies! Take that good old Grove's Tasteless Chill Tonic. Soon you will be yourself again, for Grove's Tasteless Chill Tonic not only relieves the symptoms of Malaria, but destroys the infection itself.

The tasteless quinine in Grove's Tasteless Chill Tonic kills the Malarial infection in the blood while the iron it contains builds up the blood to overcome the effects of the disease and fortify against further attack. The twofold effect is absolutely necessary to the overcoming of Malaria. Besides being a dependable remedy for Malaria, Grove's Tasteless Chill Tonic is also an excellent tonic of general use. Pleasant to take and absolutely harmless. Safe to give children. Get a bottle today at any drug store. Now two sizes—50c and $1. The $1 size contains 2½ times as much as the 50c size and gives you 25% more for your money.

Greatest Circus Is Coming This Way

Offering its millions of patrons the largest and best programs in its brilliant annals, the mighty Ringling Bros. and Barnum & Bailey Combined Circus, is scheduled to exhibit in Montgomery on Tuesday, Oct. 15th, and on that day the world's largest big top will be filled with sensational new features from all over the globe, including the topmost arenic acts of every European nation, except Denmark.

The greatest show on earth will arrive on four long railroad trains of double length steel cars, carrying 1600 people, seven herds of elephants, 1009 menagerie animals and 700 horses, to say nothing of 31 great tents and countless tons of riggings, grand stands and paraphernalia.

New European troupes are the Walkmirs, Anteleks, Romeos, Maschinos, Polis, Beumrangs, Dmnatis, Willos, Laurics, and Torrence Delores—sensational aerial and acrobatic novelty offrings. The largest aerial ballet ever produced, led by the Lydia, the Rooney, the Annetta and Nelletta troupes, and the largest liberty horse act ever seen are new thrills from abroad.

Mlle. Gillette, who leaps from the dome of the big top; the otaris, who fly in masses from an aerial cross; the two Wallenda troupes in new hair-raising high wire feats; Dorothy Herbert, riding reinless hurdling horses over fire jumps; the great Con Coleno, forward somersaulting star of the tight wire; the largest acrobatic display ever seen, with the Yacopis, the Danwills, the Uyenos, the Lom Kams, the Demenatis, the Hadjis and Hassans; the celebrated Loyal Repenskis, the famed Rieffenachs and the great Walters, bareback riding stars; the two Guice Troupes of comedy aerial flyers on the lofty bars; the flying Concellos, with Antoinette, only girl ever to accomplish a two-and-a half somersault to hand-to-hand catch; the famed flying Comets; Hugo and Mario, who are fired in a split second from the mouth of a giant cannon across the upper reaches of the big top—these are but a few of the preeminent artists among the 800 performers with the Gratest Show on the Earth—Ringling Bros and Barnum & Bailey.

Still another feature is Col. Tim McCoy, the screen's most outstanding western star, at the head of his congress of rough riders of the world—cowboys, cowgirls, Cossacks, Mexican vaqueros, Australian bushrangers and plains Indians. Col. McCoy scout, soldier and friend of the Indian, idol of Amrican youth, will also present his Indian Village in the center of the vast menagerie oval.

FOREIGN TRADE PLAN HAS BANKING SUPPORT

Export-Import Banks Found Useful in Stimulating Foreign Trade in Cooperation With Commercial Banks

WASHINGTON, D. C. — Detailed measures to bring about maximum cooperation between commercial banks and the Government's Export-Import Banks have been worked out here at a meeting of representatives of the American Bankers Association with officials of the Government institutions.

The association has set up an Export-Import Bank Advisory Committee of which Robert F. Maddox, Director, First National Bank, Atlanta, Georgia, is Chairman; Joseph C. Rovensky, Vice-President Chase National Bank, New York, Vice-Chairman, and Fred I. Kent, Director Bankers Trust Company, New York, Chief Consultant.

Mr. Maddox announced that an executive committee with Mr. Rovensky as Chairman would be at the disposal of the Export-Import Banks to advise upon all current foreign transactions and that all member banks in the association would be informed in regard to the plan.

A Useful Purpose

"It is our belief that useful purposes will be served by the Export-Import Banks in augmenting the facilities of commercial banks and in stimulating our foreign trade. We are fully mindful of the importance of increasing our imports if we expect to increase our exports. We believe these banks will serve an important public purpose in this connection," he said.

"Our efforts may be divided into three general sub-divisions:

"1. To provide proper publicity and a method of procedure that will actively promote the cooperation of commercial banks.

"2. To establish an executive committee that would be at the disposal of the officers of the Export-Import Banks to advise upon all current foreign transactions.

"3. And to use this Committee, or the Advisory Committee as a whole, in a consultative capacity to the extent that it may be desired to study all special transactions involving our foreign business that may be suggested to or originated by the Export-Import Banks, the scope of which is beyond the usual normal foreign business.

"In the opinion of the Committee these banks will help to finance transactions of a tenure beyond the length of a commercial bank transaction, up to five years; join in the extension of credit with commercial banks to handle for a concern a sizable business where the amount of the risk might not be prudent for commercial banks to handle alone, or where the concern is unable to obtain commercial banking facilities for the amount required; in approved transactions, assume a part of the risk; assist in solving the problems of doing business with countries where there exists difficulty in obtaining foreign exchange; be the focal point of all the governmental activities in assisting in providing the markets for American commodities and goods."

EDUCATION IN BANKING

By R. S. HECHT
President American Bankers Association

THE banking business of today is fully alive to the essential part that education must play in sound, public-serving banking, and is diligent in providing it for its people. For thirty years the American Institute of Banking Section of the American Bankers Association has been active in this direction. Many colleges are offering equivalent courses. Banking management more and more is placing emphasis on such training in its policies relating to employment and promotions.

R. S. HECHT

To the long-established work of the American Institute of Banking there is now being added the Institute Graduate School of Banking. This school will be open to graduates of the Institute who are bank officers and to others in banking qualified to enter.

In carrying on this program, the Institute will have the cooperation of leading universities in various parts of the country, as well as the help of federal and state banking authorities. The work will embrace both resident and extension activities and will require attendance at three resident sessions of two weeks each. The men in the courses will be required to do extension work for a period of twenty-two months.

The Course of Study

All the work will be under the direct supervision of the faculty staff of the Institute Graduate School. The first resident session will be held at Rutgers University in New Jersey during the last two weeks of June, 1935. Courses will be offered in trust administration investments, bank management and economics. Prominent bank officials and university professors will be associated in the teaching program. Banking law will be taught by government officials.

The Public Education Commission of the American Bankers Association under the chairmanship of Mr. John H. Puelicher has been investigating ways and means of carrying out this program since 1932. Resident sessions of the school will be established later at university campuses in other sections of the country.

See next week's paper for prices at Annual Shell Sale at Rockett's.

NATIONAL AFFAIRS

(By Frank P. Litschert

One statement which may be of more than passing interest to Americans was that made recently by Adolph Hitler, the German autocratic ruler, in a speech at Nurnburg, to the effect that democracy is domed. "If other states have not yet decayed," Der Fuehrer is quoted as saying, "the fact that they rest on democracy does not prove our authority and principle wrong, but rather that history processes take time."

It may seem at first thought that there is some weight in what the German ruler was saying. Less than twenty years ago we fought a good fight on the assumption that we were helping to save the world for democracy. Yet in this year of 1935, autocracy seems more firmly entrenched in the saddle than it was before the war. Most of the world's headlines are being grabbed by men like Hitler, Mussolini, Stalin and their kind. In fact the first mentioned autocrat, as this is being written, seems to be threatening to push Europe off balance into what might turn out to be general warfare. Even in America there are fears that we may be getting ready to substitute something like centralized bureaucratic government at Washington for our traditional representative democracy.

Yet the statement of Hitler deserves more than cursory examination. Perhaps the plight of democracy is not quite so bad as it seems. While autocracy is looming big in Europe at this time, it is to be remembered that in at least two prominent instances, Germany and Italy, the fate of the autocratic government seems to rest pretty largely on the life and fortune of one man. If Hitler and Mussolini were to fall there is no telling what might happen. In Russia, autocracy depends on the will of one man and a well organized party which is very much in the minority. Then, too, there is apt to be an upset which might entirely change the type of government. On the other hand, some of the democracies left in Europe, especially the smaller ones which, figuratively speaking, remain at home and mind their own business, seem to be getting along fairly well without any pomp or streamer headlines Switzerland is an excellent example. Even in Great Britian—and John Bull is usually referred to as a typical example of democracy in Europe—there has been economic improvement, despite the fact that the war clouds have now settled thickly. And in the United States, too, there is no reason to be without hope. It is true that bureaucracy has flourished at Washington and that we have launched some experiments which seem somewhat to resemble many of the things which have been tried out in Europe by non-democratic governments. But let us remember that never has there been more interest and more discussion of democracy than at present. Our democracy rests on our national Constitution with its checks and balances and never was Constitution Day more generally remembered than it was this year. The instance of prominent men of both great political parties on the same platform preaching representative government and a balanced power, is one which is not without significance. It may be that democracy has been slipping some from its moorings in America. But at the same time it is to be remembered that the people every day are becoming more "democracy conscious" and certainly this does not bear out Hitler's statement concerning the end of democratic government.

Democratic government is based on a distinct ideal—the ideal that it is better to have individual freedom and government by the people, even when some other form of control might seem for the time, more efficient. It recognizes the fact that water never rises higher than its source and that after all, a government can be no better than the people which form it. On the other hand autocracy too often rests on the power, the magnetism and the determination of one man. The people have little to say about it and when the leader disappears from the field of action there is apt to be something like chaos. It is true that the democracies of Greece and the republic of Rome have disappeared. But the autocracies of Alexander, of August Ceaser and of Napoleon have likewise vanished. Perhaps after all it is as much a question of the kind of people as of the form of government. And in recognizing the rights of people, the theory of democracy seems to be fundamentally correct.

There was quite a bit of guffawing from the bystanders on a downtown corner the other day when a prominent supporter of the New Deal asked an old fashioned man what he would do now if he had authority to run the government. The old fashioned man reported that he would enforce the Democratic platform of 1932.

So many prominent men have been killed in automobile accidents recently that some people believe that auto mechanism is being deranged from a distance by a mysterious death ray. We don't know much about the chauffeurs of these "prominent people," but the drivers around town don't need any help from a death ray to jam things up.

Park Commissioner Robert Moses of New York objected to the number and kind of relief workers that were being sent to him by General Johnson's organization. He said they were killing all the grass in the park by sitting on it so long.

Now that they are preparing to sell beer to the consumer in sealed tin containers we presume the motto of the brewers will be "I can."

THE RARE PIG

In view of the talk we are hearing about Uncle Sam's making tariff treaties with foreign countries for the purpose of increasing our exports abroad, especially the exports of our farmers, it is interesting, if not satisfactory to note that the supply of livestock now on the farms of America is the scantiest in years and that the receipt of hogs at the various major livestock markets of the country is perhaps the lightest in modern records. All of which, of course, brings the question of how our farmers are going to manage to export anything if they have nothing to export, have not enough, in fact, for domestic consumption. Perhaps the tariff treaty makers are looking far ahead—into the future when there will be no AAA to cut down the supply of farm products to the point where there can be no exports. But even that look must be full of misgivings to some—for there are many legal authorities who predict that the departmental tariff making powers are unconstitutional and will be found null and void before the livestock supply gets normal again.

Be that as it may there can be no question as to the scarcity of supplies at this time. Receipts of hogs at the major markets of the country are only about half what they were at the same time in 1934. In August the receipts were said to have been the smallest in 47 years. As a result there isn't much to do and the livestock market and packing plant employment has fallen off considerably thus adding to the problems of Mr. Hopkins.

Of course, leaders of the AAA tell us that the scanty supply is not due to the AAA program, but to the drouth last year. Which makes it rather mean of the Drovers Journal to recall the fact that just two years ago 6,000,000 pigs were being slaughtered by the government to reduce the supply, and that more than 350,000 sows lost their lives in the same federal program.

It is true of course that the price paid for hogs is much higher than it was a year ago. The trouble is that the farmers do not have many pigs to sell, while the price of grain and hay has gone down and farmers don't know what will become of all the corn, and timothy and clover this fall.

Well, you have to hand it to the AAA for one thing, anyhow. It has surely increased the price of pork chops. And it doesn't have to depend on scarcity alone to do this, either. There is the good old processing tax to count on, too.

All of which brings us back to the question of tariffs and foreign trade again. Even if the AAA scarcity program hasn't helped our farmers by providing more meat for export, it has certainly aided the alien livestock raisers. Import of farm products, including lard and meats, is said to be heavier than it has been in years. After all maybe it isn't necessary for Secretary of State Hull to figure out tariff reductions to encourage imports to the United States. The AAA has solved this import "difficulty" by helping to raise prices in the United States to where the foreign producer can scale our tariff and deliver us plenty of agricultural commodities to take the place of what the American farmer ought to be raising for the home market.

FOR NOT RAISING THINGS

The story of the man who wouldn't raise five hundred pigs and who sought financial counsel about borrowing money to engage more largely in a program of not raising pigs is by now something of a classic.

The profit of the man who didn't raise cotton has been in evidence sufficiently that more men have not raised more cotton.

And so on.

But the man who has gone into not raising things in the biggest and most profitable way seems to have been Gov. Davey of Ohio.

He went down to Washington the other day with plans for not raising a special congressional election this summer, and he came away with twenty million dollars of award for his state from the President's four billion eight hundred million fund.

This seems to set a record.

Of course, it could be explained as a coincidence, but it is an interesting coincidence at that.

Rhode Island has just had a special congressional election and its results were rather sensational. Also disquieting to Washington, Ohio has a congressional vacancy just as Rhode Island had, with the difference, however, that Ohio's vacancy applies to congressmen-at-large and the election would take in the whole State of Ohio. An election at this time would, therefore, be a referendum on what's been happening at Washington. The governor has to call the election if it is called.

That's one side of the matter. The other side is that the distribution of the new public works fund by the President, through the department of Secretary Ickes, has been rather slow. But when Gov. Davey got down there the other day they met him at the door—or at any rate so the Enquirer and New Washington reviewer says—and notified him of an allotment of 20 millions. This classified Gov. Davey as one of the best bacon bringers home in the history of Ohio.

And now it is decided—in fact it was decided almost at that moment—that Ohio shall not have an election to fill her congressional vacancy until the time of the regular national election in 1936.—Battle Creek, Mich., Enquirer and News.

$18,000,000 FOR INVESTIGATION

No doubt it will bring surging joy to the hearts of taxayers to learn that the all-wise and beneficient powers in Washington are going to spend the modest sum of $18,000,000 in making a large series of investigations and surveys. To those who hold nothing, however sacred, in respect, the term "snooping" has been made to apply to this activity. This appropriation, so dear to the heart of the professional investigator and survey maker, will be extracted from the $4,000,000,000. When the surveys are completed Washington will need more buildings to store the voluminous reports and statistics which will have been garnered throughout the nation.—Columbus State Journal.

AN INADEQUATE ANSWER

The first spear that is hurled by the fervent supporters of the New Deal at anyone who has the temerity to criticize the administration is, what would you do if you were sitting in the seat of power? This interrogation is usually put in a heated tone which implies that the critic is guilty of disloyalty to his country and a lack of sympathy for the condition which the policies are meant to correct.

The fact is that the New Dealers have received not only criticism, but plenty of constructive criticism. It has proved, however, too unpalatable and been consigned to the wastebasket and pigeonhole.

What would you do? The question, as an answer to criticism, is inadequate. It implies no one should point out dangers unless he knows a way to circumvent them; it implies also that no intelligent alternative plans have been offered to these anxious architects of the "new order."—Columbus, O., Dispatch.

MAN IN THE MOON

"LITTLE BOY BLUE"

Little Boy Blue, come blow your horn,
There's a government agent counting my corn;

Another one is lecturing my old red sow,
On the number of pigs she can raise—and how.

Pa's gone to town to see jus twhat
He can do with the old meadow lot;
Aunt Mame's in Washington dragging down pay
From the PDQ or the AAA.
My hired man quit when his work didn't please,

And got a job trimming government trees.
They'll be telling me soon, if I don't take care,

Just where I can live, and what I can wear,
How much to pay for my pants and shoes,
So this is no time for me to snooze.

Little Boy Blue must be fast asleep,
While alack and alas, I'm buried deep!

THE FARMERS UNION

Efforts are being made to organize a farmers union in Chilton County. Such a union could be a very profitable one to the farmers of the county if managed and used properly. However, there are a number of pitfalls along the way which members of the union would do well to sideste.

Members of the Farmers Union might use their organization for their own good in a number of ways. They might use it in buying their fertilizers, in obtaining loans for crop production purposes, in selling farm products cooperatively, and in a number of ways. "In union there is strength," but this union strength should not be abused as it has been by other unions. Union organization for the purpose of force, to wrest from another his legitimate property is abuse of the union idea, and has become synonomous with the term "union."

The Union-Banner is in the center of a vast farm belt. We like to see farmers prosper. We like to know their desires and needs, and we like to champion their fight for right in economic circles. In this sense we are behind the farmers union 100 per cent. So long as the farmers union is a federation of farmers ,looking toward the welfare of farmers, and seeing that farmers get their just dues, we are with them to the limit.

However, knowing the age-old history of unions, especially certain labor unions, we know that there is apt to creep in a sinister motive of radicalism. The farmers union should guard against that. Union for good is an excellent idea, but if radical agitators are allowed to dictate the principles of the new union, or even later have their own radical ideas written into it, then such a union COULD become a potential menace. If affairs should come to this state, the farmers would be the ones who would suffer ultimately.

So, to make ourselves clear, we wish to go on record as backing the farmers union as long as it is a "Farmers Union," but at such time as radical ideas creep into the organization, if they do, and when radical principles are applied by it, right there is the parting of the ways for us.

A BREATHING SPELL

Just in case you are a bit tired of worrying over your troubles, and want a respite, or "breathing spell," here is a figure pun that has been sent in by Jack Nix, to provide a laugh. It has been said that "figures don't lie." Maybe they don't, but we imagine one has put them down right to get the right answer. Anyway, here's the pun, and you can form your own opinion as to whether it is right or not.

Population of the United States	124,000,000
Eligible for the Townsend plan, or other old age pension plan	50,000,000
Number of people prohibited from working under child labor laws, and those on the government pay roll	60,000,000
Unemployed	13,999,998
Total	123,999,998
Number left to produce the nation's goods	2

Jack thinks we two are the two left to produce those goods, and he was born tired, relapsed, and has never shown any sign of recovering from the malady. And I don't believe I'll ever be able to swing the job alone.

AUTO FUEL FROM FARMS

It has been the general opinion of most people that the raw supply of petroleum in the United States in inexhaustable. Perhaps one reason for this is the extensive advertising campaigns that have been and are being waged by the several oil concerns.

Recent figures given out by an oil statistics burau tells us that really the reserve supply of crude oil is only about ten billion barrels, and we use around a billion barrels every year. So, if the supply in mother earth should suddenly dry up, we should have less than 12 years' supply on hand.

Most countries of the world do not have the enormous supply that we have, and have already enacted strict measures along the line of substitution in motor fuels, looking forward to the possibility of some day having to "grow" their fuels. They have encouraged scientific research to see just what can be done toward making motor fuels from farm-grown products, and much has been accomplished. Our country has not kept step in this work, probably because of our seemingly inexhaustable supply.

Now science has proved to us, however, that a newly discovered method of alcohol mixing in motor fuel production results in a new fuel that is as quick-firing and powerful as pure gasoline, and has far less carbon deposits. There are numbers of farm products that alcohol could be made from, and it is highly probable that this mixing process may come into vogue. If it should, if there were no other good results, it would at least increase the demand for farm products that alcohol can be made from, and at the same time would lower the present prohibitive price of fuel.

Some farm organization should take a page from the book of big business, convince some concern of the possibilities of the alcohol mixture fuel, put on an extensive advertising campaign to educate the motoring public in regard to the new product, which would be far lower in price than the present fuel price, and thus open up an outlet for certain farm products. It is an idea worth investigating.—Man in the Moon.

Last year stamp taxes were paid on 125,000,000,000 cigarettes. The question now is, how many potatoes will stamp taxes be paid on next year?

TWO STATESMEN SPEAK

Constitution Day in September, 1935, seemed to have special significance to the people of the United States. From one end of the country to the other meetings were held by patriotic and thoughtful citizens to observe this momentous date in American History. At each assemblage speakers emphasized the fact that our constitution must be preserved if we are to maintain traditional democratic government in America.

The added significance was given no doubt by recent attacks on the Constitution, often coupled with criticisms of the United States Supreme Court for its constructive interpretation of our basic law. Defense of the Constitution has by no means been a partisian issue. Everywhere thoughtful men, Republicans and Democrats alike, have lifted their voices in defense of fundamental American law.

Perhaps no more significant exemplification of this fact is to be found than in the meeting at the Union League Club in Chicago where the addresses were made by two ex-governors of the United States, both men of national reputation, one of them a Republican in politics and the other a Democrat. The speakers referred to are former Governor Frank O. Lowden of Illinois, and former Governor Joseph B. Ely, of Massachusetts. Each speaker criticized so-called New Deal tendencies to move from constitutional government toward autocracy. by strengthenin conerol of the nation in Washington at the expense of the state and local governments.

Governor Ely declared that the plan for control at Washington is a "scheme which makes the federal government master of our souls. It is a complete reversal of the Jeffersonian theory of government. It creates a government engaged in bringing us all to the will of the one man who decides just how many yards of cloth shall be manufactured, how much cotton and wheat shall be raised, how many hours we shall work, what we shall be paid and how we shall spend our money." The present tendency, he predicted would develop a dictatorship with an army of snoopers, and spies, under the name of investigators, to enforce the new bureaucratic regulations.

Governor Lowden pointed out the danger of a proposed constitutional amendment to permit Washington to regulate hours and wages, industry, trade and commerce. Such an amendment, he said, would invalidate the Bill of Rights and principles of free government which have been a thousand years in developing. Continuing he said: "Under our system we have reached a higher standard of living than we have ever seen. Are we to discard the American form of government for imported philosophies old at the time and discarded as unworthy by the framers of the Constitution?"

The warning on the anti-constitutional tendencies of the times, coming from two men of opposite political faith, is in itself significant. But similar warning arose on Constitution Day from a thousand sources. Let us heed the warning before it is too late.

A DISCIPLE OF POOR RICHARD

A Benjamin Franklin Democrat is a rarity in Washington nowadays. William N. McNair, young mayor of Pittsburgh, told the Senate Finance Committee he was that sort of Democrat. The New Deal senators laughed. If the mayor from the city of steel and smoke and thrifty one-time millionaires had come clad in knee breeches, lace-cuffed coat and buckled shoes, he could scarcely have seemed funnier to them.

And Mr. McNair's expressed views sounded as quaint to the senators as his clothes would have looked had he dressed in the style of Ben Franklin's time. He believes that government can spend too much money. He believes it can make its citizens poorer by squandering. He believes it can tax business and industry to death. He believes in the freedom of private initiative and enterprise, and the distribution of wealth by the multiplying of jobs. Redistribution of wealth by government intervention he considers communism, and the New Deal method of accomplishing it looks to him like a fantastic illusion. In all of this the young Pittsburgher can discover no familiar landmarks of his party democracy. The figures of both Franklin and Jefferson are lost in the fog. What the party needs for the coming campaign, he told the guffawing New Dealers, is a Democrat on the ticket.

And while they indulged their merriment Rhode Island voted down a proposition to borrow from the federal treasury millions for public work relief. "He who goes borrowing goes sorrowing," Rhode Islanders quoted from Poor Richard. Maybe there are more Franklin Democrats in the country than the Washington New Dealers think.—Chicago Daily News.

"OLD POTATO"

First, the Boston Tea Party; then Concord Bridge.

The revolt against the outrageous potato-control bill was given in New Jersey, when Dean Carl Ackerman and some sturdy American farmer friends announced their intention of raising potatoes in the manner in which they have always been accustomed to raising them—as you please.

Now Senator James W. Wadsworth takes his stand on Concord Bridge and announces to the unconstitutionalists in control of the government:

"I intend to raise more than five bushels of potatoes next year, and I shall sell them where I please. I will not have the government tell me how to run my farm."

This has the ring of the Constitution in it!

It was Al Smith who once affectionately called Franklin D. Roosevelt "Old Potato."

Clairvoyance that is almost uncanny!—New York American.

NO LICENSE, NO LIBERTY

When you step up to the postoffice window on and after December 1, you will have to tell the accomodating clerk whether you want the sort of stamps that go on letters or parcels or whether you want stamps for Irish potatoes.

All postoffices, says the United States News, will sell the potato stamps to be attached to the tubers when they are offered for sale. If you, Mrs. Housewife, are in possession of potatoes to which no stamps have been affixed, you will be liable to a $1,000 fine and a prison sentence. You are living in a free country, you say and you may think, but are you?

This additional chore to the postmaster is another of the signs that you are being stripped of the liberty htat the New Deal says with emphasis that you are assured. Liberty seems to be licensed nowadays—no license, no liberty.—Charleston News and Courier.

When Premier Laval of France ran out on Mussolini at Geneve the other day it indicated that in the international poker game being played there it was from now on Duce's wild.

THEY VOTED POTATO CONTROL

Here they are home again, our congressmen, the luxory seven: Harry P. Beam, Edward A. Kelley, Leo Kociakowski, James McAndrews, Raymond S. McKeough, Thomas J. O'Brien, Adolph J. Sabath. These statesmen love the poor. They love the poor so well that they would spare them the humiliation of buying cheap food. They voted for snoop and snitch in the back yards and truck gardens of the nation. They voted to ennoble the lowly spud, give it a guard of honor from the Department of Agriculture, adorn it with green bond stamps and jack it up to a skyscraper price level. Let the echo of their names go ringing down the corriders of time in every clank of the cash register in a cash-and-carry. Their brave attempt to lift the plebian potato into the peerage of luxury may yet be commemorated in every Chicago grocery bill.—Chicago Daily News.

UNQUESTIONABLY

After waiting ten years for a husband who stepped out for beer, a Chicago wife asks divorce. One who can't find beer in Chicago in ten years is, of course, legally dead. —Detroit News.

The Soviet government can send to Siberia a man who dares lift his voice against communism or get him executed. But, strange to say, it is powerless to stop in Moscow the activities of any man, Russian or alien, who openly plots the overthrow of the United States government. Where do they get that kind of baloney?

When you think it might be a fine thing for the government to operate the railroads and other utilities, don't forget that the politicians operate the government and it has yet to be proved that politicians, as a class, are more efficient or more honest operators than business men as a class.

Eddie Cantor used to sing a song about "Potatoes are cheaper, now's the time to fall in love." Those contemplating the commission of matrimony ought to be warned that now IS the time. After December, when the new government regulations go into effect, potatoes will no longer be cheaper.

PERIL AHEAD

We must learn to be more careful with our money. The government is trying to make the silver dollar bill more attractive, and that means more people will try to get it away from us.—St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

OUR FEDERAL PAYROLL

With the addition of more than twelve thousand new civilian employees to the federal payroll in July, monthly disbursments above $111,000,000. The increase in civil servants resulted in an additional expense of more than twenty-one million dollars, figured on an annual basis.

Bringing the total to 729,769 civilian employes alone, the July additions must be regarded as further conformation of a fact that hardly needs corroborative evidence, namely, that Mr. Roosevelt's 1932 campaign promise to curb federal bureaucracy and one means of achieving his pledged economy has been consigned to the political scrap heap. —Providence Journal.

The day of benches on the sidewalk in front of business places is gone. But it has not been as bad for the loafers as you might think. The fender of a parked car is an excellent substitute, except that it doesn't whittle quite as good as the pine bench did.—Stafford, Kansas, Courier.

POPULAR SPRINGS CLUB

The Poplar Springs Home Demonstration club met with Mrs. F.M. Jones Friday afternoon for the purpose of electing their officers for the coming year. The attendance was good.

The meeting was called to order by the president, Mrs. A. D. Minor. Miss Ruth Pardue, our Home Demonstration Agent gave us a good lecture on Home Management. We then elected new officers. They are as follows: President, Mrs. A. D. Miner; vic-president, Mrs. G. S. Miner; secretary, and treasurer, Mrs. O. L. Popwell; reporter, Miss Ruth Miner; project leader, Miss Lena Downs and Mrs. Mattie L. Crew; community leaders, Mrs. F. M. Jones and Mrs. J. L. Smith; poultry leader, Mrs. H. M. Kelley; director, Mrs. A. D. Miner. Each officer has vowed that she will do her best for the club. Let's all attend all of the meetings and cooperate with them.

There were five visitors and a number of members present.

The members present were: Mrs. R. L. Traywick, Mrs. G. B. Jones, Miss Ruth Minor, Mrs. Mattie L. Crew, Mrs. J. K. Miller, Mrs. H. M. Kelley, Mrs. J. S. Smith, Mrs. J. B. Downs, Mrs. E. D. Hand, Mrs. N. A. Jones, Mrs A. D. Miner, Mrs. A. D. Scott, Mrs. J. M. Jones, Mrs. W. R. Nations and Mrs. O. L. Popwell.

The visitors were: Mrs. Margaret Mitchell, Miss Marie Miner, Miss L. E. Guy, and Mrs. T. E. Jones. We were glad to have the visitors with us this time and we invite them back to all of our meetings.

Listen club, let's take hold of this club work and put it over bigger and better this year than we did last year. Let's strive to have a better club record at the club rally next year.

Our next meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. J. L. Smith, on Friday, October 4th, at 2:00 o'clock p.m. be sure to come.—Reporter.

SECOND CROP OF GRAPES

Mr. Robert Tell presented The Union-Banner with a bunch of grapes, ripe ones, taken from the second crop on his vines this year. They are fine grapes and almost as large as ordinary first-crop grapes.

Mr. J. M. Stroud was a business visitor in Clanton Monday and Tuesday.

BOB JONES COMMENTS ON HERE AND HEREAFTER.

When you see a young person you never know at whom you are looking. The brothers of Joseph, when they threw him in a pit, did not see in him an Egyptian prime minister. They would not have treated Joseph as they did if they had known who he was. The first man who went into Calvin Coolidge's law office to consult him did not know he was talking to a future president of the United States. When Woodrow Wilson opened a law office in Atlanta, the citizens of that city did not know they had a president of this nation in their midst. When the neighbors saw Abe Lincoln they did not realize they were looking at a great man who would some day live in the White House. They thought they were looking at an ordinary tall rail splitter. When people saw John Bunyan mending pots and pans they did not know they were looking at the man who would write in many ways the most beautiful book ever written in any language. People saw a monk going on his knees up a stairway in Rome. They thought they were just looking at a monk, but they were wrong. They were looking at Martin Luther. People went to a ball game in Chicago, and saw a man make a famous play. They did not know they were looking at Billy Sunday, the popular evangelist. The man who gave Dwight L. Moody his first job did not know that he was employing one of the mightiest servants the Lord Jesus Christ ever had. A little baby born in the next home to you may be the greatest genius the world ever saw. All life is precious. All men are worth saving because all men must live somwhere forever and ever.

This article is being dictated in the office of the writer at the Bob Jones College in Cleveland, Tennessee. We opened school on Septmbr 4, and on the opening night I conducted an evangelist service. On our first night this year there were thirty-five young men and women who, on a straight invitation to accept Jesus Christ as their personal Saviour and to surrender to Him as Lord, got up out of their seats and came down to the front. I have been in evangelistic work for a great many years, so I think I have had enough experience to know when an evangelist service is genuine. When I saw these young men and young women under the influence of a simple Gospel message surrender their lives to Jesus Christ, I found myself wishing that the modernists who are saying we have to have a new religion for young people could see how young people who are both normal and intelligent respond to the same Gospel that moved their mothers and fathers in years gone by. Many of our churches and ministers and most of our educators have been mistaken in what young people want. Young people do not want the modernistic religion and the modernistic education many of them are getting. They want the real thing in religion and the real thing in education. In many instances we have forced a religious and an educational program upon the many young people of this country which has destroyed in many of them the nobler impulses. I have spoken to more young people than anybody my age in the world and I should like to tell everyone that there is nothing the matter with young people except they do not get enough of the old time Gospel.

Thorsby Institute News

At the first business meeting of the school year of the Helen Keller Literary Society, the following officers were elected: Lewis Wilson, president; Fred Dunlap, vice president; Ruth Cosby, secretary. The first open meeting of the literary society will be held Saturday night in the auditorium. The program will be different from any given before, and will be very interesting. Every one is urged to come. Admission will be ten cents to all not members of the Institute.

Miss Jane Billingsley, an alumna of Thorsby Institute, visited at the school on Saturday. She and her brother, Brody, are attending Auburn and living in the home of Prof. Chestnut. Both are working hard on their lessons. Jane tried out for the dramatic club and was the only freshman to be selected for membership to the club of twenty. They are now working on a play to be given some time in November, entitled "Death Takes a Holiday."

On Monday morning an educational exhibit of animals was shown on the Institute campus. Besides monkeys, Silver Cape Baboon and other displays of interest, there was a special feature of the exhibit. This was the strange animal that was caught in Montgomery two and a half years ago, after it had roamed this section of the country for some time. It has hands resembling those of a human, and no other animal has been seen like it. A number of town people saw the exhibit, as well as the students.

On Tuesday morning students and faculty enjoyed a varied chapel program, planned by Miss Foss. After scripture and prayer a piano solo was played by Mae Pearl Sorrell. This was followed by a clever reading from "Billy and the Major", given by Mary Louise Reinhardt. The T. I. school song was then sung by the group, as the closing part of the program.

TO THE CATTLE PRODUCERS OF CHILTON AND ALABAMA

In my work as market agent for the Alabama Extension Service, I fell that I should call your attention to cattle prices this season.

All classes of cattle and hogs are decidedly higher than last year. We had become accustomed to three and four cent calves and three cents top on good steers, that we are taking the first good offer that is made on our cattle. It is your privilege to sell your cattle at the farm to some good trader. These men are Okeh and make a very plausable story of their operations. However, you are not willing to give these men from $25.00 to $100.00 profit on your cattle, depending on the number you have to sell. I can give you the names and addresses of three good cattle men who were game enough to handle their own calves and steers through to final sale after having had a very attractive offer in the pasture to sell at so many dollars. These men received over $100.00 net each for these same cattle by taking them to the market themselves.

Furthermore, do not get scared and uneasy about cattle prices. None of us can guarantee what the market will do but the feeder demand is unusually strong and all trends are for a steady strong market.

We take a lot of time and trouble to grow good cattle. Why not be as particular about selling your own cattle? The country buyer is not riding and paying travel expenses just for his health.

You have a cooperative agency organized and operating on the stockyards at Montgomery. The directors are cattle growers. When the overhead expenses are made, the profit is returned to the cattle growers selling through it. The traders profit goes to the trader. Now we know that charity should begin at home. you owe it to yourself and the other cattle producers to weigh these facts and help your own producers agency increase its already heavy volume since the larger the volume the less cost per head to sell, as the new profit is returned to the grocer selling through this cooperative.

I regret that my time is taken up in organization work in the Tennessee Valley Region of North Alabama. I helped organize this cattle selling agency and know what it will be worth to you. Please do not let a lot of smooth propaganda keep you from getting what is justly yours. Sincerely yours—J. D. Moore, Specialist, Agricultural Economics.

AMERICA ABROAD IN THE AIR

Our country must win and maintain a leading place in the air.

The entire world is vastly interested in flying. Governments and private interests have given strong support to the development of civil aeronautics. Progress has been increasing rapidly, yet we in America hardly realize the diversity and extent of our aeronautic interest beyond our borders. We have a greater milage beyond those borders. Our foreign aeronautic interests are more extensive than those of any other country. They are of great importance to us. The foreign field is broad; it stretches all over the earth. It offers us outstanding opportunities.

No doubt makes greater or wider use of aircraft. We have more civil airplane pilots, more airplanes, more airways, more airports, than any other country. We do much more flying than does any other nation. The quality of our flying personnel and equipment is second to none. Our operating efficiency and our ground service and facilities are unequalled anywhere. Engineers and other competent persons from all parts of the world testify to that.

The fact that the United States is in first place among nations in the development of civil aeronautics is encouraging. But our outstanding position does not justify undue pride. A frequently asked question is: "Why under the circumstances, have we not made even more extensive progress." We are favored powerfully by geographic and economic factors. Our country is large in area, population and wealth. Russia is larger in area and population; that country has some 25,000 miles of air services, almost entirely within its borders. Australia and Brazil have large areas, but smaller populations; China and India have large areas and very large populations. In these four countries remarkable development of aeronautics is evident. France, Great Britian, Germany and the Netherlands have small areas and large populations. All are great trading nations; they control extensive territories throughout the world. These four countries are outstanding in the advancement of aeronautics. Much of their aeronautic activity is beyond their national boundaries.

County Farm Agent's Notes

Compiled by J. W. Fant, County Farm Demonstration Agent for Chilton County

ACCOMPLISHMENTS OF ORGANIZED AGRICULTURE

1923—Organized farmers asked for equal privilege legislation to control surpluses and make the tariff effective on Amerian farm products consumed at home. Bitter opposition developed. Cities feared higher priced food. Many said, "This legislation can never be passed."

1924—First McNaury-Haugen bill to control farm supplies is introduced in congress. Defeated.

1926—Second McNaury-Haugen bill introduced. Secured strong support but was lost.

1927—McNaury-Haugen bill passed by Congress. Vetoed by President.

1928—McNaury-Haugen bill passed by Congress the second time. Vetoed by President.

1929 — Surplus problem remained. Became national issue. Organized farmers contended that unless farm prices were raised, all industry and national prosperity in America would be udermined.

1930—Beginning of deflation and depression.

1932—Surplus problem still unsolved. Every industry in America suffering from destroying farm buying power due to national neglect of the agricultural problem. Farmers continue fight for surplus legislation and opportunity to own, control, and direct farm credit machinery. Demanded commodity dollar.

1933—Agricultural Adjustment Act passed by Congress authorizing: (1) Parity prices for farm products; (2) Extenson of credit machinery and $2,000,0000,000 to refinance farm mortgages on long-time basis at a low rate of interest; (3) Far-reaching monetary powers given President to inflate credit and currency and establish commodity dollar. The program of organized agriculture all in one act.

1934—Amendments of farmers greatly ncreased ass r utlfooa rrgpmeetaet ly increased as result of the program. The first figure is for 1932, the second is for 1933 and the third is for 1934. Chilton County Farm Income $490,157.99, $959,19473, $1,094,642.68; Alabama farm income $37,402,000.00, $71,037,898.90, $84,672,685.00; United States Farm Income $483,887,000.00, $893,898,289.96, 881,238,272.67.

1935—Amendments to Agricultural Adjustment Act passed. These amendments strengthen, clarify and improve farmers law.

In brief, above is the story of the fight waged by the Farm Bureau and other farm organizations for equality for agriulture. The fight is not over. The big task—that of preserving a great program is ahead. There are other things to be done. Join the Farm Bureau and help.

PEACH TREE DISEASE CONTROL

The Alabama State Department of Agriculture and the United States Department of Agriculture are cooperating in the project of helping control peach tree diseases.

The farmers who have old diseased peach trees and would like to have them taken up and destroyed should make application for this work either to the County Agent or Mr. A. J. Lecroy, Maplesville, Ala., Rte. 1.

Disease has become so prevalent in this area that it is very difficult to produce good fruit. We believe that if all the old diseased trees were destroyed that we would have much less trouble with peach diseases and insects.

This work is being paid for by the State and National Department of Agriculture. It will be free to the farmers.

FARMERS MAY SECURE HELP TO PREVENT SOIL EROSION

Last December the county purchased a tractor terracer outfit. We terraced about 500 acres of land during the spring months. It was impossible to get to all of you.

During the summer we were successful in getting a soil erosion camp in the county with 200 boys for the purpose of helping with the terracing program.

A farmer may secure help from these boys on gully control, terrace outlet building, planting kudzu, and other forms of soil erosion control work. The labor of these boys will be free to the farmer.

It will be necesary for the farmer to build the terraces either with his mule or with the power equipment, then the boys complete the job. The farmer wil also be asked to furnish, without cost, any materials, such as rock, sand and poles that are on his farm that will be needed in the work.

It will be impossible to give you a complete job of terracing for less cost per acre than we built th terrace banks last year. The average cost in the county last year was less than $1.50 per acre where the power terracer was used.

ISAIAH PORTRAYING THE SUFFERING SERVANT

LESSON TEXT—Isaiah 53:1-12.

GOLDEN TEXT—But he was wounded for our transgressions, he was bruised for our iniquities: the chastisement of our peace was upon him; and with his stripes we are healed. Isaiah 53:5.

PRIMARY TOPIC—God's Best Promise.

JUNIOR TOPIC—Isaiah Foretells Jesus' Coming.

INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOPIC—What Our Salvation Cost.

YOUNG PEOPLE AND ADULT TOPIC—The Suffering Savior.

The prophecy of Isaiah is the grand center of the Old Testament. It pictures the Servant of Jehovah with great wisdom gloriously executing the divine purpose of redemption at the cost of great suffering.

I. The Servant's Triumph (Is. 52:13-15). The Servant here means the coming Messiah (42:1).

1. His wisdom (v. 13). He will deal prudently, for his name is Counsellor (9:6). He was filled with the spirit of wisdom and understanding (11:2).

2. He shall be exalted and extolled (v. 13). Being the mighty God, even Immanuel, Jehovah has highly exalted him (Phil. 2:9).

3. The appearance of the Servant (v. 14). Because of his marred visage, the Jews, who looked for outward signs of royalty and worldly splendor, were not attracted to him.

4. The issue of his ministry (v. 15). In his sprinkling of many nations he is revealed as the great High Priest, sprinkling the nations with his blood and cleansing them from their sins.

II. The Servant Despised and Rejected (53:1-3).

1. The unbelief of the Jews (v. 1). They despised the words of the prophet and failed to recognize the hand of the Lord in the miracles he wrought.

2. The origin of the Servant (v. 2) He sprang out of a stump of Judiasm The sad condition of the people at that time is expressed by "dry corn." He came among his own and they apprehended him not.

3. A man of sorrows (v. 3). As the Sin-bearer of the world he suffered untold sorrows. The primary cause of his grief was their contemptuous rejection of him.

III. The Vicarious Suffering of the Servant (53:4-6).

1. His griefs and sorrows were ours. Though innocent, he was loaded down with disease and pain; not his, but ours. This awful suffering was looked upon by the world as occasioned by sin.

2. He was beaten for us (v. 5). That which was our due was meted out to him. Notice the four significant words; "wounded," "bruised." "despised," "stripes." The word "our" shows that his sufferings were vicarious. The full meaning of the cross is comprehended in these words.

3. The reason (v. 6). All humanity, Jews and Gentiles, had gone astray. God had laid on him the iniquity of us all.

IV. The Death of the Servant (53:7-9).

1. His strange silence (v. 7). He went as a lamb to the slaughter. How unlike men who, when wrongfully condemned, make a great ado.

2. Unconcern of contemporaries (v. 8). Though dying instead of the wicked people, they failed to discern that his suffering was in their stead.

3. Buried with the wicked and the rich. This was fulfilled in the crucifixion between two thieves, and burial in Joseph's tomb.

V. The Servant's Ultimate Victory (vv. 10-12).

1. His suffering expressed the divine will (v. 10). The Lord himself laid this burden upon Christ. He was delivered according to the determined counsel and foreknowledge of God.

2. A spiritual progeny resulted from his death (v. 10). Christ declared. "Except a corn of wheat fall into the ground and die, it abideth alone." The fundamental law of the universe, which is life out of death, found supreme expression in Christ's death on the cross.

3. Through death shall come the realization of his fondest hope (v. 11). "He shall see the travail of his soul and shall be satisfied."

4. The divine reward (v. 12). The divine Conqueror shall share the spoils of victory which by a strong arm were secured. Though he took the place of a sinner, it was for the purpose of bearing the sins of many and making intercession for the transgressor.

VI. The Servant's Suffering Historically Fulfilled (John 19:17-37).

When Jesus of Nazareth went forth bearing his cross to Golgotha, where they crucified him, the prediction of Isaiah was historically realized.

Thought

In the end, thought rules the world. There are times when impulses and passions are more powerful, but they soon expend themselves; while mind, acting constantly, is ever ready to drive them back and work when their energy is exhausted.

Influence

The ministry of personal influence is something very wonderful. Without being conscious of it, we are always impressing others by this strange power that goes out from us.—Huck Miller.

Mr. Firman Gore, of Ashland, Ala. spent the week end here with relatives and friends.

FARMERS ARE RECEIVING BETTER PLANTING SEED

Monegomery, Ala.—Farmers throughout Alabama are receiving a more superior grade of planting seed this year than ever before, says R. J. Goode, Commissioner of Agriculture, in reporting that the state seed testing labratory is finding fewer obnoxious weed seed than at any time during the history of seed testing work.

Commissioner Goode also states that in most cases the analysis tag on the seed carries the correct information about purity and germination. Shippers formerly had an idea that seed must test 98 per cent purity and 90 per cent germination to be sold, he said. "In many cases these figures were placed on the tags without regard for their correctness. It is now an exception to the former rule to find mislabeled seed on the market."

THREE REASONS FOR PAINTING FARM HOME

Auburn, Ala.,—Three reasons why farmers should paint their farm buildings are: (1) They last much longer; (2) look better, and (3) are more sanitary.

In addition a painted farm structure indicates pride, progress, and thrift on the part of the owner, says A. Carnes, assistant Professor of Agricultural engineering at the Alabama Polytechnic Institute, in advocating that farmers paint their farm buildings as soon as farm labor is not needed in the fields.

"To get a good job," he says, "the surface must be clean and dry. If the painting is to be done on new lumber no cleaning will be necessary except a slight brushing to remove adhering particles of grit or if surface is old and weather beaten all loose particles should be removed with a scraper or wire brush down to the firm wood.

Mrs. J. W. Hayes, Mrs. Julius Burnette and Mr. Omar Reynolds motored to Montgomery Thursday to see Mrs. James Wade, who is all at St. Margaret's Hospital.

COTTON FOR HOUSEHOLD USE EXEMPT FROM TAX

Auburn, Ala.—Cotton producers may have 110 pounds of lint cotton ginned for domestic use in their houseouseholds without payment of the cotton ginning tax. This 110 pounds of cotton is to be used only in the producer's household and is in addition to the producer's allotment of cotton under the Bankhead Act, says the Agricultural Adjustment administration.

Producers who desire to avail themselves of this exemption should hold back from the gin enough seed cotton to produce the lint which they desire to use in their household and secure from the County Agent an application form for exemption before taking such seed cotton to the gin.

COTTON CROP VALUE MORE THAN DOUBLED

Auburn, Ala.,—Alabama cotton farmers received two and one-third times as much for their 1934 cotton crop as they did for the crop in 1932, the year before the AAA program started.

Statistics released by Dr. L. N. Duncan, director of the State Extension Service, reveal that the total farm value of lint and seed produced in Alabama in 1932 was only $37-402.000 compared with a total value of $84,672,686 in 1934.

While the Alabama crop was more than doubling, the value of the cotton crop in the South increased from $483,887,000 in 1932 to $881,238,272.67 in 1934.

HIGHLAND NEWS

Our Sunday school is still progressing nicely. We had a good lesson for last Sunday and still have one for next Sunday. Everyone has new literature and let's all strive to study our lessons more and cooperate with our teachers and try to make the next six months the best we have ever had. It takes cooperation with the teachers and pupils to have a good Sunday school, and lets everyone do our best.

Everyone come back to Sunday schol next Sunday and bring some one with you. If you are not in a Sunday school at some place come to Highland. You are more than welcome.

CHRYSLER DEALERS DELIVERIES FOR 1935 TOTAL 144,923 UNITS

In the 36 weeks of the current year, including September 7, Chrysler dealers delivered at retail a total of 112,938 Plymouths and 31,985 Chryslers, a grand total of 144,923 units, according to figures released by J. W. Frazer, vice president of the Chrysler Sales Division of the Chrysler Corporation.

These figures are far ahead of those for the three preceding years. Plymouth deliveries exceed by 26.4 per cent the 89,374 units delivered in the corresponding 36 weeks of 1934, by 78.4 per cent the 63,289 units in the same period of 1932.

Chrysler gains 72.2 per cent over the 18,578 units delivered in the corresponding period of 1934, 58.5 per cent over the 20,182 units delivered in the corresponding period of 1933 and 59.9 per cent over the 19,997 delivered in the first 36 weeks of 1932.

The overall picture shows gains for the combined lines of 34.2 per cent over the 107,952 units delivered in the first 36 weeks of 1934, of 83.6 per cent over the 83,471 units delivered in the same period of 1933 and 179.1 per cent over the 51,823 units delivered in the same period of 1932.

In the week ending September 7, retail deliveries reported by Chrysler dealers were 1,950 Plymouths and 541 Chryslers, or a grand total of 2,491 units.

SHELL SERVICE STATION UNDER NEW MANAGEMENT

Last Tuesday morning the Shell Service Station opened under new management. Mr. Will G. Culp, former Tax Collector, is the new manager.

Mr. Culp has hundreds of warm friends all over Chilton County, and he invites them to visit him in his new enterprise. Mr. Culp says he intends to teach his customers a new meaning for the word "service".

Mr. Culp will have with him Mr. Herschel Gore and Mr. Jack Armstrong, formerly with Dief's Service Station, two of the best trained filling station operators in Clanton. Mr. Gore has been in the business over six years, and Mr. Armstrong over two years. Both of these men know the filling station business from A to Z.

We are informed that extensive improvements are to be made in the station at an early date, to provide adequate facilities to care for all the motorist's needs.

The station is now equipped to give expert service in washing, polishing, greasing, crank case service, and the sale of Super-Shell gasoline and the full line of Shell oils and greases. One of the best grease gun sets in the city has been installed here, also.

Mr. Culp expects to put in a full line of one of the best known and most dependable brands of tires and tubes on the market, this addition to be made within the next few days.

Mr. Culp says: "Trade with me and I will teach you a new meaning of the word 'service'. All we want is for you to come to see us—give us a trial—let us fill your tank or crank case, or grease your car or wash it. We'll get along well together after that one first trial. Stop with us—it will do both of us good".

Farmers Call Mass Meeting At Courthouse October 23

Gathering At Jackson Chapel Saturday Night Passed Resolution Regarding Cotton Control And Ask For County-Wide Mass Meeting

A gathering of farmers was held at Jackson Chapel schoolhouse last Saturday night, October 5th, and resolutions were passed relative to the Agricultural Adjustment Act and the cotton allotment plan. The gathering also moved and ordered that a county-wide mass meeting be called at the county courthouse in Clanton on Wednesday, October 23rd, at 10:00 o'clock, a.m.

With W. L. Sanders acting as chairman and G. C. Donovan as secretary, the Jackson Chapel gathering moved and carried that the county-wide meeting be called, as stated above, and also that both county papers be asked to carry the announcement. It is the desire of those calling the meeting that all farmers and other interested citizens of the county attend.

Resolutions Passed

The following resolutions were passed by the Jackson Chapel meeting without a dissenting vote, and the signatures attached as below:

We, the undersigned citizens of Jackson Chapel community do agree that the Agricultural Adjustment Act in its present form is unjust, and that it is lowering the standard of living among most small farmers. To prove this, the following is submitted.

1. That the allotment plan based on the five year average is unjust, because:

(a). False reports given and accepted as to the base average in order to secure a larger allotment.

(b). That farmers who have already cut to a reasonable acreage were asked to reduce the same percentage as those with large crops.

(c). That a man's financial ability to use large amounts of fertilizer during the five year period, entitled him to a higher yield per acre.

2. That the passage of any law discriminating between two adjoining farms is unjust.

3. That the collection of taxes to the amount of fifty per cent of the farmer's income from cotton above a small allotment is unjust, compared with the taxes paid by profiteers and wage earners.

4. That under the reduction programsixty per cent of the farmers of Alabama are allowed to sell less than three bales of cotton tax free, and that this amount is insufficient to secure a decent living.

5. That the adjustment act has reduced the farmer's purchasing power by reducing and limiting his marketable commodities and by the rise in the cost of living caused from such reductions.

6. That the collection of taxes to support an agency to increase production, and at the same time such agency use its influence and authority to prihibit the sale of such roduction is inconsistant.

7. That all taxes, assessed and collected from the farmer's income is a direct income tax.

8. That the reduction program has greatly hampered our foreign trade, and caused an increase in the importation of foreign goods to take the place of that taken out of production in this country.

The above reasons are our honest convictions, and we feel that the program does not deserve our continued support. Therefore we, this the 5th day of October, 1935, in mass meeting at Jackson Chapel do pledge our support for the repeal of this act through petition or referendum, and we solicit the suport of every "Liberty Loving Citizen" irrespective of political parties, to join us in a campaign in behalf of the little farmers.

W. L. SANDERS, Chairman,
G. C. DONOVAN, Secretary.

Signatures—D. M. Crowson, A. C. Bussie, Ervin Baker, J. C. Rich, Emerson Thomas, Cornelius Caton, D. M. Cates, D. S. Smith, F. E. Ellison, H. L. Bruce, Lee Ellison, Joe W. Traywick, E. A. Shirley, Percy McKinnon, D. F. Bryant, James Baker, J. H. Jackson, G. W. Willis, W. S. Willis, Ernest Jones, G. C. Jones, Marion Ellison, Hubert Smith, Floyd Little, C. O. Bell, Curtis Parrish.

The above resolutions will be offered for adoption at the county-wide meeting, subject to amendments of that gathering.

CORRECTION IN LETTER FROM HAWAIIAN ISLANDS

On September 26th The Union-Banner printed a letter from a young man in military service in Hawaiian Islands, in which we misprinted the name of the sender. We printed it "Harold G. Smith" when it should have been "Harold G. Mims." We are indeed sorry of the error and offer our apologies.

The sender of the letter, Harold Grady Mims, is the son of Mr. Cleve Mims of Isabella community. The letter was a very interesting one and The Banner thanks the young man very much for sending it to us. We hope he finds time and opportunity to write us another letter soon.

Mrs. McDonald has gone home from the Central Alabama Hospital where she has been for two weeks.

WILDCAT VETERANS PLAN REUNION AT BIRMINGHAM

The national reunion of the 81st or Wildcat Division will be held at Birmingham, Nov. 10, 11 and 12, with Maj. Gen. Charles J. Bailey, of New York City, commander, presiding. Between 7,000 and 8,000 veterans who served in the division during the World War, are expected to attend the conclave.

Birmingham, according to reports here yesterday, is making great preparations for the convention. Officers look for a much larger attendance than the 5,500 or 6,000 veterans who went to North Carolina last year for the meeting.

The convention will be in the municipal auditorium. A large delegation from Montgomery and adjoining counties will attend. The Wildcat Division trained at Camp Sevier, Greenville, S. C., and went overseas in the Summer of 1918, arriving in time to particiate in several battles before the Armistice ended hostilities the following November 11.

JACK HAYES IS BACK HOME

Minter Carney Hayes, better known to his hundreds of friends as Jack, is back home again, after the closing of the 1935 baseball season. Jack is second baseman for the Chicago White Sox, of the American League. He arrived Thursday, October 3, driving through in his car (a Chevrolet of course) bringng with him Tommie Sewell, who had been visiting in the windy city.

Jack started in the 1935 season in a manner that made his supporters believe he would have one of his best years, but his old injury jinx caught up with him again early in June. Hitting well over the .300 mark, and going strong afield, he was injured in practice before a game in New York. After some time he went back into the game, but soon after suffered another hand injury while playing in Cleveland.

Manager Jimmy Dykes decided to give him time for complete recovery this time, and the White Sox club bought Tony Piet from Cincinnati to fill in his place. By the time Jack was able to go again, the club was on a winning spree and he was unable to break back into the line-up right away. Ball players are a superstitious lot, and they will not break up a winning combination, no matter who they have on tap to put in. After some time, however, Jack was put back in at his regular second base post, but his lack of practice had dimmed the old batting eye, and he never regained his batting stride. He finished the season with a season batting average of .268, going to bat something over 300 times. Among his hits were 14 doubles and 4 home runs.

During the winter Jack will help take care of the Chevrolet business which he owns jointly with his brother, Dick. He will be at Clanton a part of the time, and at Montevallo part time, as Hayes Chevrolet Company keeps sales and service establishments at both places.

Jack and Dick have made a success of their Chevrolet venture. Both are popular young men. And when they get a fellow in a Chevrolet and talk its fine points to him for a while, all the time making the Chevrolet back up their sales talk with performance, that prospect is pretty nearly sold.

Here's luck to the boys—Jack and Dick!

Dan Lockhart Given Five-Year Sentence

Bolton - Littlefield Case Being Tried In Circuit Court Wednesday

The circuit court of Chilton county rendered its decision in the case of Dan Lockhart, charged with second degree murder in the killing of C. A. Johnson, late Tuesday night. The verdict was guilty of first degree manslaughter and the defendant was sentenced to five years in the penitentiary.

Lavert Burnett, charged with assault and battery was found guilty and fined $200.

William Tucker was found guilty of manslaughter, first degree and sentenced to three years.

The case of George Bolton, charged with the murder, first degree, of Barney Littlefield, was set to come up Wednesday, and so was the case of Berman Cadle, charged with robbery.

A few prohibition cases of minor importance were disposed of earlier in the week. A number of cases of this nature were set for Thursday and Friday.

VOCATIONAL BUILDING AT CHILTON HIGH SCHOOL

Chilton County High School is to have a new Vocational Building. Construction has been started already, and Supt. Luther Little hopes that the new building will be ready to ocupy by November 1st.

This will be a frame building of four rooms, and will be built on the high school campus, just north of the main building. Construction foreman is F. M. Chambers, who was foreman of construction of the Vermont building, and the Cooper school during the latter stages of construction. The building will cost $3,800.00, and will be built with State funds.

When completed, this building will house the department of Vocational Agriculture, under the direction of Earle Thomas, the Home Economics department, under direction of Miss Virginia Cook.

Present equipment in these departments will be moved into the new building, and no purchase of new equipment is contemplated at this time.

SCHOOLS BIDS TO BE ASKED

Supt. Luther E. Little reports that advertisements will be made for contractors for construction of the proposed Isabella and Collins Chapel school building just as soon as approved by H. S. Geismer, State PWA Engineer. These will be tendered to Mr. Geismer some time this week, and approval is expected soon thereafter. Mr. Little states that work will begin immediately after acceptance of contractor's bid.

Further information will be published as soon as it is available.

Hoover Will Not Run Next Year

Makes Statement as He Boards Train For New York Monday

Herbert Hoover, former Republican President, will not run for the presidency in 1936.

For some time political forecasters have tried to draw the former president out on this question, and, inasmuch as he has evaded the direct question so far, many believed he would attempt a "vindication" comeback.

However, on last Monday morning, as Mr. Hoover was boarding a train at San Diego, bound for New York, reporters put the oft-repeated question to him again, straight from the shoulder: "Will you be a presidential candidate next year," Mr. Hoover answered in the same straight-from-the-shoulder manner: "I will not run again". Political observers took this to mean that he not only would not be in the presidential picture as a candidate in the forthcoming campaign, but that future campaigns would find him "rooting from the sidelines" also.

No doubt Mr. Hoover will have a big hand in the campaign next year, and will be counted on heavily to carry the far west for the big elephant, but his activities will be limited to speaking tours and writing for publication. He has had several articles published in outstanding magazines of late, and has spoken several times, offering sharp criticism of the New Deal, especially the NRA and AAA divisions.

On this trip, Mr. Hoover told reporters he would confer with Republican leaders on the Atlantic seaboard concerning Republican policies in the coming campaign.

Miss Roberta Traywick has as her guest this week Miss Lola Traywick of Wetumpka, Alabama.

VERBENA DEFEATS MARBURY 16-0

Verbena High school foot ball team broke an old record by defeating the hard Marbury eleven. Marbury almost scored in the first quarter when Robert Williams failed to punt out on fourth down.

Verbena scored in the second quarter by a beautiful lateral pass from M. Dennis to R. Williams. Davis made the extra point. V. Jones scored again by intercepting one of Marbury's passes and running 55 yards The extra point made by a pass from M. Williams to L. Jenkins. The two points were made by a safety when Marshall Williams and Melton Hughes tackled Tatum behind his own goal line.

This was a hard fought game and of much interest. Stars for Verbena were Irving Hudman, Dovard Huett, Melton Hughes, Mit Dennis, Marshall Williams, Robert Williams, Leonard Jenkins, Veston Jones. Marbury's stars were Norton Dennis and James Tatum.

MOVING TO NEW POSTOFFICE

Postmaster Hosea F. Downs advises us that the post office department will move to the new federal building within the next few days. Mr. Downs was not certain just what day the removal would be made, but it is expected about next Sunday, October 13th.

Postmaster Downs was in a jolly mood Tuesday morning when approached on the subject, and had the following to say:

"I am not sure just what day we will move, but it won't be long now. I suppose our folks will just have to keep an eagle eye on us for the next few days, and see for themselves when we move. Then they will know when to come to the new place for their mail. They'll have to catch us on the fly, as it were."

The new post office is a beautiful building, and one that citizens of Clanton and surrounding territory may well feel proud of.

MRS. J. F. BONE DIED

Mrs. Carrie Mullins Bone, age 50, wife of J. F. Bone, died at the family home in New Cedron community last Saturday at 7:30 p.m.

The funeral was held at Mullins cemetery at 3:00 o'clock Sunday afternoon, in charge of Rev. J. J. DuBose and Rev. W. S. Cox. Martin was in charge of burial.

Mrs. Bone was a daughter of Mr. Hugh F. Mullins, who died 10 or 12 years ago. She was born March 8, 1885, in the Jumbo or Mullins Academy community where she spent most of her life.

She had been ill for some time with cancer, bearing her seemingly unbearable pain with patience. She was widely known over Chilton County, being a member of one of Chilton county's first families.

Survivors in the immediate family are: husband, J. F. Bone, of Clanton Route 3; mother, Mrs. Ella Mullins, Cullman; one brother, James Arfeltz Mullins, Cullman; four sisters, Misses Louise and Sue Mullins of Cullman, Mrs. Mary Spear of Florida, and Mrs. J. J. DuBose of Clanton Route 5.

Pallbearers were: J. T. Cox, W. Z. Hodges, J. E. Edwards, R. J. Mahan, Ocie Williams, and Ernest Smith.

KLINNER FURNITURE COMPANY MOVED TO NEW LOCATION

Mr. Herbert Klinner, proprietor of the Klinner Furniture Company, announces the removal of his place of business back on the east side of the railroad. He is now located in the building formerly occuied by Spigener Funeral Home, next to the Sartor Building.

Klinner Furniture Company is replenishing his already large stock of all kinds of furnishings for the home. He invites his friends to call to see him. Read his adv. elsewhere in this paper.

COBB BROTHERS BUY OUT SIMS & CONWAY, JEMISON

Three Cobb brothers, Lonnie, J. T., and J. O., all sons of Joseph E. Cobb, former county commissioner, have recently bought out the business in Jemison formerly operated by Sims and Conway. They will conduct the business in the future under the firm name of Cobb Brothers Mercantile Company. They will handle general merchandise and groceries.

THE AGRICULTURAL ADJUSTMENT ACT

(Editorial in Saturday Evening Post)

"Whatever else may be thought of the colossal effort to control agricultural production by means of the AAA, it is proving one of the most complicated, bewildering and contradictory economic adventures undertaken by man. True, there are considerable and imediate financial benefits which accrue to appreciable elements of the population. But from the very nature of the case, the adventure itself is getting into deeper complications all the time. Unless it eventuates into complete Socialism and regimentation, it is almost certain to be discredited, like other overambitious schemes for regulating the affairs of men. . . . . .

". . . . . these measures of control cannot be piled up one upon the other indefinitely without the whole structure toppling over, or, as Mr. Frank R. Kent has said, without it 'bogging down through sheer bewildering unworkability.'

"Senator King, one of the few members of the upper House to criticize the measure, ridiculed the suggestion that its essential idea was new and had been 'conceived for the first time by master minds, by men whose knowledge is so comprensive and profund as to command universal acceptance without consideration.'

"Certainly there has been more than one essentially similar example of folly in the past, and they have led not so much to complete Socialism as to the same result which may be observed when a child's toy balloon becomes overinflated. It not only bursts; it makes the object ridiculous."

BANNER 1 YEAR $1

For a limited time The Union-Banner will be sold one whole year for $1. This exceptional offer will not last long; and when it closes, the paper will go back to the regular price. If you want the paper for one dollar, better take advantage of it now. We will appreciate your business.

THE UNION-BANNER.

CLANTON HAS NEW FISH MARKET

Clanton now has a new kind of business, and one which lots of people will be glad to learn about. It is a market for the dispensing of fish, oysters and all kinds of sea foods.

This new place will be located in Mr. J. Q. Wade's building next to Yellow Front Store, and will be open for business Friday morning of this week, October 11th.

The owners are: Messrs. R. C. Watkins and E. W. Pratt, both young men of Montgomery. Mr. Watkins will be in active charge of the place and will remove his family, wife and three small children, to Clanton. Mr. Pratt will be on the coast part of the time and at the market part time. The latter will not move to Clanton at the present.

The Union-Banner extends a welcome to these two gentlemen as well as their business concern. We predict that the people of Clanton will soon learn to like them and be glad that they brought this new business into our midst.

Turn to their advertisement elsewhere in this paper and read the announcement of their opening as well as their message to the people of Clanton and Chilton County.

Supplying Jobs Or Dole Is Up To Dems

Roosevelt Has 22 Days to put 3,500,000 to Work As Per Promise

Washington, Oct. 5.—The New Deal's $4,000,000,000 work relief program today reached its crisis—the necessity of making jobs for more than 2,250,000 needy in 22 days if the Government expects to end the dole November 1st.

A total of 1,126,234 persons now are working. The Administration must employ 3,500,000 in all if direct relief is to cease on the date President Roosevelt promised. In Alabama 25,556 have relief employment.

Daily employment must average about 85,500 between now and the mid-autumn deadline. Congress made the money available last April 8, and the drive still is short of the one-third mark.

Aids of Administrator Harry L. Hopkins insisted that "the program will be at least 90 per cent successful on November 1st when all the returns are in."

They prepared, despite confident statements, however to provide for able-bodied still jobless after that time. Outright relief grants will be made to states in which the program falls short.

Of the 1,126,234 new jobs listed, the Administration could count only 826,234 needy transferred from the dole to federal payrolls.

The Civilian Conservation Corps had 300,000 members when the work relief started. Program officials included them in their work tabulation.

CCC continued as the best employment agency with 559,640 youths. Hopkins' Works Progress Administration, the organization set up to spend about $2,000,000,000 and employ a total of 2,500,000 persons, listed 452,739 at work.

All other government agencies, including $325,000,000 for public works heavy construction, rural rehabilitaernment departments, added 113,855.

MRS. BOWDOIN BURIED HERE

The body of Mrs. Mary Susan Bowdoin, age 64, arrived by train in Clanton Wednesday morning and was taken in charge by Martin and Sons. Mrs. Bowdoin died in Birmingham on Tuesday morning.

The funeral services were held at the Clanton Methodist church Wednesday morning, Rev. Middlebrooks, conducting.

Mrs. Bowdoin was a native of Coosa county but lived at West End, Clanton a number of years ago. Her husband, I. B. Bowdoin, was buried here in 1929. Surviving are three sons, A. C. and E. B. Bowdoin of Birmingham, and W. C. Bowdoin of Columbus, Ga. There are six daughters: Mrs. J. M. Hyde of Knoxville, Tenn., Mrs. U. J. Allen and Miss Minnie Bowdoin of Birmingham, Mrs. W. M. Hassett of Columbus, Ga., Mrs. E. C. Morris of Shreveport, La., and Mrs. J. R. Parker of Odenville, Ala.

B. O. GLOVER HERE

The Union-Banner was pleased to have as our visitor last Friday Mr. B. O. Glover of Maplesville. Mr. Glover is a farmer out there, and came over to Clanton on the Selma-Clanton bus to do some trading. In the course of an interesting conversation Mr. Glover touched on the cotton situation. He said that up until here of late he thought he worked solely for B. O., but finds now that he is just working on halves. B. O. gets half and the government gets the other half.

Prominent Verbena Citizen Succumbed To Extended Illness

F. A. Gulledge Passed Away Sunday Morning Following Declining Health

F. A. Guuledge, Verbena's oldest resident and one of the most revered men in Chilton County, died Sunday morning at 7:10 o'clock at his home in Verbena, where he has lived for the past 59 years. Mr. Gulledge had reached the venerable age of 86, having celebrated his birthday September 25th.

Although his health had been declining for several years and for the past three years he had been rather feeble, the illness that proved fatal lasted only a few weeks. He was stricken with a chill last Wednesday and remained in a semi-conscious condition until his death Sunday morning. From the time he was stricken he was unable to speak loud enough to be understood.

Though his family realized that the end was near, his death came as a surprise. Late Saturday night he seemed to be slightly stronger and it was hoped that his condition would improve due to the exceptional vitality that he possessed.

Funeral services for Mr. Guledge were held Monday afternoon at 3:00 o'clock, from the Verbena Methodist church, of which he was a member, Rev. J. E. Harmic officiating. Burial with the Rev. Cecil Ellisor and the was in the Verbena cemetery with Martin & Sons in charge.

Throngs of friends, most of whom had been his customers for the many years that he operated a retail mercantile business in Verbena, stood with bowed heads as his body was lowered to its final resting place. Few men in this section of the country were more widely known than was Mr. Gulledge.

Born in Coosa county, September 25, 1849, Mr. Gulledge had reached the age of 86. He lived in his native county of Coosa, where he was engaged in farming, until the fall of 1876, when he removed with his family to Chilton county, settling at Verbena and starting in a modest way the retail mercantile establishment that one day was to be the largest business of its kind in the county.

This business he operated until 1903. Retiring then and turning the store over to his sons, he became interested in various banking and real estate enterprises, not only in Chilton County but throughout the State, especially in Birmingham, where he once owned large holdings.

At the age of 19 he was married to Miss Cordelia Ann Collier, also of Coosa county. Both were of prominent families, though the Civil War had robbed them of all affluence. Mrs. Gulledge died two years ago.

Though Mr. Gulledge was too young to serve long during the conflict between the states, he was always interested in the activities of the Confederate veterans, attending and participating in many of their conventions in various sections of the country. His brother, Gen. J. W. E. Gulledge, is one of the few veterans of the Confederacy living in Chilton County today.

Politically, Mr. Gulledge was a lifelong Democrat, but his interest in politics consisted in fighting to elect men who he believed stood for principles. He never held any political office, but few men prominent in state affairs were more widely known than was Mr. Gulledge. He was especially interested in good roads, and through the efforts of a program which he and other leading citizens helped to promote, Chilton county reached a place of recognition as a leader of most other rural counties in Alabama in good roads.

He was a member of the Verbena Methodist church and of the Verbena Masonic Lodge.

Surviving him are three sons, J. H., W. A., and Charles E. Gulledge; two daughters, Mrs. H. B. Oliver, and Mrs. Samuel Scott, and one brother, J. W. E. Gulledge, all of Verbena.

The following friends served as pallbearers: P. F. Mitchell, D. I. Deramus, Hugh Champion, Guy Caffey, Brent Champion, Berry Rutland, Bill Strock and N. L. Gardner.

MONTGOMERIAN DIES WHILE OUT FISHING

Montgomery, Oct. 5.—Robert C. Braden, local distributor of the Gulf Refining Co., was drowned yesterday when he fell from a boat while fishing with a party of friends at Lock 18, on hte Coosa River, near here.

The body had not been recovered last night, though searching parties began dragging the lake soon after his friends gave the alarm.

Mr. Braden, who was 31, was attempting to start the motor when the spinning cord broke and he fell overboard.

TUNE WRANGLERS WILL BE AT COURTHOUSE SATURDAY NIGHT

Hear the Tune Wranglers at the courthouse Saturday night, October 12 at 7:30 o'clock.

The Tune Wranglers, a band of musicians of radio fame will give a musical program. Hear them once and you will want to hear them again. To miss this treat will be your loss.

This musical program is being put on for the benefit of Concord school. Admission 10 cents and 25 cents.

PLEASANT HILL

We are very glad to say that we are still getting along fine with our Sunday school, prayer meeting and B. T. U. We had a large crowd out Sunday morning and each one seemed to be interested in our Sunday school. Although we had some absentees, and we surely did miss them, we hope they can be back with us next Sunday. We want to say those who missed prayer meeting and B. T. U. Sunday night missed a good service, for the Lord is still hearing and answering prayer around old Pleasant Hill.

We were glad to see Rev. Cannie Lowery and Mr. Earl Littleton join our B. T. U. Sunday night. By this we are made to believe we are getting munity was indeedo:CsorryDpetahh better in our church work.

This community was indeed shocked with a bit of sad news last week which called Mr. and Mrs. S. J. Twilley to Dallas, Ga., for the funeral of their nephew, Mr. Lance Twilley. The young man was known and had lots of friends around Pleasant Hill.

Misses Jesse and Datha Cleckler spent Saturday night with Miss Hazel and Alta Blow.

Don't forget to come to Sunday school next Sunday.—Reporter.

Dr. J. O. Colley of Troy, Ala., was in Clanton Saturday. His daughter, Sara Colley, and Mrs. Ed Glasscock, and little daughter, Ann, went to Troy with him Saturday afternoon.

SURPRISE BIRTHDAY DINNER

On Sunday, October 6th, the children and other relatives of Mr. W. F. Littlejohn gave him a pleasant surprise, this being his 76th birthday. They came with well-filled baskets. At noon a bountiful dinner was spread. Those present were:

Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Littlejohn and daughter, Lena; Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Littlejohn; Mr. and Mrs. H. D. Collins and children, Helen and Hollis; Mr. and Mrs C. B. Lenoir, Willie Mae, Jack, C. B., and Hattie Sue; Mrs. Royce Smith and Bettie Jean; Mr. and Mrs. Will Burke and Kimball; Mr. and Mrs. Jno. E. Littlejohn; Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Baker and Earle; Mr. and Mrs. S. F. Avery and Delbert; Mr. and Mrs. Mc D. Messer and Louise, Maxine and Don; Mrs. J. D. Cleckler, and Emily and Jeff; Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Cleckler and Douglas; Mrs. Leona Littlejohn, Harold and Mack; Mrs. F. M. Price; J. L. Littlejohn; Willie Merle Littlejohn and Mr. and Mrs. Donald Littlejohn and C. D.

All expressed themselves as having a very enjoyable day and wish for him many more happy birthdays.

OLD TIME SINGING

Don't forget it, next Sunday is our annual old time singing at Alpine church, four miles west of Pletcher, Ala. Bring your old books and let's praise God in song Sunday. Come praying for the spirit of God to be with us. Yours for a great day—J. N. Scott.

County Farm Agent's Notes

Compiled by J. W. Fant, County Farm Demonstration Agent for Chilton County

JEMISON F. H. A. HEAR THE COUNTY WORKERS

The Jemison Chaper of the F. H. A. met on Wednesday, October . The club was honored to have as its guests Miss Nolan Meroney, county social worker, and Miss Irene Smitherman, county health nurse. Miss Meroney gave an excellent talk about her work, explaining it and arousing great interest in social work. Miss Sm therman made an inspirational talk on nursing, pointing out the duties and responsibilities of this career. These talks were greatly appreciated and enjoyed.

A most interesting social hour followed these delightful talks. Miss Annie Louise Spencer directed the social hour.

ALABAMA GETS $425,218 IN AAA PEANUT PAYMENT

Auburn. Ala.—Benefit payments to Alabama peanut growers this year are expected to total $425,218, according to information from the agricultural Adjustment Administration in Washington.

Since the peanut adjustment program was initiated the farm value of the peanut crop in the 12 peanut producing states increased to $20,913,000 in 1933 and to $29,671,000 an 1934, says the report. In 1932, prior to the initiation of the AAA peanut program, the farm value of the crop was only $12,947,000.

The current average farm price for peanuts is 3.25 cents a pound while the fair exchange value is 6 cents a pound.

STALK DESTRUCTION KILLS BOLL WEEVILS

Auburn, Ala.—To prevent a heavy infestation in next crop year, Alabama cotton growers are being urged to wage a stiff battle against boll weevils this fall.

As soon as the cotton has been picked the growers should cut down all the stalks and plow them under, says Prof. J. M. Robinson, head of the entomology department of the Alabama Polytechnic Institute.

Cutting the stalks deprives the weevils of their food and plowing them under will kill weevils which might otherwise survive the winter.

If the stalks are left to grow until frost, the weevils will approach winter in a healthy, vigorous condition, Robinson added, and they will be able to withstand the cold weather.

COTTON HEARING WILL BE HELD OCTOBER 11th

Auburn, Ala.—A public hearing on a future adjustment program for cotton will be held at Memphis, Tenn., on October 11 at 10 a.m., announces stration.

One of the questions to be studied is "whether the current average farm price for cotton is less than the fair exchange value thereof." Cotton producers, consumers, processors and manufacturers have been invited to attend.

POULTRY POINTERS FOR OCTOBER GIVEN

Auburn, Ala.—Through proper feeding and management of chickens, farmers can produce eggs of high quality when eggs are at the highest prices in October and November, says John Ivey, extension poultry specialist, who gives five poultry pointers for October:

(1) Put the pullets in a dry, comfortable laying-house if they are not already there; (2) feed plenty of mash to start egg production; (3) separate the pullets and hens, if possible; (4)Start the lights in the laying-house and (5) keep records.

SILAGE MAKES GOOD PASTURE SUBSTITUTE

Auburn, Ala.—Silage is the best available substitute for pasture during the winter months, says F. W. Burns, extension livestock specialist. "Be sure to fill your trench silo with corn or sorghum this fall," he advises Alabama farmers.

FARMERS GET LARGER INCOME THAN IN 1934

Auburn, Ala.—Farmers in 34 states had larger receipts from sales of principal farm products plus rental and benefit payments in the first seven months this year than in the same period in 1934, reports the Bureau of Agricultural Economics.

PUBLICATION FOR NON-RESIDENT

The State of Alabama, Chilton County.
Circuit Court in Equity.

Lucile Esters, complainant, vs. Cecil Esters, defendant.

In this cause it is made to appear to the Register by the affidavit of Percy M. Pitts, that the Defendant is a non-resident, and that his place of residence and post-office address is unknown, and that such address cannot be ascertained after reasonable effort; and, further, that, in the belief of said affiant, the defendant is of the age of twenty-one years:

It is, therefore, ordered by the Register that publication be made in The Union-Banner a newspaper published in the County of Chilton, once a week for four consecutive weeks requiring him, the said Cecil Esters to plead, answer, or demur to the bill of complaint in this cause by the 4th, day of November, 1935; or, in thirty days thereafter, a decree pro confesso may be taken against him.

Done at office in Clanton, this 2nd day of October, 1935.

Notice is hereby given that the undersigned, Will Darby, who plead guilty in the Circuit Court of Chilton County on March 1, 1935, for distilling and was sentenced to a term of two years to four years, will make application to the Hon. State Board of Pardons for pardon or parole.—(Signed) Will Darby. 10-3-2tc

FARM BUREAU RECORDS MANY THINGS DONE IN 14 YEARS OF PROGRESS

A brief statement of accompuishments of the Farm Bureau, county, state and national, since its organization in Alabama fourteen years ago, reveals the great value of the organiation to farmers and shows definitely why all farmers who are interested in the improvement of agriculture should join with their neighbors in this great movement.

The statement follows:

I. National Legislation

1. The farm bureau secured passage of the Capper-Volstead Act, which makes cooperative marketing legal and possible.

2. The farm bureau has secured improvement in the rural mail delivery service.

3. The farm bureau has constantly supported good roads legislation.

4. In 1931 the farm bureau prevented passage by Congress of legislation that would have closed vocational agricultural schools and seriously crippled the work of county farm and home demonstration agents. A similar service was rendered in 1933.

5. After a 12-year struggle the Farm Bureau in cooperation with other forces secured passage by Congress in 1933 of the Agricultural Adjustment Act which authorizes (a) crop control and efforts to bring about parity income from farm crops; (b) extension of credit machinery and and $2,000,000,000 to refinance farm mortgages on long time basis at lower rates of interest; and (c) far reaching monetary powers given president to inflate credit and currency and establish commodity dollar.

Under the adjustment program made possible by this legislation the value of the Alabama cotton crop, lint and seed, was increased from $34,651,751 in 1932 to $85,153,424 in 1934. The value of the 1935 crop will be about the same as the value of the 1934 crop.

6. The farm bureau sponsored legislation which resulted in "The Farm Credit Act of 1933" and "The Farm Credit Act of 1935". These laws provide a complete credit system with low interest rates for agriculture. They improved and revitalized the Federal Land Bank and set up the Banks for Cooperatives and the Production Credit Associations.

7. The farm bureau has represented farmers in hundrdes of other legislative battles. It has consistently fought for taxation on the basis of ability to pay and in cooperation with other agencies has won many victories on taxation questions.

II. Freight Rates

1. In 1920 the farm bureau defeated a proposed 55½ per cent increase in freight rates that would have added an additional annual freight bill to agriculture of $300,000,000, an average of about $50.00 per farm.

2. In 1921 the farm bureau secured the first case on record of a voluntary reduction in freight rates—a 10 per cent cut in rates for basic farm commodities, saving agriculture $120,000,000 annually, or an average of about $20.000 per farm.

3. In addition to other freight rate agencies, the farm bureau in 1931 helped prevent a flat increase in freight rates of 15 per cent, saving agriculture annually about $130,000,000, or an average of about $25.00 per farm.

III. State Legislation

1. The farm bureau prepared and secured passage in 1923 of an agricultural code, the first the state ever had. Through this code, farmers of Alabama have been saved thousands upon thousands of dollars, as it prevents the sale of impure, mixed, or inferior seed and improperly branded inoculations, fertilizers, feeds and other products.

2. The farm bureau prepared and secured passage of legislation in 1927 establishing five sub-agricultural experiment stations on the five major soil types of the State.

3. The farm bureau assisted in 1823 and 1927 in expanding the severance taxes on coal, iron and water power, which secured for the state revenue from profits of mining and power corporations.

4. Throughout its career the farm bureau has fought for a system of taxation based on the principle of ability to pay. The organiation prepared and had introduced into the 1931 legislature an amendment to the Constitution to permit the levying of an income tax. This question became a "burning issue" after 10,000 farmers met a legislative committee in Cramton Bowl on May 14, 1931, and passed a resolution favoring an income tax.

The income tax was finally enacted into law.

5. During the past session of the legislature the farm bureau sponsored several bills yhich were enacted into law. A description of some of this legislation follows:

(a). Creation of a milk control board which has power to help regulate the milk industry in Alabama.

(b). The cooperative statutes of the state have been so revised and amended as to bring them up to late and allow us to take advantage of all national legislation in this connection up to the 1935 Congress.

(c). A law liberalizing and providing additional credit service for farmer cooperatives. Loans from the bank for cooperatives formerly available only for the purpose of cooperative marketing may also be obtained for cooperative purchasing, furnishing farm supplies and farm business services.

(d). A law was passed making it possible for cooperatives in Alabama to own stock in the Bank for Cooperatives and the Production Credit Association. The owning of this stock makes it possible for borrowers to have a voice in the election of a director of the Farm Credit Bank at New Orleans.

(e). Under our old regulations no method was provided for the dissolution of a cooperative organization which had ceased to operate. The time required for such dissolution was five to seven years. A bill was passed recently making it possible to dissolve such an organization within 30 to 60 days.

Another recent law of interest to us is the one which makes it possible for ten per cent of the voters of a given county to petition the Board of Revenue to hold an election to appropriate money to maintain farm and home agents in the county.

(g). A law making county agents' salaries a "preferred claim" along with other county officials was passed.

(h). Measures were enacted into law providing reasonable appropriations for public elementary and high schools, higher institutions of learning, county farm and home demonstrations work in agriculture, and the teaching of vocational agriculture in high schools.

IV. Purchasing and Marketing

1. In 1922 the farm bureau organized the Alabama Cotton Cooperative Association, which has brought about the practice of giving a premium for cotton of superior grade and staple, lowered cotton insurance and warehouse rates, and has in general improved the system of marketing cotton.

2. Early in its history, the farm bureau organized a statewide purchasing and marketing cooperative which acts as a service association for county exchanges. This cooperative over a fourteen-year period has returned to county associations in patronage dividends more than $1,000,000.

V. Soil Building

1. Cooperating with the experiment station and extension service of Auburn, the farm bureau introduced into Alabama the great twin soil builders —hairy vetch and Austrian winter peas.

The organization has lowered the general price level of seed of these legumes to a point where it is profitable for farmers to plant them.

VI. Education

1. The farm bureau has in every way possible supported, strengthened and made more complete the work of county farm and home demonstration agents and teachers of vocational agriculture.

2. In addition, it has continuously worked toward development of the system of rural education in Alabama.

CLANTON METHODIST CHURCH

(Dr. A. E. Middlebrooks, Pastor)

This church will begin Sunday the observance of childhood and youth week with a message by the pastor at eleven o'clock appropriate for the occasion. The theme for the observance is "What is the Community Doing to Our Children"? The Children's Division with Mrs. L. J. Stewart, the superintendent, will have a program at the church Monday night for all the workers, parents and children of the division. Tuesday night at the church the young people's division, with Prof. J. T. Searcy, the superintendent, will have a program for all the workers, parents and young people. The adult division with Mr. V. J. Elmore, the superintendent, will have a program Friday night for all the adults of the church. Mr. L. J. Stewart is general chairman of the various committees. On Sunday night closing the observance, a play will be given by the newly organized dramatic club and directed by Miss Alice Polk. Throughout the week all teachers in the children's division and in the intermediate department will be visiting in the home of their pupils.

Sunday vesper service which has been held since June, at 5 o'clock, will be held at 7 o'clock beginning Sunday evening.

The Forward Steps Committee composed of Mrs. Otto Jones, Mrs. Dan Waite and Mrs. Barney Roberts will meet Friday afternoon with Mrs. Jones, chairman.

The board of stewards will meet at the church Friday evening at 7:00 o'clock. All members are urged to be present. The conference year is nearing the end and plans will be made to complete the work of the board.

Make Sunday a "GO TO CHURCH SUNDAY". The attendance in all departments has had a marked increase. Join your fellow members Sunday and be in church school and in the other services of the day. The newly reorganized Epworth League will meet Sunday at 6:00 for the social period, followed by a program at 6:15. All young people be present. Mrs. L. E. Diefenderfer is counselor.

REFUGE NEWS

Our Sunday school is moving along nicely but always room for improvements .

Mrs. E. N. Miner and Mrs. Nancy Mims are still on the sick list.

The reunion at Mrs. Nancy Mims was enjoyed by a large crowd and several useful gifts were given her in honor of her 76th girthday. She seemed to enjoy the day even is she was sick.

Mr. Elijah Mims and family visited in this community Saturday and Sunday.

Aunt Sarah and Angeline Mims of Sylacauga spent Saturday night with their sister, Mrs. Nancy Mims.

Mrs. Etta Baker and children were visitors in the community Saturday and Sunday.

Mr. Robert Easterling and family and Mrs. Bates spent Sunday afternoon with Mr. A. N. Mims and family.

Don't forget the special conference next Sunday. All the members are requested to be present with each one's part of the pastor's salary and so on, and finishing our church letter.

Our school started last Tuesday with a good attendance to start with. Mr. Bean and Mrs. Henley are our teachers.

Everybody come back to Sunday school.

CHICKEN SUPPER

There will be a chicken supper at Pleasant Hill church next Saturday night, October 12. There will be plenty of fried chicken, chicken sandwiches, cold drinks, parched peanuts, pretty girl and ugly man cake, and a nice time for every one. Come, bring your nickels and dimes and help us out. Proceeds will go to our piano fund.

Don't forget the date—next Saturday night, October 12. Come and bring some one with you.

Pud Walker went to Montgomery and attended the famous football game between Auburn and Birmingham-Southern last Friday night. Pud says that he had the time of his life witnessing the game.

Peoples Bank To Have Opening Day

The new home of the Peoples Savings Bank is completed, and Thursday, October 10th, has been set aside as "Visitors Day". On this day visitors will be shown through this thoroughly new and modern building, permitted to look over its convenient arrangement, its ample protective capacity, and so on.

The Peoples Savings Bank was and is the pioneer financial institution of Chilton County. Its doors opened for business first on December 7th, 1901, with W. E. Holloway as president. In 1904 Mr. W. T. Callen became president, bringing to the institution a wealth of good business sense and experience. The bank worked under this head until 1922, when Mr. Frank J. Callen, son of W. T. Callen, took up and carried on his father's sound principles in supervision of the bank's affairs as its new head.

In 1926, Mr. H. G. Boyd, a banker of much exerience, became president, and the well-grounded manking principles, which had become synonomous with The Peoples Savings Bank, continued under the new head.

Again in 1930 the presidency was given to Frank J. Callen, who has held it ever since; and he has continued to carry out the same sound program which has always characterized the dealings of the Peoples Savings Bank.

Early this year officials of the bank decided their facilities were inadequate for present day needs, and set out to make necessary amends. The needed additions have now been provided. Officials feel that they are equipped to give their patrons that high degree of service and safety which has always been the policy of this bank.

Clanton and Chilton County are proud of The Peoples Savings Bank, and fully awake to the important part it has played in the development of the county. "Safe Since 1901" is the slogan of this bank, and no one has ever had a just right to doubt it.

And now the bank's officials want you to be their guest on Thursday, October 10th, and see what they have provided for your financial safety and well-being. They will be expecting you.

OVER THREE BILLION TONS OF SOIL LOST

By DAN H. OTIS

Agricultural Director, American Bankers Association

Soil conservation problems have always been with us, but they have been little realized. Much of America's agricultural development has been due not to efficiency in production, but to exploitation of our soil resources. We have been mining the fertility of our land and when this was exhausted we moved to another farm. In addition an astounding toll has been exacted by soil erosion.

D. H. OTIS

It is estimated that soil erosion removes not less than 126 billion pounds of plant food material from the fields and pastures of the United States every year. This is more than 21 times the amount removed by crops. This statement is supported by the following facts as reported by the Soil Erosion Service, United States Department of Agriculture.

The Destruction of Lands

Three billion tons of soil—enough to fill a train of freight cars girding the earth 37 times at the equator—are washed and blown from the fields of this country every year.

More than 300 million tons of the richest soil on earth—soil stripped from the fertile fields of the Mississippi Valley—are dumped each year into the Gulf of Mexico by the mighty Father of Waters.

Four hundred million dollars is the annual toll of erosion in terms of money value.

Thirty-five million acres of once fertile farm land—an area almost equal to the combined extent of Pennsylvania, Massachusetts and Connecticut—has been completely destroyed and abandoned.

One hundred and twenty-five million acres more have been seriously impoverished by loss of productive top soil.

Two hundred thousand acres are being abandoned every year because erosion has rendered them barren and unfit for productive cultivation.

Bankers Help Conservation Plans

Soil conservation is such an important subject that the Agricultural Commission of the American Bankers Association has voted to make it a national project in its activities for 1936. Conditions are ripe for an aggressive campaign. This furnishes another opportunity for bankers to team with other agencies on a project that means much for the future and permanent development of our country.

CLANTON CHAPTER O. E. S. TO MEET NEXT THURSDAY

The Clanton Chapter O. E. S. will hold its regular meeting on next Thursday at 7:30. All members are urged to be present and bring something for the Masonic Home in Montgomery. The Home is in need of supplies such as soap, tooth paste, talcum powder, table cloths, napkins, etc.—Mrs. Gladys W. Roberts.

ACTIVITIES IN MAYOR'S OFFICE

Mayor C. Fenn Jones did not have a lot of news to relaase this week, but there are a few things that will likely interest the dear public.

Four cases came up in court Monday morning. Two were for public drunkenness, and fines were impose in both cases. One fine was placed against a person charged with disorderly conduct. One person, charged with driving while intoxicated, appeared before the court, but the case was continued until Monday, Oct. 14.

On Tuesday the first coupon on the city's refunding bonds was paid.. The amount of the coupon was $30 and was paid to Jack Hayes. $10,000 of these bonds were paid on January 1, 1935, leaving balance of $20,000 refunded.

Mayor Jones has correspondence from Washington to the effect that a general government cnsus will not be taken any time soon, as was hoped. $Threfore, Mr. Jones will proceed to get, in the near future, a census taken of Clanton, so as to show up the increase in our population since the extension of our city limits. The cost to the city will be about $200. This report will be authentic and will bear the approval of the census bureau at Washington, although it cannot be made to appear on the cesus returns that have already been issued by the government.

No new developments have been recorded in regard to the residential street paving and the extension of the water mains into the city's new territory. Mayor Jones hopes to get some good news about these projects soon, however.

Mrs. Hugh Foshee was the guest last week of Mrs. Lenoir, near Maplesville.

CHOOSE CHICK STARTER WISELY, URGES EXPERT

After the bag is empty what will you have?

"If all folks who raise chicks this year will consider that question carefully before choosing their starting feed, many will be very surprised and gratified to discover how much more they have to show for their investment when the chicks reach six weeks of age," says C. S. Johnson, national authority on poultry feeding and management and head of the poultry department for Purina Mills.

"Most chick feeds look alike at time of purchase," Johnson says. "Many contain the same ingredients. Some even analyze alike. There'll be just as many pounds of feed in one bag as in another. But what a vast difference is seen in the the quantity and quality of six weeks' old chicks fed on various rations! In view of such known variations in feeding results it is only fair to one's self, looking out for one's own best interests, to measure the worth of any chick starting feed on the basis of what will be in evidence in number, size, and development of chicks after the bag is empty—after the feed has all been used.

Fifty in the Bag

"This question, 'What will you have after the bag is empty?' may well invoke a counter query: 'How much can I expect? How much should a starting feed accomplish?' The answer to this is that today any poultry raiser should be able to count on 50 birds averaging a pound apiece or better from every hundred-pound bag of chick starter, provided he selects a feed with proven ability to produce like that. Records from all parts of the country on a million chicks fed our Startena, show that at 6 weeks the light breeds averaged 17.4 ounces in weight and the heavy breeds 19.2 ounces.

"Yes, one can expect results like that and get them by wisely choosing a starter which is built to do that kind of a job. It is easy to understand why this is possible when one is reminded that Startena is so well balanced and blended for building chick frame, blood, flesh, and feathers, that only 2 pounds of it is required to raise a chick to 6 weeks of age. Ample feeding results there are to verify these figures and to say to anyone who raises chicks: 'Don't be satisfied with any feed which cannot deliver as good results as this.'

"Any way you look at it, differences in the prices of starting feeds are negligible factors compared to results, because a chick eats such a small amount of feed the first six weeks. The slightest difference in results more than offsets any variations in price. For example, if chicks averaged just 2 extra ounces apiece at 6 weeks on one feed as compared with another, that would mean 400 ounces or 25 additional pounds on 200 chicks. This extra weight at 12c a pound for broiler meat would be worth $3.00. Since it takes 400 pounds of feed at 2 pounds per chick to grow 200 chicks to 6 weeks of age, it will be found by dividing 4 into $3.00 that the feed which puts on those extra 25 pounds is worth 75c more per hundred than the other feed. This is on a meat basis alone and does not take into consideration the valuable advantage gained of giving the pullet chicks a better start.

"With only two pounds of feed required to get a chick started right," Johnson says, "the starter that does the best job proves the cheapest!"

Mr. and Mrs. D. Hogan motored to Speigner Sunday afternoon.

Lesson for October 13

THE STORY OF JEREMIAH

LESSON TEXT—Jeremiah 1:6-10; 26:8-15.

GOLDEN TEXT—Thou shalt go to all that I send thee, and whatsoever I command thee thou shalt speak. Jeremiah 1:7.

PRIMARY TOPIC—The Story of Jeremiah.

JUNIOR TOPIC—The Story of Jeremiah.

INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOPIC—Taking a Stand for God.

YOUNG PEOPLE AND ADULT TOPIC—Attacking Entrenched Evils.

I. Jeremiah's Call (1:1-10).

1. It was pre-natal (vv. 4, 5). Before Jeremiah was born God ordained him a prophet to the nations.

2. His diffidence (v. 6). This seems to have grown out of his youth and inexperience.

3. His hesitancy overcome (vv. 7, 8). God graciously appeared to him and made clear that he should go where sent, speak as commanded, and to be not afraid of the faces of his enemies. This was accompanied by the assurance of the divine presence. It matters little as to the strength of the foe if the presence of God is with the messenger.

4. The divine message given (v 9). The very words were put into the prophet's mouth, not merely the thoughts but the proper words to express the thoughts.

5. The nature of his ministry (v. 10). It was to be wider than that of prophesying. Six words were given as descriptive thereof. The first four are destructive in their implication; "root out," "pull down," "destroy," and "throw down." The last two are constructive; "build" and "plant." The destructive precedes the constructive.

II. Jeremiah's Grief (9:1).

The unbelief of the people made him feel that his efforts were fruitless. Seeing so clearly the awful doom which awaited this people, he wept sorely. The true prophet of God takes to heart the seriousness of his ministry and sorely grieves over the wicked unbelief of the people.

III. Jeremiah's Prophecy in the Temple Court (26:1-24).

1. Jeremiah's solemn warning to Judah (vv. 1-7). The Lord commanded him to stand in a conspicuous place in the Temple and proclaim the judgment which was about to fall upon them. The object was to provoke them to repentance. If they did not repent, God would make the Temple as Shiloh. Shiloh was once the dwelling place of God; now it had fallen into decay. So will it be with the Temple. Jeremiah was sent to speak the words which his Lord had told him and not to diminish a word.

2. Jeremiah on trial (vv. 9-11).

a. Cause of arrest. He was arrested for speaking all that the Lord had commanded.

b. The charge (vv. 8, 9). They charged him with a capital crime, which involved pretending to speak for God and speaking against the Temple and the city. This would make him to be guilty of blasphemy and sacrilege, both of which were to be punished by death (Deut. 18:20; Lev. 24:16).

c. The princes sit in judgment (vv. 10, 11). We thus see that matters of state were not entirely in the hands of priests, but in part were controlled by members of the royal family.

3. Jeremiah's defense (vv. 12-15) Threats of death did not deter him from preaching, but only inspired him to repeat his message with clearness and tenderness.

a. Reiterated the divine commission.

b. He urged them to amend their ways and to obey God and thus avert the divine judgment (v. 13).

c. He gave himself up (v. 14). He did not resist the powers of government. Knowing that God had sent him, he was content to trust God for deliverance.

d. Warns of fatal consequences. He frankly told them that God had sent him and if they killed him they would be guilty of defying God.

4. Jeremiah saved (vv. 16-24).

a. The princes pronounce him not guilty (v. 16). They were convinced that Jeremiah was speaking the truth.

b. The elders plead for Jeremiah (vv. 17-23). They cited two cases; Micah (vv. 18, 19) and Urijah (vv. 20-23). They argued that killing God's prophets did not turn aside his judgment but intensified it. The only way to avert the judgment is to turn from their sins.

c. Jeremiah rescued by Ahikam (v. 24). He was a man of such influence that he was able to interfere at such a critical time.

Daily Living

He is wise who can instruct us and assist us in the business of daily virtuous living; he who trains us to see old truth under academic formularies may be wise or not as it chances; but we love to see Wisdom in unpretending form, to recognize her royal features under week-day vesture.

Blessings

Reflect upon your present blessings of which every man has many; not on your past misfortunes, of which all men have some.

HEAD OF ALA. POWER CO. TAKES ISSUE WITH STATE R. E. A. HEAD

Birmingham, Ala., Oct. 7.—Thomas W. Martin, President of Alabama Power Company, today commented as follows upon a statement given to the press of Alabama by Gordon Persons, Chairman of the Rural Electrification Authority of the State and widely published by the newspapers during the past week.

"I was surprised and amazed," he said, "when I read in the papers the statement of Mr. Persons, who purported to speak for the State Rural Electrification Authority, and the advice he gave and appeal he made to farmers and farm communities desiring the extension or building of electric lines so that they might enjoy the advantages of electricity in the home and on the farm."

Mr. Persons is quoted as having said, among other things, "Rural residents who wish to ever obtain the benefits of the Government electrification program should be sure not to sign any agreement or contract for electricity with any private power company before first taking up the matter with your State Authority in Montgomery."

For 14 years Alabama Power Company has made intensive studies, conducted many experiments and pioneered in the field of rural electrification. It has built lines which are now serving 38,000 customers classed as rural according to the Federal census and has exended several million dollars to extend its rural lines. Its program for this year authorizes the construction of some $800,000 of rural line projects to be constructed with its own money.

In so doing we have been encouraged by the R. E. A. at Washington and supposed of course, the State Authority was in accord with the national board.

The farmers of Alabama know that Alabama Power Company has been for many years building rural lines, through the depression period as well as before, that it is still building them and will continue to do so whenever and wherever proposed projects are reasonable and when the cost and economic conditions render them sound and feasible. This is its duty under the law and is consistent with its long time record of doing all in its power to advance the agricultural and industrial interests of the State and the Company's policy will be continued.

Confident that business initiative, good judgment and a sense of fair play prevail among the rural residents of the State, our Company will continue to make surveys, consult with farmers, and, when desired, offer them contracts and agreements which it is content for them to judge upon their fairness and business soundness.

RULING LOOMS ON COTTON ACT

Supreme Court Expected To Decide On Validity Within Few Weeks

Washington, Oct. 8.—The American farmer soon will learn whether compulsory limitation of crop production is constitutional.

The Supreme Court, which began its fall term Monday, already has promised to pass on the validity of the Bankhead cotton control act and a decision probably will be announced within a few weeks.

Other legislation which will be affected by the court's ruling in this case are the Kerr-Smith tobacco control act and the section of the AAA amendments passed last session to tax potato production in excess of a definite quota. All these laws have been passed since President Roosevelt took office.

The Bankhead act imposed a tax of 50 per cent of the market price of all cotton ginned above a fixed quota. To show compliance with the act, a grower must attach a certificate to the cotton saying it either is exempt or the tax has been paid.

Planter Asks Ruling

Lee Moore, a Clint, Texas, cotton planter, in asking the Supreme Court to pass on the dismissal of his suit by lower courts, asserted:

"It is imperative that an authoritative decision be now given by this court showing just how far congress may carry regimentation of agriculture and business.

"The continuance of this legislation is increasing, with enormous rapidity, the raising of cotton in foreign countries, and threatening the very existence of the principal southern industry."

Among other things, Moore contended the act violated the constitutional provision that no person should be deprived of property without due process of law.

He originally brought suit against the Texas and New Orleans railroad to compell it to ship some of his cotton which had no tags.

Billingsley News

Mr. Paul Vinson, of the University spent the past week end here with his mother, Mrs. J. C. Vinson.

Mr. and Mrs. J. F. King had as their week end guest, Mr. and Mrs. J. B. King, of Holtville.

Mrs. J. N. Caarter has returned after spending a few days in Montgomery with her son, Ralph.

Mrs. Marvin Carter, of Clanton spent Sunday with her mother, Mrs. B. F. Numey.

Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Apperson and son, Henry, and Mrs. Wimberly visited friends in Montgomery Saturday.

Mr. M. D. McQueen, of Jones was shaking hands with old friends in our town Monday.

Rev. J. Peacock preached two very interesting and inspiring sermons at the Methodist church Sunday morning and evening.

Miss Bertha Dennis spent Sunday afternoon with her brother, Aaron, of Clanton

Quite a number of young people of our town attended the ball game at Clanton last Friday.

Mr. and Mrs. Sid Plyer of Sheffield visited relatives here during the week end.

J. H. JACKSON WRITES

Editor Union-Banner:

I am coming to you for a little more space to discuss the Cotton Production Control Act.

First we will take Mr. A and his 40 acres, from which he is allowed nine bales tax free. New we will consider another tenant that I know of, who has charge of 40 acres and is allowed two bales tax free. We will name him Mr. B. Suppose that Mr. A is compelled to move over on the 40 acres that Mr. B now has charge of and Mr. B takes Mr. A's 40 acres, then Mr. A. would have to put up with two bales instead of nine, but Mr. A goes ahead and produces nine bales just like he has heretofore, then Mr. A would have to pay an income tax on seven bales of cotton, which would amount to $175.

What would happen then? We would hear Mr. A howling like a wolf. He would denounce it from the pulpit, from the streets, from the highways and byways. Naturally we would ask, what is the matter, Mr. A? He would answer, "I only steped into my neighbors shoes and he stepped into mine and they don't fit. Now, Mr. A, if this happens you will still be unjust and praise your unjust law, for if it has become unjust because you stepped into your neighbors's place, surely it was unjust before then. Just remain still and raise your unjust law right on.

Well, enough said about A and B. I see some of our farm brethern are criticizing onr editor for opposing the AAA. I admire his courage. May God send us more editors like him. He is only contending for a square deal. He is against the heavy hands that are oppressing and taking the very life blood from the forgotten man.

This is not a party issue, but it is a question of whether we shall support a law that allows class preferance, or repeal it. So, let's everybody that loves humanity and justice, rally to the support of our editor and help him to stamp out this ungodly act.

Now to our good old brother who accuses us folks of being mad because we failed to raise all of the cotton that we could like he did. He admits that he raised all that he could, and we people who cooperated with our leaders are denied the privileges that our brother, who raised all that he could , now has. He would have the constitution amended so as to give him and his class special privileges. If we people who cut our acreage in order to maintain a living price, why should we be denied at this dark hour. We demand an equal chance with our neighbor, and if we wo down in defeat, our spirit will go down accordingly.

I don't see how people who read the word of God can support such a law. We find in God's word where he says, Behold all souls are mine. He says, the soul that sinneth shall die. He also says that if we have executed true judgment between man and man, have not oppressed any, have given His bread to the hungry, and clothed the naked with a garment, He says this class shall live.

Now, brother farmers, can you say with a clear conscinece that this Cotton Control Act is true judgement betwen man and man? Are we going to exchange our souls for a few bales of cotton which justly belongs to our neighbor? Can you afford to do that? Think this over when you go to sign to contjnue this unjust Cotton Control Act.—Respectfully, J. H. Jackson.

CONGRATULATIONS!

A card just received from Mr. and Mrs. D. E. Cleckler, of Athens, Ala., announce that they are the proud parents of a baby girl, born Monday, October 7th.

D. E., Dovard, or "Shux", any one of which names Mr. Cleckler will answer to, is a former Union-Banner employee, and a son of Mr. J. W. Cleckler, of Route 1, Clanton. At present he is connected with a newspaper at Athens.

Congratulations to "Shux" and Mrs. Cleckler, from the entire Union-Banner force, as well as his many friends in Chilton County.

STATE GAME AND FISH NEWS

Montgomery, Ala., Oct. 8.—September having opened the hunting season on doves in Alabama, October will bring more nimrods into the field as the hunting bans are lifted on squirrels and fur-bearing animals.

Last year the hunters in a majority of the counties of the state hunted squirrels during the months of October, November and December, while those in 26 south-central counties hunted in November, December and January. This year, however, the State Conservation Board has prescribed a uniform open season on squirrels for the entire state and it will open October 15 and close on January 15.

This month also opened the season on bears, foxes, o'possums and raccoons hunted as game, this sport being permitted from October 1st through February 28th. The taking of fur-bearers for their furs, pelts and hides will not be permitted before November 20.

Gathering momentum steadily, the fall hunting season will reach full bloom next month when the open seasons on quail, deer and ducks arrive.

Mr. and Mrs. Horsley White and daughters, Miss Ruth Martin and C. W. Rasberry motored to Birmingham Sunday afternoon for the air races.

W. L. Sanders Attacks A A A

Editor Union-Banner:

Please allow me space in one of your columns to discuss the "Agricultural Adjustment Act." I notice The Union-Banner, with a great number of others, are opposing this act. but once in a while I hear someone praising it.

There are always some people for or against an issue because of some friendshi, political or financial obligation, and in this case the merit of an issue is completely eliminated. Before I take a stand on any issue I try to weigh it in the balances of common sense and justice and then it is up to my opponents to convince me that I am wrong.

The Adjustment Act, as I see it, is one of the most unjust laws that has ever been put down on any statute book in America. It, to an extent, took the freedom of man and destroyed the blessings of God. Destroyed food and clothing while millions have gone undernourished and without clothing to keep them warm.

Who can deny this fact? Look about you, and observe the pale faced children in tatters and rags. I know these accusations will be turned down by the proud, who reap the blessings of those who labor, but I am speaking to those who realize the conditions as it actually exists. There could be thousands of women and children made happy and comfortable with the amount of money that is being paid to the Federal Government in taxes caused from the triple A. But no, they must yield the substance of their labor to a group of officials who set back and dictate to them.

Let us take a glance at the foundation on which the triple A rests: "The allotment plan" based on the five year average. Now just what kind of principle is involved in this plan?

The principle is simply this: "As you prospered during the five-year period, continue to prosper, and as you suffered during the five-year period, continue to suffer." That is, if you happened to be financially able to use a large amount of fertilizers and lived in a community whose seasons were favorable during the five-year period, you are allowed a large allotment. But if you happened to have sickness and some other financial disaster and failed to make a large crop you are just out of luck and must continue to make small crops or pay a heavy tax.

I would like for some one to show me some justice in a law based upon this plan.

Any law that discriminates between two individuals or the property of two is unjust and should not be permitted to exist. It seems to me that the triple A is made up of discriminations and the sooner it is discontinued the better off we will be.

The advocators of the Adjustment Act are often presenting figures showing the increase in the farmers' income. But somehow they fail to mention the rise in price of the things the farmer has to buy and the extra taxes he has to pay. Looks a little one-sided to state just half the facts but often this is done in order to stay on the payroll.

There seems to be considerable talk about the extra two cents per pound to be paid for cotton where the farmer signs up to cooperate next year in the reduction program. To this I want to say; this offer to a "Liberty Loving Citizen" is a grand insult.

If the program deserved my support it could get it free of charge, but when the sponsors of this program think they can get my support for two cents extra on my cotton they are sadly mistaken, for I AM NOT THAT CHEAP.

Fellow citizens when a program offers a premium for support, that program will bear watching.

W. L. SANDERS.

The P.-T. A. will meet at Vermont Thursday night, October 10, at 7:30 o'clock. This meeting is very important and all parents of the school are urged to be present in order to settle the wood question as the wood is needed. So come ahead everybody and lets make this a good school year the best we have ever had at this lace.

We have a fine faculty to help us this year, a group everybody is well pleased with. Lets all visit the school this year, as it takes all to make the year a success.

Remember the rule "Team Work", and lets all work together as one.

Don't forget the meeting, the date, time and place. Come on out—meet your childrens' teachers, join the P.-T. A., and don't forget the more we get together the happier we'll be.

C C H S WINS FROM BILLINGSLEY

The Chilton County Tigers won a close decision from Billingsley High school in a heated contest. After going scoreless for the first half the Tigers came through with the only score of the game when the pass from Ermon Johnson to Ernest Parrish was good in the third quarter.

The local boys were in striking distance several times and most of the game was played in Billingsley's territory. Although their offense failed to function perfectly the boys should be commended for their showing on defense.

The outstanding play of Charles Wilson, Emmett Parrish, Ted Reynolds and Captain Frank Hogan was exceptionally good on defense. On offense the wide-awake Williamson and Marlar showed they could use good judgment in the time of need.

The line-up for C C H S was first, Captain Frank Hogan, center; Morgan Reynolds, RG; Ted Reynolds, RT; alternate captain, Jack Gillespie, RE; J. D. Jones, LG; Charles Wilson, LT; Emmett Parrish, LE; Durwood Williamson, QB; Marshal Lee Ware, RH; John Thomas Marler, LH; Vernon Robinson, FB. Substitutes for CCHS were Morris Mims and Ermon Johnson. Billingsley's outstanding players were left end and left tackle.

One of the best attended and most enthusiastic football games of the season is expected here next Friday afternoon, when Wetumpka High school invades CCHS Tigers. It will be remembered that our boys defeatde Wetumpka there last year. They are expecting to retaliate for that game. A huge crowd will be there. Come yourself and "root" for the boys.

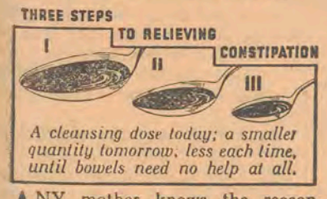
NO UPSETS

The proper treatment for a bilious child



A cleansing dose today; a smaller quantity tomorrow, less each time, until bowels need no help at all.

ANY mother knows the reason when her child stops playing, eats little, is hard to manage. Constipation. But what a pity so few know the sensible way to set things right!

The ordinary laxatives, of even ordinary strength, destroy all hopes of restoring regularity.

A liquid laxative is the answer, mothers. The answer to all your worries over constipation. A liquid can be measured. The dose can be exactly suited to any age or need. Just reduce the dose each time, until the bowels are moving of their own accord and need no help.

This treatment will succeed with any child and with any adult.

Doctors use a liquid laxative. Hospitals use the liquid form. If it is best for their use, it is best for home use. The liquid laxative they generally use is Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin. Any druggist has it.

All New Thrills With Huge Circus

Mighty Ringling Bros and Barnum & Bailey Combined Organizations Offer Among Vast Hosts of New Features Col. Tim McCoy, Screen's Greatest Western Star, His Indian Village and Mary, the Tarzan Rhinoceros

With one hundred double length silver hued railroad cars, bearing 1600 people, seven herds of elephants, 1009 menagerie animals and 700 horses, the Ringling Bros and Barnum & Bailey Combined Circus will arrive in Montgomery, Tuesday, Oct. 15, for afternoon and night exhibits.

The big top, seating 16,000 persons, covers seven rings and stages, a huge hippodrome track and encirculing grandstands, and is one of the great tents, among them the menagerie, sheltering the world's largest traveling zoo. In its center this season will be seen Col. Tim McCoy's Indian Village, with Sioux, Crow, Shawnee and AraPhoe warriors encamped. Col. Tim McCoy, the screen's most outstanding western star, will himself lead his congress of rough riders of the world in the main performances and in the wild west.

The gratest show on earth offers scores of foreign features new to America this year, including a Saharan racing caravan of acrobatic liberty camels and touregs; a morocan sixty-horse liberty act; the largest aerial ballet ever produced, headed by the Annetta and Niletta troupes of revolving fliers, the jennies and the Lydas. Fresh from Europe are the Walkmrs, the Anteleks, the Boumerangs, the Romeos, the Maschinos, the Demenatis, the Willos, the Torrence-Dolores, Lauries, the Polis, the Rooneys, aerial novelty sensations. The Loyal Repenskis, the Sieffenachs, the Walters, famous bareback riding troupes; the two Guice aerial comedy troupes of the lofty bars; the two renouned Wallenda troupes of high wire thrillers, the Otaris, who fly in mass somersault from an aerial cross; the flying Concellas, with Antionette, only girl to acomplish a two-and-one-half mid-anr somersault to a hand-to-hand catch; the flying Comets; the great Con Colleano, only artist ever to achieve a forward somersault on the tight wire; Dorothy Herbert, mad cap rider of reinless jumping horses over fire hurdles, and Hugo and Mario, human projectiles. who are fired at the same instant from the mouth of a gant across the upper reaches of the big top—these are some of the most prominent features of the superb 1935 Ringling Bros and Barnum & Bailey program, to say nothing of Mary, the famed rhinoceros of the Tarzan motion picture, which is a newcomer to the rhino colony in the vast menagerie.

Prof. Homer Dye, of Birmingham, was among the singers at the courthouse in Clanton Sunday.

Mr. Ruffin of Wetumpka was in attendance at the singing convention in Clanton Sunday.

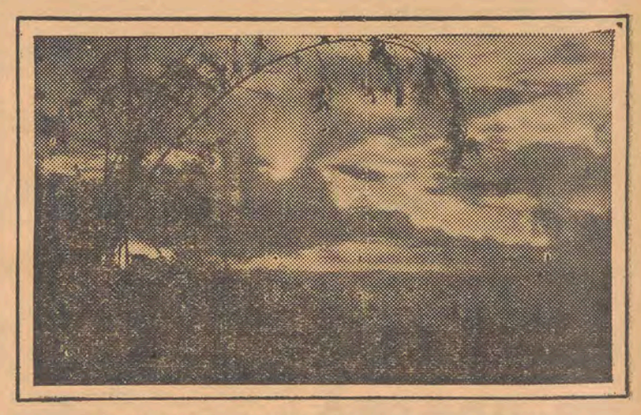
The SNAPSHOT GUILD

SUNSETS



Sunset pictures add interest to your snapshot album.

DID you ever stop to realize how considerate Mother Nature is of the amateur photographer? Month after month she changes the appearance of landscapes, trees, shrubs and even the skies, giving us something new to snap almost every day.

She is now slowly shifting her scenery and preparing for her autumn display of new flowers, colorful foliage and last but not least—beautiful clouded skies to serve us with fascinating backgrounds for landscapes and sunset snapshots.

Don't overlook the opportunity to capture a few of these beautiful sunsets for your snapshot album. They add interest to your picture collections and usually bring that highly prized remark from your friends—"There's a beautiful picture. How did you take it?"

An artistic sunset picture possibility is not waiting for you every night in the week so don't rush out the door after reading this and expect to get one. Maybe you will but it is doubtful. A good sunset picture is just one of those things you watch and wait for.

You will find that a foreground of water or a background of hills will add much to the interest and artistic appearance of your sunset. By all means wait until there are clouds, for you will find that the clouds "make the picture."

No set rule can be made on the exposure time for sunset pictures but generally you will get a properly exposed negative if you set the diaphragm at f.16 and the shutter speed at 1/100 of a second. This setting of the diaphragm and shutter depends much on the brightness of your setting sun.

Believe it or not, attractive "moonlight" scenes can be made by sunlight. This is best done during the sunset hour and when there are masses of clouds floating in the western sky which create lighting conditions favorable for picturing "moonlight" scenes. The sun can be wholly or partially obscured and if the light is red, yellow or orange a snapshot exposure with a medium stop opening can be given.

To secure a night effect from a negative exposed in this manner, it must be printed long enough so that all but the highlights will be dark. If you don't do your own printing explain what effect you want to your finisher.

You will get a lot of pleasure taking these pictures and the result will be well worth your time and effort.

JOHN VAN GUILDER.

A PROCLOMATION BY THE PRESIDENT OF THE UNITED STATES

Whereas, the social and economic progress of the nation is dependent to a large degree upon the development of transportation and communication facilities; and

Whereas, the development of safe and rapid commercial air transportation has made notable progress during the last decade; and

Whereas, a vital factor contributing to the outstanding accomplishments of the United States of America in the field has been, and still is, the establishment and operation of a federal airways system reaching into all sections of continental United States; and

Whereas, the National Aeronautics Association has determined upon recognition of the progress made in aviation, and has set aside the period between September 23 and November 1, 1935, in recognition thereof;

Now, therefore, I, Franklin D. Roosevelt, President of the United States of America, do hereby designate and proclaim the week beginning October 14, 1935, as air navigation week, and I particularly urge State and municipal officials, civic and commrcial organiztions, school authorities, and the press to call attention to the aerial-transportation achievements already accomplished, to set forth the advantages which may accrue as the result of continued development in this field, and to encourage the study of ways and means by which aerial transportation can contribute more effectively to the social and economic progress of the human race.

In witness whereof, I have hereunto set my hand and caused the seal of the United States to be affixed.

Done at the City of Washington this twenty-sixth day of September, in the year of our Lord nineteen hundred and thirty-five, and of the independence of the United States of America the one hundred and sixtieth.

—Franklin D. Roosevelt.

YOU'LL never hear this exclamation again—after you have installed an automatic ELECTRIC WATER HEATER. When someone in your family wants hot water, all he'll have to do is turn the faucet. Instantly, crystal-clear hot water will come gushing forth. No fuss — no bother — no delay. And such little cost!

Now is the time to rid your home of the "no hot water" complaint once and for all. As little as $2.50 down will introduce the comforts and conveniences of automatic electric hot water service to your home. You can pay the balance in 28 months.

Electrify your Home*—NOW!

With our Economy Purchase Plan and new, cheap electric rates, you can own and operate an Electric Water Heater, Electric Range and Electric Refrigerator at such a small monthly cost it will amaze you.

COUNTY SINGING CONVENTION HAS ELECTED NEW OFFICERS

At the regular fall session of the Chilton county singing convention in session at the courthouse last Saturday night, new officers were elected for the coming year. For chairman Prof. W. M. Devaughn was named. Ralph D. Grant was elected vice-chairman, and T. E. Wyatt was elected secretary and treasurer.

One of the best singings ever held in the county was held Saturday night and Sunday. There were singers present from far and near and the auditorium was packed to capacity at both sessions. Among the prominent singers from a distance were: Prof. W. Lee Higgins of Boaz, Lenn Porch of Guntersville, Prof. P. B. Shaw of Brookside, Prof. J. E. Marsh of Birmingham, Prof. J. B. Hammond of Wetumpka, Edward Jones of Prattville, and others. The Lackey Quartet and the Marsh sisters quartet, both of Birmingham, were present and sung several times. There were other good quartets, trios and solos.

SOME SUGGESTIONS

Business has been promised a breathing spell by the Chief Executive of the nation. Some people think this is not enough. A breathing spell, they say, connotes that there may be further throttling of business in the future. One of those who would go farther in an effort to restore confidence is Congressman Treadway, of Massachusetts.

One of the most frequent comebacks which the New Deal supporters make when their policies are criticized, is the query, "What would you do about it in our place?" The obvious answer, of course, is to advise a return to the Democratic platform of 1932 which contains some sound suggestions which have been completely overlooked by those who ran on it. Mr. Treadway includes this good advice in his program for 1936 but he includes some more. Here is his list:

"First, execution of the pledges of the 1932 Democratic platform with respect to the cost of government, the elimination of extravagance, balancing the budget, the suppression of monoply, and the elimination of government competition with business.

"Second, repeal of the reciprocal tariff law.

"Third, repeal of the processing taxes.

"Fourth, abolition of tax exempt securities.

"Fifth, leave reform measures for future consideration and concentrate on recovery efforts.

"Sixth, leave business alone."

Of course, if present New Deal policies are wrong, the first thing is to stop their application rather than to find a substitute. When one is caught in an avalanche he seeks first to get out of the snow before he thinks of acquiring another means of transportation. With this thought in mind Mr. Treadway's suggestions furnish interesting speculation for the future.

NATIONAL AFFAIRS

(By Frank P. Litschert

News comes from Nebraska that the Supreme Court of that state has invalidated the commonwealth's old age pension and relief program. In the decision rendered by the Court, which is certainly of more than passing interest to people outside of Nebraska, too, the decision of the United States Supreme Court on the NRA was cited as authority for a portion of the foundation on which the decision of the State Supreme Court rests. In short, the State Supreme Court held the pension and relief act invalid because the legislature delegated certain of its powers to executive officers of the state and to Congress. It will be remembered that the delegation of some of its power to the executive authority by Congress had already been declared illegal by the Federal Supreme Court.

The Nebraska law, it is said, was enacted so that the state might cooperate with the Federal government in pensions and relief. It is said to have provided that the sum of $4,000,000 of the state's money was to be spent during two years and it delegated to a state committee designed to aid the national officers, broad discretionary powers in the execution of the act.

To some people who have not studied the matter carefully it might occur that too much stress is being paid to this question of Congress and its action of delegating its power to the executive authority of the government.

But it is not to be forgotten that the question is one which strikes at the very foundation of American government. Our Constitution provided for a government of three departments, each with its particular duties to perform. It was believed that the system of checks and balances would obviate the danger of autocracy on the one hand and unbridled democracy on the other.

If Congress, the legislative branch of the government, may delegate its powers to the executive department, then it can in effect abdicate, thereby surrendering its authority to an ambitious dictator, should one arise to coerce or befuddle Congress into such action. In short, legislative power in the government would pass from Congress where it rightfully belongs, into the hands of the Chief Executive and finally to such bureaucracies as may be created to apply it. It would then be very easy for a bureaucracy with its departments and divisions to issue orders which had the same force as legislation, without Congress or the public knowing what had been done until the ruling was in effect. And it would be comaratively easy for an ambitious dictator to do his own legislating under such circumstances, once the rule had been established that Congress could abdicate legally and confer its power on the executive branch of the government

It makes no difference what one thinks of the New Deal and the men who are running it, no difference whether one may be for or against the administration now in authority. It becomes apparent, with a little thought, that any right on the part of Congress to surrender its powers to the executive or any other department, creates a dangerous precedent, and one which might be fatal to American democracy were a ruthless dictator to come into power as some political party's presidential candidate. What is true of Congress is true in degree so far as popular government is concerned, with the rights and duties of a state legislature.

In Germany and Italy and Russia the legislative arm of government has been absorbed by the executive department and we have dictatorship which has destroyed not only representative government but free speech and freedom of the press, to say nothing of other rights which we regard as inalienable. In pointing out the unconstitutionality of action of the Congress of the United States in surrendering its legislative powers to the executive department the Supreme Court has performed a sound, a wise and a patriotic duty.

PENNSYLVANIA SPEAKS

Those reformers who would like to do a little Constitution tinkering, some of whom have suggested that a new amendment to permit the extension of bureaucracy ought to be made an issue in the 1936 campaign, have not been so vociferous since the Pennsylvania primary. Those hardy Keystoners do not seem to have much of a penchant for taking on new Constitutions. A proposal for a new one in Pennsylvania backed by Governor ernor Earle who is quoted as saying that a new document was needed to bring the New Deal to Pennsylvania, was decisively defeated by a majority of something like a quarter of a million. The present state constitution was called a "horse and buggy" document in the campaign but this did not seem to frighten the voters. Perhaps some of them came to the conclusion that horse power is to be preferred to gas in some instances.

Before the primary some of the newspapers who favor constitutional tinkering said that the Pennsylvania result would be a straw to show how the New Deal wind was blowing. Evidently somebody had told them that Governor Earle's proposal would win. At any rate they have been painfully silent analyzing the situation since the proposed Constitution tinkering was so decisively turned down.

Attention has been called to the fact that the proposal for a new Constitution ran stronger in cities like Philadelphia and Pittsburgh than in the rural districts. This was to be expected. It is in the country districts where the people are thinking along fundamental lines. Of course there were no decisive majorities for Constitution tinkering even in the cities. But the significant point is that in the smaller communities there was a decisive vote against such monkey business. Evidently a lot of folks are beginning to realize that government operation and ownership of great utilities and other business enterprises, could easily and logically be followed by public control and ownership of small business and farms. The best way to avoid this, of course, is less tinkering with the fundamental law.

OUR UNEMPLOYED

Unemployment figures which give us an idea of what is going on in the country, do not entirely assure us that the New Deal is working in its efforts to give everybody a job, despite the huge outlays of money in various sorts of Federal activity. For example, the Alexander Hamilton Institute pointed out recently:

"The ranks of the unemployed in the United States were increased by 223,000 persons in July. This raised the total unemployment figure to 13,019,000 from 12,796,000 in June. There were more persons unemployed in July than in October, 1933, when the figure was 12,810,000. The July figure thus revealed that progress toward the solution of the unemployment problem since the brief spurt in employment after the bank panic is still lacking."

This seems to furnish one answer to the question of whether the nation is better off than it was three years ago. Every unemployed person is a charge against the resources of the nation. And the unemployment figures are all the more significant due to the fact that there has undoubtedly been an increase in those working for the government since March, 1933. As a matter of record, Uncle Sam's payroll has "gained" about 170,000 persons and the end is not yet. In Washington the government is taking over not only business buildings, but residences and apartments to house the additional New Deal bureaucracies. In addition to the 170,000 there are more than 100,000 "farmers" on the payroll helping to administer phases of the AAA program. The payroll does not stop, of course, with those regularly employed by government work. Relief checks have gone out to many millions more.

Still the employment figures in private business are disappointing. Perhaps having a little less government in business might help, by aiding in balancing the national budget and reducing taxes.

A LESSON IN OIL

One New York statistician estimates that while the average earning per share of the oil companies last year was $1.02 the taxes average earning per share, more than five times as much. The innocent people in the United States who still believe in Santa Claus and still hug the delusion that the rich can be compelled to pay the taxes, ought to find an eloquent illustration of the folly of their ideas in the oil busines.

There is perhaps no other industry in America as heavily taxed as the one producing, refining and selling oil. Yet the Rockefellers do not pay this tariff. The fellow who drives an automobile pays.

There is now so much oil in the United States, still underground, that the government has had to step in and help the states and producers cut down the flow so that the market would not be flooded with the viscuous fluid at something like ten cents a barrel. Yet despite this tremendous oversupply, and new fields are constantly being brought in and pinched down to a non-productive basis, the price of the finished product remains high to the motorist who has to drive up to the side of the road occasionally and have the old tank filled. What is the reason? There is only one answer—taxes. Perhaps we couldn't get along without these taxes, but the nation would benefit if they could be lowered.

Yet the fact remains that the oil barons do not pay the taxes. We drivers of the flivver pay them when we buy the finished product. What is true of the oil business is true in a degree of other industries. The way to lower the tax burden on the poor man is not to try to push it off on somebody else, because that is impossible. The correct method is to cut out public extravagance so that fewer taxes will have to be collected.

POLITICALLY, ALSO, HE RACES

Sir Malco'm Campbell, interviewed by the New York press when he arrived to try for the new speed record on salt beds of Utah, said that a European war, with the Ethiopian affair as tinder, seems inevitable—and that inevitably, too, the United States will be drawn in. We should stand beside England, he vowed, as the sole means of preventing war.

"A union of the English-speaking people now would stop it. It should be done because the United States will be drawn into a war anyway."

Clearly another instance of the wish being father to the thought. Isn't there a lingering recollection, in this country, that once we undertook to save civilization, and after the victory were vilified for our sacrifices? Sir Malcolm is a great automobile driver; no doubt of it.—Portland Oregonian.

Secretary Hull has invoked the Kellogg pact but most European nations who signed it seem to have forgotten what it was all about.

MAN IN THE MOON

FORD FOR PRESIDENT

Have you ever noticed the difference in the methods of management of two like enterprises? I'm sure you have. Both start out about even. One prospers, the other fails. These widely different results are caused by difference in management. One has the care of a careful manager, one who watches all the corners, keeps all employees satisfied and loyal to the company they work for. The result is a smooth-working unit that gets results—results that build a great concern. The other is managed in a slack manner, little odds and ends are overlooked, dissatisfaction over working conditions among employees is ignored. The result is a disorganized force, open rebellion breaks out, and the result is ultimate failure.

The management of the government is along the same lines as a business enterprise, only on a bigger scale. It is one of the weaknesses of a system of government such as ours that politicians gain the reins of government, rather than good business officials. The average politician is not looking out for the common good—he seeks to build a powerful machine in order to rule, and looks forward to keeping that machine well oiled and in perfect working condition for future political safety for himself.

The present administration is a fair sample of a political set-up, although, in fairness to Mr. Roosevelt, I might add that there is not so much more dissension among the ranks of the Roosevelt political house than is the usual rule. The fact remains, however, that where there should be close union, there is dissension. Two of Mr. Roosevelt's lieutenants, Mr. Ickes and Mr. Hopkins, who should work in perfect unison, are forever at each other's political throats, and these are only two of the many like them.

In Mr. Ford's organization at Detroit one may see the nearest approach to the perfect business machine that is possible to imagine. There is no dissension—the machine is as well oiled as any in the giant Ford factory. One cause for this is competent management, and another is the confidence that Mr. Ford inspires among his employees, high and low. They all have implicit confidence in his business ability. They KNOW that he has never failed them, and they have just reason to believe that he never will. If he can manage his factory, one of the biggest in the whole industrial world, so efficiently, why should he not be able to apply his business principles to the management of the nation? We believe he could. And, further, we believe those principles of sound business management would work wonders in the administration of the national government.

Briefly, Mr. Ford's system is one of economy, inspiration of loyalty and confidence among his followers, and a policy of fairness toward all of them. This same system will work in government administration as well as in business. Mr. Ford is a master in his line. We believe he would do as well in governmental affairs if given the presidency. What do you think?

THE AAA TRAP

Do you remember the example this column presented about a year ago to show how the AAA was gaining control of farmers? It was the story of the snake and the frog.

A snake caught a frog—just by the toe. The frog kicked a little, but not so much, seeing no immediate danger, and willing to let the little snake have his fun. Pretty soon the snake, whose head was far smaller than the frog, twisted and squirmed, and managed to swallow the frog's foot a little deeper. More twists and squirms followed, each time putting the frog deeper in the snake's mouth. Finally the frog became alarmed and began to put up a real fight, but the snake had a real hold by that time and he wouldn't let go. It seemed impossible that a small snake head could swallow t fehorg's body, when one leg was down, but the other leg kind of doubled up, and pretty soon the little old froggie slipped in.

That is exactly what has happened to farmers. First the AAA had only a toe hold, and the farmers merely sat still and watched. That was when they were asked to plow up cotton. Next the farmers were ASKED to sign crop reduction pledges. They did. Once signed, they came to find that they had signed a paper giving the AAA the right to regulate their whole business for them. Now they are not ASKING that farmers sign, but are DEMANDING that they sign, or they will be discriminated against. And the extra 2-cent cotton loan is held as a club over farmers' heads as an attempt to FORCE them. The frog has been swallowed, finally and completely. It remains to be seen whether he will swell up and burst Mr. Snake's belly or not. That is his only hope to live.

Governor Talmadge recently likened the situation to a trap. He says:

"The Federal government, through the AAA, got the farmer in a trap and then sprang the trigger on him. And now the AAA is telling the farmers to sign up for another year, with the 2-cent bonus on cotton as a kind of club to force measures. My advice to farmers is to sign nothing. I am advising this, not because I believe in setting farmers against their government, but because of the bitter experience of the last few years which prove that with the government interfering in business gets a bunch of office holders a job runing around over the country telling people what they CAN do—not what they SHOULD do—and the farmer has come out on the little end of the horn. There is no processing tax on silk and rayon and practically none on jute and paper, and these articles are daily competitors of cotton".

From different parts of the country come reports that many farmers, stock raisers, etc., feel about the same way about it all. Gov. Talmadge just happens to be one of those fellows who has the courage to stand up and speak right out in meeting and tell the big-wigs where to head in.

If the government is so set on getting something signed, we would like to suggest. Why not let the government sign an agreement to draw in its slimy AAA claws and give the farmers a chance to attend to their own business for a change. Business has been given a "breathing spell", why not give the farmer one, too?

HERE'S HOW IT WORKS

From time to time we have the AAA's smart fellows compare the condition of farmers now with that of a few years ago. They always point to the fact that cotton is 10 cents a pound now, where it was five or six, and they stop right there, because there is nothing else that can be said for the program. The next time one tells you that, get him to take his pencil in hand and figure the whole problem out. Let's take a problem and work it for ourselves, and if there is a slip in our system or our figures, step right up and tell us.

Suppose you are a 1-horse farmer who usually raised six bales of cotton, before the reign of the AAA, got 5 cents a pound for it, and just broke even with the world every year with the $150.00 you received for it. If you have received the normal reduction, you are now allowed about three bales, at 10 cents, which still brings about $150.00. Add to this the approximate $25.00 rental check you received from the government, making $175.00 as your income. We might stretch a point and allow that you receive $50.00 for rental, bringing your income to $200.00. This gives you a present income of $200.00 a year against $150.00 before the AAA program set in.

Now, statistics published by the Federal government are that living costs are up 118 per cent—in other words, it will take $2.18 now to buy the same goods that you could buy before for $1.00. At that rate, you could buy the same goods for $91.74 when cotton was five cents a pound as you can buy now for your $200.00. If you were just breaking even at five cents a pound for your cotton, your living costs are now approximately $327.00, which puts you in the whole $127.00 a year.

We are not advocating low prices, but are trying to prove that prices are more out of joint now than they were before the government took charge of everything. You can easily figure your own problem. If you are an average farmer, your income is now substantially the same as it was two years ago, while your living costs have a little over doubled. Try that out on your dulcimer, and see how the tune sounds.

NEW FARM PRODUCTS

According to Francis P. Garvan, president of the American Chemical Foundation, American farmers are on the threshold of good fortune if they are only wise enough to stretch out their hands and help finish the job that research chemists have begun for them.

The prevailing idea is that the most important function of farming is to feed the nation, and, in some degree clothe it. However, with the help of the chemists, ways are being found whereby farms and farm products can enter into other fields of endeavor rather than feeding and clothing people. It has been said that "the farms of America can feed and clothe the nation with one hand", meaning that the farms can raise twice enough foodstuffs and raw materials for clothing as the nation would require. The logical thing to do, then, would be to do everything possible to put agriculture into these new fields.

America has an army of 20,000 trained chemists and chemical laboratories worth $300,000,000 which chemical interests are eager to throw into cooperation with agriculture. One of the leaders of this movement to use many agricultural products is Henry Ford. He has specialized on the use of soy beans, from which he secures oils for paints and lacquers and plastic materials for window trim panels, etc., in the production of his cars. The Ford Company has prepared a booklet showing in detail the quantities of the many different farm products it uses in the ionstrurtion of one of its units.

Motor fuels can be made of farm products and mixed with gasoline giving a much improved fuel at far less cost, and this industry is expected to open up in the near future. For instance, science tells us that the lowest price gasoline may be takn, mixd with a 20 per cent mixture of alcohol, and the result is a motor fuel of the finest grade, such as is used in airplanes, racing cars, etc. Some of the farm products which yield a high percentage of alcohol are corn, Irish potatoes, sweet potatoes, sugar beets, sugar cane, and other Southern grown products. This new industry should open new farm markets and help solve the farm problem.—Man in the Moon.

COMMENT

The Democratic Baltimore Sun sees in the Pennsylvania constitutional revision issue a clear drawing of lines between "the New Dealers and the opponents of their plans for promoting 'the more abundant life'. Pennsylvania voted emphatically in the negative."

The Sun remarks that prior to the election "dispatches to the outside press that the outcome was awaited by national Democratic leaders with greatest interest."

The result doubtless is not so interesting to the Raw Dealers.

The New York Herald-Tribune says that the Pennsylvania constitutional revision vote "on top of the slap to the New Deal administered in Rhode Island six weeks ago cannot be dismissed as insignificant. On the contrary, it seems to be one more clear indication that, for the industrial East, at least, the 'more abundant life'—for the New Deal politicians—has very definitely lost its charm."—Uniontown, Pa., Herald.

AN ENDLESS CHAIN

The government has gone from one pitfall to another in its effort to whip agriculture into line, but it does seem as if the potato control law will strain endurance to the limit.

Coercion and restraint would seem to have reached their masterpiece in this law, yet it is only a logical restriction attempted in the right to raise other crops, the more the farmers have turned to potatoes, and the more they are curbed in potatoes the more they will turn to something else.—Rochester Democrat and Chronicle.

They call it slum removal and slum clearance in Washington and under these titles they sell it to the American people as something socially desirable. But what it all comes to is the removal of bum real estate from the hands of owners who didn't know what to do with it and ought to be glad to be rid of it at almost any price.—Chicago Tribune.

The three R's have been changed to radios, radicalism and relief.—Augusta, Kansas, Gazette.

Here is a police court item you can expect after December 1: "John Jones of 111 Hill Street was arraigned before Police Judge Smith this morning on a charge of potato bootlegging. He will demand a jury trial. It is said Jones' defense will be that he was not carrying potatoes in his pocket to sell but only to guard against rheumatism."

Even if the Republican Party is secretely collecting a war chest it is nothing to get excited about, so far as practical results are concerned. Remember that five billion dollars relief fund provided by the last Congress? Counting it in terms of American voters somebody has figured out that it amounts to $125 a head.

One hears speeches from South Carolinians defending the New Deal, but the fact that the national debt has passed the highest point in the peactime history of the country, that it is twenty-nine thousand millions of dollars and increasing about four thousand millions a year, is not mentioned.—Charleston, S. C., News and Courier.

SALUTE TO DUKE SPUD

The Democratic administration is about to confer the highest order of commodity nobility upon our most democratic vegetable. After next December 1 the Irish potato will be promoted to a rank once reserved exclusively for John Barleycorn. More than fifty years ago Uncle Sam conferred the order of the green stamp upon bonded whiskey and prescribed that it should be transported and sold only in official packages. Now the potato is to be awarded similar honors, and the taxation that goes with such privileges and decorations. Only Irish potatoes are ennobled, however. The Southern yam is to remain plebian and untaxed. The yam will remain a yap.

The good old Murphy will be a sight to see when he dons official regalia. Everybody will want to see him, and see him first. What a hunch for a pageant! We suggest that the first official taxed spud be brought to Chicago by special airplane and be paraded through the streets of the city. Mayor Kelly should meet the distinguished visitor at the municipal airport and present the keys of the city. Then, mounted upon a gilded Brink's money truck and surrounded by mounted police and field artillery, the ennobled spud should move toward the loop at the head of a procession of United States senators, Illinois congressmen and other statesmen.

After appropriate addresses of a non-controversial nature in Soldiers Field, the blue-blooded, green-stamped tuber should be placed in a vault in the city treasury—or, perhaps in some safer place, such as the municipal library. As the agricultural capital of the United States, Chicago cannot afford to let the historic ennoblement of the spud pass without appropriate pageantry. Later there will be a Roman holiday at the polls, after the price of patrician potatoes has pinched the plebes.—Chicago Daily News.

The fact that Sir Malcolm, the British speed fiend, drove an automobile at the rate of 300 miles an hour is a good suggestion for one of those Rube Goldberg cartoons that we used to see so much: "It's all right but it doesn't mean anything."

Tons of dead fish were discovered floating on the Gulf of Mexico following the passing of a gas cloud. Maybe they ran into a Congressional junketing party on its way to the Canal Zone or some place.

It is said American automobile interests are much disappointed in their failure to sell a lot of cars in Russia. How would they expect the Reds to run 'em anyhow, without highways?

Several New Yorkers have already put in advance orders for bootleg potatoes. Well, if bootleg potatoes get as popular as bootleg liquor was, maybe the spud surplus will be cleaned up over night.

Mussolini says the League of Nations tried to pacify him by offering him a couple of deserts. Well, if he could put them around our town they would make fine parking places.

General Johnson is going to take the stump in support of the Blue Eagle, it is reported. He might also try to do something for Babe Ruth, the New York Giants, and Maxie Baer.

Secretary Morgenthau has gone to Spain. We think this is unnecessary. There is just as much good bull tossing around Washington, and you don't have to look for it.

An Atchison man who makes a great speech on international peace never has been able to get along with the folks living next door.—Athcison Globe.

After another six months' period, we note that there hasn't been a death in Kent County from starvation because doles haven't been handed out.—State Sentinel, Dover, Del.

The Cooks County Record's Office cat insists that eating bacon will not make your hair curl. No, but paying for it will.—Burr Oak, Kansas, Herald.

It is said that the Brain Trusters have lost five or six resettlement projects and can't find a trace of them. Maybe the prairie dust storms covered 'em up.

Life is just one thing after another. Just as soon as a child actor or actress grows up they spring another star juvenile performer on us.

Here's one advantage. You won't have to hire a chemist to find out whether or not bootleg potatoes are good. One whiff will be enough.

Up in Pennsylvania the people endorsed a "horse and buggy" constitution by a quarter of a million majority. Maybe they are tired of the odor of gas.

It is said that the Democratic National Committee is in debt more than $400,000. But compared with the federal deficit that is mere chicken feed.

It is reported that Sally Rand is going to be starred in the drama "Rain." We suppose she will use an umbrella instead of a fan.

It is said that a new plant in Moscow will print 40,000,000 copies of music a year. And we know what the vocal score will be about.

FARM BUREAU NEWS

The farmers of the New Cedron community met on Tuesday night, September 24, with Mr. J. W. Fant and organized a local Farm Bureau and elected officers for same. Mr. Fant gave a talk about the Farm Bureau.

The president called the next meeting for October 1. The officers elected were: Marvin Durbin, president; E. E. Edwards, vice-president; O. H. Lawrence, secretary and treasurer; Woodrow Durbin, reporter. Agter the business was disposed of, Senator Thomas gave a talk on the advantages of organization. After this some good music was rendered by Winston and Alton Culp.

The people of this community have already received some benefit from the one-variety Cotton Club. The local representative of the Alabama Cotton Cooperative Association is paying this club 50 points or more for their better staple cotton than they are for seven-eighths inch staple. This club is using Dixie Triumph, a wilt resistant cotton, which produces a fifteen-sixteenths inch staple or longer.

There will be a meeting at the Popwell school house next Tuesday night, October 8th. Everybody is invited to come out. The program committee is planning to have a licensed cotton grader out to show us and tell us about the different grades and staples of cotton. There will also be other interesting features on this program.—Reporter.

Mr. and Mrs. Joe F. Higgins have announced the arrival of a fine baby girl at their home Saturday, October 5th, whom they have named Sadie Ann, for her grandmothers.

MT. SPRINGS NEWS

We are planning a fine program for the third Sunday in this month which is our homecoming day.

Everything is going along nicely and we hope to publish the program next week. We are expecting a big crowd of folks for that day, so come along and enjoy yourself.

Mr. Johnnie Plier is directing the play for that day for us. We think it is good. Won't you come and tell us what you think?

Mrs. Rucker of Elmore is visiting Mrs. Joe Higgins.

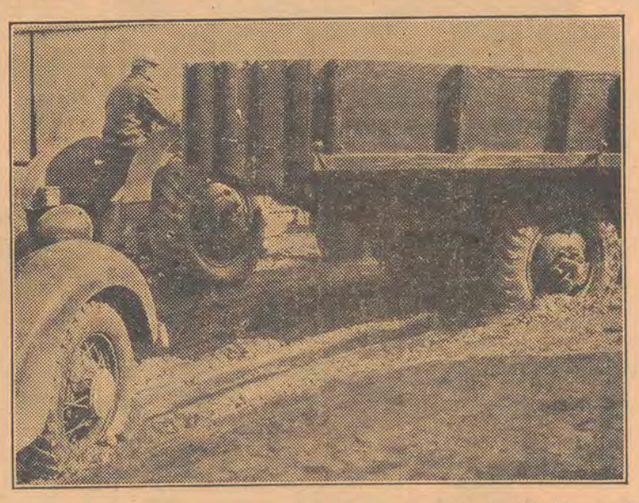
TO PREACH AT SHADY GROVE

Rev. Herschel Lynch, a returned Missionary from China, will preach at Shady Grove M.P. Church on the third Sunday night in this month, October 20, at 6 o'clock. Everyone has a cordial invitation to come and we especially invite the Verbena and Chilton Circuits to come and be with us.

Mrs. Ben Sims is visiting in Tuscaloosa this week.

Mrs. W. C. Mauck and daughters, of Birmingham, were here Sunday for the funeral of Mrs. Bone.

New Farm Tire for Cars, Trucks, Tractors



Firestone Develops Ground Grip Tread That Gives Farmers Extra Traction

Any farmer who has ever been stalled in deep mud, snow or soft dirt with his car, truck or tractor, and has had to get out to put on chains, or be towed, will appreciate the importance of a new tire known as the "Ground Grip." It does away with the expense and bother of chains. Yet it rides smoothly and is satisfactory for highway travel.

Firestone engineers consider this tire one of the major developments of the industry, along with the first balloon tire introduced by Firestone in 1923 and the first practical low pressure tractor tire also introduced by Firestone a few years ago. The new tire is made in three types — for passenger cars, trucks and tractors, but the new tread development is used in each.

The unique tread of this new tire cleans itself and will not clog with mud or clay, whereas in some tires the tread clogs up just when traction is most needed. The tread design also does away with bumping — always an objection in other so-called traction tires — because in the new tire the tread projections are so placed that they are always in contact with the road. This is the first time a tire with maximum traction has been built for passenger cars, because traction always had to be sacrificed to obtain smooth riding.

The new tread, with its powerful grip, requires a tire body of extra strength, and this is provided by the use of the patented process of Gum-Dipping the cords. Underneath the tread are two extra layers of Gum-Dipped cords to give a stronger bond between the cord body and tread.

Since Firestone introduced the low pressure tractor tire a few years ago, thousands of tractors have been changed over as farmers realized the economy of time and fuel, the increased comfort and greater utility these tires provide. Tractor manufacturers have redesigned their tractors in many ways to make use of the increased speed now possible with rubber tire equipment. The new "Ground Grip" tire with its greater traction and other advantages, will gain favor even more rapidly in all kinds of tractor operation, and for truck and passenger car service. Farmers, road builders, rural mail carriers, and others who have tried the new tire say that it gives a new experience in extra traction and smooth operation.
